"The Anti-Suffrage Association in Trenton has a placard in one of the windows of its headquarters reading 'Why is juvenile crime increasing in Denver.' When Senator Helen Ring Robinson, of Colorado (who might be supposed to know what she is talking about), was in Trenton,she called at the Anti headquarters and showed them by government reports that instead of increasing, juvenile crime has decreased two hundred per cent. in Denver since the establishment of Judge Lindsay's Juvenile Court there. The placard, however, is still in the window."

Some weeks ago Mrs. Feickert kindly corrected a statement which I had copied from the New York Times. Here is her correction which I gladly accepted and published in my article on Anti Suffrage for July 19.

"Judge Lindsay is authority for the statement that ten years ago there was only one girl to twenty boys before the Juvenile Court. Now the number is steadily increasing."

Mrs. Feickert added that this statement dealt with non-suffrage as well as suffrage States. The article goes on to say that the reasons for the increase of crime among young people are lack of moral efficiency and self-control and conditions under which people live, making it practically impossible to elevate the children. Now why shoud the placard be removed?

Mrs. Feickert's new authority speaks of the "increase of juvenile crime" in the suffrage as well as the non-suffrage States.

Mrs. Feickert speaks somewhat contemptuously of what she calls "dyed-in-the-wool Antis." I call to mind one of these—an old woman she is now—and think of how her "prejudices" have come to be a part of her. Daughter of a prominent New York physician, one of her earliest memories is of a sewing circle meeting every week in her mother's parlors, where a company of women, many of their friends whose gentle restful faces made never-to-be-forgotten impressions on the child's mind, to sew for a fair to be held soon. And the object of the fair? To raise money for the Woman's Infirmary where Elizabeth and Emily Blackwell were to work in company with other women doctors—a class much derided and sneered at there, but warmly aided by her large minded father. A little later on she learned the meaning of anti for the first time, for her father was of the anti-slavery party. That was her first experience of being "Anti." Since then she has joined the Anti-Tuberculosis and the Anti-Suffrage organizations, and somehow "Anti" has rather a lofty sound in her ears. Her mother was one of the first to preach the doctrine that daughters should be self-supporting as well as sons.

But she lived to change her mind as she saw what economic disturbances were wrought by the entrance of girls who could afford to work for inadequate wages into the industrial world.

Every new idea and reform was welcomed and discussed in that household, equal suffrage with the rest. What seemed good for the general welfare was accepted—others rejected and suffrage was one of the latter. So that woman is "anti" to slavery, tuberculosis and suffrage—three menaces to our country, the first of which, however, is happily destroyed, although I was told the other day that "Without the vote, you women are in just the position of the slaves before the war."

ELIZABETH B. SYKES.

With apologies to Shakespeare.

To vote or not to vote—that is the question. Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of "man-made laws," or to take the ballot and by opposing, end them. To vote—to reform—and by our reforms to end the strifes of government—'tis a sonsummation devoutly to be wished. But to vote—to reform—to make men better than they wish to be—ay, there's the rub, for in those reforms the troubles we'd get into—must give us pause "And make us rather bare those ills we have than fly to others that we know not of."—The Woman's Protest.

As secretary of the California Political Equality League, the largest suffrage organization in California, also secretary of the College Equal Suffrage League, and in many other capacities, such as obtaining speakers, etc., I gave with remuneration over a year of my life working for suffrage. I say without remuneration, because some women received compensation and others received their expenses.

Right here permit me to say that I have come across the country to speak to you without the knowledge or sanction of any club or any individual. No one sends me; no organization pays my way. I have come because I feel I was in a measure instrumental in bringing suffrage in California, and I want to tell you that if I had it to do over again I would work twice as hard, if that were possible, against it.

Suffrage robs women of all that is gentle, tender, attractive. I have seen it and I have every reason to believe it and to be impressed by it, for people have had—I do not know whether you would call it—the audacity, temerity, or kindness to tell me "Suffrage has soiled you."—Miss Annie Bock in an address sent to the senate committee on woman suffrage.

Women seemingly associate the right to vote with the natural rights of life, liberty and property. Voting is not a right at all; it is a privilege. Many voters are deprived of their votes yet it hardly attracts passing notice. The ballot, like office, is wholly subject to the interests of all, and should be conferred or withheld accordingly. We say that the people are "sovereign," which mean, in theory at least, that each vote is cast solely for the benefit of the whole, and not alone for the individual welfare of the voter. The natural rights do not include the right to govern others, and all democracies have had their suffrage qualifications. In the end the important thing for all is that we be governed well, and the women subject to our government have had no cause to complain. Fred A. Ewald in the Woman's Protest.

Some Cookery Suggestions

WAYS WITH MINT.

MINT has many medicinal qualities.

The leaves pulled from the stems, slightly mashed and with boiling water poured over them, provide a remedy for nervous as well as stomach troubles. Served in a thin glass with cracked ice and a little sugar in it, it cools and quiets the system generally.

In preparing the mint tea the bowl is kept closely covered until the contents are cool; then it is strained and poured into a bottle that can be closely corked and set on the ice. When used, ice should be pounded very fine and a little sugar added if liked.

To Serve With Lamb.

Mint Sauce.—To two tablespoonfuls of chopped mint add a tablespoonful of white sugar and nearly two-thirds of a cupful of vinegar. Let them stand together ten minutes in a cool place before sending to table.

Mint Punch.—Take the leaves from twelve sprigs of mint chopped fine, put in a mortar with four or five tablespoonfuls of sugar and grind to a paste. Boil together for five minutes a pound of sugar and a quart of water. Add the juice of three lemons and the mint. When the mixture is cold freeze. Serve in punch glasses.

A Toothsome Confection.

Candied Mint Leaves.—The leaves are first washed clean and dried by patting with a soft cloth, then dipped in a sirup made of one pound of loaf sugar and one-half cupful of water, boiled until it threads. After dipping place on marble slab or waxed paper and with a nut pick carefully spread out the leaves and leave to dry. When sealed from the air will keep a long time.

A Jelly With Meat.

Mint Jelly.—Mint jelly or mint sherbet is nice to serve with lamb or mutton. To make the jelly, pour two cupfuls of boiling water over a bunch of freshly bruised mint leaves and then simmer gently for ten or fifteen minutes. Strain and to a pint of the liquid add one-half a package of gelatin that has been soaked in a little cold water. Add sugar to sweeten and lemon juice to make as acid as desired. Stir until dissolved and set away to cool. As it begins to thicken, stir in two tablespoonfuls of capers, then pour into one good sized mold or tiny individual molds and set away to harden. When cold turn out and garnish with tiny sprigs of fresh mint.

The Goddess Turned Her to a Crow.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Tattler Who Was Turned Into a Crow.

DADDY tucked an arm around Jack and Evelyn. "And now if I must tell you a story I'll begin," said he.

"Long ago, according to what I've read, the crow was a young woman named Coronis. Coronis was one of those people who make a point of knowing all about everybody and everything that is going on.

"One day the goddess Athena stopped at the house of three nice young women, the daughters of a worthy man named Cecrops.

"Athena gave the three sisters a willow basket woven so closely that they could not see what was inside.

"'I leave this with you because I trust you,' said the goddess. 'On no account open the basket until I come back.'

"The sisters promised, and they meant to keep their promise. They carried the basket carefully home, but on the way the younger sister said that it felt strangely heavy and she wondered what could be inside.

"'Since Athena has told us we may not know, it does not seem becoming for us to wonder about it,' the two elder sisters answered.

"Now, Coronis soon saw the strange basket and learned the story of Athena's leaving it with the sisters.

"One day as Coronis was seated behind some bushes she saw the youngest sister come along with the basket. After the girl had placed the basket on the ground she looked carefully around.

"'She's going to open that basket, the naughty creature!' Coronis said to herself. And she got up so that she should have a good look into it too.

"Coronis saw the young woman take off the cover and look into the basket. Coronis herself could hardly keep from exclaiming when she got a glimpse of what was in the basket. Inside on a cushion lay a beautiful baby boy and beside him a young dragon. The daughter of Cecrops quickly clapped the cover on the basket and hurried home with it.

"Tattling Coronis, however, knew her secret, and as soon as she saw Athena on her way to the house of Cecrops' daughters she ran out and told the goddess how the youngest sister had opened the basket and looked inside.

"Angry as the goddess was that the daughter of Cecrops should have disobeyed her, she despised the tattler. She turned to her with a frown, saying:

"'For your chattering be forever a chatterer clad in feathers black as night.' Instantly Coronis was changed into a crow and flew, cawing, away.

"And if you ever notice a pair of crows or several of them gathered together they always seem to be chattering and cawing as if they were telling one another the latest bit of gossip in birdland."

Soft Filmy Fabrics, Fancy Girdles and Frills of Tulle or Net Give Just the Touch of Daintiness to the Gowns.

It is a pleasant surprise of Dame Fashion on rare occasions to make the path of her followers not too intricate or difficult for the home sewer. Just now two new models call attention to the continued use of lace and chiffon, wide girdles, sashes and perky bows. Frills of net and lace also dress up simple frocks and make them correct for the most formal wear.

All these things point to a coming season of more or less fancy skirts, modeled on a foundation having simple lines, and with here and there simulated, if not actual flounces, in tier effects. Soft fabrics continue in high favor because they drape and hang gracefully, and because their wearers like them too well to substitute any others. Then also, frills of tulle are wonderfully becoming as French women long ago discovered.

An attractive model for a dressy matinee costume is developed after pattern No. 7885. As illustrated it is a combination of apricot chiffon cloth diagonally draped above a flounce of deep cream craquelle lace, and over a foundation of self-colored satin charmeuse. The blouse is also of the thin material with a vest effect of the lace and a plain plaited net frill at the throat. A smart feature is the hand painted sash of black satin fashioned with a butterfly bow at the back, and having heavy silk tassels to weight the ends. Hand painting on gowns is the dernier cri from Paris. The pattern is cut in five sizes, 34 to 42. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 36-inch material for the foundation; 2 3-8 yards of 25-in. flouncing for the drapery; and three yards of chiffon cloth. The sash will require 1¼ yards. 15 cents.

A dressy afternoon gown is suggested in the model made from pattern No. 7885. It is of biege crepe de chine with reverse, trimming sections in skirt front and girdle of moire in a darker shade. A flat or "pump" bow gives a smart finish to the girdle. The two-piece skirt is slightly gathered at the back, and has a dart plait at each side suggesting an inset panel. The pattern comes in five sizes, 34 to 42. Size 36 requires 5 yards of 36-inch material; ¼ yard of lace for vest, and 1¼ yards of moire. 15 cents.

A Little Dainty Hand-Embroidery is the Only Appropriate Trimming for Baby's First Dresses.

Baby's first dresses should be of the very finest batiste, handkerchief linen or nainsook, and these little slip dresses must be very carefully made by hand so that the seams will not irritate the wee baby's skin. Choose the simplest of patterns for making these little garments. Tucks, lace and insertion are superflous and should not be used on little baby's garments. These are suitable for trimming dresses for the older children if used with discretion, but freshness and simplicity are the first things to be considered in babies' clothes. The little slip dresses shown in the illustration can be cut with pattern 6344 which comes only in the first size for 10 cents. The embroidered yokes in pattern 14538, should be stamped on the material before the dresses are made up and embroidered in solid and eyelet work with very fine white mercerized cotton. For the summer baby the round and square neck would be more comfortable than high-neck dresses, but for the winter baby, the scalloped neck-outline may be omitted if one likes.

Transfer pattern 14538 for stamping these two yokes can be supplied to readers for 15 cents.

..BOOMING PLAINFIELD..

THE DAILY PRESS WILL HELP THE BOARD OF TRADE AND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE EXPLOIT THE ADVANTAGES OF PLAINFIELD AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE AND PLACE OF RESIDENCE.

Meets With Flattering Reception from Our Public-Spirited Citizens

The movement of the Daily Press to issue a splendid Historical and Industrial Edition has met with a gratifying reception from the various interests of our town. Plainfield's progressive merchants, manufacturers and professional men, keenly realizing the far-reaching and lasting benefit which will accrue from a complete and graphic exposition of the growth of this community, are according their hearty support to the plan, and the success of the undertaking is more than assured.

Our special staff of reporters, artists and solicitors, to whom this important work has been intrusted, is being most courteously received by the men of business whom they are daily interviewing, and from all sides comes assurance of unqualified aid and co-operation.

Let every public spirited man see to it that he is properly represented in this'

SUPERB EDITION

Do not let your neighbor out-do you. Remember this when our representative calls to see you. The compiling of data concerning Plainfield activities and the reduction of this data to well and accurately written articles, descriptive of individual commercial enterprise, our schools of learning, churches, progressive life, etc., is progressing rapidly and most satisfactorily, and will be pushed with unabated vigor until the day of publication.

This Boom Edition

will embrace an exhaustive resume of every manner of Plainfield and Union county life. It will review the town and county history from its foundation to the present time. Every branch of industry will be thoroughly described. The bench and bar and municipal government will receive adequate attention, as befits the relatively important niches which they occupy in the life of this hustling town. In short, THE PRESS will set forth in glowing terms, in orderly and comprehensive detail and with resolute accuracy, the growth of grand old Plainfield, and the enterprise and high character of her representative and progressive sons who have made it the splendid town that it is today.

Thus for the FIRST TIME—in proper form—Plainfield and all that goes to constitute its healthy and active life, will be portrayed so that the outside world may know just what this town looks like and what our people are doing. You will be called upon in a day or so. Do your part then. Do not hide your light under a bushel. One and all pull together and the success will be ours and yours. If you have never done anything for the welfare and advancement of your home town you have a good chance to do it now.

LOWELL SCORES 25 RUNS.

Lowell, Mass., Aug. 23.—Lowell made the season's scoring record in the New England League yesterday by defeating Brockton 25 to 0, darkness stopping the game at the end of the eighth inning. Off Pitchers Bailey and Swapp, Lowell made twenty-four hits for a total of forty bases, including three doubles, two triples and three home runs. In the meantime Pitcher Maybolm, of Lowell, gave only two scattered hits.

"MAC" SAYS

Dunellen baseball magnates have now finished their unpleasant task of demonstrating whatever goes up, must come down.

Two months ago the Dunellen fans could see the Central New Jersey League pennant quaffed by a Dunellen breeze on the baseball diamond that was constructed at the beginning of the season for the sole purpose of annexing this famous strip of bunting, but now they are contented to lay the Bound Brook Bees.

Bound Brook may be O. K. but it certainly looks like a big drop for Dunellen. A short time ago a game of this character would have been scorned.

Reading Warry McLaughlin's expression at the present time leads us to believe that being a corn husker is like being in jail—only more so.

He has done the Thaw act, however, and henceforth and forever more will confine his efforts to taming choicer birds. The veteran southpaw still has a good supply of cunning left and is a valuable man to any team.

Scanning the latest edition "Why High Bridge did not win the pennant," we are led to suspect that Dorflinger and Torpey are not the only comedians on the league circuit. Best actors though, at that.

The Spicer people have not won a whole lot or games in that City League race, but we firmly believe that the management is putting some ambition in the aggregation to make a 1914 pennant winner. At least, that's what they all say when they start the task of rejuvenating a ball nine.

Any one who has watched the work of the Park Avenue Baptist boys during the present season and then compared their work of a year ago will admit that this is one of the Seven Modern Wonders.

Charlie Ebbets has announced that he would spend $60,000 to strengthen his team. We have not any inside information, but we have heard a well grounded rumor that today he will dedicate the $60,000.

Clark Griffith says Ty Cobb is worth $100,000. The said Clark Griffith is not paying a salary to the said Ty Cobb.

Ben Tincup, the Indian pitcher who has been purchased by the Phillies is on the wrong team. Imagine what a receiver Larry McLean would be for the Tincup.

FAILED TO BREAK RECORD.

Chicago, August 23.—With a choppy sea and an impromptu program no motor boat history was written in the national meet in this harbor. A few handicap races were run, but the starting was so inaccurate that the relative positions of the boats meant little. In one of them the judges did not take the time at all. Barnacle received a handicap of 2¾ seconds from Hydro-Bullet and beat the latter by about three minutes. Barnacle was the only boat to do a two-mile lap under three minutes, and she was only a few seconds inside.

CHINESE LAST APPEARANCE.

The final appearance in the East of the Chinese team of the University of Hawaii will take place today, when the Hawaiians line up against the Manhattans at Manhattan Field, 149th street and Eighth avenue. The Orientals have a wonderful record. The team has annexed ninety-three games out of 105. Foster-Robertson the Mathewson of the Far East, and Mark will be the Chinese lineup, with Martini and Sweeney opposing them.

JUMPS ARE BARRED IN OLYMPIC GAMES

Berlin Committee Adopts Tentative Plans For Contests.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—The International Athletic federation was engaged yesterday with the most difficult portion of its task, that of formulating a program for international contests, notably the Olympic games, as the delegates of the various nations foresee special advantages in the inclusion or exclusion of specific events.

The committee agreed upon a tentative schedule eliminating the standing broad jumps, limiting shot putting and javelin and discus throwing to the best hand only, inserting the fifty-six pound weight and the 400 meter hurdles and retaining the walking events, but the struggle will be resumed at the general meeting.

The United States fared well in the committee report because that country no longer is supreme in standing jumps, to which the Swedes and Germans objected, referring to them as "circus stunts," and the Americans have by far the best chances in the hurdles and the weight throwing.

The Scandinavians are insistent in demanding the retention of ambidextrous shot putting, javelin and discus throwing, in which events they excel, and the British representatives have adopted a similar attitude in their request that the walking events be included in the program.

TEN PHILLY PLAYERS ILL AS RACE APPROACHES END

The baseball bugs who never miss the opening game of a world's series and dote on the prospects of their respective favorites several weeks in advance have often pictured themselves at the first contest for the championship and in their dreams hear the umpire announcing: "Lo-dies and gentlemen, the batteries for today's game will be Matthewson and Meyers for New York, and Plank and Lapp for Philadelphia." Now, the same anxious, loyal bugs, especially those from Slow Town, are wondering if the fast traveling Naps from Cleveland will nip Mack's men in the last stretch of the American League race.

At the present time ten of the Philly athletes are suffering from injury or sickness. Catchers Schang and Thomas are forced to remain in the game with split fingers because Lapp has a more seriously damaged hand. Orr has a split finger and Strunk is seriously ill. Danny Murphy has been in bed several days. Pitcher Bush is out with a dislocated left thumb. Brown has a serious cold. Coombs has not recovered from an attack of typhoid fever and the veteran Plank himself, is ailing. And poor Connie says he is afflicted with hardluckitis.

SCOTCH PLAINS WILL OPPOSE ELIZABETH A. A.

Two of the fastest semi-pro baseball aggregations in Union county will fight for supremacy Sunday afternoon at Scotch Plains, when Joe Alberts' ball tossers will match their skill with the players of the Elizabeth A. A. The boys from the county seat town are a swift traveling aggregation and have signed up many local teams of their strength in this vicinity, including the Plainfield Pets, whom they will probably play in several weeks.

Ortlieb, who hurled the pill across the rubber last Sunday when the Plains team defeated the Saurer nine of the City League by the score of 2 to 1 and held the Plainfield champions to 4 hits in the one dozen innings that it took to decide a winner, will endeavor to subdue the Elizabethians. "Hen" Alberts will scramble after the ball behind the batter.

TROPHY OFFERED FOR RECREATION SEEKERS

Incentive to Competition In Playground Strength Tests Held During Summer.

Junior athletes who have been seeking physical development at Parker Field, Plainfield's leading recreation center during the past two months, or since school closed for the summer recess, will be given an opportunity to gain exact data concerning their increase in strength during the next week, when George W. Wriston, the supervisor, will conduct a series of tests to determine which individual has made the greatest increase. As an incentive to competition, which is already of the keenest nature, George W. Claybrook, a member of the playground commission, has secured a silver trophy which will be presented to the champion determined by these tests.

In order that the small boy may have an equal chance with the big one, a test has been originated whereby youths of every age and size will be placed on a par. The tests will be figured on a percentage basis and a definite schedule of hours has been designated by Mr. Wriston, during which time the tests will be given both in the morning and afternoon next week.

Only those boys who took the preliminary examinations and had their marks registered at the beginning of the season will be eligible to compete for the trophy next week, as a comparison will have to be made with the first tests in awarding the prize.

Various phases of the playground work at Parker Field have been particularly adapted to body development and the recreation seekers have combined pleasure with needful exercise during the summer months. The preliminary tests outlined the weaknesses of the respective applicants and special work was prescribed for each case so that the boy could develop along the lines he was deficient in. The trophy will be awarded to the winner at a special exhibit which will be held on Parker Field, Labor Day morning.

SPICER-WEST END GAME IS CALLED OFF

Hopelessly out of the race for the championship flag of the City League, the Spicer team, which is firmly lodged in the cellar position with but one "win" to its credit, has called off today's game with the West End A.C. The contest was scheduled for the soccer field near Clinton avenue. It is improbable that Spicer will play another league game this season.

JACK DOERSCHER TO PITCH FOR NEW BRUNSWICK TEAM

Jack Doescher, the star slab artist of the Jersey City team of the International League, will assist the New Brunswick team tomorrow, in its efforts to defeat the Allentown ball tossers at Amusement Park, New Brunswick. Doescher is a favorite in New Brunswick, having pitched there in 1909 and 1910. Doescher is said to be "in wrong" with the International Leaguers.

ENGLAND REFUSES TO SEND SPEEDY SPRINTER

New York, Aug. 23—Word reached A. A. U. headquarter here yesterday that W. R. Applegarth, the record-breaking English sprinter, had been refused permission to visit the United States by the governing body in England. It was a typical turndown of the Amateur Athletic Association, for the sprinter was not informed why he was not allowed to make the trip to America.

Applegarth was very anxious to come here for a tour, as he possessed the idea that there was some virtue in the American tracks and that the American atmosphere made a sprinter run exceptionally fast. He believed if he had a few weeks' training here he could beat all records from 100 to 300 yards.

HINTS ON HOW TO SWIM FAST

The Trudgeon For Distance, the Crawl For Sprints.

BOTH ARE DOUBLE OVERARM

The Head Must Be Submerged In Racing Swimming Except When Raised to Breathe—Different Kicks Used In the Two Speedy Methods.

Once a person has mastered the ordinary breast stroke in swimming, and then learned the single overarm stroke he is ready to develop speed swimming.

The racing strokes are vitally different from the ordinary pleasure methods.

For distance racing the double overarm (trudgeon) is used, and in short events one should adopt the "crawl."

The trudgeon as a racing stroke is executed as follows:

The arms are used in alternate strokes, the hands reaching out well in front to give a long sweep. They are carried back in the water as far as the waist. Breathe on each right arm stroke, or on each left arm stroke. The head is carried low in the water, so you must turn your face upward out of the water for a second to snatch a breath, then lower it again. Keeping the head submerged is an essential. Thus the body is kept on a straight line and offers less resistance to the water than it otherwise would.

The kick is important. Spread the legs far apart in a big "scissors" on every right arm stroke. Bring the legs violently together just as you finish the arm stroke. Point the toes out as much as possible and keep the legs straight and rigid during the left arm stroke. Kick once for every two arm strokes. The "double kick" will kill your speed.

The Crawl.

In the crawl stroke plunge forward in the water and take short, quick overarm strokes, kicking the legs from the knees down up and down violently. Keep the knees as close together as possible and turn your toes inward. Your feet come out of the water at each kick if you make the leg stroke very pronounced.

Your face is submerged. Turn it upward to breathe at every three or four or five strokes. Some racers take seven or eight strokes on a single breath.

The Australian crawl can be distinguished by a short arm reach, with bent elbows, similar to the arm action used in sprinting fast with the trudgeon; by an alternate bending of the legs to a kneeling position and a hard snapping down of them in time with the catch of the opposite hand, and by a flat, face down position of the body.

Its great advantage is the remarkable speed of action, which allows absolutely no check, making it probably quite as fast a stroke for short dashes as any known. Its worst fault is that it is a freak stroke, totally unfit for distance work. It is impossible to hold it if the movements are fast, and there is no speed in it when they are retarded.

The American style calls for a longer reach in sprinting, decidedly longer in distance swimming. The legs perform

THE OVERARM STROKE.

the same alternate thrash, but so much narrower that the feet seldom rise above the surface. The great difference between it and the Australian variety lies in the fact that the movements of arms and legs are totally independent of each other. The body assumes the same position at the start, but rolls a little more, offering a better chance to breathe with less exertion.

NEW COACHES FOR PENN.

Orton Succeeds Mike Murphy—Nickalls Is Crew Mentor.

Vivian Nickalls of the Detroit Boat club and a former noted English oarsman has been elected rowing coach and George W. Orton, a well known distance runner, chosen coach of the track team at a meeting of the board of directors of the Athletic Association of the University of Pennsylvania. Both men have signed contracts for three years and will begin their duties next fall.

Orton, who succeeds the late Mike Murphy, was a member of the first track team coached by Murphy at the University of Pennsylvania. He made a new world's steeplechase record at the Olympic games in Paris in 1900 and in recent years has had charge of cross country athletes at the Episcopal academy in Philadelphia.

PANAMA TOLLS TO THE HAGUE

Peace Conference Passes Resolution For Appeal to Arbitration Court.

The Hague, Aug. 23.—A resolution favoring the submission of the Panama canal tolls controversy between Great Britain and the United States to the Hague arbitration court in the event of diplomacy failing was adopted by the interstate peace conference yesterday.

Another resolution regretted that the Balkan belligerents received international financial support. The conference recommended the codification of an international law making arbitration compulsory before war is declared.

GIRL A SUICIDE AT SEA.

Wealthy Cuban Coming to America For Health Leaps Overboard.

New York, Aug. 23.—Word of the suicide at sea of a wealthy young Cuban woman by jumping overboard was brought here by the steamship Mexico of the Ward line, from Havana. The young woman was Miss Carmencita Rodriguez of a well known Havana family, and she was accompanied by a physician and a nurse when she took passage on board the Mexico for this country, in the hope of speedily regaining her shattered health.

On the evening of Aug. 20 the young woman disappeared from her stateroom, where she was left alone for a short time by her nurse.

WOULD PROBE ANTHRACITE.

Representative Murray of Massachusetts Demands Investigation.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Declaring the public at large is being charged extortionately for anthracite coal because of the intercorporate relations of the mining companies and the railroad companies, Representative Murray of Massachusetts appeared before the house interstate commerce commission to urge a favorable reply on his resolution calling for a joint investigation by all departments of the government in the various phases of the anthracite industry.

Murray declared that a complete investigation of the anthracite industry is necessary before remedial legislation can be obtained.

WIRELESS PHONE AT SEA.

May Soon Be Able to Talk From Ship to Shore.

London, Aug. 23.—"The day is not far distant when with the morning cup of tea on a transatlantic liner we will hear the telephone bell and talk with those we left behind" was a clause in a statement sent out to shareholders by Godfrey Isaacs of the Marconi company.

He said that the company has under consideration many new patents, among which is one covering wireless telephony.

Sends Impeachment Records.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 23.—North Carolina shipped from its library to Albany, N. Y., the records of the impeachment of Governor William Holden, who was convicted in 1871 and retired from the governorship. New York state's library called for the records to be used in the trial of Governor Sulzer. Governor Holden was convicted chiefly on his refusal to recognize writs of habeas corpus for alleged members of the Ku Klux Klan.

SURE SHE CAN'T TRUST A BLOND

Blue Eyed Lad Takes Girl's Money.

ALSO HER RETURN TICKET

Asbury Park Girl Comes to Jersey City to Meet Young Man Who Had Lovely Blond Hair, and Now She's Convinced They're Untrue—Stole Purse.

Jersey City, N. J., Aug. 23.—Pearl Evans, an eighteen-year-old girl of Asbury Park, left this city for home convinced that blonds are not to be trusted.

She came to this city to meet a young man who had lovely blond curly locks, blue eyes and a most fetching gray suit. He met her at the Pennsylvania Railroad station at the foot of Exchange place, and they decided that the Hudson boulevard was the proper place to stroll.

According to Miss Evans, they walked along the Hudson driveway until De Kalb avenue was reached. Miss Evans had given her escort her purse to carry.

"You wait here until I return. I'll only be gone a few minutes," said the blond escort.

Miss Evans waited, then waited some more. She waited for more than an hour.

It then dawned upon her that her Jersey City escort had fled, taking her pocketbook containing a small sum of money and a return ticket to her home town.

Sobbing bitterly, the girl told the police her story. She was then sent to the Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Children for the night.

"I am going back to Asbury. No more Jersey City boys for me. I always heard that blonds were untrue and not to be trusted."

GUARDED HOARD 25 YEARS.

Old Woman Dies With the Secret of Hidden $700 Untold.

West Orange, N. J., Aug. 23.—Mrs Louisa Menzel, seventy-eight years old, who had not left her home in twenty-five years through fear that some one would enter and steal $700 she had hidden in the house, died at her home in Northfield with the secret of the hidden treasure locked in her mind. The $700 represented the savings of fifty years from the sale of elderberry wine.

The old woman fell on the doorstone of her home Saturday night, injuring her head. This produced apoplexy. She did not regain consciousness long enough to tell her husband where she had hidden the money.

Miss Porter Becomes the Bride of J. M. Williamson.

Hackensack, N. J., Aug. 23.—The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mathieson on Elm avenue, Bogota, near here, was the scene of a pretty wedding when the Rev. Dr. C. R. Kuebler of Hackensack, united in marriage John Morton Williamson of Philadelphia and Miss Mary Porter of Alexandria, Scotland.

The bride reached this country last Saturday on the Cameronia, and was given away by her uncle, Mr. Mathieson. She was attired in a white crepe de chine dress and carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor was Miss Margaret Mathieson, and the best man was Evan Edwards of Philadelphia.

T. T. Reid Had Nine Policies on His Life—Golf Cups Worth $1,500.

Montclair, N. J., Aug. 23.—An inventory of the estate of Thomas T. Reid, who died at his home here in November last, shows that more than half of the $200,000 personal property was the proceeds of nine life insurance policies. The bulk of the remainder represents the lumber business he conducted in New York.

Mr. Reid's life insurance amounted to $134,564.79. The valuation placed on Mr. Reid's interest in the Dunbar Box and Lumber company of New York is $50,000. Among the other assets of the estate are twenty-six prize golf cups valued at $1,500.

18 MONTHS FOR MOTORIST.

Perrine, Who Killed Man In Collision, Sentenced to Workhouse.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 23.—Addison B. Perrine of Highstown, N. J., convicted of manslaughter for running his automobile into an auto truck with fatal results several months ago, was sentenced to eighteen months in the Mercer County workhouse.

Perrine, it was charged, had been drinking when the automobile he was driving collided with the truck. Joseph B. Wishart, seated in the rear of Perrine's car, was thrown out and killed.

Saw Himself.

MAKE MONEY WITH POULTRY

AMERICAN POULTRY is a magazine devoted entirely to helping earnest men and women make a financial success of poultry raising. Its staff of writers is composed entirely of those who have made a practical, instead of theoretical, success of poultry farming, and who are glad to pass on the results of their hard earned experience to AMERICAN POULTRY readers.

There are many pit-falls in the path of the novice which may be entirely avoided by those who will follow the teachings set forth in this magazine. It fully explains how to make a start, how to construct houses, coops, and other devices, how to get a large egg yield, how to cure and prevent disease, how to exhibit, how to get the top price for eggs, how to use incubators and hundreds of other points which everyone wishes to know. It explains the famous secret system through which poultrymen have become rich and afterwards sold for hundreds of dollars.

AMERICAN POULTRY is a large, handsomely illustrated, monthly journal, well printed on fine paper, and should be found on file in the home of every poultry lover. No beginner in the poultry business should think of being without it. It will save him many times the small subscription price. The advanced poultryman will also find it of great value; the articles being varied in their scope.

SPECIAL OFFER. The regular price of AMERICAN POULTRY is 50c per year, but in order to introduce it to several thousand new readers, we will, for a short time, give a large 200 page poultry book, which is a complete guide in the poultry business, absolutely free to everyone sending 50c for a yearly subscription or $1.00 for a three year subscription to AMERICAN POULTRY. A trial six months' subscription (without book) will be sent for 25c. Never has so much been offered for so small a sum. Advantage of this offer should be taken at once.

SUFFRAGE TALKS AT COUNTY SEAT

AUDIENCE IS FRIENDLY

Mrs. E. F. Feickert and Miss Eleanor Garrison Well Applauded—"Anti" Arguments Are Answered—Literature Distributed.

Somerville, Aug. 25—A crowd of three or four hundred people blocked Main street for two hours on Saturday evening, while speakers on Woman Suffrage spoke in regard to their cause. The meeting had been planned by Mrs. George M. LaMonte, of Bound Brook, suffrage legislative chairman for Somerset county, and Mrs. Louis Gaston, of this place. Mrs. LaMonte introduced the speakers, who were Miss Hill, of New Brunswick; Miss Eleanor Garrison, legislative secretary of the New Jersey Suffrage organizations; Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of Plainfield, president of the State Suffrage Association, and George M. LaMonte, of Bound Brook, State Commissioner of Banking and Insurance. Quantities of literature were distributed and the crowd showed its interest by applauding specially good points which were made by the speakers and by contributing liberally to the collection which was taken up at the end of the meeting.

Mr. LaMonte caught the crowd with his arguments that while the "Antis" claim that woman should be supreme in the home and man should have entire charge of things outside the home, in reality no man would be satisfied to have his wife really supreme in the home; that every man wanted to have a say in the affairs of the home, and that it was just as fair that women should have something to say about the conduct of the larger home, the city in which they live.

Miss Garrison was a forceful speaker and was loudly applauded when she finished.

Speaking on the Antis' argument that men will no longer adopt a chivalrous attitude toward women when women have the same political rights, Mrs. Feickert told a story which amused the crowd. It was about a New York woman who was walking on a street in Denver (where women have voted for many years). Just ahead of her she saw a washwoman carrying with apparent difficulty a big bundle of clothes. A large man who looked as if he might have been anything but a professional philanthropist approached, and after bowing politely and speaking with the woman for a moment, he took her bundle and walked down the street with her carrying it. The New York woman said she had never seen anything like that at home, so she followed for two blocks, when reaching the woman's house, the man carried in her bundle for her, and after chatting pleasantly for a moment or two, bowed and smilingly departed. The New Yorker's curiosity was tremnndously aroused, and proving too much for her, she went up the steps of the washwoman's home and rang the bell saying when she came to the door, "I am afraid you will think that I am very rude, but I can't resist asking you why that man carried your bundle." "Sure, I don't mind telling you," said the woman, "He's the ward boss and he wants my vote!"

Mrs. LaMonte had planned to have another meeting on Front street, Plainfield, but it was so late before the Somerville crowd would let the suffragists go, that this had to be postponed until some later date. In the party, in addition to the speakers, were Mrs. Louis Gaston, of Somerville; Mrs. C. R. Whitaker, Miss Caroline LaMonte and Mrs. L. S. Bache, of Bound Brook; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stevens, of New Brunswick, and E. F. Feickert, of Plainfield.

MISHAP PROVES FATAL TO ANDREW KOVALICK

Raritan, Aug. 25—Andrew Kovalick, aged fifty years, died at his home here, last night, as the result of an accident. While engaged on Saturday in carting ties from South Somerville to this place, some of the ties rolled over on him, crushing his chest. He leaves a number of children, his wife having died sometime ago.

MRS. FLORA ANN KINGSLOW.

Mrs. Flora Ann Kingslow, aged 80 years, colored, died Saturday, at her home on Plainfield avenue. She is survived by a son, Henry Kingslow, and one daughter, Mrs. Mary Doyle, with whom she made her home, and eight grand-children. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, at 403 Plainfield avenue. Rev. Dr. M. W. Vaughan, of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, will officiate. The burial will be in North Plainfield cemetery.

4,000 SEE PICTURES OF FAMOUS BATTLE

The season opened auspicuously at The Plainfield Theatre on Saturday, with one of the best feature photoplays witnessed here in a long time, entitled "The Battle of Gettysburg." Throughout the afternoon and evening nearly four thousand people saw the five-reel picture. The added feature of an orchestra was greatly appreciated and enjoyed by the large audiences. It is hoped to secure this picture again in the near future. Today's feature film in three reels will be the opera "Tannhauser." Tomorrow the feature picture will be "The Boomerang."

The pictures are exhibited from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 to 10.30 o'clock in the evening. At Proctor's Theatre the show is continuous from 2 until 10.30 and on Saturday from 1 to 11 p. m. The vaudeville bill today will include the big sketch, "Miss 318," presented by the Jessie Bussley Players.

J. HENRY CRANE WED MRS. G. W. GULICK

Mrs. Gertrude Wohlbruck Gulick, and James Henry Crane, both of this city, were married yesterday afternoon by Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist church, New York city. The ceremony was performed at Dr. Eaton's home, "Sunbright," Watchung. Mrs. E. Carroll Bliss, of Warren, Mass., sister of the bride, was the matron-of-honor, and Arthur E. Crane, of Brooklyn, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The ceremony was witnessed by a few intimate friends. Afterward, Mr. and Mrs. Crane left for Maine, where they will spend two weeks. They will reside in this city.

Mrs. Crane is the daughter of the late Theodore Clements Wohlbruck, for many years a well-known cotton broker in New York. She has been living in this city for several years.

Mr. Crane is the son of Rev. Arthur Crane pastor of the First Baptist church of Newport, R. I. He has been a resident of Plainfield for many years and for the past eight years has been engaged in the practice of law here. He is an active member of the First Baptist church, and prominently identified with the Men's Conference Bible Class.

VENERABLE MAN MAKES LONG JOURNEY ALONE

Richard Draper, of Tabor, Iowa, is visiting his granddaughter, Mrs. A. L. C. Marsh, on East Sixth street. Mr. Tabor is 92 years old, but to the casual observer he does not appear a day over fifty. He has lived with relatives in the Iowa town for the past four years and prior to that time resided in the east. He was born in England, but came to this country as a young man. Mr. Draper made the trip from Iowa to New Jersey alone, being met in New York on Saturday by Mr. Marsh. Dr. Frank S. Wells, of Grant avenue, is Mr. Draper's son-in-law.

MISCELLANEOUS "SHOWER" FOR MISS GRACE E. KNIGHT

Miss Grace E. Knight, of Elmwood place, was tendered a "Miscellaneous Shower" on Friday evening at the home of Miss Mabel H. Vail, of East Fifth street. Miss Vail was assisted in receiving by her cousin Miss Helen Howard, of Hingham, Mass. Miss Knight will be married on September 6 to William S. Campbell, of East Second street.

Miss Knight was presented with many beautiful gifts including china, linen and cut glass. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing appropriate games after which refreshments were served.

DOROTHY J. KENNETH.

Dorothy J. Kenneth, aged ten days, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Kenneth, of 547 East Second street, died yesterday. The burial will take place at Linden, today.

SAURER EMPLOYES ENJOYED OUTING

PRIZES ARE AWARDED

Two Hundred Men With the Officials Have a Great Day—Dinner a Feature of the Event—Names of the Winners.

More than two hundred employes, with the officials of the Saurer plant of the International Motor Works, enjoyed their annual outing at Kreischerville, S. I., on Saturday. Two trolley cars were engaged to take the party to and from Boynton Beach, from which point the balance of the trip was made in a launch to Staten Island. There were many who made the journey in automobiles. It was about 10 o'clock in the morning when Kreischerville was reached and the men enjoyed themselves in various ways until noon when all sat down to a fine dinner.

In the afternoon there was an elaborate program of athletic events in which a large number of the employes were entered. J. S. Hawkyard was chairman of the committee in charge of the sports and every event was run off without a hitch of any kind. More than fifty handsome prizes were donated, and these were pretty generally distributed among winners in the different events. The winners and prizes were as follows:

HOPE CHAPEL PEOPLE HEAR FORMER PASTOR

A large congregation greeted Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, of Chicago, former pastor of Hope chapel, at that place, last night, when Mr. Newell preached after having been absent from the city for twelve years.

Taking for his text the first two words of the Lord's Prayer, "Our Father," Mr. Newell pointed out the many practical ways in which the God-head cares for his children in a material way. He also referred to the applicaiton of human brotherhood which the text contained and pointed out that without the feeling of brotherhood, Christianity failed to reach its greatest possible force. "The Christian religion," he said, "is unique and distinct from other religions in so far as it presents to the world a God with the love of a father."

WATCHUNG BLAZE DESTROYS HOUSE

LOSS IS ABOUT $5,000

Some Furniture Saved—William Cooper, a Fireman, Has Clothing Caught By Blaze—Neighbors' Places Saved.

Fire last night, which was caused by the upsetting of an oil lamp in a bedroom, destroyed the dwelling of Jerome B. Johnson on the Warrenville road at Watchung, about 7:30 o'clock. The house was occupied by Samuel Rappie and his family. With the assistance of neighbors and members of the local fire department they were able to save some of the contents. The total loss is estimated at about $5,000.

Edward Bodin discovered the blaze. He notified Miss Agnes Davis, who telephoned to the Watchung fire headquarters. Within five minutes the department responded, but the blaze had such a start in the upper part of the house that efforts to save the structure were fruitless. Then attention was directed toward saving the contents. The firemen saved two nearby adjoining houses, the work of George Mobus, Fritz Meyers, William Demler, William Demler, Jr., Douglass Demler and Edward Bodin being especially effective. William Cooper, who was holding the nozzle, got so close to the fire that his clothing caught and it was with difficulty that serious results were prevented.

When the lamp was upset in the bedroom, the blaze set fire to some bedding nearby and spread rapidly through the room, driving the family out of doors.

HACKENSACK FIRM LOW BRIDGE BIDDER

Long, Broadhurst Co. to Make Alterations On Sycamore Ave. Structure.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders met with the bridge committee of the Union county board, this morning, in North Plainfield, and received bids for alterations to the Sycamore avenue bridge. The alterations call for a concrete floor, a wooden block pavement of yellow pine, resting on yellow pine planks, all creosoted with asphalted joints.

These bids were received: Burke & Bonham, of North Plainfield (2); A. E. Smith, of Plainfield, and the Long-Broadhurst Co., of Hackensack. The Hackensack company secured the contract, bidding $2,883. The Burke & Bonham bids were for $3,470 and $3,170, while the Smith bid called for $3,044.

The Somerset board adjourned to meet at Branchburg township, Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, when the improvements to bridges will receive its attention.

SUNDAY BAND CONCERT ATTRACTS MANY PEOPLE

The concert given at Parker Field, yesterday afternoon, by Naylor's band, under the auspices of the Playground Commission, attracted several hundred people to the recreation spot. It was an ideal day for the affair and not only was the excellent program by the band enjoyed, but the crowd listened with much interest to the short address by George P. Mellick, president of the commission, who spoke of the benefits to be derived from such recreation centres.

This will probably be the last band concert of the season at Parker Field, as the Playground Commission has no fund with which to provide this sort of entertainment for the people. The cost of each concert is about $30, and those given during the season have been made possible through generous contributions.

SPECIAL PREACHER AT MT. ZION.

CHAUFFEUR HELD FOR BOY'S DEATH

IS RELEASED IN BAIL

Victim, Who Was Returning From Ball Game, Meets Death at Metuchen—His Father Formerly a Millstone Blacksmith.

Merrill Hunt, of Philadelphia, chauffeur for Mrs. William Simpson, of that city, and a nephew of Mrs. George Day, of Dunellen, while passing through Metuchen in an automobile on Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock, on his way from New York to Philadelphia, struck and killed William Bowne, aged 14 years, of Irvington.

Hunt was arrested and Prosecutor George Silzer took charge of the case. Accompanied by County Detective Ferguson, the two went to Dunellen, where the chauffeur was identified by Mr. Day and arrangements were made for his appearance at New Brunswick today. When arraigned before Supreme Court Justice Willard P. Voorhees, this morning, he was held in $3,000 bail for the Grand Jury. Bail was furnished by Mr. Day.

The accident happened on Georges road, about 5 miles from New Brunswick, and Bowne, who, by a strange coincidence, had been visiting R. L. Vanderwater, a cousin of Hunt, was returning home from a baseball game when the automobile came along and hit him.

Hunt had been abroad with Mrs. Simpson, arriving in New York, Friday, on the Cedric. They left the automobile on the steamer, Mrs. Simpson returning home by train. Hunt went after the car Saturday planning to run it to Philadelphia. He was accompanied by four sailors from the Cedric, who acepted an invitation to take a ride to the Quaker city.

Hunt is a son of Walter Hunt, who at one time was a well-known blacksmith at Millstone, but who now lives in Philadelphia. He is married and has children.

As yet the county authorities, who have charge of the case, have not fixed the blame for the fatality.

TWO MEN HELD UP ON A LONELY ROAD

Edward Dennig and Harold Shirley Accuse James Palco As One of the Highwaymen.

Edward Denning, of Randolph road, and Harold Shirley, of Scotch Plains, told the police late last night of an attempt made to rob them while they were walking along Farragut road shortly before midnight. They accused James Palco, of Cottage place, as one of the highwaymen. He is being sought by the police.

Dennig and Shirley said that when about 100 feet from Green brook they were set upon by two men who beat them with clubs and stones. Dennig started to run but he was felled by a big stone. Regaining his feet he escaped. Shirley fought the man who attacked him and dropped his adversary to the ground with a well-directed punch on the jaw. The would-be highwayman then attempted to draw a stiletto from his pocket, but Shirley again exhibited his pugilistic powers and sent the man reeling to the ground.

The Scotch Plains man hurried to police headquarters and reported his experience.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS, IS DYING IN HOSPITAL

Little Hope for Wife of Murdered Colored Man Apparently Attacked by Paralysis.

Mrs. Thomas Deers, colored, of 536 West Second street, mother of Thomas Deers, who was murdered Saturday, April 12, by Mateio Papalili, an Italian, was found last night, lying unconscious in the yard in the rear of her home. She was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, where she is still unconscious. The physicians in attendance say there is little hope for her rrecovery.

Mrs. Deers was scantily clothed when found by neighbors lying as if dead at the bottom of a pair of stairs leading from her home to the back yard. She is known to have suffered slightly from paralysis and it is thought that she was attacked by a stroke as she was descending the stairway.

JOHN R. WIERENGA DIES IN 77TH YEAR

Aged Resident Passes Away Suddenly—A Native of Holland.

John R. Wierenga, aged seventy-six years, a resident of Plainfield since 1857 and widely known as a landscape gardener, died suddenly from complications, yesterday, at his home, 139 Randolph road. He had been ill but a short time. Mr. Wierenga was born in the province of Groagen, Holland, and came to this country when a young man. He removed to Plainfield in 1857 and continued to live here where for many years he followed his occupation, that of a landscape gardener. During that time he had charge of many large properties.

There survives two daughters, Mrs. Michael Gill and Mrs. Margaret Hyland, three sons, James, Henry and John Wierenga, of this city, and one sister, Mrs. VanDerPloeg, of Holland, Mich. The funeral will be held at the late home at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and the budial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

IMMIGRANTS VICTIMS OF A SLICK CROOK

As long as immigrants seek these shores, just so long will clever crooks work their games to rob the ignorant foreigners of their money which they have brought with them to assist them over the road to success and happiness in this country. Two instances were brought to the attention of the local police late Saturday afternoon. Albert Schmidt, coming from Germany to make his home with Herman Theis, of Muhlenberg place, fell a victim of the miscreants to the extent of $70 and John Lavis, en route from Poland to settle in Bound Brook, was "touched" for $22.

Both Schmidt and Lavis say they were brought to the Jersey Central Railroad terminal in Jersey City on the Government immigrant boat and were placed in charge of the railroad's immigrant agent. Placed in passenger coaches, they asserted that they were soon approached by a man in uniform who asked them where they were going. The stranger told them they had many hours to travel and told them they should give him their money for safe keeping. Schmidt turned $70 over to the stranger and Lavis parted with $22.

When Plainfield was reached Schmidt was told that he had arrived at his destination. He asked the conductor for his money, and started to use force to get it when the railroad employe told him that he had probably been swindled. Schmidt did not understand and because of his yelling resulted in his being brought to police headquarters where the police, through on interpreter, learned the story of the swindle. The scene was similar at Bound Brook where Lavis demanded his $22 after being ejected from the train.

FUNERAL SERVICE HELD FOR MICHAEL WEBER

With a large number of friends and relatives, including members of Court Plainfield, No. 1144, I. O. Foresters, and the Gesang and Turn Verein Society, present, the funeral of Michael Weber was held at his home, 431 Spooner avenue, yesterday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock. Rev. George Hauser, pastor of the German Reformed church, officiated. The bearers, members of the two fraternal organizations, were Edward McCue, Claude Roseberry, Martin Flatley, William Messler, Thomas Colter and Herman Klinsman. Interment was made at Hillside cemetery. Many floral tributes, among which were set pieces from the lodge of Foresters and the Gesang Society, were sent by friends.

LOST LIFE IN BIG FIRE

Somerville, Aug. 25—Fire causing a loss of over $50,000 and the death of Edward J. Barras, an aged tinsmith, occurred here, last night, when the large three-story livery stable of Newton O. Dunster was burned to the ground, and a number of other buildings badly damaged and wrecked as the result of the falling ruins and sparks from the Dunster building.

Notwithstanding there had been a number of persons in and about the lower part of the Dunster stables until a few moments before the fire was discovered, the flames had burst through the roof and the entire top floor was burning before an alarm could be sent in.

Judson Carkhuff, a driver for Mr. Dunster, saw the flames about 11 o'clock, and an alarm was turned in. The firemen could do nothing but save surrounding buildings and assist in getting out some of the contents of the lower floor of the stable, nearly all of which had been removed by employes of Mr. Dunster. It was impossible to save anything on the second floor, except a small pony belonging to the daughter of Mr. Dunster, which had to be carried down the runway.

It is supposed that the fire first started in the hay mow in the rear on the second floor, and immediately spread to the third floor, because of the draft from open windows in the top story. The contents of the second floor consisted of a number of valuable coaches and other wagons, sleighs, etc., and that on the third consisted principally of goods placed in storage by various individuals of the borough, all of which is a total loss.

The burned building was surrounded by a number of small structures, principally old buildings, in the rear, and the old soap factory building, formerly belonging to the late Nathaniel Conkling, adjoined it on the south, and this building was completely wrecked from the action of the flames and the falling concrete blocks from the Dunster building. It was in part of this building that Mr. Barras had his tinsmith shop, and it was in an attempt to save some of his tools that he lost his life. He was in front of his place of business when the fire had been burning for sometime, and when it was seen that the Conkling building, now owned by W. H. Cawley, was doomed, he went in to get out his tools. He asked a number of bystanders if they thought it was safe for him to enter the building, and when told that it was, entered and carried out a number of tools, assisted by a number of bystanders. It was thought that everything had been taken from the place, but Mr. Barras had gone in for the third time when the concrete blocks from the Dunster building came tumbling down, crushing in the roof like paper and carrying that part of the building down to the cellar.

It was not known that Mr. Barras was in the ruins until about 7 o'clock this morning, when members of his family began making inquiry as to his whereabouts. Work of clearing away the debris was started at once, three colored men, "Brock" Hall, "Sonny" Sears and "Sam" VanLiew, being put to work, and the body was found in the ruins about 10 o'clock. Death had been almost instantaneous, his body being badly crushed, and the flesh of one of his legs burned. Chief of Police Bellis assisted in directing the work of recovering the body.

In removing the horses from the burning building a number of them got away, including the horse belonging to J. Ross Lake, proprietor of the TenEyck House. These horses were found at daylight on Franklin street, in the gas house district. Mr. Lake lost about $400 worth of goods, including carriages, sleighs, etc., upon which there was no insurance.

The W. H. Cawley Bottling Company had a quantity of supplies stored in the upper part and in the rear of the old Conkling building, and their loss is about $3,000, covered by insurance. In the rear was the paint shop of Philip W. Tunison in what was formerly the old Merz building, and his loss, while not very heavy, was covered by insurance. Charles Taylor had his stables in the rear of the Dunster building also, but received very little damage.

The stables of the W. H. Cawley

PARK AVENUE TEAM CONTINUES TO LOSE

Drops Tenth Straight Game to Monroe Avenue Church Nine—Score 6 to 1.

The baseball team representing the Park Avenue Baptist church in the Sunday-school League continued its losing streak Saturday afternoon by falling victim to the delegation sporting the colors of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church. The score was 6 to 1. Pitcher Hefti heaved them over the rubber in effective style, allowing the Park Avenue batters but 3 scratchy singles, and retiring 10 players by the strike-out route.

As usual, errors contributed largely to the Park Avenue players' defeat. Ricketts at shortstop made a trio of misses and Emery, out in the field, dropped two flies. Both fumbles were responsible for runs. After making a tally in the opening session and a duo of runs in the fourth stanza, the victors were held scoreless until the final round, when the losers evidently gave up all hopes of capturing the contest and prolonged the battle for several minutes while they handed three additional tallies to their conquerors.

"MAC" SAYS

'Twas "sum" game, that affair Saturday afternoon at Parker Field.

One rooters never stopped hollering for the Giants from the time the first ball was pitched until the last man was retired.

Ortlieb said Saturday was his lazy day, and added that if his opponents ever started to hit him, he'r be unable to stop them.

Joe Alberts, manager of the Scotch Plains baseball team, played a star game for the Pets. He was "there" with his trusty willow.

Jack Torpey, of Somerville, was a spectator.

Garretson, the youthful first sacker of the winners, played a brilliant fielding game. His catch of a foul fly from Good's bat in the third inning brought forth the applause from the bleacherites.

Garretson also figured in another unusual piece of baseball playing. McLane, the second baseman of the Giants, hit a scorcher between first and second. Garretson just managed to stop the ball with his bare hand. Recovering the sphere he slid to the bag in an effort to get there ahead of the speedy McLane, who also took a ride on the soil to beat Garretson. The play was a close one but the umpire gave the batter the benefit of the doubt and called him safe.

Feulks, when playing shortstop, made Simmons mad by his numerous misplays. The swarthy manager of the Giants just glared throughout the game.

Umpire O'Rourke's work was of high order. Not one earnest "kick" was made against his decisions.

Joe Harter sent the ball "aeroplaning" to the Giants center fielder twice when men occupied the bases.

One fan remarked, "Joe must have had an off day, he only made two hits and scored one run."

Every Plainfield player that faced Pitcher Brown made one or more hits.

And every Pet made a run with the exception of Nelson and Stewart. The latter, however, pitched but one inning and didn't even get a crack at the pill.

Craig, on third, played a clever fielding game and made a trio of hits.

GAME WON BY HOPES MUST BE RE-PLAYED

League Directors Decide In Favor of Presbyterians, Who Entered Protest.

The directors of the Sunday-School Baseball League have sustained the protest of the First Presbyterian church team against the game played on Saturday, August 16, against the Hope Chapel team and which was won by the latter. The decision puts the Hopes still further in the rear of first place.

The "kick" was based on a decision of Umpire Karl Wilson. The question arose in the eighth inning, when with one out, the bases full and one strike on Franklin Newell, who was at bat, a pitched ball thrown by Dick Schott, twirler on the opposing team, hit Newell on the arm. In making a vain attempt to duck the ball, the batsman drew around to one side, the belief of the umpire being that the batter, either voluntarily or involuntarily, swung his bat over the plate in attempting to avoid being hit. The batter was called out.

The contention of the protest was that the batsman, having but one strike charged up to him at the time of being hit, should not have been out. It was unanimously agreed at the meeting Friday night that Newell should have been given his base, which would have forced in a run. As neither side scored in the ninth, that run would have won the game, and it would not have gone ten innings with Hope Chapel the ultimate winner, as was the case.

Hope chapel put up no defense to the protest, the school admitting that Newell should have been given his base. As it was, the Hopes only managed to tie the score in the eighth by scoring five runs in that inning directly after Newell, who was the Presbyterian pitcher, had been hit on his pitching arm.

HOPE CHAPEL LOST GAME TO KLINKERS

Locals' Efforts "Reduced to Ashes," By Fast Bound Brook Nine.

The Hope Chapel baseball team of the Sunday-school League journeyed to Somerville Saturday afternoon and was defeated in an exhibition contest by the Klinkers, the score ending 6 to 3. Schott performed on the firing line for the Hopes and was touched up for 9 safeties, while Van Pelt, the opposing flinger only allowed the locals 5 bingles. The game was a speedy one and although the players on both aggregations made misplays at times, they made up for these omissions by fast fielding and base running. Terry starred for the local aggregation at the bat accounting for two safe wallops.

The score.

FALL ACTIVITIES TO BE RESUMED AT P. C. C.

Fall activities will be resumed at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday when the fall tournament for Classes A and B will be started with a qualifying round, 18 holes, medal play, handicap, sixteen to qualify in each class. The other rounds will be at match play, 18 holes handicap. This tournament will be continued on Labor Day, morning and afternoon, and on September 6 and 13.

The house committee has announced the dates for the dinner-dances to be held this fall. The first one will be on Labor Day, and the succeeding dates will be September 13, 20 and 27; October 4 and 11. An orchestra will furnish the music at these dances.

RANDOLPH LOST GAME WARRY MC LAUGHLIN WON

Pitching for the strong Suburban A. A. baseball team yesterday afternoon at Suburban Oval, Brooklyn, Cliff Randolph, the local box artist blew up in the eighth inning and the Trenton nine scored 5 runs in that session and another in the tenth round, managed to squeeze out a victory by the score of 8 to 7.

Randolph was opposed on the firing line by Warry McLaughlin, of the Dunellen team, who aided the Trentonians to win by pitching a sterling article of ball and making three hits. "Hen" Hand, of Scotch Plains, was at the receiving end for the victors.

STYLISH—RELIABLE

Fall Clothes

It might be a BIT too early to wear them, but it's not a WHIT too early to talk about them!

And our Fall Garments are worth talking about—our word for that.

Beginning at $10 and going clear to $25, we will show the town again that no clothing anywhere can approach ours, either for low-price or for downright goodness.

IN THE MEANWHILE We still have a few Summer Garments that we will dispose of at absurdly low prices.

The New Fall Hats are here.

And remember, a visit does not mean an obligation to buy.

Fashionable Fall Fabrics of Every Weave and Style

Speaking of silks, dress goods, and fabrics of a kind that are fashionable for Fall wear, that are familiar by name, and stranger weaves that are as yet unknown to fame but with a popular future in prospect, we have the real leaders.

A list of names of fashionable silks, woolens and fancy cotton means nothing, description of styles gets nowhere but back to the actual and trite fact that they must be seen to be appreciated.

If there is a fabric worth while which is not represented in our assortment it cannot be missed because this showing of Fall fabrics is absolutely complete.

Oblige us with a call of curiosity, leave buying and [illegible] of it, come in an open frame of mine, receptive to impressions without prejudice. Give the Tepper store credit for its progressiveness because it is bound to either lead or drive Plainfield's business to the top of possibility.

We will discontinue our Picture Department Wednesday. Cards now out should be presented not later than Wednesday, August 27.

In closing out this department we are making a sacrifice reduction in our 24 karat gold plated metal frames. Those having oval portraits size 11x14 will find great bargains in our frame department.

COMFORT IN IRONING
USE ASBESTOS SAD IRONS

THE HOOD—When the hood is placed on the iron, the heat is bottled up. A dead-air space, in addition to the asbestos lining, prevents radiation of heat from the iron and keeps the temperature of the wood handle below blood heat. No holder is needed.

THE CORE—The core or base is a solid chunk of iron. Iron takes up and retains heat in proportion to its weight. The core acts as a heat reservoir and regulator by retaining the heat and letting it pass to the bottom as the surface cools. The stored heat is confined by the asbestos-lined hood instead of radiating into space. The ironing face has a mirror-like polish and is slightly convex. The edges are rounded to prevent drawing and wrinkling.

THE LOCK—The lock is secure, preventing rattle and insuring against accidently unfastening. The lock will catch automatically.

DUNELLEN WOMAN'S GREENHOUSES FINE

Magazine Article Gives Much Space to Mrs. H. C. Tuttle's Planting.

In an article entitled "The Greenhouse as a Popular Fad," written by John R. Lord, in the September "Suburban Life," reference is made to the greenhouse of Mrs. H. G. Tuttle, in Dunellen. The story, which contains illustrations of the house in question, in discussing Mrs. Tuttle's place says:

One of the most interesting private greenhouses I have seen is that of Mrs. H. G. Tuttle, in Dunellen, N. J. There are two houses on the place. The one adjoining the library of the residence, a small home-made lean-to, was built several years ago; the other was built more recently, and is a modern, iron-frame, double-span house. It opens into the dining-room, and is conected by a glass door with the smaller house.

Mrs. Tuttle is an enthusiast on flowers, and spends all her spare time in the greenhouse, pruning, transplanting and experimenting with her plants. She has had hot and cold water pipes installed, in order to be able to regulate the temperature of the water used in wetting down the flowers.

Like most amateurs, after the first year or two of experience, Mrs. Tuttle now concentrates her efforts on two ro three species of plants, although keeping the houses well stocked with many other varieties. Her favorites are the begonia, geranium and cactus, and she has performed many interesting experiments with them.

To most of us, the thought of experimenting with tender plants, of grafting different species together to develop new varieties, may seem to present difficulties with which no amateur can contend. In reality, the grafting of plants is a simple process, requiring little experience, and affording a great deal of interest and enjoyment to the worker. Many inexperienced amateurs are meeting with great success in this work.

Mrs. Tuttle has found in her cacti the most interesting field for grafting experiments. She has grown prize-winning blooming cacti of one variety on the stem of another, and has now in her collection over sixty different kinds, including a number of hybrids due to her own grafting. Regarding her work with the latter, she says:

"It seems strange that more people do not grow cacti. They require so little care, and the flowers are fine. By having different varieties, one can have flowers all the time. It is a mistake to think that cacti must be seven years old before they bloom, as some say. I have proved this to the contrary again and again. They must be forced to grow quickly the first year, and will nearly always bloom the second year."

In her greenhouse Mrs. Tuttle is finding interesting occupation for all her spare time. She has discovered the secret of a new source of healthful enjoyment.

BOOMING HAMMOND FOR ASSEMBLY NOMINATION

A petition is being circulated in North Plainfield placing Ogden H. Hammond, of Bernardsville, in the field as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Assembly in Somerset county. Political office is nothing new to Mr. Hammond. Years ago he was a member of the Board of Alderman of Superior City, Wis., a municipality founded by his distinguished father, General John Henry Hammond, who was chief of staff to Gen. W. T. Sherman during the Civil War. The candidate is a Yale man and is well known as an insurance broker. His home at Bernardsville was originally owned by Col. E. A. Stevens and it is one of the handsomest estates in the county.

His friends say that Mr. Hammond is an ideal candidate and that his nomination and election would reflect great credit on old Somerset.

Opposition to the candidacy of Charles P. Sebring, of North Plainfield Township, for the Republican shrievalty nomination became known last Friday when Joseph Fitzgal, of Somerville, started a petition for himself.

For county clerk on the same ticket there are two candidates, James K. Arnold, of North Plainfield, and A. G. Anderson, of Somerville.

HELPLESSLY DRUNK.

Henry Jackson, aged 20 years, colored, who said that his home was in Newark, where he was employed as a chauffeur, was found helplessly drunk in the streets of Dunellen this morning. When arraigned before Recorder David S. Campbell, he said that it was his first offense and he was allowed to go under a suspended sentence upon his promise to leave town.

FORBES RESIGNS.

Manila, P. I., Aug. 25.—W. C. Forbes, Governor-General of the Philippines since November, 1909, sent his resignation to Washington today. It will become effective September 1.

Seeing—or Just Talking?

THE next time you say, "I've got to run out of town to see Smith," think it over and consider if you really want to see him or just talk to him.

Most of those tiresome and expensive business trips can be avoided and you can accomplish your purpose much more quickly and in nearly every case with as satisfactory results, if you travel the "Telephone Way"—just talk to him by telephone.

And the difference in cost between "seeing" and "talking" makes the "telephone way" desirable.

CONFERENCE OF GOVERNORS.

The Conference of Governors will begin tomorrow at Colorado Springs. The first conference was held at the White House, Washington, on the call of President Roosevelt in 1908. There it was planned to make such conferences annual with the membership limited to governors actually in office. Subsequently ex-governors as had been members of previous conferences were added. It is a common thing to read a reference to this body as "'The House of Governors." This is a misnomer. The governors have over and again taken occasion to call attention to the fact that they are, when in session, only a conference with the sole object of advising with one another upon measures and matters of administration purely of State concern.

The conference has been found a most useful body. The chief subjects of discussion scheduled for the Colorado Springs meeting are: (1) A State Department of Efficiency and Economy; (2) Distrust of States' Legislatures, The Cause, The Remedy; (3) The Growth of Administrative Commissions, and (4) State Assumption of Nomination and Election Expenses. These are all live State questions.

Every State needs an economy and efficiency bureau. The great increase and constantly increasing of State expenses, is becoming serious. It must be met. There is a steady addition to the expense of government which must find some check or at least a more economical way of operation.

Do the people distrust the States' Legislatures? We incline to think there has been a steady growth in public sentiment of distrust of Legislatures. The action of the New York Legislature in the Sulzer case has given additional cause for it. This distrust is undermining representative government. If the governors can point out the cause and suggest a remedy they will accomplish a good thing. One remedy is the destruction of "bossism" and to many, this seems also the cause; for the distrust has largely come since the boss system came.

The growth of commissions in government has increased greatly in a few years. They have been expensive. They have been resorted to altogether too frequently. They have been used as a pretext to evade action on questions the people favored. The expense of nominating and electing officials has also greatly increased of late. Shall the States assume all these? We think it should and that no individual candidate should be permitted to expend any money for election purposes. That is the only way to certainly destroy the machine and force out of the politics of the State the wrongs of "organization" efforts.

Our government is founded upon the individual and he, and he alone, should be potential in political affairs. If the State paid all expenses legitimately necessary for nomination and election purposes, all would stand on an equal footing and the machine would be impotent; a consummation greatly to be desired. It is evident that the conference of governors of 1913 is to be one from which much that is useful to the State is to come.

HAND THAT SPARES THE ROD.

Newspaper reports tell us of a man who recently presented each of his children with a check for $10,000. Quite a generous parent! Probably many will wish they had a parent who could and would be as liberal. Newspaper readers will remember when a certain Standard Oil partner handed each of his children $1,000,000. Possibly many parents wish they could deal as liberally with their children. There are many instances where the rich show great liberality—in dealing with their own children.

With Thaw in the papers these foolish actions are emphasized. Only a short time ago he was so liberally provided with funds by an indulgent parent and spent his gold so lavishly that he became known as a champion spender and gilded youth on two continents. Through murderers row and an insane asylum there was a steady flow of gold into this man's pockets. As a hunted criminal, or maniac, he still has his hand in an almost bottomless parental pocketbook. Now he is using wealth from the same source in an effort to keep out of the asylum from which he escaped.

When parents regret that they cannot afford to give their children checks for $1,000,000 or $10,000, or even $10 they might think of the possible consequences of such gifts. It is not always that parents who distribute large checks smother the bodies and souls of their children beneath a pile of gold. But when they open their purses to idle sons and daughters, too, they place before their children an alluring temptation to which youth is wont to yield. And when children feel that the sons of the rich have more than their share of blessings they may well stop to analyze the lives of the gilded youth to learn whether those they consider so fortunate are really to be envied.

Parents can give their children something better than gold. And such gifts should be more appreciated than gold by the recipients. It is questionable whether a boy or gift was ever made really and lastingly happy by the gift of a large sum of money. Adversity has made more good and happy men than gifts of gold ever produced. The hand that spares the rod is seldom the hand that trains youth in the ways of right living that lead to happiness. The parent who can give his children $1,000,000 is not always to be envied. And the same is true of the child who receives the gift.

Mayor Albee, of Portland, Oregon, --very sensible, as any respectable and decorous chief executive should do, where the offense to be noted is carried on—ordered the chief of police of the city to have every woman arrested who wore an "X-ray" dress on the streets. That kind of a dress is not supposed to be made of as thick or concealing a material as the fig leaf which Eve is alleged to have worn as her every-day and go-to-meeting apparel. A suffragette speaker exhorts "clothe women with the ballot." Mayor Albee, as noted above, and a good many more men like him, think it is more timely and important to consider the clothing (or almost a lack of it), that some women are now wearing.

GERMAN COMMISSION SEE GOOD BIKE RACES

Newark, Aug. 25—Nearly 15,000 people witnessed the bicycle races at the Velodrome here, yesterday. In the crowd were four members of the German Olympic Commission now in this country studying American athletics. They are Carl Diem, secretary of the German Olympic Commission; Lieutenant Von Reichenau, of the German army; Dr. Martin Berner, a sporting writer, and Joseph Waltzer, director of a Turn Verein at Munich, Germany. Johnny Hayes, the 1908 Olympic hero and marathon runner; Congressman J. H. J. Egan and John Haas, and President Charles H. Ebbets, of the Brooklyn baseball club, were also present.

Champion Frank Kramer was beaten by Boy Spears, of Australia, in the two-thirds mile handicap for professionals, and Jackie Clark, also of Australia, led a big field across the tape in the 24-mile race. World Amateur Champion Donald McDougal won the three-mile handicap for simon pures.

LOCAL POLICE HUNT FOR ARMY DESERTER

Serg. Goeller Missing From Fort Jay May Come to Mother's Home Here.

The police of this city are watching the home of Mrs. M. E. Berger, in East Front street, at the request of Federal authorities who think that probably her son, Sergeant Henry C. Goeller, who deserted at Fort Jay, N. Y., on Sunday, August 3, may return here to see his mother. Goeler was formerly a member of Company K, Twenty-ninth Infantry, U. S. A.

Goeller enlisted for a seven-year term on November 21, 1912. He lived in New York city at that time, but had been living in Plainfield in 1908. A reward of $50 is offered for his capture, or information leading to it. The reward offer is good for two years.

FIGHT OVER BOUNDARY LINES ENDS IN COURT

Charged with disorderly conduct and fighting, Charles Peterson and John Ward, both colored, of Berckman street, shook hands and promised to be friends again, after they had been given a lecture by Judge DeMeza this morning in the City Court. They were then released on suspended sentences. The quarrel which resulted in the men coming to blows, is said to have been caused because of doubt as to the correct boundary line between the adjoining properties owned by the two men.

PRESIDENT WILL READ HIS MEXICAN MESSAGE

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Aug. 25—President Wilson has invited the foreign affairs committees of the House and Senate to meet him at the White House tonight. It is expected that favorable and important news from Mexico will be at hand for that time. One favorable feature of the situation at Mexico City is information that President Huerta did not give out the correspondence he had threatened to divulge.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Aug. 25—A significant side light on the Mexican situation is the fact ascertained at the White House today that President Wilson's message on the Mexican situation has not as yet been put into type. The President is holding the message in the original manuscript. The inference is that there is a possibility that affairs in Mexico may take such shape as to obviate the necessity of delivering the message in Congress.

GET SLIPPERY PRISONER.

William Shauger Does Houdini Act For Jersey Police.

Paterson, N. J., Aug. 25.—After being arrested at the point of a pistol, William Shauger, wanted by the Paterson police for over a year, picked the lock of his cell and escaped, only to be recaught again. He had been arrested in company with another young man robbing the Little Falls (N. J.) station of the Erie railroad. His companion was shot in the hip, and a third robber escaped in an automobile.

About half an hour after Shauger had been in the township jail the keeper, John Van Geisen, was surprised to see him walking out of the door.

INNESS HOME IS DESTROYED.

Montclair Loses Relic of Famous American Painter.

Montclair, N. J., Aug. 25.—Workmen completed the destruction of one of the most picturesque and historic of this town's landmarks—the old home of George Inness, the famous American landscape painter.

The house, as well as that of the painter's son-in-law, the late Scott Hartley, the sculptor, was sold recently to a real estate company, which will subdivide the grounds on which they were located and erect modern suburban homes.

Light Fires In Glass Factories.

Millville, N. J., Aug. 25.—Fires were lighted under three Millville glass factories, and work will probably be resumed Sept. 2. Many of the glass-workers were kept busy until the last of July and will have the shortest vacation on record. Manufacturers report a great influx of orders.

GOT ESCAPED PRISONER.

Acting Governor Glynn was recognized as the chief executive of New York State, Saturday, by Union county authorities, when extradition papers were presented for Eugene Britton, formerly of this city, who in May 1912, was arrested and charged with atrocious assault with intent to kill by Samuel Smelson, a West Front street restaurant man. After being indicted, Britton was placed in the county jail at Elizabeth but escaped from the institution before the date for his trial was set. The prisoner was brought back this morning.

TONY'S BIRTHDAY IN JAIL BIG SUCCESS

"Speak-easy" Man Entertains at Dinner and Receives Postal Shower.

Elizabeth, Aug. 25.—Even in the county jail the "ins" have the best of it over the "outs." And although this division of society is the easiest of al to break into, they are strictly exclusive upon occasions. One of these occurred Saturday, when Antonio Principato, of 431 West Third street, Plainfield, was host to his fellows at a birthday party at the "Hotel Dodd." It was both an inclusive and an exclusive affair, and those who were "in" and those who were not were alike "barred."

The day started off auspiciously for Tony, when some of his friends in Plainfield sent him a postcard shower. It cheered Tony a lot. Tony transgressed against the laws of "purest Plainfield" a few months ago. But when the pendulum of justice swung back it registered a six months' residence at the county jail for Tony. Anyway, some of his friends remembered his birthday and sent greetings of cheerful and sympathetic tenor. Tony appreciated it, and the rest of his term will be cheered and brightened by sweet recollections.

But congratulations alone won't make a birthday party a success. The guest usualy take a vital interest in the program of "eats," and Warden Dodd made Tony's day complete by serving up a fine dinner. Of course, it wasn't over six courses, and there were none of Tony's favorite dishes. Spaghetti was not served in long lengths, with thick gravy on the side, nor was the bill-of-fare printed in Italian, because the jail population is cosmopolitan in the extreme and they won't stand for any distinctions, ether of class, creed or nationality.

Chiefly the menu card was decorated with fish. Tony likes fish first rate; so do all his guests, and when the day's festivities were over Tony was voted a "good fellow" by all.

CRASHED INTO ANOTHER AUTO AND DISAPPEARED

The local police department was asked to arrest the occupants of a touring car thought to have passed through this city, yesterday, after figuring in a collision with another automobile at Bound Brook, according to a telephone call sent in from that city. At Main and East streets, Bound Brook, it is said, that the touring car, which bore a Penn. license number, skidded on the car tracks and crashed into a car owned and driven by James Losen, of Perth Amboy, breaking the two right wheels and jarring Losen and his family, who were seated in the machine.

According to Losen, in the touring car were three men and two women, who laughed and jeered at Losen's plight, as they drove away from the scene of the accident without giving their name or license number—a violation of the automobile laws.

POLITICAL GOSSIP HERE AND THERE

McCann Not to Run for Council, But Davis, Coleman and Graves May.

A BOOM FOR ENDRESS

He May Seek Freeholder Nomination—Linke and Courain Assembly Possibilities—Hughes For Assembly In Somerset.

James J. McCann, of this city, who was elected a member of the small Board of Freeholders, which was ousted by the courts, announced today that he is not a candidate for any office and will not seek any nomination this fall. He is engaged in business in New York, which he says demands all of his time. His friends have been urging him to become a candidate for the Council.

Councilman Fred Endress is now being prominently mentioned as a probability for the freeholder nomination on the Democratic ticket, his friends claiming that he would make a strong run.

Among those mentioned for Councilmanic nominations are David C Coleman in the Fourth ward, on the Democratic ticket; Barton Davis in the Third ward on the Democratic ticket, and Charles Graves in the Fourth ward on the Republican ticket.

Otto Linke and Daniel J. Courain are mentioned as probable candidates for the Assembly nomination on the Democratic ticket.

George T. Hughes, city editor of the New York Globe and "squire" of Watchung, has announced his candidacy for the Progressive nomination for the Assembly in Somerset county. When not "on the desk" at the Globe office, Squire Hughes devotes his time to farming his Watchung land. He boasts of the finest and largest peach orchard in that section of old Somerset.

Editor Hughes is an ardent Roosevelt man. In the Fourth Estate he is known as one of much ability. As yet he has issued no formal announcement, but his petition is now being circulated.

John H. Cose, of Spooner avenue, has withdrawn as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Common Council from the Third ward in favor of Thomas F. Hylan, of West Seventh street. Mr. Cose, however, will be a candidate for Councilman-at-large.

Former Assemblyman William de LaR. Anderson, of Watchung, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Township Committeeman in North Plainfield township. It is expected that he will have no opposition.

Two more petitions nominating candidates for the General Assembly, one Republican, and on Democratic, were filed Saturday with the Union county clerk.

James E. Lowden, of Elizabeth, has adopted the phrase "Progressive Wilson Democrat; Favors Clean Government," as his campaign slogan, and this legend will appear on the primary ballot opposite his name.

Ernest James Beutel, of Rahway, is the Republican candidate. His motto will be a "A Workingman for Working People."

Company were to the south of the Dunster building, and as a slight southeast wind was blowing at the time of the fire it was thought the stables were doomed, and the horses were at once removed to a place of safety. Heroic work on the part of the firemen kept the flames from spreading in this direction, and also in saving the large three-story apartment building belonging to Charles L. Voorhees, on Division street, south of the livery.

The effective work of the firemen also kept the walls of the Dunster building from falling on the building belonging to Councilman A. B. Cline, immediately adjoining on the north, the walls of the burning building being pushed over into the ruins. In removing the automobiles belonging to Mr. Cawley to a place of safety, Kinsey Hoffman, an employe of Mr. Cawley had his right wrist broken by the crank backfiring. When the front walls of the Dunster building came crashing down the concussion was so great that a number of the firemen lost their footings on the Cawley building and ex-Chief William D. Quick fell to the ground, injuring one of his ankles. Some of the hose got away from the firemen and drenched the onlookers.

The Dunster building was erected about 1905, and was considered perfectly fireproof, and to such an extent that Mr. Dunster carried only $1,500 insurance. Many of the owners of the furniture and other goods on storage carried insurance, but to what extent could not be learned.

DeMond & Greene had a valuable wagon in the Dunster building, on the second floor, which was burned. The hearse belonging to them was saved, as was also the Somerset Hospital ambulance. United States Express Company's wagons, delivery wagons belonging to John N. Davis, and other wagons were removed to a place of safety.

The members of Relief Hose Company were summoned, and rendered valuable assistance in getting the fire under control. The work of the Somerville department was commended on all sides, and Chief Anson V. Norton and his assistants deserve considerable praise for the manner in which the destructive blaze was handled.

Burning embers from the building fell as far east as the Smith-Schoonmaker Company's lumber yard, and also set fire to the roofs of a number of dwellings on South street, these being quickly quenched by the use of garden hose.

The flames also threatened the buildings across the street from the stables, but these were liberally springled with water, the water pressure at the time of the fire being considered excellent.

FRANCES MARSHALL

The Problem of Clean Napkins.

Every one, probably, would like to have clean napkins at every meal. But such prodigality is only for those with money. The laundry bills and the linen bills—for laundering wears linen more quickly than use does—would soon mount up to an alarming figure, and we should have to resort to paper napkins for economy's sake.

There are a good many ways of tackling the problem of clean napkins—and paper napkins suggests one of them.

Use paper napkins for impromptu spreads—picnic lunches, the afternoon feast of fresh fruit, the jolly evening supper that is so informal as it is pleasant. Fruit stains napkins beyond repair, sometimes, and they pile up by the dozen if they are lavishly used for an "unexpected" service of refreshments every day or two.

Have Breakfast Napkins.

Breakfast napkins are a saving to the laundry and linen bills. These can be used for breakfast and lunch and so lessen to a big degree the wear and soil on dinner napkins.

Have the breakfast napkins small, simple squares that can be quickly and easily laundered. The regulation size for breakfast napkins is twenty-two inches but a much smaller napkin will do quite as well.

Squares of Japanese toweling, if Japanese toweling runners are used on the table, make attractive, easily laundered and cheap breakfast napkins. The toweling, never expensive, can sometimes be bought for fifteen cents a yard, and two yards would make five square napkins. Hemstitch the raw edges or catstitch them with blue. Small squares of rather heavy white linen also make good breakfast napkins. They are really dainty when they are hemstitched, but a plain hem or hem held in place with colored embroidery stitches is good.

Without other service, the dinner napkins look very presentable for use several days. There are now sold small clips, to be used in place of napkin rings. They are made in silver, nickel and bone, and are initial letters of the persons to whom the napkins belong. These identify the napkins quite as well as rings do, and have the advantage over rings of allowing the napkins to remain flat. A rolled napkin always looks untidy before it is realy wrinkled or soiled.

HINTS ON FASHIONS IN THE METROPOLIS

New York, August 23.—The displays of models forecasting the autumn and winter styles give a fairly good idea of the materials which will be the vogue during the coming season. In wool and silk-and-wool mixtures they are velours de laine, velours, duvetyn, imitation fur fabrics, faille de laine, plush and boucle effects. All these fabrics have a soft finish, excepting, faille de laine which is a ribbed material.

Black velvet suits will probably have a great vogue for general wear and for dressy occasions. Duvetyn also promises to be extremely popular and is one of the most alluring fabrics of the season. But the new examples of velours de laine are wonderfully attractive and among all three materials will probably give the best satisfaction for general wear.

The American makers seem to be strongly in favor of drapery effects in skirts. They are following the tendency, so conspicuous in Paris summer fashions, to lift the skirt in front, and remain loyal to the tunic effects Hip sashes in Roman stripes, Scotch plaids and Cubist silks are still in favor and so are slashed skirts. Lace tunics will probably be a feature of many afternoon and evening gowns in the Autumn.

There is every reason to believe that suit coats will vary considerably in length during the coming season. The plain models will be shorter than the dressy ones, for the latter reach to the knees in the back. The broken waist line which was universal in the spring is being retained in fall models, many of which repeat the cutaway effects so familiar during the past season. With these will be worn fancy waistcoats in a contrasting material. Of course, it is quite possible that later in the season, the French designers may introduce a change by making short coats for semi-dress occasions, while, at the present time, they favor three-quarter length coats for such occasions.

It will be welcome news to many that there is some prospect that the three-tiered skirt, which has been so successful in silk and in cotton materials, may be repeated in modified form in woollen fabrics. If that happens it is almost inevitable that a special short coat, or coatee, will be devised to accompany these skirts. On the subject of sleeves, too, there may be a diversity of opinion between the French and the American makers. The latter have committed themselves to the kimono type in waists, while in the French models the fullness under the arms is disappearing. The designers of this country seem to be of the same opinion when it comes to coats, as they recommend long, close-fitting sleeves without any fullness in the armhole.

Separate neckwear will probably continue to be a decidedly important feature of the coming season's fashions. The broad flat collar of lace, or embroidered net or fine linen will continue in vogue as well as the tulle ruffle and the wired Medici collar. One of the novelties will be a three-tiered collar in extremely sheer batiste. This model will probably be introduced later in other materials, since there are charming possibilities in it. Most of the new collars are not more than five inches deep in the back, but broaden at the shoulders and in front. Attached guimpe will be little used and will be replaced by separate guimpes which are shown in a charming variety, both low-necked and with a high collar.

Chinese motifs promise to supplant the crude Balkan designs of last spring, where colored embroidery is used for neckwear. While the foundation of these collars during the summer has mainly been of cotton crepe, voile or linen, silks and silk crepe will be used in the winter, although cotton will be used to some extent.

One of the Paris fashion writers says that the silhouette of the fashionable woman in Paris is quite different from what it was six months ago. Then there was a draping that was only suggested. Now the draping has disappeared and there are outstanding volants similar to those employed by the ballet dancers. These ruffles are anything from a few inches to three-quarters of a yard in width, and when the narrow ones are used they often cover the entire skirt from belt to hem. With the very wide one two or only one is considered sufficient. Tulle illusion composes many of these ruffles, particularly when the foundation is of satin or taffeta, as is most often the case in the best kinds of dresses. If the ruffle is wide it must be double, for then it is not easily crushed and always stands out to be caught by the breeze. White and black is the scheme of these gowns, the skirt of white and the ruffling of black, with bright color in the belt, which gives a stunning effect.

The ruffle, if there be but one, is put around the hips, starting four or five inches from the high waistband. Without a sash the effect would not be pleasing, but the long, soft sash breaks the stiff line prettily.

The big sash, which in some cases might be called a tunic, is becoming more important all the time. On some of the latest dresses it is entirely different in fabric and color from the rest of the costume. Big, bright plaids are used, also light or dark grounds on which are patterned big spots, circles, scrolls, etc., while some of the more elaborate costumes have a hand-painted sash.

Among the prettiest novelties of the season is the butterfly wrap which a famous maker has designed and which deserves great popularity. At the center of the back is a cabochon of jewels, long and hinting of the body of the butterfly. From this many folds of soft figured silk radiate. When the wrap is closed in front there are radiating folds on each side. The entire wrap is bound with a contrasting band of silk and here and there are motifs of jewels and embroidery to suggest the markings of the butterfly's wings.

It is undeniably true that the high waistline gives a youthful touch to a dress and that is the reason women do not like to abandon it. It has been retained by the majority of designers for dance frocks, house dresses and evening gowns with trains. Equally prominent is the normal line, with a broad sash which suggests the upper line of a high attachment. A change is also available in the pointed basque effects launched by several designers of fashions. This, with the Marie Antoinette fichu and pannier, will be becoming for slender women who prefer the quaint lines of court dress.

The hat must be tilted up at the side or the back now. This turn in military style is a welcome relief from the close styles that almost disfigured women in the spring and early summer. It will be hailed with joy, for women who have beautiful hair naturally wish to show it.

The tilted brim is held high by bandeaux, by wire that shapes the brim away from the face or by masses of flowers, ribbons, loops of gauze or velvet.

Some Cookery Suggestions

PUTTING UP WATERMELON.

MELON lovers who put up the fruit for winter will find the following recipes useful. It may be put up from time to time as a little melon is left over from dessert. The rind may be used in making either a preserve or a pickle, and thus a part of the fruit which is ordinarily waste may be put to good use.

Watermelon With Raisins.

White Watermelon Preserve.—Prepare the rind as for pickles and soak it for twenty-four hours in a brine of the same strength. Then rinse the fruit in cold water. Put it into a preserving kettle on the stove and cover with fresh water. Let the rind boil until fairly tender; then pour off the water and rinse the fruit two or three times in cold water. This is done to take out the rank flavor. Cover it again with fresh water, either hot or cold, and allow to every quart and a half of rind one quart of sugar, half a cupful of raisins and two small lemons. Let the rind, the sugar and the sliced lemons boil in the water until it forms a rich sirup around the fruit and the rind has become very tender. Then add the raisins, let the whole cook a few minutes longer and seal hot.

Using the Red Pulp.

Red Watermelon Preserve.—Cut the red interior of a watermelon into small squares, rejecting all the seeds and the green and white rind. The rind may be placed in brine for pickles. Weigh the red squares and allow two lemons and a quart of sugar to every three pints of melon. Boil all very slowly until thick. At first it may look somewhat watery, but it will become thick with slow boiling. Reject the white inner rind of the lemons.

A Clear Preserve.

Watermelon Rind Preserve.—Take the watermelon rind and, after peeling off the green and cutting off the soft inside, soak four days in salt water; then soak four days in fresh water, changing the water every day. The last day to every two pounds of rind add a piece of alum the size of a hickory nut. Then put in an agate kettle and fill with water; boil one-half hour; pour off the water and fill with water again; boil another half hour. Get all the alum taste from the rind. Spread on dishes to drain; then weigh the rind and to each pound of rind allow one and a quarter pounds of best granulated sugar. Make a sirup, allowing one and a half cups of water to a pound of sugar. Skim, put in rind and boil until clear. Flavor with lemon extract just before sealing in jars.

The Man Placed It In Jewelry.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Where the Little White Pearl Comes From.

ON her neck Evelyn wore a little chain and locket. In the locket was a tiny pearl.

"It's a beautiful pearl," said daddy. "I wonder if you know where pearls come from?"

Jack and Evelyn thought they came from the jeweler's shop. Daddy agreed to this. "That's where we buy them," he said.

"But what I want to know is where the jeweler gets them."

Jack and Evelyn looked at one another. They did not know.

"Since you do not know, let me tell you that the lovely pearl comes out of the ugly gray oyster.

"The pearl is really made by the oyster. As the little shellfish rests on the bed of the ocean bits of sand sometimes get into the shell.

"The grain of sand annoys the oyster, for it rubs against its soft skin. So the oyster covers the grain of sand with a watery stuff which its skin sheds whenever anything hurts it.

"Now, the watery stuff soon hardens, and when it hardens whatever is coated with it has a nice white shell over it. Each day the oyster puts on another coat until the grain of sand had grown to be a large round pearl.

"Then one day the fisherman comes along with his net, and the little gray oyster is dragged from his ocean home and cast into the bottom of the fisherman's boat. When the shell is pried open by the fisherman he sees the lovely pearl inside and carries it away to sell to the jeweler.

"Then the jeweler takes the pearl and places it in a piece of jewelry, perhaps into a locket.

"Now that I have told you what makes the pearl, let me speak of a little tale the Persians tell about it. They know that the pearl really comes from the oyster, but have a pretty account for its being in the shell.

"They say that the oyster is a very good little shellfish, and every night when the sun goes down and the moon rises the oyster comes up and floats on the top of the water.

"There it opens its shell so that one side stands up like a sail, and as it drifts along the oyster says its prayers.

"Way up on high where the angels are watching the world and listening to the prayers as they float up is one angel that is there to listen to the prayers of God's dumb creatures.

"And as the poor little oyster, the humblest of created things, thanks God for the food that he has given it and the home he has made for it in the waters of the great ocean a tear falls from the angel's eye on to the shell of the oyster. And that tear becomes a pearl."

In the Smartest Frocks for Small Girls, Simplicity Is Still the Dominant Note.

No one can deny the charm of these simple little frocks, with their straight lines, no frills or furbelows to distract the eye. For these are essentially childish, and are meant to play in without fear of rumpling or spoiling. The sturdier wash fabrics are best for fashioning them—galatea, percale linen, ratine, and a combination of fabrics could be worked out in a little dress like 7867, just like mother's frock. A cool-looking green and tan plaid gingham for the skirt, with plain gray green for the blouse would make a very attractive combination, and if green should be unbecoming, substitute tan, with white linen shield, and tie of black satin or moire ribbon. Later on for school wear, plaid and plain, or check and plain worsted could be combined attractively. Four sizes, 8 to 14, and for the 10-year size 1¾ yards plaid, and 1¼ yards plain material 36 inches wide will be needed with ¾ yards lining for underwaist. 15 cents.

The plaited skirt or the other dress, 7904 adapts it to the needs of the growing child, whose angularities it disguises. The blouse closes in duchess effect in front, and the skirt under a plait at the side-front. While this frock is very simple it is possible to get the smart note of contrast with a collar of white linen and a belt of black patent leather, or very dark blue linen, on a frock of alice blue linen, or tan galatea. Five sizes, 4 to 12, and for the girl of eight, 3 yards 36-inch material required, with ½ yard lining for underwaist. 15 cents.

Braid or Cord May Be Combined With Solid Embroidery For Decorating This Pillow.

Border designs are most attractive and suitable for embroidering covers for long pillows, on linen, denim, mercerized poplin, repp, Russian crash or crafts canvas. This conventional border is very effective and may be developed entirely in embroidery or in embroidery combined with soutache, flat braid, cord or very narrow grosgrain ribbon. The conventional motifs may be worked with heavy mercerized cotton or rope silk in two shades of the color of the pillow-cover or in a contrasting color as blue on brown, brown on green, yellow on blue or black on red. Natural colored fabrics can be embroidered in almost any color for the natural linen color is harmonious in any room and any color can be combined with it, however, blues, rose shades and dull greens are especially pretty when combined on natural colored materials.

This border also makes an attractive decoration for a set of chair cushions, a table cover, couch-cover, and porteirs used in a room furnished in willow or mission style, as the design is very simple and particularly suitable when used with mission furniture. This border is 3¾ inches wide and 2 yards are included in the pattern.

This transfer pattern can be supplied to readers for 10 cents.

YALE FOOTBALL PLANS.

New Haven, Ct., Aug. 25.—The first announcement of the training plans for the Yale football eleven made by Capt. Henry Ketcham were announced yesterday in a letter from the summer camp near Quebec, Canada, where he has been spending the summer. Ketcham has asked twenty of the leading candidates for the rush line to meet him and Head Coach Howard Jones at Siasconset on the Island of Nantucket, September 3, to remain eight days. Their work will be largely conditioning in nature, but some rudimentary football will be essayed. The early training will take place on the estate of H. S. Fair, a Yale graduate. The entire squad will begin practice on Yale Field September 11.

Plainfield and Somerville Teams Will Battle For Championship

CENTRAL NEW JERSEY BASEBALL LEAGUE

Saturday's Results.

Somerville 9, High Bridge 0 (forfeit).

Standing of the Teams.

	W.	L.	P. C.
PLAINFIELD	10	4	.714
SOMERVILLE	10	4	.714
DUNELLEN	5	8	.384
HIGH BRIDGE	1	8	.111

Plainfield and Somerville are now tied with a percentage of .714, in the race for the championship of the Central New Jersey League. High Bridge, which was scheduled to cross bats with the Somerville team, Saturday, forfeited the game, and as a result Jack Torpey's men are credited with 10 "wins" and 4 "lost" games, a record identical with that of the Pets, although the locals enjoyed a lead of 22 points previous to Saturday. Dunellen, in third position, and High Bridge, in the cellar berth, were left hopelessly in the rear in the battle for the precious "rag."

Jack Torpey, the Somerville manager, and Mr. Dorflinger held a little confab Saturday at the nine-round session at Parker Field, when the locals trimmed the Royal Giants. Tentative plans were discussed for the playing off of the tie and it was practically decided that the first game of the championship series would be played Labor Day morning at Somerville, although different arrangements may be made at a meeting of the Central New Jersey League, which will be held this week at Dunellen.

That both managers will secure big league batteries for the three-game series is almost assured. Who they contemplated to sign up for the trio of contests or for the opening game, the pilots of both aggregations refuse to say. Joe Harter, the clever Newarker, who is playing with the Pets, when speaking Saturday of the coming championship games, said, "We will play them (Somerville nine) off their feet. All our fellows are in good condition at present and with a fair amount of baseball luck, we should capture the series in one-two style."

PLAINFIELD PETS TROUNCE GIANTS

Playing of the Losers Provides Fun For Fans at Parker Field.

SCORE READS 12 TO 3

Heavy Hitting of Victors Was a Feature of Game That Could Otherwise Be Called a Comedy Performance.

It was circus day Saturday at Parker Field. The main attraction was a nine-inning session of baseball between the Plainfield Pets, of the Central New Jersey League and the Royal Giants, and the latter's rooters in the bleachers provided a pleasing and entertaining side show. When the performance was aver the score board showed that the Pets had made the circuit just 12 times while but three of the Giants had dented the rubber in the whole nine acts. Manager Simmons selected pitcher Brown to tame Dorflinger's men, but the Central Leaguers simply devoured his offerings, banging the pill for a total of 18 hits. The Giants showed the spectators many funny stunts and made many "slips" but for all of that, the contest had its brilliant features and those that journeyed out to the field were repaid for their effort.

The Central League leaders started off in the first inning to overcome the one run advantage of the Giants and before their attack had been subdued for the first session, three Pets crossed the pan. In the third inning the game was put on ice by the winners, when they scored four runs. This trio of sluggers were ably assisted by bone-head plays on the part of the Giants. During this inning, Manager Simmons held a little conference with his players, and urged them to settle down. He changed the line-up, too, but the alterations did not effect the good batting optics of the husky victors.

The First Baptist continued to gain, Saturday, in the race for the Sunday-School League pennant, by defeating the First Presbyterian church contingent by the score of 21 to 3. Hope Chapel, who was closely pressing the leaders for the upper berth, lost several points when the directors of the league took a game from their "win" column and ordered it replayed. The contest was protested by the First Presbyterian players after they had been defeated Saturday, August 16, by Hope.

The Monroe Avenue church team gained in its fight for second place by defeating the winless Park Avenue church delegation by the score of 6 to 1. The Hope chapel nine did not take part in any league game.

SPECTATORS ENJOY BASEBALL COMEDY

League Leaders Defeat First Presbyterian Church Team —Score 21 to 3.

Errors and poor pitching by Newell, enabled the baseball team of the First Baptist church to defeat the aggregation representing the First Presbyterian church Saturday in a Sunday-school League contest, by the score of 21 to 3. Although the losers collected a total of 12 hits off the delivery of pitchers Smith and Townley of the victors the bingles were kept well scattered and the Presbyterians could account for but a trio of tallies.

Newell was wild at every stage of the contest. He hit Banks and Stine with his inshoot, passed five men, made seven wild heaves and allowed 14 hits. From a baseball standpoint the exhibition was a farce, but the steady possession of the First Baptist players around the bags was enjoyed by the unusually large crowd that saw the game. Incidentally the Baptists increased their lead in the league standing and practically put Hope Chapel out of the running for the pennant by capturing the contest.

LOCAL ELKS LOST GAME IN THE NINTH

Led Bronx Team Up to Last Inning, When Latter Made Three Runs.

The baseball team of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., with Slocum and Torpey as a battery, engaged in a contest with the Bronx Elks team, comprised chiefly of leaguers, on Berkely Oval, the Bronx, yesterday afternoon, and was defeated by the close score of 7 to 6. The Plainfield Elks had the game 6 to 4 up to the ninth inning, and had retired two men and had two strikes on the third man, when a lucky drive scored three runs for the home team and gave them the game by a margin of one run.

The Plainfielders were "up against" a rather hard proposition, for Warhop of the Yankees was in the box for the home team, and Heinie Zimmerman, of the Chicagoes, played third base. Other positions were filled with big league men, and Dick Rudolph was the umpire.

"Lou" Wiltse covered the initial bag for Plainfield and the other positions were taken care of by local talent. A big crowd witnessed the contest. About thirty Elks accompanied the local aggregation to New York. After the game, the visitors were guests of their brother Elks at a big "spread."

W. P. TAYLOR AND C. J. HAND WINNING PAIR

William P. Taylor and Clarence J. Hand defeated Charles B. Morse and William H. Nischwitz, 1 up, in the "goats" competition at the Park Golf Club, Saturday. The point-winners for the President's cup were as follows:

W. V. Byard, 107, 15-92; Charles B. Morse 101, 8-93; Clarence J. Hand, 121, 22-99.

D. H. ROWLAND WINS GOLF SWEEPSTAKES

D. H. Rowland won the golf sweepstakes at the Plainfield Country Club, on Saturday, with a score of 85, 17-68. R. H. Cox was second with a net score of 71. There was a large field out but only the following five cards were returned:

D. H. Rowland, 85, 17-68; R. H. Cox, 92, 21-71; H. T. Eaton, 90, 16-74; Dr. F. E. DuBois, 95, 19-76; W. A. Engeman, 90, 9-81.

SPICER DEFEATED BY WEST END A. C.

Result Does Not Alter City League Standing, However —Score 5 to 3.

PITCHER HEALY STARS

Thirteen Strike-outs Credited to the West End Flinger, Who Allows But Two Hits In Whole Nine Sessions.

The Spicer team continued its "race" to finish last in the City League, when they were defeated Saturday afternoon by the West End A. C. by the score of 5 to 3. The possessors of the cellar rung in the championship ladder have now lost eleven games and have only been successful in capturing one league contest.

Healy, the crack pitcher of the West Ends, was the shining light of the game. He allowed his opponents but two hits and both of these bingles were secured by Montross, the Spicer first baseman. The strike out column shows that he fanned thirteen men and allowed but two passes and he also contributed one of the seven hits made by his team. Errors by Clark, the Spicer catcher, aided considerably in handing the athletic club a victory. Several times Spicer players winged the ball home to catch a runner attempting to score and thrice Clark muffed the spheres.

MEETING THIS WEEK OF HOLY CROSS PLAYERS

The Holy Cross Football team, which claimed the New Jersey championship in that sport last year, will begin active preparations for the coming season the latter part of this week when a meeting will be held to make tentative preparations for the opening of the season. Percival V. Martin, who has been chosen coach of the Stevens College football team, has been secured by Manager Doyle to prepare the local boys for their campaign. Under Martin's guidance and instructions the Holy Cross gridiron warriors should repeat last year's performances. Earl Moran, will be assistant manager.

The team will be made up, to a

...e extent, of the veterans of past ...asons, but many new shining lights ...ill press the regulars hard for per...anent berths. Among the absen...es will be Nash, the Local star, who ...as injured this year in a baseball ...ame, and who has been advised by ...is physicians not to play rugby until ...914. Nash was one of the Holy ...ross backs and his line-plunging ...bility will be sorely missed.

YOUTHFUL ATHLETES WILL EXHIBIT SKILL

Labor Day Event Will Be Arranged Tonight By Playground Commission.

At a meeting of the Playground Commission tonight complete arrangements will be made for the athletic exhibition to be held Labor Day morning on Parker Field. It is assured that several hundred youngsters who have been frequenting the popular recreation centre and athletic field during the summer months will take part in the event, which will give the general public an ideal opportunity to see the attractions the playground affords for the younger generation of Plainfield.

The winners of the strength and speed tests, which began this morning at 9 o'clock and continued this afternoon at 2 o'clock will also be presented with prizes that have been offered those attaining the highest percentage of development. Among the prizes is a large silver cup which has been donated by R. A. Claybrook, a member of the commission. The trophy bears the inscription, "Parker Field trophy for greatest per cent gain in strength and speed, summer 1913." The contests, or tests, will continue each day until next Saturday, at 9 and 2 o'clock, respectively.

CITY LEAGUE NEARING END OF ITS SCHEDULE

Saurers Have Championship Clinched—West Enders Defeated Spicer Saturday.

When the Saurer baseball team and the West End A. C. diamond warriors play a double header Saturday or on Labor Day, the City League schedule will be completed. Arrangements will be made tonight to set the date for the games, but it is practically assured that the holiday will be chosen, as this will enable the teams to have a longer resting period between games.

The championship, however, is practically decided as Saurer has such a commanding lead at present that they could lose their remaining games and still stay at the top of the ladder. Due to the annual outing of the Saurer employes Saturday, the game between the leaders and the Dixie Giants was postponed. The West End A. C. in third place defeated the lowly Spicer aggregation by the score of 5 to 3 and moved up to within 17 points of second place. The Spicer nine is firmly riveted to the cellar berth, having been able to capture but one game during the league season.

Macy's

Herald Square B'way, 34th to 35th St.

$25.000.00 of Finest Domestic & Imported China, Cut Glass & Lamps
At 1/5 to 1/2 Savings

THE CHINA BUSINESS of the City is done at Macy's—No other roof covers a stock at once so large, so varied, or of such uniformly high quality and low price. In fact, Macy's has on display and accessible for selling a larger stock than any other two stores in New York—which implies, probably, in the world.

THE REMARKABLE VARIETY in the greatest of China and Cut Glass sales, mainly utilitarian, partly decorated or luxuriously ornamented, is equalled only by the remarkably low figures at which they are priced.

Your savings range from twenty per cent. on a dozen tumblers at 23c (usually 36c), to forty per cent. on an electrolier at $264.00 (formerly $399.00), and fifty per cent. or more on sample pieces of the finest decorated China.

Come early to-morrow. However large the stock and great the variety, earliest comers carry away prizes.

PRESIDENT CALLS HUERTA'S BLUFF?

GAMBOA ASKS DELAY

Fear of Exposure May Have Prompted Rump President to Accede to Wilson's Terms for Pacification of Country.

Washington, August 26—Secretary to the President Tumulty today announced that following the receipt of a joint request from Former Governor Lind and Senor Gamboa, Mexican Minister of Foreign Affairs, President Wilson will postpone the delivery of his Mexican message to Congress until tomorrow. The following statement signed by Mr. Tumulty was given out:

"Last night about midnight, after a conference between the President and the Foreign Regulations Committees of the two Houses, a despatch came from Mexico City in which Mr. Lind united with Senor Gamboa requesting the President to postpone his address to Congress until Wednesday in order to afford the authorities at Mexico City opportunity for a further consideration of the proposals of the United States, in view of certain supplementary suggestions made by Mr. Lind. The President has, of course, consented and is expected to address the Congress at one o'clock on Wednesday."

President Wilson was pleased immensely over Mexico's request. The President feels that this action brings a peaceful settlement of the Mexican question much nearer. It is what he had expected all along and for which he had been manoeuvring. The request not to have the message read today was construed to mean that President Huerta is preparing to accede to the demands of the United States.

By withdrawing Envoy Lind and threatening to expose President Huerta to Congress and the world, President Wilson has forced the hand of the Mexican despot. The news was communicated quickly to leaders in Congress who expressed great gratification. Today's action was in line with forecasts in despatches sent to the Daily Press which steadily insisted that some such outcome was probable.

The American proposals to General Huerta as intimated at the White House today are the following: First, a definite armistice; second, a free and early election in all parts of the country; third, General Huerta not to be a candidate at this election and fourth, both factions must agree to abide by the result.

These fundamental propositions formulated by the United States will not be changed by any developments in Mexico City today. President Wilson has decided to make his stand on them and while they might be modified in unessential details their vital features must remain in any negotiations to be conducted further by Envoy Lind. If Mr. Lind has left Mexico City, as appears in Mexico City press despatches today, he probably will return at an early hour. The White House has no information that he has left Mexico City and is puzzled to understand how in view of the favorable reply sent by the President to Lind's message of last night he could have left the Mexican capital.

The feeling about the White House today was still one of expectancy as if at the eleventh hour President Huerta will wear out his last vestige of bluff and submit to the inevitable. The situation is not regarded as any more serious than has prevailed for several days. President Wilson's proposed message to Congress is not of a bellicose nature and it is not calculated to precipitate a crisis.

Secretary of State Bryan today admitted, however, that Former Governor Lind was recalled by the United States as soon as it became known that his mission was a failure. The Secretary denied that Governor Lind was ordered out of Mexico. He further claimed that the situation south of the border remains unchanged. It is understood that Governor Lind will leave Vera Cruz on board a warship, probably the New Hampshire, within a short time. There is good reason for believing that an active discussion of the Mexican question will be taken up in the Senate within a few days.

MAURY CORBIN DIES AT VIRGINIA FARM

He Was the Husband of former Miss Mary Anderson Reinhart.

Maury Corbin, of Oakland, California, died on Sunday at his farm in Virginia, where he had gone on a short business trip, and his brothers-in-law, Frank O. Reinhart and Edward M. VanBuren, have gone to Virginia to take charge of the remains and make arrangements for the funeral. Mrs. J. W. Reinhart, who is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Thayer, in the South, is also on her way to Virginia. No details as to the cause of death have been obtained.

Mr. Corbin's wife was Miss Mary Anderson Reinhart, the daughter of Mrs. Joseph W. Reinhart. She and her two children are at their home in Oakland.

Mr. Corbin was an electrical engineer and soon after his marriage in this city about ten years ago, the couple went to Schenectary, N. Y., to reside. Later they went to Virginia, where Mr. Corbin owned a large farm. A few years afterward they located at Oakland, where they have been making their home for some time.

LABOR DAY SPECTACLE WILL ATTRACT MANY

Several Hundred Children Will Take Part In Athletic Exhibit at Parker Field.

The instructors of the Plainfield Playgrounds met yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. building and completed plans for the Labor Day athletic spectacle which will be given on that holiday on Parker Field. Several hundred children who have frequented the local recreation centres adjoining the Bryant, Franklin and St. Mary's schools, during the summer months will take part in ensemble dances, including the Hungarian, Virginia Reel, Kinder Polka, and the Tarantella; ring games, calisthenics, obstacle, relay and potato races and various other athletic competitions.

Supervisor George W. Wriston will be in charge of the exhibition, assisted by a corps of assistants. As far as is possible, the youngsters will be dressed in white with colored sashes thrown across their shoulders. This will give the spectacle a uniform appearance. The physical instructors at each school playground are rehearsing the participants daily in the stunts they will perform and the children of each centre are working diligently to outshine their competitors although the only prize they will receive will be the applause of the spectators and words of praise from the instructors.

SENDS FIVE DOLLARS FOR POOR LITTLE ONES

Another check in answer to the appeal which has been made through the columns of the Plainfield Daily Press for the Day Nursery conducted by the City Union of King's Daughters, was received this morning from a Plainfielder who is sojourning on the New Jersey coast. The contribution received this morning was from P. R. F., $5. If the hundreds of readers of the Plainfield Daily Press who are away for the summer would think of those poor little ones here in Plainfield who need the necessities of life, there is no doubt that hundreds of dollars would be in hand for this most worthy cause.

Contributions may be sent to the Plainfield Daily Press office, and they will be promptly forwarded In past years readers of the Plainfield Daily Press have given hundreds of dollars for the cause, and this year the sum has not reached the $100 mark.

APPEAL FOR CLOTHES.

This is one of the hardest periods of the year for mothers with five or six small children to be fitted out with clothes for school. You can go barefoot all summer but they will not let you return to school without shoes. Boys' trousers and jackets, girls' dresses and shoes of all sizes are greatly in demand and the Charity Organization Society will be glad to send for them. Telephone 103, or send a card to No. 323 Babcock building.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Paullin, of Bridgeton, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Bertha Paullin, to Herbert N. Packard, Jr., of Plainfield. The wedding will take place in October, after which the couple will reside in this city.

GREAT BABY PARADE TOMORROW'S EVENT

Asbury Park, Aug. 26.—The twenty-third annual baby parade, which is programed to take place here tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, will be a magnificent spectacle. More than one hundred thousand visitors from all parts of the country are now in town to view this pageant of childhood, a pageant more beautiful, more inspiring to the heart and emotions than any outdoor parade the world has ever known. Out of the glory and fame of the Asbury Park Baby Parade hundreds of similar parades have been held the past few years in nearly every State of the union, but the Asbury Park parade is the only event of its kind where thousands of dollars are spent upon decorations and costumes and thousands of dollars more are awarded in prizes, and where all of the beautiful sentiment of American motherhood is reflected by the universal interest taken in this affair. More than six hundred children have entered the seven divisions of the parade, ranging in age from Eliouse H. Hely, of Newark, age four months, to children of twelve and thirteen years who will be in the float and pony cart divisions. New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania have the largest representation in the entry list, while the States of Maryland, Virginia, Illinois and California are sure to win some of the prizes.

For weeks and weeks the Asbury Park Carnival Commission has been at work upon its preparations for tomorrow. With the coronation of Miss Hazel Florence Reuman, of Brooklyn, last week, as Titania XIII., which ceremony was witnessed by ten thousand people at the Ocean Grove auditorium where only the most brilliant indoor spectacles are staged by Prof. Tali Esen Morgan, Carnival Week was formally ushered in. The climax comes tomorrow afternoon. While the various divisions are being assembled at the Boardwalk Casino into parade formation the judges will make their preliminary inspection. At the same time Titania XIII., with Princess Cinderella, her maids of honor, pages and Royal Guard, will assemble at the Coleman House and promptly at 2.45 o'clock will proceed along the Ocean Boulevard through the court of honor to the throne at the amphitheatre, where society of the North Jersey Coast will be present in greater number than any other time of the season. Ocean avenue will be scraped and rolled tonight and bright and early tomorrow morning carpeted with burlap to protect the feet of the youngsters and keep down the dust. The avenue has been gay with decorations all of the week and all of the prominent buildings and hotels are in holiday dress. When Colonel Mahlon R. Margerum, the director general, gives the order to march, Arthur Pryor and his American Band of fifty pieces, with police escort led by Chief William H. Smith, will start the waves of enthusiasm rolling up the avenue. The formation of the parade will be as follows:

Police escort; Colonel Mahlon R. Margerum, director general, and staff; Colonel Arthur L. Steele, grand marshal and staff; Major M. E. Sexton, grand marshal of escort; Governor James F. Fielder, of New Jersey, Hon. Regniald S. Bennett, mayor of Asbury Park; Colonel John W. Aymar, Arthur F. Cottrell and George W. Pittenger, members of the Carnival Commission, in carriages; Arthur Pryor's band; Royal Guard of thirty girls in costume, Miss Mabel Bennetta Vaughn, commanding; Queen's Heralds mounted upon ponies; Queen Titania XIII. in her seashell chariot of gold and silver; Princess Cinderella, Miss Virginia Hope Kelsey; maids of honor in automobiles, Miss Gladys Burns, of Newark; Miss Ruth Montgomery, of Montclair; Miss Charlotte Engel, of Philadelphia; Miss Hazel Littauer, of Yonkers; Miss Eleanor Waters, of Paterson; Miss Lorraine Hazelrigg, of Asbury Park; Miss Hilda Ill, of Newark; Miss Frances Meeske, of New York; Miss Hazel Frisbie, of Belleville; Miss Elizabeth V. Oliphant, of Trenton; Miss Louise F. Williams, of Minneapolis; the Queen's prize, a $300 pony, cart and outfit to be awarded by her Majesty; princesses of the realm in automobiles; floats displaying the baby parade prizes; float containing babies who won championship honors in

PROTEST AGAINST 'MOVIES' BUILDING

To Petition Mayor Not to Grant License to Theatre Now Being Constructed.

VIOLATIONS ALLEGED

Claim Building Code Has Not Been Observed—Masters and Journeymen Jointly Object and Confer With Council Committee.

Several petitions are being circulated about the city by a 'citizens' committee' in the shape of a protest to be presented to Mayor Percy H. Stewart asking him not to grant a license to the new moving picture theatre being erected on West Second street by Benjamin Nieberg, of New York. The petitions call attention, it is said, to many alleged violations of the building code, which would indicate that the building is not absolutely safe. It is further set forth, the story goes, that non-union labor was brought here from out of the city to do the work, thereby ignoring local contractors and union labor.

When the theatre is completed it will be the duty of Mayor Stewart to decide whether a license shall be issued to the proprietor.

Representatives of the Building Trades Council and the Master Builders' Association recently held a conference with the Councilmanic fire and building committee, when the attention of the committee was called to numerous alleged violations of the building code. This was followed with an inspection of the building by Councilmen Fred Endress and P. J. Reville and Building Inspector T. O. Doane.

It is understood that Chief Doane informed the councilmen at the time that when the building was completed he, with an expert, would make a thorough inspection and if any violations were found, the owner or contractor would be compelled to remedy the effects, but he explained that it was impossible for him to be "on the job" all the time at the theatre and see that the code was strictly adhered to by the contractor.

Councilman Fred Endress, when questioned about the matter today, said that Chief Doane is anxious to have the Common Council pass on the subject in which case he would be relieved of any responsibility. This question arose especially in regard to a part of the old building on West Front street. According to Mr. Endress if fifty per cent. or less of the building is demolished to be rebuilt, it must be considered as a new building and the code makes ample provision in that case. It is the contention of the contractors that the job is a "repair" one and does not call for a new building.

Another point raised is that while the main entrance to the theatre is on West Second street, the proprietor plans to use the exit on West Front street as an entrance as well, which in the opinion of some people would not be wise.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR OLD SCHOOL BUILDING

To Expend $7,812 In Installing Lavatories In Somerset School Structure.

G. Tobin, the plumber, was awarded the contract for supplying and installing lavatories in the Somerset school building at a meeting last night of the North Plainfield Board of Education. His bid was $4,957. Townley Brothers, of Watchung avenue, were awarded the contract for the mason work connected with the job, their figure being $2,855.

Den J. Galbraith, who installed the $18,000 heating and ventilating system in the Somerset school and has been seeking for several months to obtain the final payment, had his wish granted last night after agreeing to be penalized $150 for alleged omissions, due to a misunderstanding in the specifications and plans. A bill for extras amounting to $113 was ordered paid to the contractor but his application for $105, covering additional extras was refused, although he offered to deduce the bill one-half.

Working papers were granted to Edgar England, 16 years old, of 442 Westervelt avenue.

Shoe Savings.

Time's getting short, assortments are beginning to break, and it's only once a year that money-saving opportunities like VanArsdale is offering come your way. The balance of this week will be devoted to clearing up all odds and ends of stock, at prices that will suit anybody's pocketbook, and if you want a pair of good shoes at a special bargain now's your chance.—Adv. ***

WISH TO SEE BABE GRATIFIED, HE DIES

Lying at death's door on a cot in Overlook Hospital, Summit, Sunday night, Elmer W. Compton, 35 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myers Compton, of North Plainfield, asked to see his wife. Apprised of her husband's dying request, Mrs. Compton, with almost superhuman effort, arose from a sick bed and hastened to the hospital. She took with her an infant son who is less than a week old. After seeing his wife and smiling and fondling his child, Mr. Compton died within an hour. Death was caused by blood-poisoning, which developed after he had undergone a successful operation three weeks ago for appendicitis.

Mr. Compton settled in Summit nineteen years ago, after leaving this city. He was a blacksmith by trade. Besides his widow, he is survived by two sons and a daughter; his parents and two brothers, Lyell and Ephraim Compton, of this city. He was a member of the Jr. O. U. A. M., and was also a member of the Summit M. E. church.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock at the chapel of the Summit church. Interment will be made in Hillside cemetery here.

COLORED WOMAN DIES, IDENTITY IS UNKNOWN

Unconscious When Found, She Passes Away In Hospital—A Victim of Paralysis.

An elderly colored woman, believed to be the mother of Thomas Deers, who was murdered Saturday, April 12, by Mateio Papalitli, an Italian, died at 2 o'clock this morning at Muhlenberg hospital, where she had been taken Sunday afternoon, evidently suffering from a stroke of paralysis. The woman was in an unconscious state from the time she was taken to the institution until she passed away. While it is thought that she is Mrs. Deers, George W. Cole, in whose charge the body has been placed, has been unable to have the body identified after making numerous inquiries this morning in the vicinity of 536 West Second street, where the woman was found unconscious in a yard on Sunday.

REV. MR. BROEK RETURNS.

Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, who went abroad this summer with the A. V. D. Honeyman tourists, arrived in New York yesterday, one day ahead of time, on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, of the North German Lloyd Line, and immediately left for Lake Hopatcong, where he will remain until September 7 with his brother, Rev. Albertus T. Broek and his family, who have a cottage there. He expects to preach in his church Sunday, September 8.

FINED FOR ASSAULT.

Joseph Placo, of Cottage place, who was arrested yesterday, charged with attacking Edward Dennig and Howard Shirley, both of Randolph road, Sunday night in Farragut road, was fined $5 this morning, when arraigned before City Judge DeMeza. Anthony Colucci, who was implicated with Placo, was given a suspended sentence of $5 fine or 20 days in jail.

HAD EPILEPTIC FIT.

Henry Jackson, colored, who said he lives in Harlem, was found on Park avenue at 2 o'clock this morning suffering from an epileptic fit. He was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital and after remaining there until today he recovered sufficiently to return home. He had been visiting in Plainfield.

ANTI-SUFFRAGISTS MEET.

The Plainfield Branch of the New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, held it regular meeting at the Public Library, yesterday afternoon, when nothing but routine business was transacted. Later on arrangements will be made to hold several mass meetings.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Schleif, of Park avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gertrude C. Schleif, to Albert G. Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyer, of Scotch Plains.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 68 degrees; 11 a. m., 78 degrees; 1 p. m., 80 degrees.

'T.-B.' CLINIC WILL BE OPENED TOMORROW

Free Treatment In Deserving Cases to Be the Rule of the Institution.

The clinic to be conducted at 109 Madison avenue under the direction of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield will be opened tomorrow and thereafter will be open on every Wednesday and Saturday afternoon and evening from 4 to 5 and 8 to 9 o'clock. The clinic will be free to the public, that is, anyone who is unable to pay anything for advice or treatment will be given the same free of charge.

The plan is to make examinations of the lungs, and refer patients to their own private physicians, if they desire, and in cases where the patients are willing and the circumstances permit, they will be sent to a sanitorium. This work will be supported by voluntary contributions.

The physicians who will be in charge of the clinic, and who will give their services free of charge, are Drs. Frederick J. Hughes, A. L. Ellis, A. H. Dundon, Sydney R. Titsworth, F. W. Cornwell, N. W. Currie, Bernard Levinson and E. S. Krans.

WILL ORGANIZE FOR AN EIGHT-HOUR DAY

Local Machinists to Join Union For Their Mutual Benefit.

An open meeting of the International Machinists' Association, Local No. 167, was held last night at Eagles' Hall, on East Second street, when trade conditions generally were discussed.

A movement is now being conducted by the local union to thoroughly organize the men of the Pond, Sauer and Rushmore plants of this city. This is being accomplished with the hope that all the shops in the city will be placed on an eight-hour-day basis. It is expected, however, that it will be some time before that end will be fully realized. It was pointed out that the Mack plant of the International Motor Company had been fully organized and the Webb plant of the same concern had been thirty-five per cent organized. It was also stated that an endeavor is being made to organize the entire machine tool industry that the eight-hour-day will be in effect the country over.

CANDIDATE G. T. HUGHES STRONG FOR PURE FOOD

The Assembly fight in Somerset county this fall promises to be the most hotly contested in years. On the Progressive side George T. Hughes, of Watchung, has just announced his candidacy for the nomination. He is a New York newspaper man who has made his home in North Plainfield township for the past six years. He is an experienced public speaker and his friends say is sure to win support on the stump. He expects, it is understood, to make a thorough canvass of the entire county.

Mr. Hughes is deeply interested in the cause of pure food and has strong convictions on the necessity of reform in the State's food laws. He will, it is said, make this subject an issue in his campaign and will endeavor to induce the Progressive convention at Trenton to give the subject a prominent place in the party platform.

SPECIAL MEETINGS.

Under the direction of Rev. G. W. Bailey, pastor, a series of meetings will be held this week at the Ebenezer Baptist church. Rev. L. L. Croom, of Rahway, will preach tonight. Rev. M. W. Vaughn, of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, will speak tomorrow night and Rev. G. W. Hamley, of Elizabeth, will preach Thursday night. An illustrated lecture on the "Second Coming of Christ," will be given Friday night.

MRS. MARY H. STRAPPE.

Mrs. Mary H. Strappe, of 314 Clinton avenue, age thirty-five years, died at her home yesterday afternoon after a short illness. Besides her husband, John Strappe, she leaves three children, Mary, Margaret and Norah. The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at the late home at 8:15 and at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

JILTED SUITOR LANDED IN JAIL

With Revolver and Blackjack He Laid In Wait For Girl Who Grew Cold.

SCARED HER PARENTS

After Police Nab Him Prisoner Claims He Did Not Intend to Kill and Supposed He Was a Fool—Young Woman Won't Talk.

Crazed because the parents of the girl he loved refused to allow him to make his sweetheart his wife, Charles MacBride, 22 years old, of 27 South Union street, Elizabeth, came to this city this morning armed with a .32 calibre revolver fully loaded, and an extra supply of bullets and a black-jack, which he said he was going to use in scaring the girl's mother and father into submitting to his heart's desire. MacBride however, was arrested by Patrolman Martin Flatley and Welch before he could use either of the deadly weapons he carried on his person. Lodged in a cell at headquarters awaiting arraignment tomorrow morning on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, the prisoner repented his actions.

Pretty Miss Anna Whelan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Whelan, of 635 East Second street, is the girl for whom MacBride was willing to break the laws of the land to secure. He went to her home as soon as he arrived in Plainfield. He was told she had left for Morris Abrams' shoe store, in West Front street, where she is employed. Flourishing the loaded revolver in one hand and the blackjack in another, he is said to have uttered a threat against Mr. and Mrs. Whelan unless they decided to let him become their son-in-law. And as the frightened parents ran for safety he strode from the house bound for Mr. Abrams' establishment to seek vengeance on the girl, who is said to have ceased her affections because of parental objections.

Before MacBride arrived at the store, however, Mr. Whelan telephoned to Mr. Abrams and told him of MacBride's visit and added that the frenzied lover was coming to his store and that he was armed with the death-producing weapons. Mr. Abrams was on the alert. He told Miss Whelan to hide in the basement of his store and when MacBride arrived, the proprietor of the place told him his sweetheart had gone to the First National Bank. While awaiting the arrival of MacBride, Mr. Abrams telephoned for the police, but the love-sick man had beat the "coppers" to the store.

As the Elizabeth youth proceeded along West Front street on the way to the bank, with Mr. Abrams trailing him, Patrolman Flatley and Welch came up the street on the run. Abrams pointed out MacBride and he was placed under arrest.

In a cell at headquarters, MacBride talked freely to reporters. "I was crazy over that girl—I would do almost anything to win her. But I did not intend to kill anybody. I bought those weapons with the intention of scaring her parents, so that they would allow Anna and I to become man and wife. I suppose I have acted like a fool and that I will have to crack stones for it. But I will take my medicine and when I am free, I will 'make' for other parts of the country and try to forget."

Miss Whelan, when approached by a Daily Press reporter, refused to be interviewed. Asked if it was true that she had been receiving attentions from young MacBride for two years she said, "That is none of your business—that is my private affair."

MISS ROSEBERRY TO BE BRIDE SATURDAY

Invitations have been issued to the wedding of Miss Edith Roseberry, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Roseberry, and Roland Smith, both of this city. The ceremony will be performed Saturday evening at the home of Miss Roseberry on Central avenue.

The bride-elect has been employed as a bookkeeper for S. Scheuer & Co., of West Front street, for a number of years. Mr. Smith was formerly of New York, but is now employed as a draughtsman in this city.

FACTS AND COMMENT ON NEW YORK NEWS

New York, Aug. 26—The years of determined effort on the part of the health authorities, several charitable organizations and a number of local philanthrophists, to improve the hygenic conditions surrounding infant life in this city are beginning to bear fruit. During the last few years the mortality among infants in Greater New York has shown a fairly steady decline, even during the most unfavorable weater conditions of the summer and the improvement seems to continue. According to the report just published by the health department, New York was the only large city in the country to show a decrease in the average death rate for infants in the first six months of 1913.

For many years, longer, in fact, than any resident of the city can remember, certain of the poorer sections of New York have been infested and made unsafe by the presence of organized gangs of men, unscrupulous, brutal, cowardly and steeped into every vice, capable of any crime. In the hands of Tammany these gangs were valuable tools and weapons against their political opponents and, in consideration for their services at primaries and elections, the members of these gangs enjoyed practical immunity from police interference and other privileges.

The brutal killing of Rosenthal by members of one of the lower East Side gangs and a number of other murders committed since then, brought matters to a climax and the decent and law abiding citizens made a powerful demand for the suppression and extermination of these gangs. Notwithstanding the disgraceful exposures of police corruption which resulted from the Rosenthal murder investigation, the police were either powerless or unwilling to make determined war against the gangsters and the citizens finally reached the conclusion that, if they wished the gangs driven out, they would have to do the driving out themselves. The other day the citizens of the lower East Side held a mass meeting in which the situation was thoroughly discussed and the decision reached to make a determined effort to rid the East Side of the numerous gangs which infest it. The citizens decided to make a joint effort with a view of making things unpleasant for the gangsters and reached the unanimous decision not to depend upon the assistance of the police authorities in their efforts.

The keeper of the city morgue was greatly puzzled the other day when a young Italian with an extremely fragmentary knowledge of the English language, came to him and said something which sounded to the keeper like an inquiry concerning some dead person. The keeper made a desperate effort to draw some intelligible information concerning the supposed corpse from the young Italian, but in answer to the question who the dead person was, the young man invariably repeated something that sounded like "letta." At last the keeper called in another Italian as interpreter and soon the mystery was explained. The young Italian had been expecting a letter from his folk in Italy for some time and when he spoke of it to some friends they told him that the letter had probably gone to the "dead letter office." The young man did not know where that office was and made inquiries concerning its location. The men he asked, not being familiar with his style of speaking English, did not quite understand him and, believing that he wanted some person who was dead, sent him to the morgue.

Four leading suffragettes, Herriet Porritt, Laura Crozier, Mrs. Marie Fenn and Mrs. Nora Blatch de Forest, are making a campaign tour in favor of the cause, traversing New Jersey on horseback. Four suffragettes on horseback, preaching equal suffrage from the saddle, is in itself quite an attraction, but when it became known that the four mounted female apostles of woman's suffrage had named their steeds Senator Root, Senator Frawley, Dr Lyman Abbott and Rev. Dr. Charles Parkhurst, the New Jerseyans gathered in great throngs wherever the four equestriennes appeared. When the ladies gravely introduced their steeds to the crowd, a tittering and giggling ran through the crowd and occasionally some embarrassing remark was made by someone in the crowd. It appealed to the sense of humor of the people that the four suffragettes had selected the names of four distinguished men for their steeds, although three of them are mares.

As a result of a serious blunder on his part, James E. Zaring, a traveling salesman of Brooklyn, and four private detectives whom he employed in an effort to obtain damaging evidence against his wife, whom he wishes to divorce, were sentenced each to one month in jail. Zaring had for some time suspected his wife and had her shadowed to a certain apartment house by private detectives. One night last week, after the sleuths had reported that Mrs. Zaring was visiting someone in one of the flats of the apartment house in question, Mr. Zaring, accompanied by four private detectives, made his way to the apartment house and stealthily climbed up the fire escape to reach the flat where his unfaithful wife was supposed to be. Through some unpardonable blunder, Zaring and his helpers entered the wrong flat and when the occupants, an artist and his wife, defended themselves against the supposed burglars, a terrible fight in the dark ensued. Furniture was upset, lamps and vases were broken and so much noise was made, that the occupant of the adjoining flat, blew a police whistle and then made his escape down the fire escape. Zaring was miserable enough when he learned that he had invaded the wrong flat and when the magistrate sentenced him and his helpers to a month in jail, but when he was informed that it was the occupant of the flat which he had intended to invade, who had blown the police whistle and had then made his escape, he was even more dejected.

An engineering feat never surpassed in railroad engineering in this country was performed recently when the great railroad trestle bridge, more than a mile long, which spands Newark Bay between Newark and Greenville, N. J., and which was burned in the night of June 14, was rebuilt in twelve days. The bridge was 5,653 feet long, with a draw of 264 feet and formed the chief connecting link of the Pennsylvania and the Lehigh freight system between the West and New England, through New York city. Fifteen hundred men worked night and day to complete the work.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

William Collier is one of the busiest actors in New York these days. He is hard at work rehearsing "Who's Who?" the farce that Richard Harding Davis has written for him and that he is to be seen in at the Plainfield Theatre, Friday night, August 29. Mr. Davis is helping Mr. Collier all he can in preparing the play for production, but Mr. Collier has his own way of going about work of this kind and he must do the most of it himself. For this reason he likes to have in his company actors who are thoroughly accustomed to his methods. In "Who's Who?" his supporting cast includes, besides Paula Marr (Mrs. William Collier off the stage), and William Collier, Jr., William Frederic, Bert B. Melville, Nicholas Judels, George White, Grant Stewart, Edward Lester, C. D. Clarke, John Adams, Nicholas Burnham, Frederick Conklin, Grace Griswold, Kate Wingfield, Leigh Wyant and Dorothy Unger, most of whom have been associated with Mr. Collier in one of his former successes.

DR. IRA S. WILE.

He Spoke to Scientists and Educators About School Hygiene.

A leading feature of the fourth international congress on school hygiene at Buffalo, N. Y., was the address of Dr. Ira S. Wile of New York city. More than 2,000 scientists and educators from nearly every country on the globe are attending the congress.

SCHOOL HYGIENE CONGRESS OPENS

Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 26—The fourth International Congress on School Hygiene, for which preparations have been making for many months, was opened here yesterday with an attendance remarkable for its size and representative character. While the majority of the delegates, as was to be expected, come from the United States and Canada, there are many and eminent representatives here from the nations of Europe. Noted educators, scientists, physicians, health officers and civic welfare workers to a total running into the hundreds have registered. For an entire week they will exchange views and listen to papers and addresses on every important phase of work having to do with improving the health and efficiency of school children.

The present meeting is the fourth triennial session of the International Congress of School Hygiene. The congress was organized in Nuremberg in 1904. The second meeting was held in London in 1907 and the third in Paris in 1910. Twenty-five nations have membership on the permanent international committee of the congress.

Among the topics that will be considered by the congress during the week are the following: The relation between school hygiene and home conditions; rural school hygiene, school children as carriers of disease, the relation of athletics to health, eye diseases among school children, the hygiene of play, the hygiene of the defective child, and the relation of spinal curvature and flat feet to the health of the child.

Numerous papers to be presented by experts will treat of open air schools, lunch rooms, drinking facilities, village schools, summer camps, rest rooms, school architecture, the prevention of epidemics, school nurses and school decorations.

The subject of "Open Air Schools" will be given particular attention. Speakers from numerous cities will deal not only with the work of the open air schools, but also with the effect of the open air treatment upon the pupils.

A symposium on "Sex Hygiene" will be conducted under the auspices of the American Federation for Sex Hygiene. Prominent among the speakers who will be heard are United States Commissioner of Education Philander P. Knox, Dr. Hugh Cabot, of the Massachusetts General hospital; President William T. Foster, of Reed College, and Dr. Thomas M. Balliet, of New York University.

The American Physical Education Association will conduct a symposium on "Physical Education in the Public Schools." "Tuberculosis Among School Children" will be discussed under the auspices of the Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The Society for the Prevention of Blindness will conduct a symposium on the "Conservation of Vision in School Children" and the Illuminating Engineering Society will conduct a similar discussion on the subject of school illumination.

The president of the congress and the presiding officer at the general session is Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University. The vice-presidents are Dr. William H. Welch, the great pathologist of Johns Hopkins University, and Dr. Henry P. Walcott, chairman of the Massachusetts State Board of Health.

Many educators, medical men and health officials of prominence are inculded among the honorary vice-presidents of the congress. Among them are Sir James Grant, one of the foremost representatives of the medical profession in Canada; Dr. Rupert Blue, head of the United States Public Health and Marine Hospital service; Dr. Abraham Jacobi, president of the American Medical Association; Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford University; Dr. Theobald Smith, of the Harvard Medical School; Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the Minnesota State Board of Health, and Dr. M. Uribey Troncosco, chief of the Department of Hygiene, of Mexico.

The city of Buffalo has generously contributed $40,000 for the expenses of the congress and to provide entertainment for the delegates. The local committee has arranged for a series of social events, including a ball, banquet, luncheons and receptions. There will be daily automobile tours of the city and excursion trips to the great industrial plants and to the scenic wonders of Niagara Falls.

TAPS FROM THE GAVEL.

A meeting of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, will be held on Thursday night, at which time District Deputy Enear, of Jersey City, will be present. One candidate will be introduced into the mysteries of the order. A social time will follow the meeting.

The State convention of the Order of the Sons of St. George will be held in Jersey City on Friday and Saturday of this week. George Bridge will represent Trafalgar Lodge, No. 506, of this city.

Speaking of silks, dress goods, and fabrics of a kind that are fashionable for Fall wear, that are familiar by name, and stranger weaves that are as yet unknown to fame but with a popular future in prospect, we have the real leaders.

A list of names of fashionable silks, woolens and fancy cotton means nothing, description of styles gets nowhere but back to the actual and trite fact that they must be seen to be appreciated.

If there is a fabric worth while which is not represented in our assortment it cannot be missed because this showing of Fall fabrics is absolutely complete.

Oblige us with a call of curiosity, leave buying and [illegible] of it, come in an open frame of mine, receptive to impressions without prejudice. Give the Tepper store credit for its progressiveness because it is bound to either lead or drive Plainfield's business to the top of possibility.

We will discontinue our Picture Department Wednesday. Cards now out should be presented not later than Wednesday, August 27.

In closing out this department we are making a sacrifice reduction in our 24-karat gold plated metal frames. Those having oval portraits size 11x14 will find great bargains in our frame department.

COMFORT IN IRONING

THE HOOD—When the hood is placed on the iron, the heat is bottled up. A dead-air space, in addition to the asbestos lining, prevents radiation of heat from the iron and keeps the temperature of the wood handle below blood heat. No holder is needed.

THE CORE—The core or base is a solid chunk of iron. Iron takes up and retains heat in proportion to its weight. The core acts as a heat reservoir and regulator by retaining the heat and letting it pass to the bottom as the surface cools. The stored heat is confined by the asbestos-lined hood instead of radiating into space. The ironing face has a mirror-like polish and is slightly convex. The edges are rounded to prevent drawing and wrinkling.

THE LOCK—The lock is secure, preventing rattle and insuring against accidently unfastening. The lock will catch automatically.

WAITING TO HEAR FROM MEXICO

Huerta Continues Silent as Anxiety Increases.

WILSON IS STILL HOPEFUL

President Ready to Deliver His Message to Congress, but Holds Off Till Last Minute. Hoping Mexican Executive Will Yield—Special Envoy Lind May Be Recalled.

Washington, Aug. 26. It is believed here that the tide will turn in favor of the administration's Mexican plan. This is based on a cipher report received from Special Envoy Lind. But there is no hiding the fact that the keenest anxiety prevails in official Washington and those high in station are eagerly expectant of news from Mexico City that Huerta has at last yielded to American proposals of mediation.

A high official of the government who had just concluded an interview with Secretary of State Bryan on the Mexican situation, expressed confidence that important announcements would soon be forthcoming. He would give no inkling of the news from the American representatives at the Mexican capital which might justify this confidence, but he maintained that it was justified.

This official said that the attitude taken by the president in deciding to deliver an address to congress today unless Huerta yielded did not mean that the Mexican president must accept in full the American proposals in the time allowed him. He said it did mean that a fairly definite indication that Huerta had turned toward the administration's way of thinking was necessary.

Believe Huerta Will Yield.

This indication, he suggested, might take the form of a reasonable counter proposal to that submitted by Mr. Lind, which would mark a considerable step toward the principles on which the Wilson plan is grounded.

It might take the form of suggestions for amendments to our plan not vital in themselves, but which would pave the way for ultimate yielding by Huerta without this action having the appearance of a somewhat craven "backing down" in the face of a Washington ultimatum.

Huerta's soldierly disposition, it was declared, would shrink at yielding directly now right after the publication of the demand of the United States that he relinquish all claim to the power now in his hands.

President Wilson has completed the address which he will deliver to congress unless Huerta yields. The address is about 4,000 words long, and it will give the important portions of the American note to Huerta and the Mexican reply.

Message Friendly In Tone.

It can be stated on the highest authority that although the address will outline a stern determination on the part of the president not to recognize the Huerta administration, the tone will be one of exceeding kindness to the Mexican people themselves.

The president will express the belief that the affairs of the Mexican people are being badly mismanaged by a small group of persons. He will indicate that he is disposed to hold this small group responsible for the difficulties now besetting the southern republic, but withal will express the greatest sympathy for the war worn Mexicans.

The same note of altruism voiced in the statement with regard to our relations with Latin American nations which the president made public in the early days of his administration will be predominant in the views Mr. Wilson will express to congress. It will be in noticeable contrast to the feeling the president will evince toward those whom he believes responsible for the miseries of misgovernment under which the Mexican people are now struggling.

This address will be gone over in detail at a conference the president will have at the White House with the full membership of the senate and house committees on foreign affairs.

May Recall Lind.

There is a possibility that if Huerta does not give some fairly definite indication of yielding before the president's address is delivered the state department will recall John Lind from Mexico City.

In this regard there was a report from Mexico City that Lind was ready to leave the Mexican capital. It was said that he had informed President Wilson that it would be useless to make any further attempt to persuade Huerta to adopt the mediation plans.

If war with Mexico should come it will find the American army equipped with the latest development of field wireless telegraph ingenuity. SULZER'S ADVISERS AT CROSS PURPOSES

Legal Staff and Friends at Odds Over Murphy.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 26. Developments here brought to the surface the fact that the eminent lawyers retained to defend William Sulzer before the high court of impeachment are working at cross purposes with Mr. Sulzer's lay advisers. Among the latter are ex-Judge Lyn J. Arnold, editor and publisher of a local newspaper; John A. Hennessy, principal political adviser to Mr. Sulzer, and James C. Garrison, the Sulzer press agent.

The statement of Judge Arnold in New York that Charles F. Murphy and other Tammany men could be convicted of a conspiracy to oust Governor Sulzer from office, backed up by a similar statement here by Garrison, prompted ex-Judge D'Cady Herrick, chief of the Sulzer counsel, to enter emphatic denial that Mr. Sulzer's legal advisers were harboring plans to indict Murphy or any other person.

"We are having nothing to do with any alleged criminal proceeding against Charles F. Murphy, Senator Frawley, Assemblyman Levy or any other person," Judge Herrick said, "and the governor's counsel are not pursuing any investigation of a criminal character against any one and are in no wise party, directly or indirectly, to any proceedings of the kind indicated by statements from certain quarters and circulated through the press."

The statement from New York that the district attorney there had not been asked to consider any charges against Murphy, Frawley or Levy followed a statement made here by District Attorney Rollin B. Sanford, before whom, Mr. Arnold had asserted, evidence to indict Murphy and others had been produced, disclaiming knowledge of any preliminaries to any such prosecution.

Weather Forecast.

BRIBERY CHARGE STIRS THAW CASE

CASH ROAD TO FREEDOM

Crown Prosecutor Investigating Story That Immigration Officials Were Asked to Cease Their Activity Against Fugitive From Matteawan. William T. Jerome Arrives.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 26.—Canadian officials are indignantly declaring that mysterious strangers have been offering large sums of money to immigration authorities to induce them to be less vigilant toward Harry K. Thaw.

According to the stories which are being investigated by Crown Prosecutor James Nichol, the men who offered the bribes asked the immigration authorities to cease their activity against the Matteawan fugitive when he is released on a writ of habeas corpus.

David S. Reynolds, the chief traveling inspector of the Canadian bureau of immigration, would say little about the charges, though he admitted that an investigation was being made and said that bribes had been offered.

Reynolds also stated that probably the court of inquiry, which is expected to order the deportation of Thaw, would sit in camera and that no newspaper men would be admitted. It was pointed out that such a proceeding would inspire the givers of bribes.

Jerome Reaches Scene.

Assuming that it were possible to bribe officials, the secret session would allow the bargain to be carried out with certain degree of safety since the deliberations of the court would be concealed.

William Travers Jerome, the nemesis of Thaw and the man who was district attorney during the two Thaw trials, has arrived here. He had followed as closely as possible the route taken by Thaw from the time he began his flight from Matteawan. Mr. Jerome drove his touring car, though Captain John Lanyon was with him as a passenger.

Jerome said he had had conferences with various officials in Vermont and New Hampshire, though he did not go fully into their nature. It is believed that the former district attorney of New York county consulted with the authorities of the border states as to their attitude in case Thaw was deported.

Government Sees Long Delay.

Government officials in Ottawa expect that the Thaw lawyers will not let Thaw go to the immigration officials without vigorous action. Thus they take a contrary view to that entertained by the authorities now in Sherbrooke.

These latter think that the fight against deportation will be entirely formal and that the real fight will come after Thaw is on American soil, presumably in the state of Vermont.

The government heads in Ottawa, however, look for the seeking by the Thaw legal staff of a second writ of habeas corpus the instant Thaw is in the hands of the department of immigration. They point out that upon the return of this writ it could be argued that Thaw was not among the classes of aliens for whom deportation is prescribed by law.

The case would go to the higher courts and might ultimately be referred to a committee of the privy council in London, so that King George would have the last word in the contention.

New York Gets More Lawyers.

The chief value to Thaw and his camp in such a course would be the gaining of a delay which might easily stretch into several years.

That the state of New York is determined to take no chances in such a proceeding is evinced by the engaging of eminent counsel in Ottawa to represent the state.

Thomas Chase Casgrain, K. C., of Montreal, chairman of the international railways commission and a former member of parliament and attorney general of Quebec, has been retained by New York. R. A. Pringle, K. C., of Ottawa, has also been retained.

GAS LEAK KILLS PRIEST.

Rev. Father Gildea Asphyxiated While Taking a Nap.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—Rev. Father Patrick Gildea, assistant pastor at Killian's Roman Catholic church, was asphyxiated in the parish house adjoining the Holy Rosary church. The Kensington police were notified and summoned an oxygen machine, but efforts to resuscitate the priest were unsuccessful.

A leaky gas pipe in a room in which the priest had lain down for a nap before starting to South Bend, Ind., was responsible for the accident, according to Rev. Father B. D. Rodgers of Holy Rosary church. Father Gildea had gone to the parish house for a brief visit.

PIERCE'S STRENGTH.

When State Senator Carlton B. Pierce, of our own county, announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor, some were inclined not to consider it seriously. The reason for such an attitude is not apparent unless it was that the Cranford man, although having made an excellent record both as an Assemblyman and as a Senator, was not generally well known from Sussex to Cape May. Our prediction, however, that his candidacy would prove more formidable than many people were willing to concede appears to have been warranted by what has transpired more recently. As the New York Tribune's Trenton staff correspondent stated in that paper yesterday, "It is apparent from the discussions already heard that the candidacy of Senator Carlton B. Pierce, of Union county, has made a deep impression upon many of the thinking people of the State." This estimate appears to be the general opinion as expressed not only by leading dailies in New Jersey but among astute politicians.

As to his platform, and any man who knows Pierce knows that his platform is not built of promises of the pie crust sort, the Tribune remarks that the Senator, "unlike most of the other candidates, hasn't endeavored to cover the entire field of political and economic questions in his appeal to the Republican voters for the nomination for Governor. On the contrary, he has confined himself to five fundamental problems now confronting the people, the solution of which would indeed furnish plenty of work for the occupant of the Governor's chair."

As concerns the man himself, the Newark Sunday Call declares that "Pierce is, perhaps, more nearly allied to the Progressives than any other of the aspirants who have refused to actually enlist in the ranks of the third party. A man of cultivation, of natural independence, of hatred of shams and of corporation control of politics, he has had a career in the Assembly and the Senate which commands the respect of all, and the warm admiration of many. He has practical views regarding the operation of the State government and changes in the laws which appeal to fair-minded men generally, and which have the merit—unusual in politics these days—of specific purpose and directness. The time is past when a shout for the flag and a Latin quotation suffice for a platform. The candidate must have purposes and ideas, ambitions to accomplish good for the community as well as desire for proferment. In all these respects Mr. Pierce commands the regard of the public, though more particularly of those who know him well, whose numbers we hope to see increased.

A HAPPY SIGN.

When the Grand Army of the Republic meets at Chattanooga on September 15 for its forty-seventh national encampment, it will be the first time in history that such an encampment is held in the real South. It is true, one national encampment was held in Louisville, but that city was really too far north and too far removed from the actual seat of the war to be considered as part of the real South. It is different with Chattanooga, the immediate vicinity of which was the scene of some of the bloodiest battles of the Civil War, including Chickamauga, Lookout Mountain, Orchard Knob and Missionary Ridge.

Undoubtedly there was a time when the selection of Chattanooga as the place of the gathering would have been fatal to the success of a Grand Army encampment. During the first fifteen or more years after the close of the war there was still enough of the intense popular feeling against the North left among the impoverished people of the South to make the selection of a real southern city as the place for holding a Grand Army encompment a matter of doubtful judgment. There would probably have been no hostile demonstrations on the part of the Southerners—southern hospitality would not have permitted that—but there would have been embarrassment on both sides and unavoidable friction. But time has worked marvelous changes. The old time antagonism has been wiped out; great national problems, common national dangers have brought the North and the South closer together; a clearer recognition of the mutuality of their interests cemented the fractures and comradeship in the camps and upon the battlefields of the Spanish-American War strengthened the bonds of friendship and loyalty between the North and the South more than anything else could have done.

It was no longer a matter of doubtful taste and judgment when it was decided to hold the forty-seventh annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in Chattanooga, but a recognition of the fact that the chasm once separating the North from the South is now closed forever. Instead of being embarrassed by the choice of that city the people of Chattanooga apparently are delighted with the prospect of being the hosts of their former foes for a period of five days.

Surely the North and South are linked together as never before in our country's history.

There is but one season in the year when "mere man" has any hankering for politics. "Lovely woman," on the other hand, if an advocate of equal suffrage, knows no seasons for she is ever "on the job." And yet they say that women will not vote if they get the ballot.

If his faithful, conscientious and efficient discharge of his duties counts for anything with the Republican voters, City Judge William G. DeMeza will "win in a walk" for renomination at the primaries.

COCKATOOS AT PROCTOR'S.

Montague's marvelous cockatoos, sixteen in all, form one of the big attractions at Proctor's theatre, this week. They take part in chariot and sulky races, acrobatic performances and a thrilling fire scene, in which there are fire engines, hose carts, etc., all managed by the birds. The Ed. Zoeller trio, comedy acrobats, are especially good. "Miss 318," a sketch by Rupert Hughes, is cleverly acted by Miss Dolly Lewis and a capable company. The sketch has a fine moral. The Arling Four, a male quartet of messenger boys on a strike, appeals to the audience. Armstrong & O'Dell, singers and impersonators, are excellent. The photoplays are the best obtainable. The show runs from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 10:45 o'clock in the evening without interruption.

ANOTHER LONG SLEEP OF AN ELIZABETH GIRL

Elizabeth, Aug. 26.—Overcome by "sleeping sickness," a mysterious malady that sends her into long trances, Fannie Greene suddenly fell to the street while visiting in Westfield yesterday. She was taken by the police to headquarters in the patrol wagon and afterward removed to the General Hospital in this city in the ambulance.

Miss Greene was at once recognized at the hospital, for she was similarly affected several months ago and treated at the same hospital. At that time Miss Greene lay senseless for a period of two weeks while she remained unidentified.

The doctors at the hospital are making strenuous efforts to break her trance, but up to a late hour today she was still "sleeping."

Rev. Dr. Wriston, of Boston, will preach at the First M. E. church, Sunday, September 7, and the following Sunday, Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, the pastor, will be in his pulpit.

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS WHEN ABOUT TO LEAVE

Albert C. Rogers, of 431 West Fifth street, who had prepared to leave for Denver, Col., to visit a married daughter at that place, was suddenly stricken by a stroke of paralysis at his home early this afternoon and was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital. He had sold his house furnishings and had put his place in shape to make an extended visit in the West. He was to have left the city this afternoon for New York where he would have met Mrs. Rogers, who has been spending some time in New York State. They had intended to leave New York city together this afternoon for the West. Mr. Rogers is a carpenter by trade and a member of the Seventh-day Baptist church. He has a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

JERSEYITES IN CALIFORNIA TO WELCOME HOME STATE

Trenton, August 26.—In the plans for the success of New Jersey's part in the San Francisco Exposition, the New Jersey Society of California is taking a prominent part and is offering aid to the New Jersey Commission whenever possible. The object of this society is to aid the exhibitors and visitors from their home State, New Jersey, to give them a welcome in California and to aid them wherever possible.

The society, although but a few weeks old, now numbers more than 100 members, but it hopes to enrol many more and desires to learn the names and addresses of New Jersey people now living in California. William O. Raiguel, 604 Mission street, San Francisco, Cal., and Charles F. Pancoast, secretary of the New Jersey Panama-Pacific Exposition Commission, Salem, are collecting the names.

BIRTH OF THE GRAND CANYON.

Nature's Mighty Forces That Wrecked the Crust of the Earth.

"How do you explain it?" inquired one on meeting Sir John Murray, the eminent English geologist and president of the Royal Geographical society, referring to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. This was briefly the answer, though not in his words:

"On either side of the wide plain extending from sixty to a hundred miles to the right and left of the canyon evidences of severe volcanic action are visible. In the center was a plateau, but you now look down upon it as the vast chasm of the canyon. Thrice the volcanic forces of nature, operating on either side, violently and with tremendous power, forced this plateau upward, and finally in one cyclopic, tremendous upheaval the plateau parted, and the Grand canyon, the wonder and mystery of the world, was born.

"Imagine a loaf of dough rising silently under the continuous pressure of the yeast until finally the crust is broken and the loaf divided into two. Then look at this broken crust of mother earth. In the early days a vast area embracing a great portion of the interior of the American continent was covered with water. It was a great sea. All over the canyon fossil oyster shells proved this contention. The Grand canyon opened; the waters of the inland sea rushed through in a tearing flood and carved the fantastic forms you now see."

The questioner further inquired of Sir John, "No doubt this was all very remote, in the early ages of the world?"

"Oh, no," said Sir John. "Modern, quite modern—not more than twenty or thirty million years ago!"—Leslie's Weekly.

FIRE VICTIM'S FUNERAL.

Soverville, August 26.—Edward J. Barras, who lost his life in the burning of his tin shop at the time of the Dunster fire early yesterday morning, was about 75 years old and was a veteran of the Civil War, and a member of General Wadsworth Post, G. A. R., of this place. Besides his wife, he is survived by four sons and two daughters. The funeral services will be held from his late home on Davenport street tomorrow afternoon, and interment will be in the new cemetery.

MRS. MATILDA R. KLINE.

Word has been received at Somerville of the death of Mrs. Matilda R. Kline, aged 56 years, widow of the late Edward S. Kline, at one time a well-known conductor on the South Branch Railroad. She died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. V. Wyckoff, at Elizabeth, on Sunday. Mrs. Kline lived in Somerville for about 20 years, and about four years ago went to live with her daughter. The funeral services were held today, with interment at Easton.

Roaring Wags.

The Red Lion club was composed of great Englishmen, and Huxley was one of the members. The club used to meet during the session of the British association. To a certain meeting at Ipswich, England, which Huxley described in his "Letters," some foreigners were invited, the Prince of Canino Bonaparte's nephew, among them, and greatly astonished they were at the exceedingly human behavior of the learned professors. The Red Lion men had a custom of roaring instead of cheering and of wagging one coattail—the lion's tail—when applauding. The prince was much impressed by these proceedings, and when he stood up to respond to the toast of his health instead of making a speech he gave three mighty roars and three wags.

Brevity In Legislation.

Old time Scotchmen realized that brevity is the soul of legislation. For instance, King James I.'s parliament passed an act which said simply: "No man shall enter any place where there is hay with a candle unless it be in a lantern." This is probably the shortest statute ever passed. In fact, one small volume is enough to hold more than two centuries of Scotch legislation.

Diet For Elderly Persons.

An English scientist in his book on "Diet In Relation to Age and Activity" urges less meat, little or no milk and no highly concentrated foods for men and women past fifty. He pleads with wives not to urge elderly husbands to eat more than their natural appetites demand.

The DAILY PRESS Will Do it With the

RAPID VACUUM CLOTHES WASHER

Money Saving Time Saving Labor Saving

THE NEW WAY.

READ WHAT WE HAVE TO SAY

You can save many dollars in a year on your clothes and add a day of pleasure to your life each week with this wonderful Rapid Vacuum Clothes Washer, but cutting your laundry work in two. Most clothes are RUBBED OUT and not WORN OUT. When you send your clothes to the laundry what happens to them? They are soaped and beaten, and rubbed so that the hot soapsuds (sometimes a little acid added) is forced through and through the goods. This cleans the goods, but they do not last long. When your clothes are washed in your own home what happens? The hot soap suds are pushed in and out of the garments, as they are rubbed on the board. This cleans them, but wears them out. In every process of washing, soap and water are the only elements having any cleaning properties. When your clothes are washed with the Rapid Vacuum Washer what happens? Gallons of soapy water at boiling temperature (which sterilizes the clothes) is forced through the goods every 40 seconds. This cleans your clothes snowy white without straining a thread. You can now wash woolens, blankets, sheets, shirts, collars, bed quilts, etc., at home, and after washing the articles will be whiter, softer, cleaner, fluffier and more beautiful in appearance than before. Compressed air, hot water and soap does the work.

You can wash a tubful of dirty clothes in five minutes without rubbing, without bending, and with very little work.

A tubful of clothes can be rinsed and blued in the same way in one minute.

You can clean anything that can be cleaned with soap and water or gasoline in a few minutes, without straining a thread.

No more rough hands and tired backs for the person who does the washing.

The Vacuum Washer has no moveable parts, cannot get out of order, and with proper care will last for years.

WASHDAY NO LONGER A DAY OF DREAD

DIRECTIONS FOR OPERATION

Have your [illegible]r, hot, the hotter the better. Add sufficient soap and see that it is t[illegible]ghly dissolved before putting in the clothes, as hot water without [illegible] will set the dirt. Use enough hot water to float the clothes, then o[illegible]e the plunger up and down, each time a gallon or more of hot su[illegible]s forced through the fabrics, and the same amount is drawn back on [illegible]upward stroke. This suction force is produced by an auctomatic suct[illegible]alve, which is a distinct and original feature of our invention. Dur[illegible]ve or ten minutes which is required to do a washing, many hundred [illegible]ns of hot, soapy water are forced through the clothes, which cleans th[illegible] in a more perfect manner than any other process and with absolutely [illegible]wear or tear. This is the secret of the success of this Rapid Vacuum C[illegible]hes Washer.

If you do [illegible] own washing, it will save you time, strength and temper. If you [illegible] your washing out, we know that you are not satisfied, as your clothes [illegible] worn and eaten with the strong washing compounds used by laundr[illegible] If you employ a maid, her time is worth money.

DO NOT [illegible] ANOTHER WASHDAY PASS WITHOUT A RAPID VACUUM WASH[illegible].

THE OLD WAY.

ATTENDED 7TH-DAY BAPTIST SESSIONS

Rev. Edwin Shaw Returns From General Conference at Brookfield, N. Y.

Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-day Baptist church, of this city, returned last night from Brookfield, N. Y., where he attended the annual sessions of the general conference of Seventh-day Baptists, which closed Sunday night. Among the large number of delegates at the conference were several from beyond the Mississippi and from Texas. Included among them were Rev. George B. Shaw, of North Loup, Nebraska, and Rev. Arthur E. Main, dean of Alfred Theological Seminary, both of whom were formerly pastors of the local church. Over sixty people from Plainfield and New Market were among the two hundred and fifty delegates.

A feature of the conference was the presence of the Iowa Ladies Quartet. These young women have been successful as singers in religious and evangelistic meetings in the middle west. The quartet will visit Plainfield and New Market before returning home. The young women will sing at the morning service at the Seventh-day Baptist church, Sabbath morning and will give a sacred concert in the evening. An offering will be received. The quartet will visit the New Market church Sunday morning and evening.

The following were the delegates to the conference:

Rev. Edwin Shaw, Rev. Dr. Theodore Gardiner, Mr. and Mrs. David E. Titsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Orra S Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Asa F. Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Spicer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. Irving A. Hunting, Charles P. Titsworth, Mr. and Mrs. E. Frank Champlin, Miss Mildred Greene, Miss Helen M. Rogers, Miss Nellie St. John, Miss Dorothy P. Hubbard, Miss Ethel L. Titsworth and Roy E. Titsworth.

Other visitors from the local church and congregation were:

Mrs. Thomas P. Titsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Burdick, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn A. Worden, Dean M. Worden, Miss Marion Worden, Miss Dorothey Worden, Miss Mandana Worden, George M. Clarke, Albert Whitford, Paul Whitford, Miss Evalois St. John, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith, Mrs. Charles P. Titsworth, Harold Spicer, Robert Spicer, John Reed Spicer, Everett Hunting, Leonard Hunting Miss Ruth Hunting and Mrs. Glen D. Peet.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

September 2—Boards of Registry and Elections organize.

September 3—Petitions endorsing candidates for municipal nominations filed with municipal clerks.

September 9—First registration day.

September 23—Primary and second registration day.

September 30—State conventions of all recognized political parties to be held in Trenton.

Both Governor Fielder and Frank S. Katzenbach will appear in Elizabeth at least once before the primaries, according to their supporters. Mr. Katzenbach declared, in refusing to make a speech upon the Democratic excursion, that it would be more effective to appear at a stated meeting in Elizabeth later in the campaign.

J. J. Lane, who has caused more than one row at Democratic meetings in Elizabeth, was elected a vice-president of the Summit Democratic Club, Saturday night. He was also chairman of a committtee to procure a candidate for mayor, Councilman Pringle having refused to take the nomination. The club has elected the following other officers: President, J. W. McGrath; vice-presidents, Edward Pringle, David O'Rourke; secretary, Peter O'Brien; treasurer, Frank O'Brien.

The candidates for Council in Summit on the Democratic ticket will include the following: At-large, J. W. McGrath; First ward, Paul Dorvegal; Second ward, David O'Rourke. The Bull Moosers also plan to have a ticket.

Assemblymen Quinn, Kirkpatrick and Burton are candidates for renominations on the Democratic ticket in Middlesex. The Bull Moosers have a full list of aspirants for county offices in the field, leaving the Republicans the only ones not yet having a sufficient supply of candidates.

Champ Clark will spak in Montclair on December 13. He will be the guest of Congressman Townsend, and will be taken for an automobile tour of Essex county by Congressman Scully.

The Democratic primaries in Union county will have practically the same list of candidates for Assembly nominations as in 1912. Assemblymen Leonard, McLoughlin and Griffin are aspirants for second terms. James E. Lowden is their only rival in Elizabeth, while the county has City Attorney Frank V. Dobbins, of Rahway, and TenEyck R. Beardsley, of Fanwood. The absence of the name of John J. Woodruff, of the First ward, Elizabeth, is the only change from a year ago.

Local Progressives will hold a meeting tomorrow night at room 411 in the Babcock building at 8.15 for the purpose of considering the selection of candidates for local offices to be voted on at the approaching primary. Postals were sent out to a number of those who supported the Progressive movement here last fall, but all interested in the party are urged to attend whether they receive postals or not. The committee signing the call consists of Howard C Tracy, Leslie R. Fort and Dr. Marcus L. Clawson.

Alexander Milne, of the North Plainfield Common Council, who is seeking renomination, has filed his petition with Borough Clerk Dolliver. Mr. Milne has served several years and has made a good Councilman.

The First Ward Republican Club will hold a meeting tonight at the Frost building. The election of officers will take place at this time.

The following list of petitions have been filed in the office of the Somerset county clerk: For county clerk, A. G. Anderson, of Somerville, and James K. Arnold, North Plainfield, Republicans; Lewis A. Bellis, of Somerville, Democrat. For sheriff, Joseph E. Buck, tof Bernardsville, and Charles S. Hamilton, of South Branch, Democrats.

It is expected that Mayor Steele and Councilmen W. P. Snyder and A. B. Cline will be nominated to succeed themselves at the coming primaries in Somerville, as their friends are preparing petitions to have them nominated. As Councilman L. A. Bellis will be a candidate for the office of county clerk at the primary, he may resign as councilman in order that the vacancy can be filled at the primary also.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

Save.

Even in economically run households there is waste; the housewife who never wastes anything would probably be an impossible person to live with. But here are a few suggestions for uses to which some seemingly useless things may be put:

Save coffee grounds; they make good fertilizer for roses. They are also good filling for pin cushions.

Save the little wooden boxes that berries and peaches and grapes come in. They are useful to shield seedlings from the sun and after the garden is a thing of the past they should be thrown on the kindling pile.

Save egg shells. They are effective in clearing soup and jelly. Always wash the eggs carefully before breaking them as the shells should not be washed after the eggs are broken.

Save the bags that salt and sugar and other grocery supplies come in. They are durable cleaning cloths. Old stocking legs are also good for cleaning cloths.

Tissue Paper for Christmas.

Save the sheets of tissue paper that are bundled about your new fall suit and hat. Iron them smooth with a moderately warm iron, fold them neatly, and stow them away in a big pasteboard box. When Christmas comes, with its preliminary season of packing, the paper will be found useful.

Save baking powder tins. The covers are a good size for cookie cutters and the boxes are useful for moulding cold meat, jellies, steamed bread and ice cream.

Save excelsior that comes in the wrapping of bundles. It is as good for kindling fires as fruit boxes, etc.

the Better Baby contest; escort by the First Troop, Asbury Park Boy Scouts; trumpeters of the Fourth Regiment, N. G., N. J.; detail of the Boy Scouts with large American flags; first division, baby coaches and go-carts, Mrs. Francis A. Pawley, captain; second division, doll coaches, Miss Lillian Sexton, captain; third division, express wagons, Mrs. Charles W. Hickok, captain; fourth division, children in fancy dress or college colors, Mrs. C. C. Burger, captain; fifth division, costumes in burlesque, Mrs. John W. Martin, Jr., captain; sixth division, floats, Harold Sexton, captain; seventh division, pony turnouts, E. H. Dolbey, captain.

The grand marshal will halt the trumpeters at the entrance to the amphitheatre allowing the Queen and her court, the Governor and Pryor's band to enter the arena and be seated. The parade will then enter the amphitheatre to be reviewed by the Queen and Governor and pass out and proceed down Ocean avenue as far as Third avenue where those who have won division prizes will have their award ribbons presented. All such will be reformed into line and marched back to the amphitheatre to receive their trophies. Those who failed to win a ribbon will pass on to Second avenue where each will receive a silver loving cup of smaller size, a box of candy and other souvenirs. The triumphal march of the winners around the amphitheatre will conclude the event.

The parade is of such tremendous size, and so many people are interested in it, that there will be no postponement except for rain at noon tomorrow, in which event the parade will take place the next clear day.

The grand judges of the baby parade will be Jefferson Sligman, Louis S. Thompson, G. W. Lembeck, Carl Huber, Thomas F. Somers, Albert T. Bell. By the kindness of these gentlemen and Samuel Heilener 450 loving cups will be awarded to those who fail to win a ribbon. They will select the winner of the grand prize, a magnificent gold loving cup worth $150, presented by Eskay Food Co. The prize of a pony, cart and harness, bestowed by the Queen upon the entry of her choice, is presented by Mellins Food Co.

The marshals of the baby parade will be Harry A. Borden, John S. Adrain, Dr. A. M. Applegate, Francis A. Leggett, Harry A. Class, Ira E. Whyte, Clarence B. Raine, Edward M. Hope, Charles J. Gummersbach, Joseph M. Turner, Dr. F. B. Burdge, Philip E. Golembock, Clarence W. Brazer, Harry C. Wallace, Jr., William A. Wilson.

The prizes will be awarded by J. Otto Rhome, Howard Hulick, Walter Steinbach, Charles Rugarber, Dr. T H. Pratt, Bloomfield Hulick, Dr. A. S. Burton, L. J. Farley, H. E. Shubert, George S. Ferguson, Clarence S. Smith, Randolph H. Miller, Arthur C. Steinbach, George M. Jaques, Dr. F. C. Van Winkle, L. R. Hetrick, John W. Martin, Jr., Thomas J. Winckler, T. Frank Appleby, Howard D. LeRoy, Louis E. Johnson, William A. Berry, William Winans, Horace Tantum, William C. Burroughs, William D. B. Barnes, S. H. Calvert, George E. Hopper, Walter Taylor, Benjamin B. Smith, Milan Ross.

A magnificent bronze of Diana will be awarded by Governor Fielder for the entry which best represents some historic event in Monmouth county.

A large silver loving cup presented by Mayor Bennett, of Asbury Park, will go to the entry most pleasing to Princess Cinderella.

From advance descriptions filed with the carnival commission the parade this year will be one of the most beautiful ever held. The float division will be the largest on record. Several "September Morn's" have been entered in the burlesque section.

At the Coleman House tomorrow night a public banquet to Queen Titania and her court, and Governor Fielder and staff, will be tendered by the carnival commission. The banquet committee is Col. John W. Aymar, chairman; Arthur F. Cottrell, H. E. Denegar, Thomas J. Winckler, Milan Ross, Frank H. Cole, M. E. Sexton. The reception committee will comprise Mayor R. S. Bennett, chairman; George W. Pittenger, Henry C. Winsor, J. Lyle Kinmonth, William A. Berry, T. F. Appleby, Randolph H Miller, W. J. Patterson, G. William Treat, George H. Bowlby, S. H. Calvert, William C. Burroughs, Dr. A. S Burton, Scott R. Hazelrigg, Henry A Roe, A. R. Parsons, Charles R Shantz, John A. Githens, Jr., Daniel W. Robbins, Clarence E. F. Hetrick, James M. Ralston, Leon R. Taylor, William K. Fenn, Howard D. LeRoy, Dr. James F. Ackerman, Thomas H Pratt, Charles Rugarber, James C Coleman, J. Otto Rhome, William J Couse, Edmund E. Dayton, James G. Campbell, Henry Steinbach, Thomas B. Hancock, Elvin C. Burtis, John Bingham, Arthur C. Stinbach, Samuel A. Patterson, Walter Taylor, Edward T. Mitchell, W. Harvey Jones, William Winans, W. G. Besler, Bruce S. Keator, Dr. F. F. Coleman, George E. Moyer, Benjamin B. Smith, George B. Cade, Lee W. Berry, Willard A. Hagerman, E. N. Townsend, Harry W. Smock, Harry A. Borden, Samuel W. Kirkbride, William C. Cottrell, G. G Barnett.

Some Cookery Suggestions

FROZEN DESSERTS OF PEACHES.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Cold Sliced Ham.
Spinach Salad With Slices of Egg.
Baking Powder Biscuits. Honey.
Peach Ice Cream.

PEACHES used in the composition of hot weather desserts are an unfailing success. They are especially useful in the preparation of iced dainties, some of which are suggested here.

Peach Parfait.—Chop one-quarter pound of blanched almonds. Cook one cupful of sugar in one-half cupful of water till it threads, pour slowly over four well beaten egg whites, beating all the time. Add two cupfuls of whipped cream and one cupful of peach pulp, freeze in ice and salt, and serve in glasses with sliced peaches.

Peach Ice Cream.—Take two quarts ripe peaches, peel and press through a puree sieve. Add sugar to make very sweet. Crack several peach kernels, mash fine and add to the pulp, together with a quart of rich milk or thin cream. Freeze.

With Fruit Juice.

Peach Sherbet.—Take one quart of peach juice from fresh peaches, two cupfuls of sugar, one quart of water, whites of two eggs and the juice of one lemon. Boil the sugar and water together, add the juice of peaches and lemon and freeze. Serve in individual glasses.

Peach Water Ice.—Slice ten ripe peaches, but do not peel them. Boil till soft in one-half pint of water, then rub through a fine sieve. Mix the pulp with one pint of simple sirup, the strained juice of a lemon and three or four drops of oil of almonds. Put in a freezer and turn until frozen. Then fill a mold with it, put on the lid and pack in ice. When time to serve turn out on a fancy dish.

Easy to Freeze.

Peach Mousse.—Whip half pint thick cream, add whites of two eggs well whipped, a pinch of salt, four drops almond extract, one teaspoonful vanilla. If canned peaches are to be used add three-quarters cupful sugar. If preserved peaches are used take less sugar or the mousse will be too sweet. Press one pint of peaches with juice through a potato ricer or colander into the cream mixture. Pack and freeze for three or more hours.

Anna Thompson.

A Rabbit Bit a Piece Out of the Pear.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Pear That Didn't Stick To Its Twig.

JACK and Evelyn came upstairs, each with a nice yellow pear.

"Mother gave them to us because we have minded everything she said today," the children said.

"That's fine," daddy replied. "Then those pears ought to taste nice."

"And we're going to share them with you, daddy, dear," they added.

"You may have a bite of mine first," Evelyn invited. So daddy took a bite of Evelyn's pear—not a great big greedy bite, but a nice small polite bite. Then he took a bite of Jack's pear, and after that he said he had thought of a story to tell them, and the story was to be about a pear.

"It was a fine big pear, and it grew away up on top of the tree," said he.

"Every morning the sun woke it up, and the little birds sang to it as it rocked on its limb. It had a lovely place to grow.

"Now and then the people to whom the tree belonged would come out to look at the fruit.

"'Yes, indeed. I've no doubt it would take a prize at the county fair,' his wife replied.

"'I think I'll save it for that. Up there on top of the tree it is quite safe from harm,' the farmer answered. 'It can hang there until the fair opens.'

"'What's the county fair?' the pear asked, and the old mother tree answered him.

"'The fair is a place where the people of the county take the best of everything that they have grown so that others may see it. To be taken to the fair is an honor, and I am proud that you, my child, are to go. Do your best to grow large and sweet and handsome, so that the persons who have charge of the fair will give our good friend the farmer a nice prize.'

"'I'm tired staying up here at the top of this old tree,' the pear grumbled. 'It's lonesome, and I wish I was down below, where I could see something.'

"A naughty little gust of wind going by heard him and came back with a puff and a shake. The pear was so busy pitying himself that he had forgotten to hold tight to his twig, as little pears should do, and down he went to the ground.

"One cheek was bruised where he fell, and in the night a little rabbit hopped up and bit a piece out of the other cheek.

"In the morning when the farmer picked up the pear he shook his head sadly. 'It isn't even fit for the table now,' he said as he threw it into a clump of bushes, where the ants and the rabbits soon finished it."

Strange to Say, Fashions Smile on Little Economics this Season, Such as the Blouse and Skirt of Contrasting Color or Material.

It is really easy to look well-dressed this summer, for even if you haven't a white skirt left over from last year, two or three yards of material will make one, and any of the pretty matelasse fabrics, the brocaded eponge and ratine will make the prettiest sort of blouse, repeating the skirt material, if it is not too heavy in the collar, with perhaps a frill edging on it of plaited net. Both the models illustrated can be used in this way. 7887 for ladies, and for misses. 7887 closes at the side-front, the blouse in slightly diagonal effect, and a lap is allowed for in the pattern of the skirt, that may be stitched down, making a foundation for the buttons or shape fasteners.

Only a plain, narrow belt is provided, but a yard of bias silk will make a charming girdle, and you can arrange it to suit yourself, taking care to stand in front of a mirror while you do it, so that you can get it just right. Sometimes an inch more or less in the width of the girdle, or in the size of knot or bow makes all the difference in the world, but you scarcely realize this until you work out the effect before a mirror. You can have 7887 in five sizes, 34 to 42, and for the 36-inch size you will need 3⅜ yards of 36-inch material for the blouse, and 2⅞ yards for the skirt. 15 cents.

Two shades of linen, white, with rose, blue or amber would make a very attractive frock for the young girl, cut according to pattern 7894. The blouse closes at the back, and is gathered a square yoke. The collar with its points, front and back, is a smart finish. The girdle shown is pretty, but the shops are showing among early fall novelties, perfectly stunning suede belts, anywhere from five to nine inches wide, and these are fastened with a large self-covered buckle, and one of these may be substituted if a more tailored effect is preferred. The fashionable drop-shoulder line is used, and the skirt is in three pieces. Four sizes, 14, 16, 17 and 18, and for size 16, 2⅞ yards, 36-inch material may be needed for the blouse, and 2⅜ yards for the skirt. 15 cents.

An Effective Table-Runner To Be Developed in Embroidery Stencil, Block-Printing or Applique.

This table-runner might be of linen, pongee, Russian crash, craft-canvas or denim, of the color predominating in the walls and draperies of the room. If the runner is of blue material the flower sprays might be stenciled or embroidered with the flowers in yellows or a darker shade of blue and the stems of green or grey. A runner of very natural dark green would be charming with the flowers in delicate shades of pink applique, the stems in green, or with the flowers in light blue shades and the stems a lighter shade of green. Three shades of brown might be used on a brown material. The pattern includes 2¼ yards of this border which is 14½ inches wide, so that, if you prefer to embroider the design it can be stamped directly on the material with a hot iron, and worked with coarse mercerized cotton or rope silk in unpadded solid embroidery. If the design is to be developed in applique, stamp it on the material as for embroidering, then use the transfer pattern as a cutting pattern for the material to be appliqued. This may be linen, silk or broadcloth, depending on the texture of the runner itself. The pieces may be sewed on with over-and-over stitch, buttonhole-stitch or machine stitching and very effective runners, table-covers and sofa-pillows can be made by using this design in this way.

This design may also be used as a stencil for decorating pillows, runners, table-covers, curtains, portiers and the bed-spread. Developed in delicate pinks and soft green, the apple blossom shades, it would be very pretty for decorating all the draperies of the bedroom. These hangings and covers can be of some very inexpensive material. Cross-barred muslin, dotted swiss, scrim and even cheese cloth make pretty, artistic draperies when stenciled with conventional floral designs, such as this. They can be laundered as often as you like without any danger of the stenciling fading or running if you use artists tube oil paints, mixed with a preparation of turpentine one pint, acetic acid one oz. and oil of wintergreen one oz. This preparation is quite inexpensive and any druggist will put it up for you. The paint should be about the consistency of cream and very little of the fixitif is necessary. Always keep plenty of blotters under your material while doing the stenciling so that the paint will not run under the edges of the stencil board or be too thick on the material. This transfer pattern can be supplied to readers for fifteen cents.

STAR TWIRLERS FOR YANKS.

New York, Aug. 26.—Manager Frank Chance, of the New York Americans, has purchased the release of Pitcher Rose, of the Houston Texas League Club, and he will report here on September 10. Rose is a left-hander and leads the Texas League pitchers in winning percentage. He has won twenty-five games and lost seven. His twenty-fifth victory was scored on Friday, in which game the first run was made off him in fifty-four consecutive innings.

NEW CYCLE CHAMPION.

Berlin, Germany, Aug. 26.—William Bailey, of England, won the world's amateur cycle championship Sunday from the pick of European riders. Donald McDougal, of Newark, N. J., the previous champion, did not compete this year. Bailey is coming to this country next month, and will race at the Newark track.

"RED" DONOHUE DEAD.

Philadelphia, Aug. 26—Frank ("Red") Donohue, who once delighted fans at the Broad and Huntington streets baseball park as a Phillie pitcher, died yesterday afternoon at his home, No. 3009 West Susquehanna avenue. He was 41 years old.

MOTHER'S DARLINGS AND NURSE MARIE

Nearly eight hundred little girls whose parents read the Plainfield Daily Press in all parts of the United States have had the attractive members of this interesting paper cut-out family. So great has been the demand in the month that the Press has been offering them that the supply is about exhausted, and no more can be secured for some time.

The set consists of six handsome dolls; with forty-three costumes; three girls, two boys, and their nurse Marie. They range in height from eight to twelve inches and are printed in several bright colors on excellent paper manufactured especially for this purpose.

Cut out the coupon below and bring it with eight cents to the Daily Press office, 105 North Avenue, or send eleven cents and the dolls will be mailed. This offer only holds good while the dolls last.

This coupon and 8 cents (11 cents if dolls are to be mailed) upon presentation at the Plainfield Daily Press Office will entitle the holder to one set of

MOTHER'S DARLINGS AND NURSE MARIE.

(If dolls are to be mailed be sure to send full address).

NEWPORT HORSE SHOW.

Newport, Aug. 26—The Newport horse show, from September 1 to 3, will have three classes for horses, any height, that never won a first place previous to the opening of this show. There are the Neptune novice class, for single harness horses; the Wave novice class, for pairs of harness horses, and the Seafoam novice class, for saddle horses. In addition to these, there will be the usual Seaweed novice class, for hunters and jumpers. In the local harness, saddle and hunter classes, for Newport county, amateurs are to ride.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Query—How many Supreme Court justices are there? B. N.
Answer—Nine, including the chief justice.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Can you tell me if linoleum and oilcloth manufacturers employ designers? D. A. M.
Answer—Yes, they do employ designers.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Are some of the Buffalo Bill adventures taken from real life G. P.
Answer—Some of the Buffalo Bill stories in the five-cent weeklies may be true but I doubt it very much.

Sporting Editor:
Query—A and B have teams in the pool. B's team has eleven runs lead. A bets B that B's team would not beat A's team by two runs. B, thinking he meant two or more runs, takes him up. Then A claims B must beat him by exactly two runs. B, not understanding the bet in that way, refuses to pay. Do you think B is justified? C. F.
Answer—No real sport would make such a bet, and I don't blame B for reneging, but he should be more careful next time and not go into a thing with his eyes shut.

Sporting Editor:
Query—If the candidates for President and Vice-President receive the most votes at the general election can the electoral college go against the people's choice in not electing the candidates? Please answer yes or no. S. G.
Answer—Yes.

Sporting Editor:
Query—What is the fare by auto bus to South Plainfield? D. H. N.
Answer—Ten cents.

Walter Johnson Nearing World's Pitching Record

By his victory Sunday over Chicago, Walter Johnson, the star twirler of the Washington team, registered his fourteenth straight "win" and moved a step closer to Rube Marquard's world's record of nineteenth consecutive victories. With the "Invincible One" firing them across the plate, the Senators beat the White Sox Sunday by the score of 2 to 1, the Chicago players making but six well scattered bingles. If Johnson continues his winning streak and twirls his team to two more victories without meeting a defeat, he will equal the American League record, held by himself. Five more consecutive victories and his record will equal that of the Giant pitcher.

MINOR LEAGUE STARS ENTER HIGHER SOCIETY

Ten ball players enacted their farewell performance today in the International League, having been recalled by the major league clubs who sent them to the minors for seasoning. The list of players includes four Montreal men—Allen, an outfielder, who goes back to Washington; McGraynor, a southpaw pitcher, owned by Cincinnati; Taylor, a pitcher, sent to Montreal by the Philadelphia Nationals, and George Clarke, who was farmed to Atlanta and subsequently joined the Montreal team, owned by Washington.

"Hank" Gowdy, the blonde-haired catcher of the Buffalo team, returns to Manager George Stallings, of the Boston Nationals, who "loaned" him to Buffalo. Schultz, another blonde-haired athlete, wearing the "silks" of the Toronto team, also returns to don the war paint of Georgie's Braves in Beantown. "Merrie" Calhoun, first-sacker for the Skeeters, has been yanked back by the same management.

The New York National League Club has exercised its option on Pitcher Goulait, who was farmed to Toronto and subsequently sent down to Wilkesbarres for more seasoning by Joe Kelley. Raleigh Aitchison and Lew McCarty leave the Tigers after today to cast their lots with Brooklyn.

NAVY FOOTBALL TALENT GATHERS FOR PRACTISE

Football work at Annapolis will begin today, and with the Middies getting a start in early season practice other of the big teams will soon follow suit and have their men out in answer to the first call for practice. The torpedo boat Stringham left Annapolis last week for Hampton Roads to pick up the football men who have been cruising all summer in the battleship Illinois, and orders were issued for other candidates to report yesterday.

The midshipmen will have ample time to condition themselves, as the first game on their schedule does not come off until October 4, when they meet the University of Pittsburgh.

AUTO SHOW IN JANUARY.

The Grand Central Palace, Lexington avenue and Forty-sixth street, New York, will be the scene of the next automobile show, according to the official anouncement made last week by the Automobile Chamber of Commerce. The week of January 3-10 will be given over to the exhibition, which will occupy four floors of the building and will be the only opportunity offered to motor enthusiasts in the vicinity of New York to inspect the year's output of American cars, as the commercial vehicle show has been discontinued at the request of the manufacturers. According to the latest reports it is expected that the Motorcycle Manufacturers' Association will send their representatives to the show to exhibit a full line of their models. The greater part of the exhibition will consist of a display of gasolene and electric cars and equipments.

ST. LOUIS GETS WALKER.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 26—Clarence (Tillie) Walker, an outfielder for the Kansas City American Association Club, has been traded to the St. Louis American League team for Mack Allison, a pitcher; Pete Compton, an outfielder, and Buny Brief, utility man. Walker will join the St. Louis club at once.

RED STARS VICTORS IN MODIFIED GAME

In a five-inning baseball game on Parker Field, yesterday, the Jackson aggregation fell victims to the Red Star nine in a Parker Field Junior League contest, by the score of 14 to 5. The Jacksons started off with a rush, making a trio of tallies in the first round and in the third setto added two more to their "run" column, which gave them a one-run lead over their opponents who had scored four times up to the third inning. In the fourth and fifth sessions, however, the Red Star swatsmiths got busy with their swatters and pounded the sphere for a total of five runs in each inning. V. Mullin, the Star's diminutive box artist only allowed one Jacksonite to cross the rubber the rest of the contest.

ATHLETICS STILL HAVE HEAVY HITTING POWERS

A search into the batting averages of the major league players reveals that in this department of the National pastime, the Philadelphia Athletics are superior, according to statistics, to the Giants. Providing the present dope does not go wrong, the New Yorkers and the Phillies will again meet in a world's series and the anxious fans of the Metropolis are asking if the hitting powers of the American Leaguers will again subdue McGraw's men. In the pitching department the Giants seem to have an advantage. Demaree has an average of .786, having won 11 and lost 3. Matty has been returned victor in 20 contests and has been vanquished 7 times for a percentage of .741. Houck and Bender are the leading Philly twirlers. The former with 10 "wins" and 4 defeats, has a percentage of .714 and the veteran Bender registers .708, having won 17 times and lost 7 games.

DEVLIN DROPS TO MINORS.

Arthur Devlin, the veteran third baseman who helped the New York Giants win several pennants and a world's series in 1905, has been sold to the Rochester Club, of the International League, by President Gaffney, of the Boston Nationals.

Parker A. C.	2	11	.154

Three teams of the Parker Field Senior League battled yesterday afternoon at the local playground, and each was successful in winning one contest. In the morning, the leading Athletics continued their good form by administering a defeat to the Ironsides, the score reading 6 to 2. In the initial setto of the afternoon, however, the Athletics lost a close and exciting contest to the second-place Rovers by the score of 6 to 5. Following this game the Ironsides stacked up against the Rovers and humiliated them to the tune of 12 to 5. The games were all interesting and were witnessed by many youthful enthusiasts. The standings remain the same.

LEADERS MAKE DENT IN IRONSIDES' RECORD

Athletics Later In Day Defeated By Rovers After Winning from 2nd Place Men.

Errors resulted disastrously for the Ironsides yesterday morning on Parker Field when they were defeated by the Athletics by the score of 6 to 2, although they outhit their opponents by one bingle. Dilts blew up in the third inning and allowed the league leaders to score 5 times before he dropped his ballast and made his descent. The balance of the game he had the batters that faced him "aeroplaning" the sphere to the outfielders or sending grasstoppers to the base-guardians or the short-stop.

ATHLETICS DEFEATED BY SPEEDY ROVERS

Victors Score Winning Tally In Final Round By Batting Rally.

Fresh from a morning triumph over the Ironsides, the Athletics met defeat early in the afternoon at the hands of the fast Rovers, by the score of 6 to 5, in an interesting ball game played on Parker Field. The pitchers on both sides were touched up considerably, the losers making one more bingle than their conquerors. The Rovers soaked the ball when hits meant runs, however, and in a batting rally in the final round registered the run which won the game.

IRONSIDES VICTORS IN SHORT CONTEST

Defeat Strong Rovers In Parker Field League Game—Score 12 to 5.

Although they defeated the league leaders early in the afternoon the Rovers suffered a stinging set-back at the hands of the Ironsides yesterday afternoon in a Parker Field League contest, the score ending 12 to 5 at the end of the seventh session, when the game was called. In the first and second innings the victors went at the opposing pitcher with a vim and scored enough tallies to win the contest without further addition to their run column.

BOXER'S DEATH CAUSES ANTI-FIGHT FEELING

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 26—Movements are being started among the reformers to have legislation passed to prohibit boxing in California as result of the death of "Bull" Young, a prize fighter, who died Saturday after engaging in a bout with Jesse Willard, a promising "White Hope." The Leach Cross-Johnny Dundee bout, scheduled for September 1 at the Vernon Arena, has been called off.

FEATURE TENNIS GAMES TODAY AT NEWPORT, R. I.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 26—With comparatively little exertion, R. Norris Williams, 2d, of Philadelphia, and Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, the title winner of 1912, won their places yesterday in the finals of the all-comers' tournament for the national lawn tennis championship.

Those who fell before their rackets were Nathaniel W. Niles, of Boston, who lost to Williams in a four-set match, 6-4, 7-5, 3-6, 6-1, and Wallace F. Johnson, of Philadelphia, who succumbed to McLoughlin in straight sets, 6-0, 7-5, 6-1.

Williams will seek today to wrest the title from McLoughlin, but not one person in four in the Casino last night thought sufficiently well of his chances to back him.

WILL STANDARDIZE ALL ATHLETIC IMPLEMENTS

Berlin, Aug. 26.—James E. Sullivan, secretary of the American Olympic committee, accompanied by G. T. Kirby, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of America, left for Paris Sunday night.

"By far the most important and significant development of the conference," declared Mr. Sullivan, "was the decision authorizing the construction of a set of athletic implements to be taken as the standards throughout the world in the future."

Several complete sets of athletic apparatus will be especially constructed to order in America and will be sent to Europe to be used as models for manufacture.

Miss Jessie M. Utter, of 517 Central avenue, who has been visiting in Westerly, R. I., has returned to Plainfield.

ROBBER SUSPECT TO BE EXTRADITED

Simonin Awaits Removal to Pennsylvania.

PROBE RECENT MOVEMENTS

To See if Man Arrested at Atlantic City Had Anything to Do With Big Jewelry Robberies In New England and Elsewhere—Robbed Benefactor, Is Charged.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 26.—Harry H. Simonin, arrested here charged with stealing several thousands dollars' worth of jewelry in Philadelphia and who, the police say, posed as a fashionable man with acquaintances at Narragansett Pier and Newport, is being held for extradition to Pennsylvania. In the meantime an inquiry will be made into Simonin's recent movements to see whether he had any connection with big jewelry robberies in New England and other places.

Simonin is accused of robbing the home of William Oliver of Philadelphia, who had befriended him after the latter had run through an inherited fortune estimated at $50,000.

The accused man claims that he comes from a titled family and that he lost a baronetcy through coming to this country against the wishes of his mother. He has a reputation as a large and reckless spender.

Simonin dropped out of sight for a year and about three weeks ago turned up in this city, apparently out of funds. Oliver met him on the street and invited him to his home. A few days ago Simonin disappeared, and at the same time, it is declared, jewelry valued at about $5,000 was missed from the Oliver home.

A search was made for Simonin and he was found on the beach here in a bathing suit. He took his arrest coolly and invited to luncheon the detective who made the arrest. When Simonin's clothes were searched the detective found fifteen pawntickets for amounts ranging from $2.50 to $50 and $1.15 in money.

CHILD RUN OVER BY AUTO.

Aside From Few Bruises, Little Victim Is Uninjured.

Summit, N. J., Aug. 26.—A motorist, who said he was D. F. Fesler of 196 Market street, Newark, accidentally ran over a child in his automobile at Morris avenue and Russell place. It was at first thought that one of the child's legs was broken.

The autoist stopped and offered to take the child to Overlook hospital in his machine, but the child's family objected, so he drove to a doctor's office and brought the latter back to the scene of the accident. The physician ordered the child taken to the hospital for examination, and there it was found that aside from a few bruises it was uninjured. The autoist was not arrested.

At 196 Market street, Newark, it was said that no D. F. Fesler had a place of business there or was known there The name does not appear in the Newark city directory for 1913.

GOV. FIELDER'S ITINERARY.

At Atlantic City Today, Asbury Park Tomorrow, Glassboro Thursday.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 26.—Governor Fielder today went to Atlantic City to attend the convention of the Foresters of America. Tomorrow he will view the baby parade at Asbury Park and in the evening will be the guest of honor at a banquet tendered him by the Carnival association at the Coleman House.

On Thursday he will attend the farmers' picnic at Glassboro and in the evening will be tendered a reception at Mount Holly by the Burlington County Democratic club. Friday he will travel to Red Bank to attend the Monmouth county fair.

SLASHES HIS POISONED FOOT

Boatman Then Swims Ashore After Stingray Stabs Him.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 26.—Stabbed in the left heel by a stringray, John Swanson, who had been told that a wound inflicted by this fish was deadly, slashed his heel to the bone and jumped overboard from a boat in which he was rowing off Beach Haven.

Swanson jumped into the sea because he had to follow a tortuous channel to row to land and he feared he would not survive the trip. He was unconscious when he was found on the beach.

Manager For Firemen's Home.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 26.—Governor Fielder appointed Deputy Fire Chief John Towey of the Newark fire department as a member of the board of managers of the New Jersey Firemen's home at Boonton. Mr. Towey succeeds Joseph A. Thorn of Newark, who recently resigned.

Can't Buy Torpedoes Abroad.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Discovery by the navy department that war torpedoes were not to be had abroad has aroused the officials to the necessity of either enlarging the navy's torpedo plant at Newport, R. I., or to induce private makers to take up the manufacture of the deadly weapons.

FREEDOM COMING TO FILIPINOS, SOME DAY

Ultimate Independence Is President Wilson's Idea.

Washington, Aug. 26.—For the first time President Wilson intimated his Philippine policy to callers. Ultimate but not immediate independence of the islands is his plan.

Active preparations for freedom of the Filipinos is to be the administration's policy. The president feels that Representative Francis Burton Harrison of New York, newly appointed governor general, will make this clear. The president holds that Uncle Sam is the "guardian and trustee of the Filipinos for the Filipinos themselves and not for the benefit of this country."

Peonage and chattel slavery exist in the Philippine Islands, according to the report of Dean C. Worcester, secretary of the interior of the insular government, who made his report at the request of the senate.

Manila, Aug. 26.—Governor General Forbes today cabled his resignation to Washington, to take effect on Sept. 1. He will leave for the United States on that date. He feels, according to his friends that his long service in the post entitled him to more courteous treatment than being apprised of his successor's appointment on the day it became known in the press.

Governor General Forbes has issued a reply to Representative Jones of Virginia, in which he says that Americans are equal to the task of governing the Filipinos and that the Virginia representative is unwarranted in his unpatriotic attacks on American citizens in the Philippine Islands.

FINDS HIS FAMILY GONE.

Manayunk Man Returns Home to a Deserted House.

Manayunk, Pa., Aug. 26.—Upon his arrival home from a fishing trip to Anglesea, Joseph Adler of 2842 North Taylor street found his wife, his daughter Viola, thirteen years old, and his son Joseph, seven years old, missing. All the furniture had been removed from the house.

Adler told the police that he believed his family had gone to the home of Mrs. Adler's parents in Pottsville. His daughter, he said, was employed as a singer in a moving picture show.

144 MILES IN 160 MINUTES.

Southampton, England, Aug. 26.—Making his second attempt to win $25,000 offered for a seventy-two hour hydroaeroplane flight around the 1,600 mile coast of Great Britain, Henry C. Hawker arrived at Ramsgate, making the first 144 miles in 160 minutes.

On his previous attempt last week he covered the same distance in 141 minutes.

Commemorate Napoleon's Defeat.

Kelheim, Bavaria, Aug. 26.—All the German sovereigns, including Emperor William as king of Prussia and the heads of the city republics of Hamburg, Bremen and Lubec, have assembled here as the guests of the prince regent of Bavaria to commemorate in the Great Hall of Liberation the defeat of Napoleon in 1813.

Bad Train Wreck In Spain.

Bilboa, Spain, Aug. 26.—A head-on train collision has occurred near Ordua, in Alava, one of the three Basque provinces. Details of the catastrophe have not yet been received, but it is known that at least three persons have been killed and many injured.

FORGED HIS NAME TO SMALL CHECK

Signature Not That of Former Mayor Moy and Payment Is Refused.

FROM PERTH AMBOY

It Was For $1.75 and Contained Three Endorsements—Recalls a Recent Incident to Local Lawyer.

Former Mayor G. W. V. Moy learned today that someone unknown to him or to the First National Bank, where he does his banking, had forged his name to a check for $1.75, but the local institution being suspicious declined to honor the check until it was shown to Mr. Moy. He promptly declared it to be a forgery. A glance at the check by those familiar with Mr. Moy's handwriting were convinced that it was not his signature.

The check was made out to one Charles Howard, carrying that endorsement and also of Kelly Brothers and J. J. Kelly, none of whom are known to the former mayor. The check was presented at a bank in Perth Amboy, where it was honored, and sent to the City National Bank, this city, and passed on to the First National Bank, where payment was refused.

The forged check brought to Mr. Moy's mind a little experience he had one day last week, while traveling on the Pennsylvania Railroad on his way to and from Oceanport, where he is spending the summer. On the day in question, one of the trainmen went through the train securing the signatures of commuters on a pad of paper, the company having adopted this method of protecting its commuters from those who make a practice of using someone else's commutation ticket. When the trainman requested Mr. Moy for his signature the latter refused. He said that he was willing to sign his name on his ticket or give the trainman his card, which he did, but to place his name on a scrap of paper he would not do. He said that he had no assurance as to what would become of the paper bearing his name.

The coach was filled with passengers and when they learned of the stand taken by Mr. Moy, the trainman had considerable difficulty in getting other signatures. Mr. Moy has since written to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, explaining his position in the matter.

The forged check was dated August 25, just a few days after he had his experience on the railroad train, and he thinks someone on the train may have heard his name and decided to use it. His name on the check was written "Geo. W. V. Moy," which is not the way he writes it and it was that fact that made the local bank officials suspicious.

LITTLE WAS REALIZED AT RECEIVER'S SALE

The receiver's sale of property belonging to E. H. Putnam, the tailor, of Watchung avenue, who went into bankruptcy a few months ago, netted $278 for the creditors. This does not anywhere near cover the claims amount. At the sale, material for clothing went at prices below the wholesale figure, in some cases not bringing one-quarter of the appraised value.

MINSTRELS AT PROCTOR'S.

The Webb & Hope minstrels, a quality show of modern minstrelsy, with a cast of seven talented performers, will be the headline attraction at Proctor's theatre, tomorrow. There will be special scenery giving a complete first part. Harry LeClair, the merry-maker, will appear in clever impersonations of famous actresses of the day. He is one of the old-timers and a great favorite of the late Tony Pastor, as well as an old friend of Harry Sanderson. The Langwedd sisters, character comedienes, will appear in eccentric dances; Janet Loudon & Co., will present a comedy of New York life, entitled, "A Fourth Ward Romance;" LeAndler & Mack, the "Two Little Policemen," are midgets and especially delight children. The show runs continuously and the photo-plays are changed every day.

SUDDEN DEATH OF ALBERT C. ROGERS

Taken Ill In Morning, He Passed Away Last Night of Uraemic Poisoning.

Albert C. Rogers, of 431 West Fifth street, who was taken suddenly ill yesterday morning and removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, died at that institution at 8:45 o'clock last night, from an acute attack of uraemic poisoning. His death occurred on the eve of his planned departure with Mrs. Rogers for Omaha, where they were to visit their daughter. Mrs. Rogers, who has been visiting at Friendship, N. Y., was to have met her husband in New York this morning, where they were to take a train for the west. Instead she received a telegram informing her of the death of her husband and she reached Plainfield about noon today.

Mr. Rogers was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rogers, and he was born at Little Genessee, New York. His father, a Civil War veteran, died in Andersonville Prison, and his mother died a few years later. He was a carpenter by trade and during the quarter of a century he lived in Plainfield he built a large number of houses. He was also an inventor, having invented several labor-saving devices for the household. He was a member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church and the Carpenters' Union.

There survives a wife and one daughter, Mrs. E. R. Gavitt, of Omaha, and one brother, William H. Rogers, of the Rogers' Grocery Company. Announcement of the funeral will be made later.

FIELDER TO STUMP THRU UNION COUNTY

Whirlwind One-Day Tour Planned By Democratic Candidate for Sept. 19.

Elizabeth, August 27.—The Union County Fielder League, of which Mayor Percy H. Stewart, of Plainfield, is president, yesterday completed the arrangements for a whirlwind tour of the acting Governor throughout this county on September 19. He will spend but a short time in this city. The greater part of the day will be devoted to other parts of the county, where the Governor has not appeared as frequently Rahway, Westfield, Cranford and Plainfield will be the principal speaking places, but he will be heard in a number of smaller municipalities. It will be a busy day for the Governor and it is predicted that he will be given the greatest reception ever accorded to a man campaigning for similar honors.

Major-General Dennis F. Collins, in speaking of the strength of Governor Wielder yesterday, said: "The Fielder forces are gaining ground with time. This is not only true in Union county but throughout the State." Regarding Mr. Katzenbach, the general said:

"Mr. Katzenbach can consider himself lucky if he can poll 25 per cent. of the votes at the Democratic primaries."

If the Katzenbach forces are planning for an active campaign in this county there have been no outward manifestations of it. The significance of the Elizabeth Democratic Club refusing to indorse either of the candidates has not yet been disclosed. It may be nothing deeper than the fact that the president of the club, James P. Kelly, is opposed to General Collins and is trying to secure election as State committeeman in opposition to him. Major-General Collins, as is well known, is the leader of the Fielder forces in this county. So the rivalry between the two leaders may have caused the club to "stand pat" and make no indorsements.

THAW CASE HEARING.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Sherbrooke Quebec, Aug., 27.—There was another unexplained delay in the Thaw case again today. Thaw was brought into court at ten o'clock this morning, and after being there a short time a sudden halt was called in the proceedings, while the court adjourned at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

MOY IS NOT LIKELY TO BE A CANDIDATE

Colby and Others Still Urge Him to Run For Bull Moose Assembly Nomination.

Although much pressure is being brought to bear on him by leaders of the Progressive party, including Everett Colby, the party's candidate for Governor, it is not likely that former Mayor George W. V. Moy will consent to enter the race for one of the Assembly nominations. When seen at his office, today, he declared emphatically that he did not want to go into the contest and not having the time to spare from his private business.

Mr. Moy received a letter this morning from one of the leaders urging him to seek the nomination, being promised the united support of his party, but even this has not been the means of leading him to give his consent. He believes, he says, that there are others who would be able to make a strong fight for the nomination and who could afford to give their time to the campaign.

The executive committee of the Everett Colby League of Union county met in Elizabeth, Monday night, to discuss the Assembly candidates, but at the conclusion it was stated that there was no definite information ready for publication. Mayor Hardwood Fish, of Roselle Park; Roland F. Calhoun, president of the South Elizabeth Improvement Association, and Edward A. Leach, of Elizabeth, are among those who have been mentioned as probable candidates.

A committee was appointed to report at a meeting to be held tomorrow night. There was a long discussion Monday night on having the candidates run with the designation of "Colby Progressives." It was the opinion of many that the name "Colby" should not be used, as it would give their candidacies too much of an appearance of being factional. The Colby League as a body will make no endorsements, and the committee is instructed only to do the necessary "routine" work connected with candidacies.

PASTOR AT THE HOME OF DUTCH ANCESTORS

Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, who returned to town Monday after spending nine weeks traveling abroad with one of A. V. D. Honeyman's tourist parties, says that in Holland he left the party and made a trip to Nieuwiuissen to look up some trace of his ancestors. He found the towns in the north of Holland, and found the old family homestead built in 1720, and which is still occupied.

While in that section of the country, at Croningn, Mr. Broek saw Queen Wilhelmina, an experience which the rest of the party did not have. After being in town for a few hours yesterday, Mr. Broek left for Lake Hopatcong, to visit his brother.

THOMAS W. HEFFERIN DIED THIS MORNING

Thomas W. Hefferin, aged forty years, a resident of Plainfield for the past four years and an employe of the Prudential Insurance Company for many years, died this morning at his home, 430 Orchard place, following a long illness. Prior to coming to this city he lived in Jersey City, where he was connected with the Prudential.

There survives a wife, Mrs. Ellen Marie Hefferin and four brothers and one sister, who live in Jersey City. The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's R. C. church, of which Mr. Hefferin was a communicant, and the burial will be in the Holy Name cemetery, Jersey City.

THEIR EXCUSE GOOD.

Jacob Sklarew, of 146 Duer street, and Nathan Bernstein, of 39 Craig place, local merchants, arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza on a charge of violating a section of the city ordinance by distributing circulars on the porches of Plainfield dwellings without a license, received suspended sentences. They claimed their arrest on the charge a mistake and asserted that some circulars were blown from their wagon by the wind which made it appear as if they had personally scattered them about.

MISSED ONE, HIT ANOTHER.

Further inquiry into the automobile accident at Metuchen, Saturday night, when a car driven by Merrill Hunt, of Philadelphia, struck and killed Harold Bowne, aged 14 years, of Jersey City, has disclosed the fact that he narrowly missed striking Joseph Louden, of New Brunswick, who was riding his wheel on the road. Both Bowne and Louden were distantly related to Hunt.

Missing Bank Treasurer Only Nominal Head of Dunellen Concern.

HUNTING FOR SMITH

He Was President of Local Company and Has Placed Some of Its Money In the Roseville Institution.

According to Michael T. Moynihan, the general manager of the Dunellen Coal and Supply Company, Raymond E. Smith, the defaulting treasurer of the Roseville Trust Co., in Newark, had only a nominal interest in that concern and his position as president was due to the fact that he was a bank treasurer and the concern desired the use of his name. The company does its banking at the First National Bank in Plainfield and has never deposited a dollar in the Roseville institution. The small amount of stock held by Smith, Manager Moynihan says, will be purchased by him. The company is in splendid financial condition.

Moynihan is also manager of the Plainfield Home Ice and Products Company, of which Smith was likewise president. This concern, Moynihan said, did do banking at the Roseville concern, and had between $5,000 and $6,000 on deposit there. Regardless of this, Moynihan states that the local concern is prosperous.

The latest activities reported regarding the defunct bank, is that Edward D. Dunn, one of the directors, is leading a movement to have the institution's business resumed, which would be for the best interests of directors, stockholders and depositors alike. The depositors, who have formed themselves into an organization, are becoming more insistant each day that their moneys should be returned to them. Several business men who had money in the bank, are practically without funds, and one widow, who had her life's savings stored in its vaults, has been forced to go to work for $7 a week to support herself and child.

A. G. BEEKMAN DIES OF HEART DISEASE

End Comes Suddenly to Well Known Machinist Who Lived in the Borough.

Arthur G. Beekman, a machinist, died suddenly last night following an attack of heart trouble at his home 39 Somerset street. For a number of years he was an active member of the First M. E. church, and was a member of Court Watchung, No. 3871, I. O. F.

Besides his wife, Mr. Beekman is survived by his mother, Mrs. Drucilla Beekman, two brothers, Edwin H. Beekman, of this city, and Charles E. Beekman of Bernardsville, and three sisters, Mrs. L. E. Ely and Miss Lucanda A. Beekman, of this city, and Mrs. W. H. Hartney, of Bethlehem, Pa.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed as yet.

REMARKABLE OPERATION.

Charles P. Walters, of Summit avenue, returned home yesterday from Overbrook Hospital where Dr. William H. Lawrence, Jr., the surgeon in charge, performed a remarkable operation. He had lost in an accident the skin, tissue and muscles of his right forearm. New skin and tissue were furnished for the torn arm from his own abdomen and the arm now has a firm and healthy envelope under which new muscle may grow.

GRAVES FILES PETITION.

Charles C. Graves, a slater of 819 South Second street, has filed his petition with City Clerk MacMurray as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Councilman from the Fourth ward. Mr. Graves is a caliman in the local fire department. While he has been a life-long resident of the city, this is his first active part in politics. He is well-known in business circles throughout the city.

INMATE CAUGHT.

Conrad Crismer, an inmate of Hebart Hall, at Watchung Crest who escaped that institution yesterday afternoon was caught in this city this morning by the local police and returned to Dr. M. P. E. Groszmann, the principal of the institution.

STRENUOUS LOVER IS HELD BY COURT

MacBride, Who Would Win Girl By Force, Must Await Grand Jury's Action.

"Faint heart never won fair lady." Charles MacBride, the youth who came to Plainfield yesterday morning to win Miss Anna Whelan, of 635 East Second street, as his bride, with the aid of a fully loaded .32 calibre revolver and blackjack, does not believe in that saying. Arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, preferred against him by the girl's father, Martin J. Whelan, he waived examination and was held in $300 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. Led away to the cell he has occupied since being arrested yesterday morning my Patrolmen Flatley and Welch, he sat with bowed head on the prison cot, resigned over the loss of the fair Anna.

The Cook Printing Co., of Elizabeth, where MacBride was employed, has been notified of his fate, and it is likely that the concern will send a man here this afternoon with the necessary bonds to secure his temporary release. According to his friends in Elizabeth, MacBride comes from a wealthy and highly respected family in Georgia. He does not speak of his folks and says he does not want to drag them into his troubles. He adds his hope they do not ever hear of his plight.

MacBride has been paying attentions to Miss Whelan for two years and sought to marry her although his would-be-bride's parents strongly objected to the union and denied him the privilege of visiting his sweetheart.

Yesterday morning he came to Plainfield and after walking to the Whelan home, where he threatened Mr. and Mrs. Whelan with the revolver, he proceeded to Morris Abrams' shoe store, where Miss Whelan is employed. He was arrested on West Front street before he could see the girl he wished to make his wife.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR FLORENTIN PELLETIER

The funeral service of Florentin Pelletier, who died at his home on Hillside avenue, on Friday, was held at 2.15 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, at Grace church, and was attended by many friends and neighbors. Rev. Harris C. Bush, curate of the church, was in charge of the service, and part of the vested choir in charge of S. Frederick Smith, organist, sang several hymns. The burial was in the family plot in Hillside cemetery.

Mr. Pelletier had been a resident of Plainfield for twenty-eight years, and during the past twelve years had lived in retirement. He was widely known as a civil engineer and architect, and during his business career was in charge of many important works.

ROTHBERG ATTENDED A Y. M. H. A. CONVENTION

Samuel Rothberg, State Treasurer of the New Jersey Y. M. H. A., of this city, returned last night from the Pennsylvania United Y. M. H. A. State Convention held at Reading on Sunday and Monday, at which there were over 300 delegates. He gave glowing reports of the work being accomplished in that State. Among the events which interested the local man, was the address by Rabbi Hyman Yood, a brother of Dr. Raphael Yood, of this city.

Mr. Rothberg, while making an address before the convention, gave several suggestions among which were the adoption of uniform association names and emblems. He also extended the greetings of the New Jersey Association and invited them to send a representative to this State's convention to be held at New Brunswick, September 28.

SENDS $20 CHECK FOR DAY NURSERY

Mrs. Marion S. Ackerman Incidently Compliments Daily Press For Its Help.

A check for $20 was received this morning by this newspaper for the City Union of the King's Daughters Day Nursery from Mrs. Marion S. Ackerman, who is in Massachusetts for the summer. Accompanying the check was a letter commending the Plainfield Daily Press for continuing to call attention to this worthy cause. The letter says:

"I have been much interested and deeply moved by your appeal for help in behalf of the work of the City Union of Kings Daughters at the Day Nursery. You are doing a splendid thing by keeping this work before the public in the columns of your paper. We, who are fortunate enough to be out of the heat, sometimes forget the poor babies and their hard-working mothers at home. It gives me much pleasure to enclose my check to your order for $20, which you will kindly forward to the King's Daughters."

The amount received to date is $86. In past years several hundred dollars have been given to this worthy cause. It is hoped that this article will be brought to the attention of other Plainfield people who are enjoying the summer at some cool spot, and will think of the little babies at home, who are in actual need of necessities of life.

SEALER WILL MAKE A TOUR OF COUNTY

Starts Again Next Week to See That Weights and Measures Are O. K.

Preparations are being made by County Superintendents of Weights and Measures Schwartz to start out next week on a tour of the county inspecting wagon scales and gasoline tanks in garages throughout the county. This is an annual inspection that Mr. Schwartz makes in which the wagon scales, or the platform scales on which a loaded wagon may be weighed, are tested to ascertain their correctness and working condition. A complete new equipment for testing gasoline tanks has recently been installed by the county and will be used for the first time.

Superintendent Schwartz has recently completed an inspection of weights and measures in this city. Among the confiscations made in this trip was that of an old-time computing scale, three ounces shy in weighing. Yet Superintendent Schwartz states that he is positive the dealer from whom he took it was honest and conscientious and didn't know that he was giving short weight.

The marble platform on one side of the balance had become broken and in order to maintain the balance the grocer had wired the broken piece underneath, securing it solidly. The wire and location of the broken slab added three ounces to the weight of the scale on that side, which happened to be the side on which the articles to be weighed were placed. Satified with the honesty of the man and as to his ignorance of the fact that he was giving short weight, Superintendent Schwartz refrained from prosecution.

MRS. STRAPPE'S FUNERAL.

The funeral service for Mrs. John Strappe, who died at Muhlenberg Hospital on Monday, was held at St. Mary's R. PRESIDENT ON MEXICO

AMERICANS TO LEAVE

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Aug. 27—The President's message emphasizes the fact that the United States must remain the firm friend of the people of Mexico in their present stress and trouble. He read it this afternoon. It was pacific in tone and contains little in the way of recommendation for future policy except the single one that this government must urge earnestly that all Americans should leave Mexico at once and that the United States should assist them to get out of Mexico in every way possible.

The President counsels delay before further action is taken and says: "Impatience on our part would be childish and would be fraught with every risk of wrong and folly. The door is not closed against the resumption, eother upon the initiative of Mexico or upon our own, of the effort to bring order out of the confusion by friendly co-operation should fortunate occasion offer. So long as the misunderstanding continues we can only await the time of their awakening to a realization to the actual facts. We cannot thrust our good offices upon them. The situation must be given a little more time to work itself out in the new circumstances and I believe that only a little while will be necessary. The circumstances are new. The rejection of our friendship makes them new and will inevitably bring its own alterations in the whole aspect of affairs. The actual situation of the authorities at Mexico City will presently be revealed."

The President in the course of his message says:

"The present circumstances of the Republic, I deeply regret to say, do not seem to promise even the foundations of such a peace. We have waited many months—months full of peril and anxiety—for the conditions there to improve and they have not improved. They have grown worse rather. The territory in some sort controlled by the Provisional authorities at Mexico City has grown smaller not larger. The prospect of the facification of the country, even by arms, has seemed to grow more and more remote and its pacification by the authorities of the capitol is evidently impossible by any other means than force. Difficulties more and more entangle those who claim to constitute the legitimate government of the Republic. They have not made good their claim, in fact, their successes in the field have proved only temporary. War and disorder, devastation and confusion, seem to threaten to become the settled fortune of the distracted country."

The message concludes:

"The attitude of the great nations of the world toward what we may attempt in dealing with this distressed people at our doors should make us feel the more solemnly bound to go to the utmost length of patience and forebearance in this painful and anxious business. The steady pressure of moral force will before many days break the barriers of pride and prejudice down and we shall triumph as Mexico's friends sooner than we could triumph as her enemies, and how much more handsomely. With how much higher and ner satisfaction of conscience and of honor."

Washington, Aug. 27 (Special)—In his reply to the American proposals, Senor Gamboa, the Mexican minister of foreign affairs, urges the following points:

That President Wilson's imputations that no progress is being made toward the restoration of peace in Mexico is not true;

That the fact that the Mexican government enjoys the recognition of nearly all the great nations of the world is proof that it is a true and

THE UNREAL WALL STREET

..From the N. Y. Times Annalist

As Trinity church was finished in 1846, it follows as a matter of historical deduction that the first bull and bear cartoon of Wall street appeared at a later date. The artist put Trinity church in his background. It has been there ever since. He did it maliciously, no doubt, for purpose of contrast; or it may be that by accident he got into his drawing the only thing he absolutely knew about Wall street, which was that Trinity church stood at the head of it. He had probably lost money in a bucket shop. The manager of the bucket shop was a plausible person, who was almost sorry to win the artist's money, and sympathized with him, saying, "They get you both going and coming down there." That shifted the blame to a vague lot of people in Wall street, and gave the artist his idea of bulls and bears amiably conspiring together to trim the lamb. So he drew a knowing bull and dressed him as he would have dressed himself with a banker's money, and then a crafty bear, and dressed him to correspond, thinking all the time that one of them had won his money. To each he gave what he supposed to be sheep shears, but which were only lawn clippers such as commuters buy. He was not a commuter. Then he drew a wee, silly lamb for the bull and the bear to gloat over. The lamb was himself. And Wall street cartoons have been drawn that way ever since, because no other newspaper artist knew what Wall street was like. All that the next one could do was to copy the first one, and the third one copied him, and so on, until now the figures are indestructible. People will have none other.

The origin of the wonderful Wall street of fiction is easier to imagine. A writer did go honestly to a friend in Wall street to ask for local color. He sat in a broker's office, saying: "Now, imagine that young man over there at the ticker to have lost a million dollars since this morning in a stock like Union Pacific. How would he behave?" The broker couldn't imagine it at all, and the writer had to go and write it, not as it would happen, but as he thought it ought to happen. Once he had done that, it was done for good. Other writers copied him, and we have the preposterous hero who wins or loses a million or two or three while you watch him at the ticker.

There is, then, the Wall street that does not exist at all. It is a place where any well-dressed scoundrel, taken up by the police at night, may assign himself a business habitat. He says he is a broker in Wall street. It happens so late that there is no time to investigate, even if it mattered, hence the morning paragraph that B. Jones, who said he was a broker in Wall street, was arrested, &c.

Constant and rebutted repetition of the cartoon, the figure of fiction, and the police news paragraph in the morning papers have undoubtedly created in the minds of a majority of people the belief that Wall street is made up of predatory beasts with lawn clippers lying in wait for lambs, or crazy people who jump up and down and shriek about their millions at the ticker side, and of brokers who spend their daytime procuring lambs for the beasts to shear and their night-time as they shouldn't.

The impressions that reach the mind first through the eyes are perhaps of all the most enduring. How many of us got our first impressions of Cuba from cigar box labels, and were disappointed to learn gradually that it was a very different place? Doubtless a great many people would feel cheated to learn the kind of place Wall street really is.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Two men, one dark and sharp featured, the other more heavily built with strongly marked face, sat opposite one another in a small restaurant in West 44th street, New York, the other evening. They had been dining and were now at the coffee stage. They had been talking earnestly and in rather subdued tones, but suddenly everyone seated near was startled by a remark made in a louder voice by the heavier man.

"That's all very well, Willie," he said, "but you see when you killed this man——"

"Now, that's just what I'm trying to tell you," exclaimed the other man, "I didn't kill him and I don't think you ought to make me kill him, Dick."

Everyone looked around in surprise and a frightened look came into the faces of some of the women. Then their companions whispered to them and the crowd laughed at which the two men looked about them, amazed for a minute, and then resumed their earnest conversation.

"What does it mean?" inquired a stranger in town.

"Oh!" said the man to whom he spoke, "it's only Willie Collier and Dick Davis working out the plot of 'Who's Who?' They're rehearsing it, you know, over here at the Criterion and apparently they've struck a snag. They go on like that for hours here sometimes."

"Who's Who?" is the farce that Richard Harding Davis has written and in which William Collier is going to star this season under Charles Frohman's management. It is to be seen at the Plainfield theatre, Friday night, and a little later it goes into the Criterion theatre, New York, for a run.

Farther reaching in its direct sociological and economic influence today, than was Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" during the Civil War, is the play which comes to The Plainfield Theatre on Labor Day. Bayard Veiller's "Within the Law" tackles modern "slave problem" with superior vigor to that of Mrs. Stowe's famous war-time story and with a "punch" that has made itself felt throughout the entire country and abroad. "Within the Law" is made up of episodes taken from actual life in New York today. The minimum wage problem, the police department, and the new and dangerous Maxim silencer are exploited in Mr. Veiller's play, which was the inspiration for the influx of "crook" dramas which have followed in its successful wake.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers R. Hall, of New York, are guests of Mrs. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Messler, near East Whitehouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Anthony, of Kingston, are visiting Mr. Anthony's sister, Miss Bertha Anthony, at Lamington.

"Breaking Into the Big League," will be the feature picture at The Plainfield Theatre, tomorrow afternoon and evening. It is a clever baseball farce comedy in two reels, featuring Manager McGraw, Christie Mathewson and other famous New York Giant stars. This will be the first time that this picture has been shown to the public in this vicinity, its first appearance being in New York, last week. There will also be other fine photo plays.

POLITICAL GOSSIP INTERESTING TO YOU

After refusing the importunities of his friends several times that he be a candidate for State committeeman against General Dennis F Collins, James P. Kelly, of Elizabeth, has announced that he had decided to throw his hat into the ring. The pressure exerted upon him during the last few days has been strong, and although Mr. Kelly did not wish to participate in the fall elections as a candidate, he says he felt that he could no longer refuse to hearken to the demand that appeared to exist for him.

Petition of Hamilton F. Kean, of Union, as a candidate for Republican State Committeeman, was filed yesterday in the office of County Clerk Calvert.

Among the signatures on Mr. Kean's petition are the following: Raymond T. Parrott, Charles A. Otto, Jr., William E. Reibel, C. W. Runyon, of Plainfield; former Prosecutor C. Addison Swift, Captain John J. Kirkland, Schuyler M. Cady, Harold Depew, former Judge C. McK. Whittemore, Joseph H. Neil, Freeholder George G. Teller, of Cranford; R. A. Trimble, Donald H. McLean, Neil McLeod, Jr., Surrogate George T. Parrot, John J. Bergen, Augustus W. Schwartz, Peter J. Olde, W. L. Tucker, John H Cose, of Plainfield, and David Armstrong, of Rahway.

The petition of George L. Babcock, of Plainfield, as Republican candidate for nomination to the Assembly, was also filed yesterday.

Included among the signatures affixed to Mr. Babcock's petition were the following: W. N. Runyon, C. W Runyon and Frank H. Smith, of Plainfield; Under Sheriff Robert J. Kirkland, A. W. Schwartz, Edward P. Mohr and Donald McLean, of Elizabeth.

The petition endorsing General Dennis F. Collins for State committeeman will be filed today. It contains more than 600 names.

Asked by Edmund B. Osborne to change the place for their joint debate from Montclair to Newark, Everett Colby has agreed to the change and the two Progressive candidates for Gubernatorial nomination will be heard in joint debate at the Krueger Auditorium, in Belmont avenue, Thursday, September 11. In his letter to Mr. Colby Mr. Osborne discussed the advantages of holding the debate before a large gathering of people.

Mayor Percy H. Stewart, of Plainfield, is being groomed as a candidate for State Senator next fall to succeed Carlton B. Pierce, it is said.

Petitions are being circulated in Somerville favoring the renomination of Mayor William V. Steele, and also that of Councilman A. B. Cline, to succeed himself, and former Councilman Joseph Barras to succeed Councilman W. P. Snyder, who has declined re-election. In these selections politics will be kept out of borough affairs, as the above candidates will run on both the Republican and Democratic tickets. It is thought that Councilman L. A. Bellis will resign his position, because of his candidacy for the county clerk, and that a new man will be run in his place, although this has not yet been decided.

The First Ward Republican Club held its weekly meeting last night at the Frost Building, transacting routine business. Candidates for the city and county committees were endorsed as follows: First district, Victor Lorton and V. W. Nash, Jr.; second district, Walter I. Firstbrook and W. L. Hetfield, Jr.; third district, Harry Hicks and William L. Gloak; fourth district, Charles Smick and Alfred Prudhon. The first mentioned candidate in each pair of names are candidates for the city committee, and the others for the county committees. As there is no candidates for Councilmanic honors in the ward the club will meet on Saturday night to discuss the vacancy on the ticket caused by the refusal of William L. Gloak to seek a renomination. Several prospective candidates have already been approached on the subject, but as yet no one has been found to seek the nomination. The election of officers has been laid over until the early part of next month.

Petitions of William A. Leonard and Hugh J. McLoughlin, both of Elizabeth, as candidates for renominations as Assemblyman on the Democratic ticket have been filed in the office of County Clerk Calvert. That of Assemblyman Leonard carries 361 names, more than three times the number required by law.

Twenty-five members of the North Plainfield Democratic Club met at 110 Somerset street, last night, and discussed plans for the coming campaign. David Bodine who issued the call for the meeting, presided, and Walter Linbarger acted as secretary. George Kirch, the treasurer of the club, reported a balance of $1.28 and the hat was ordered passed. After several prospective candidates, who had been urged to enter the race for the office of mayor, had declined to seek the honor, a committee composed of Morris Paroubek, John McCullough, and Gilbert Martin were appointed to look for available candidates for mayor and councilmanic honors, the latter to succeed Alexander Milne and Lemuel B. Woolston, whose terms expire on January 1. Those who served on the county committee who are again candidates are Dr. C. R. Thiers, first district; John McCullough, second district; Walter Chandler, third district, and David Bodine, of the fourth district. No one for the fifth district has been mentioned as yet.

TRIAL OF WESTERN FUEL MEN BEGUN

Charged With Conspiracy to Defraud Government.

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—The Western Fuel cases, in which are involved eight officers, directors and employees of the Western Fuel company, charged with conspiracy to defraud the Government through manipulating weights, were called in the United States district court before Judge Maurice Dooling.

These are the cases that came into prominence with the Diggs-Caminetti white slave cases when the former district attorney, McNab, resigned, saying he was being hampered by the department of justice at Washington. He said that the department had ordered him to postpone both the Western Fuel cases and the Diggs-Caminetti cases.

The defendants who appeared included John L. Howard, president of the Western Fuel company; James B. Smith, vice president, general manager and director; Joseph L. Schmitt, treasurer and director; Robert Bruce, director; Sydney V. Smith, director; Fred C. Mills, superintendent; Edward J. Smith, weigher, and Edward H. Mayers, weigher.

Indictments followed a minute investigation of the company's books and affairs, and the charges of a former employee of the company, Edwin Powers, who will be one of the important witnesses of the government. The charges in the cases are felonies, and they are punishable by imprisonment for a period not to exceed two years or by fine of $10,000 or both. The defendants have been held under bonds of $3,000 provided by a surety company.

30,000 VOICES!

And Many Are the Voices of Plainfield People.

Thirty thousand voices—What a grand chorus! And that's the number of American men and women who are publicly praising Doan's Kidney Pills for relief from backache, kidney and bladder ills. They say it to friends. They tell it in the home papers. Plainfield people are in this chorus. There's a Plainfield case.

Mrs. Cecelia Rosseter, 127 Watchung Ave., Plainfield, N. J., says: "I am only too pleased to again recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and I hope that all kidney sufferers who read my statement will profit by my experience. I have had a world of good from this remedy, backache, headache, dizzy spells and trouble with the kidney secretions being removed by it. I do not know what I would have done without Doan's Kidney Pills and I am certain that there is no kidney medicine that can be compared with them."

Speaking of silks, dress goods, and fabrics of a kind that are fashionable for Fall wear, that are familiar by name, and stranger weaves that are as yet unknown to fame but with a popular future in prospect, we have the real leaders.

A list of names of fashionable silks, woolens and fancy cotton means nothing, description of styles gets nowhere but back to the actual and trite fact that they must be seen to be appreciated.

If there is a fabric worth while which is not represented in our assortment it cannot be missed because this showing of Fall fabrics is absolutely complete.

Oblige us with a call of curiosity, leave buying and selling out of it, come in an open frame of mine, receptive to impressions without prejudice. Give the Tepper store credit for its progressiveness because it is bound to either lead or drive Plainfield's business to the top of possibility.

We will discontinue our Picture Department Wednesday. Cards now out should be presented not later than Wednesday, August 27.

In closing out this department we are making a sacrifice reduction in our 24 karat gold plated metal frames. Those having oval portraits size 11x14 will find great bargains in our frame department.

MEXICO ASKS FOR FURTHER DELAY

President Decides to Grant Huerta's Appeal.

LIMIT HAS BEEN REACHED

No Further Procrastination by Troublesome Republic Will Be Tolerated, Wilson Making Every Possible Effort to Maintain Peace, but Patience Is Nearly Exhausted.

Washington, Aug. 27.—The delivery of President Wilson's message to congress on the Mexican situation is again held up. This time the delay is due to a request signed by Special Envoy Lind and the Mexican minister of foreign affairs, Senor Gamboa.

Delay was asked because of certain supplementary suggestions made to Mexico by Mr. Lind, which the Mexico government desires time to consider. These new suggestions do not impair the original suggestions made to President Huerta by Mr. Lind.

The dispatch which determined the president to withhold his message was received after the conference between the president and members of the foreign relations committees of congress had ended. The cablegram was 600 words in length and came through the usual channels used by Mr. Lind.

No Further Delay Tolerated.

The dispatch outlined to the president the nature of the new suggestions in such tangible and definite form as to comply with the repeated assertions at the White House that unless some progress was made by Mexico toward accepting the original proposals of the president no delay in carrying out the present policy of the administration would be tolerated.

President Wilson sees unexpected progress in the negotiations and will withhold the delivery of his message pending the outcome. The intention to deliver the message to congress represents the present decision of the president based on the information at hand. More definite developments of a satisfactory nature or a successful outcome of the negotiations would probably result in its abandonment altogether.

No Ultimatum, but Firm Stand.

That the cablegram requested a delay of only one day was regarded here as significant. The interpretation here is that the president and Mr. Lind, without delivering an ultimatum to Mexico, have taken a firm stand in the negotiations with President Huerta.

If President Wilson reads his message to congress the effect is expected to leave the Huerta regime pilloried before the world in such a manner as to fix the responsibility for all future developments without qualification.

The new suggestions by Mr. Lind do not differ from the original suggestions. Inquiry as to whether the new suggestions originated in Washington or came from Mr. Lind in the exercise of his discretion as a result of new conditions in Mexico met with evasive reply.

Mexican Attitude Changed.

The presumption here is that Senor Gamboa, acting on behalf of Huerta, has weakened to the extent of withdrawing in effect the peremptory declination of Mexico to negotiate with Mr. Lind further on the original suggestions.

One view of the president's determination to postpone his message to congress only one day is voiced in the skepticism here that Huerta will agree to the plan of action laid down by Washington. Any surrender on the part of Huerta might precipitate a situation among the radicals of his own following which he would not care to face.

On the other hand, much of the rampant jingoism with which the radicals in Mexico were inclined to receive President Wilson's envoy and suggestions have been cooled by the developments of the past week. The real issue in Mexico City is half a loaf or no loaf at all.

No definite action has yet been taken in Washington looking to the return of John Lind. Should Mr. Lind exhaust his diplomatic resources and the president becomes satisfied he can be of no further service he will undoubtedly be requested to come home.

FIVE KILLED BY TRAIN.

Ravan Family Wiped Out at Crossing Near Freeport, Pa.

Freeport, Pa., Aug. 27.—J. E. Rowan, his wife, two children and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Allan Wood Smith, were killed when their automobile was struck by a special train on the Pennsylvania railroad at Lane station, near here.

The train carried R. L. O'Donnell, general superintendent of the Pennsylvania company, and other officials, who were making an inspection trip.

Rowan, his wife and a child a year old were killed instantly. A second child and Rowan's sister-in-law died two hours after the accident.

Would Stiffen Sherman Law.

Washington, Aug. 27.—To make violations of the Sherman law felonies instead of misdemeanors a bill was introduced by Representative Barclay of Kentucky. He introduced another bill to prevent interlocking directorates in national banks and interstate corporations.

JERSEY SUFFRAGE GETS A SETBACK

MAY PREVENT VOTE IN 1914

Contention at Trenton That Legislature Will Have to Pass New Resolution—This Will Be Avoided if Attorney General Gives Satisfactory Statement.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 27.—The discovery was made here that the proposed woman suffrage amendment to the state constitution, which was approved by the legislature last winter, has not been advertised, as required by the constitution. As a consequence, it may be impossible to submit the question of votes for women to the people at a special election to be held next year, as was the intention, unless the attorney general can find some way out of the difficulty.

The constitution provides that a proposed amendment, after having been approved by one legislature, must be advertised in every county of the state for three months preceding the election of members of the succeeding legislature. The three months' time limit was passed on Aug. 4 last. The constitutional provision relating to amendments is contained in Article IX. and reads as follows:

Any specific amendment or amendments to the constitution may be proposed in the senate or general assembly, and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be entered on the journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the legislature then next to be chosen, and shall be published for three months previous to making such choice, in at least one newspaper of each county, if any be published therein; and if in the legislature next chosen as aforesaid such proposed amendment or amendments, or any of them, shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each house, then it shall be the duty of the legislature to submit such proposed amendment or amendments, or such of them as may have been agreed to as aforesaid by the two legislatures to the people.

It is the contention here that the legislature next winter will be forced by this edict of the constitution to ignore the steps that have already been taken to put the question of woman suffrage to vote and to begin all over again by passing a new resolution.

TAKES OSBORNE'S CHALLENGE

Colby to Debate With Rival In Jersey Gubernatorial Fight.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 27.—Everett Colby accepted the challenge of Edmund B. Osborne, who is opposing him for the Progressive nomination for governor of New Jersey, to meet him in joint debate at the Kreuger auditorium on Thursday, Sept. 11.

In his letter Mr. Osborne suggested that the debate be conducted according to one or the other of two plans. They were:

"First Plan—Each speaker to have three-quarters of an hour for opening and one-half an hour for closing.

"Second Plan—Each speaker to have an hour and a quarter total time, each to devote as much time as he chooses to his opening and to have the remainder for reply or replies, the second speaker to have the right to submit to his opponent not exceeding ten questions limited to fifty words each, to be read by the chairman at the opening of the debate."

Mr. Osborne said that either plan would suit him, and he proposed that they draw lots for first and second place and for the privilege of naming the chairman.

FANATICS MURDER PRIEST.

Missionary With His Servant Victims of "Elder Brothers."

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—Advices from China to Catholic officials here tell of the death of Rev. Francis Bernat, a Franciscan missionary, at the hands of Chinese fanatics in a remote region of North Shensi. The message said that Father Bernat and a servant were traveling in Shensi when they were attacked by members of the Chinese society of the Elder Brothers, a dreaded confederation of Chinese that has opposed the march of Christianity in the orient. Both the priest and his servant were killed.

Father Bernat was a native of Barcelona, Spain. He entered on his missionary work in China five years ago.

TWO WOMEN MURDERED.

Farmer Returns Home to Find Wife and Niece Slain.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 27.—William Cook, a farmer of Smyrna, found his wife murdered on the rear porch of their home and in a nearby room was the body of his niece, Miss Lucy Stanford.

Cook attended church and on his return home did not investigate his wife's absence from her room, thinking she was in Miss Stanford's room.

Lynching In North Carolina.

DO IT FOR PLAINFIELD

Flocking to the Standard of Plainfield and Prosperity

Gratifying Results—Merchants, Bankers, Manufacturers and Professional Men Vie With Each Other In Support of the Press' Gigantic Undertaking to Issue a Magnificent Trade at Home and "Made in Plainfield" Edition—Their Commendation of the Enterprise Gives Assurance of Unparalleled and Unbounded Success—Cyclone of Praise, the Cry Is "Onward! Put Plainfield on the Map!"

As the work of The Plainfield Press' Big Historial and Industrial Edition progresses, a quickening of interest is manifested by city officials, business and professional men, and grand endorsements of the undertaking continue to come in from all quarters, showing the hearty approval with which the work is being received and approved by the wide-awake and loyal sons who are striving to bring Plainfield more to the front.

Plainfield is just the place that strangers looking for new homes or factory sites should fully investigate before determining upon any other. All that is necessary is that they come and see the Fine, Prosperous City, and a single visit will convince them that it is the proper and best place in the world to locate, and it is to this end that The Press is hard at work on the greatest journalistic effort of its kind ever attempted in New Jersey, and the wide-awake and progressive merchants, manufacturers and others are pulling together and helping advertise and exploit Plainfield in a way that will do her a heap of good, and in a manner that she so justly deserves.

The Daily Press is one of your newspapers, your representative to the outside world, and Plainfield is largely judged according to its appearance. One of the greatest captains of industry has aptly said that a newspaper is the greatest and most just representative of the community in which it has its being. By it shall we be judged.

We have a representative in our territory now, who will doubtlessly call upon you and explain just what is to be accomplished, and just how it should be done. Give him a fair hearing. It will be worth your while, we hope. Let us build: It means work, but are we not a community of workers? We have much to offer, but few beneath the Heavens will know it unless we tell it. It will mean a bigger, better, more prosperous Plainfield, and we believe that all of our citizens are striving toward just that end. Let's get together and do the work in proper shape, and regard whatever you do towards making this Boom Edition a big success as your Thanksgiving contribution to the Progress and Prosperity of Plainfield.

AN ABSENTEE OFFICIAL.

There are some Jerseymen who don't take much stock in Dr. Britton D. Evans as an alienist and particularly since his testimony in the Thaw murder trial. But the discount they give his value as an insanity expert is not the fault we have against him as a paid official of the State. Our objection to him is based on the fact that he absents himself from the State Hospital at Morris Plains, where he is superintendent, for the sake of his private practice. Hardly had that dangerous specimen with a disordered mind, Harry K. Thaw, been caught as a fugitive in Canada than Evans deserted his post to get a fat fee in his service. There he is now and nobody knows how long he will stay not only out of the State but out of the country. It is all wrong and it appears to us that Governor Fielder should either dismiss him from the service of the State or insist that he stay on his job. The press and the people of the State, we take it, are aroused and are not inclined to allow this condition of affairs to exist much longer. As the Trenton Times very properly says:

"Dr. Britton D. Evans, superintendent of the State Hospital at Morris Plains, has once more abandoned his nearly two thousand patients, and rushed to Canada to assist in saving young Thaw from being returned to Matteawan Asylum; thereby subjecting himself to renewed criticism. Dr. Evans' place is at his post, here in New Jersey, and his duty is to the State and the hundreds of unfortunates who have been committed to his care.

"Notwithstanding the fact that three or four courts, after hearing the opinions of the most eminent alienists in the country, have declared Thaw to be insane, Dr. Evans still contends that he is sane. No doubt he believes that the judge of the Canadian court will be more impressed by his opinion. He must indeed be either a great genius or a still greater egotist who will set his personal view agains that held by the other leaders in his profession."

There is but one answer to a query put by the Jersey City Journal when it asks: "It is not strange that Dr. Evans should reappear in the Thaw case, but what do the people of New Jersey really think about it?" It is, we repeat, that Dr. Evans should either be ordered to resign or to personally attend to the duties of that department with which he is intrusted.

CRITICISM.

In this world it so happens that criticism in many instances is proportionate to the object's greatness, influence or success. The unimportant man does not receive it for he has done nothing in any way to get it or to merit it. The prominent and conspicuous fellow, on the contrary, obtains his share equivalent to his standing. Mortals of the type of Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft and Woodrow Wilson, for example, represent what might be called the largest targets. They have done big things and that accounts for it and they court it for it makes them all the stronger. They profit by it.

George Matthew Adams has written a fine little essay on criticism. Says he:

"Many of the greatest of the world's triumphs directly resulted from criticism.

"Study the life of any great man and you will detect that as soon as that man began to criticise his own work, and as soon as other people began to take a hand at the same thing, that man grew. Wendell Phillips used to say that he never felt he was effective until the hisses started. Then the man, boiling with enthusiasm for his cause, and the belief that he was right, cast from his mind his greatest ideas and greatest triumphs of speech and influence.

"Whether criticism is effective for you or not depends upon the spirit back of that criticism.

"Criticism may come from malice or jealousy. The big man or woman ignores such criticism.

"Then there is the criticism of unimportant points. Such criticism also can easily be forgotten. And then there is the one great criticism—honest criticism, with the spirit back of it rendering a service. When you are honestly criticised be glad of it—listen to the criticism, then profit from it. It is only through honest criticism that defects are corrected and big results come about."

George T. Hughes, who spends his time as city editor of the New York Globe when not better occupied as a farmer in North Plainfield township, will be the contributing editor for next Saturday's issue of the Plainfield Daily Press. Editor Hughes predicts a bumper crop of peaches on his farm this fall. But this able member of the Fourth Estate, who is built like a Lincoln and votes like a Roosevelt, is seeking a nomination for the Assembly and has no time to pick peaches. Probably somebody can profit by doing it for him but that one can gain more in a less space of time by reading and digesting what the live-wire newspaperman will have to say as the Plainfield Daily Press contributing editor for Saturday.

SUFFRAGE SET-BACK DUE TO A BLUNDER

One Whole Year Is Lost In Fight for "Votes for Women."

Trenton, Aug. 27—There will be weeping and wailing, with expressions of woe and demands for satisfaction among the suffragists of New Jersey. The discovery has been made that, after all their work at the last session of the legislature which finally resulted in the passage of their amendment for equal suffrage, they are set back just a year. This is how it happens: In this State an amendment to the Constitution to become effective must be passed by one legislature, put up to the following legislature and if again passed then submitted to the vote of the people at a special election for adoption or rejection. There is just one little matter of detail, however, that projects itself into this process and that it is that has caused the upset.

Following the passage by the legislature of the amendment it is provided by the Constitution that it must be advertised in at least one newspaper in each of the 21 counties at least three months prior to the election of members of the legislature. The election falls upon November 5, and the three month's period expired August 4. The situation is said to be due to the fact that the resolution providing for the amendment was not filed with the Secretary of State, who is charged with the duty of advertising such matters.

JAPAN OBJECTED TO GERMANY IN ALLIANCE

England Would Include Teuton Nation, but Couldn't.

London, Aug. 27.—Revelation that diplomatic negotiations which finally resulted in the Anglo-Japanese alliance first contemplated an Anglo-German-Japanese triple alliance and that Germany was largely instrumental in starting them, but was shut out by Japan, is made in the diary of the late Count Tadasu Hayashi, former Japanese ambassador to Great Britain and twice foreign minister, part of which was recently published.

The diary showed that the British government under the premiership of the late Marquis of Salisbury was in favor of the inclusion of Germany, but that Japan opposed it. Count Hayashi, in order to bring about the Anglo-Japanese alliance, hinted that Japan was ready to ally herself with Russia if Great Britain were unwilling.

Baron Hermann von Eckhardstein, at the time charge d'affaires of the German embassy in London, according to the diary, made several visits to Count Hayashi during the spring of 1901. In proposing the formation of a triple alliance between Great Britain, Germany and Japan he said he knew that the British government and such personages as Joseph Chamberlain, Arthur J. Balfour, Lord Lansdowne, the Duke of Devonshire and the Marquis of Salisbury were in favor of it.

He said that the German nation was strongly anti-British, but not the German government. He added that King Edward, Emperor William and Imperial Chancellor von Buelow had recently had long conversations on the subject at Osborne, in the Isle of Wight, and were anxious for such a triple alliance.

J. R. WIERENGA'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of John R. Wierenga, who died on Sunday, was held at his late home on Randolph road yesterday afternoon, with a large number of friends and relatives present. Rev. Daniel Rapalje, of Carlton avenue, officiated. Miss Justina Smith sang one of Mr. Wierenga's favorite hymns. A large number of flowers were sent as tokens of sympathy. The bearers were John Hurley, John Donnelly, Michael Shuck, Alexander Sergeant, John Walsh and Peter McDonough. Interment was made at St. Mary's cemetery.

DEEDS RECORDED.

The following deeds have been recorded in the office of the county registrar: Louis Rosenberg Realty Company to Laura A. Hudson, northerly side of Broadway, corner Richmond street, Plainfield, $1; Michael P. McGrath et ux. to William H. Scott, West Seventh street, 60 feet of Hobart avenue, Plainfield, $1; Nahum M. Seitzik et ux. to Louis Levin, northeasterly side John street, 217 feet southeasterly of West Fourth street, Plainfield, $1.

DAIRY CONCERN FORMED.

Elizabeth, August 27.—The papers of incorporation of the Welsh Farms Dairies, Inc., dealers in farm products, with headquarters at 188 East Front street, were filed this morning at the County Clerk's office. The incorporators are Daniel A. Gulick and Charles Squires, both of Plainfield, and former Senator John C. Welsh, of German Valley. The capital is $25,000. Mr. Gulick is mentioned as agent.

VIOLATED SPEED LAW.

Joel Oller, of 116 Elmwood place, Orange, was arrested at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Mernagh, who charged him with riding his motorcycle in excess of the speed limit. He appeared before City Judge DeMeza this morning, and his trial was placed for Saturday morning, September 6.

SUFFRAGETTES ACTIVE.

House Burned Near London After Truce Was Declared.

London, Aug. 27.—A costly country house in the suburban town of Finchley, north of London, was destroyed by fire, and everything indicates that militant suffragettes were the incendiaries. A quantity of suffrage literature was found in the ruins.

It was reported that the militant suffragettes had reached some sort of truce with the government, and the fire would seem to deny the report. It is explained, however, that it is possible that word of the truce has not yet reached all the outlying districts. There is an utter absence of militant outrages in London just at present.

DELTA TAU DELTA REUNION.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 27.—College graduates and undergraduates from all parts of the country assembled at the Hotel Severin in this city today for the opening of the forty-second national convention of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity. The society is one of the most prominent of its kind in America. Organized at Bethany College, West Virginia, in 1859, it now has 52 active chapters and a total membership exceeding 10,000. The present reunion will close Saturday night with a banquet at which the speakers will include Congressman William P. Borland, of Missouri; Attorney General James M. Swift, of Massachusetts, and several other men of prominence.

SENTENCE FOR DYNAMITING.

San Jose, Cal., Aug. 27.—When Walter Thomas, of Redwood City, who recently pleaded guilty to a charge of maliciously destroying the property of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, is arraigned in court tomorrow for sentence, a strong effort will be made to have him released on probation. Thomas was a lineman employed by the gas and electric company and was among those who went out on a general strike some time ago. During the strike he was arrested by Pinkerton men on a charge of having dynamited some of the company's power poles. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

Abolish Blue Monday

THE NEW WAY.

READ WHAT WE HAVE TO SAY

You can save many dollars in a year on your clothes and add a day of pleasure to your life each week with this wonderful Rapid Vacuum Clothes Washer, but cutting your laundry work in two. Most clothes are RUBBED OUT and not WORN OUT. When you send your clothes to the laundry what happens to them? They are soaped and beaten, and rubbed so that the hot soap-suds (sometimes a little acid added) is forced through and through the goods. This cleans the goods, but they do not last long. When your clothes are washed in your own home what happens? The hot soap suds are pushed in and out of the garments, as they are rubbed on the board. This cleans them, but wears them out. In every process of washing, soap and water are the only elements having any cleaning properties. When your clothes are washed with the Rapid Vacuum Washer what happens? Gallons of soapy water at boiling temperature (which sterilizes the clothes) is forced through the goods every 60 seconds. This cleans your clothes snowy white without straining a thread. You can now wash woolens, blankets, sheets, shirts, collars, bed quilts, etc., at home, and after washing the articles will be whiter, softer, cleaner, fluffier and more beautiful in appearance than before. Compressed air, hot water and soap does the work.

You can wash a tubful of dirty clothes in five minutes without rubbing, without bending, and with very little work.

A tubful of clothes can be rinsed and blued in the same way in one minute.

You can clean anything that can be cleaned with soap and water or gasoline in a few minutes, without straining a thread.

No more rough hands and tired backs for the person who does the washing.

The Vacuum Washer has no moveable parts, cannot get out of order, and with proper care will last for years.

DIRECTIONS FOR OPERATION

Have your water hot, the hotter the better. Add sufficient soap and see that it is thoroughly dissolved before putting in the clothes, as hot water without soap will set the dirt. Use enough hot water to float the clothes, then operate the plunger up and down, each time a gallon or more of hot suds is forced through the fabrics, and the same amount is drawn back on the upward stroke. This suction force is produced by an automatic suction valve, which is a distinct and original feature of our invention. During five or ten minutes, which is required to do a washing, many hundred gallons of hot, soapy water are forced through the clothes, which cleans them in a more perfect manner than any other process and with absolutely no wear or tear. This is the secret of the success of this Rapid Vacuum Clothes Washer.

If you do your own washing, it will save you time, strength and temper. If you send your washing out, we know that you are not satisfied, as your clothes are worn and eaten with the strong washing compounds used by laundries. If you employ a maid, her time is worth money.

THE OLD WAY.

Which Way Do You Prefer ?

PRESIDENT ON MEXICO

That the proposal of an armistice is impossible because nations do not promise armistices with bandits—to grant an armistice would be to recognize the belligenency of the rebels;

That the request that General Huerta should not be a candidate for the Presidency is strange and unwarranted;

That the election of General Huerta was legal;

That the American proposals are humiliating and unusual;

That Mexico's ambassadors should be received in Washington and that the United States should send a new ambassador.

Washinton, Aug. 27 (Special)—No action was taken in Congress upon the President's message. The House immediately adjourned and the Democrats went into caucus on the currency bill, while the Senate returned to its chambers and took up the tariff bill.

No action is as yet planned by the Foreign Affairs' Committees.

Congress will follow the President in allowing the situation to drift and await the development in Mexico.

New York, Aug. 27 (Special)—Stock market trading came practically to a standstill about the time of the announcement of the reading of President Wilson's message and the perusal of that document failed to stimulate a special movement. In some cases increasing heaviness was shown.

Washington, Aug. 27 (Special)—The White House was without news from Mexico until ten o'clock this morning and was at a loss to understand Senor Gamboa's request to delay the delivery of the President's message. The belief prevailed that after President Wilson read his message and Mr. Lind departed from Vera Cruz, President Huerta's power will fall owing to lack of support.

President Wilson later in the morning received word frome Chare D Affaires O'Shaughnessy at Mexico City that President Huerta sent a message to Envoy Lind at Vera Cruz early this morning. The nature of the message is not known. President Wilson therefore refused to give out his message until he entered the House to deliver it at one o'clock. Being desirous of affording until the last moment a chance for a possible important communication from Mr. Lind.

The regular mid-week prayer meeting will be held at Trinity Reformed church, tonight, and will be in charge of the Christian Endeavor Society of the church.

The Economical Club Sandwich.

Club sandwiches do not sound like strict economy. On the other hand, there is a certain suggestion of extravagance in the appetizing and delicious combination of delicacies that goes by this name.

But in reality club sandwiches can be looked upon and eaten in a spirit of economy.

To make the club sandwich economical, you must, of course, make it of left overs. If you order a club sandwich at a dozen different restaurants you will find that it is made in a dozen different ways, and each will give you an idea for your sandwich of economy. For this must be made of whatever leftovers you have on hand, combined with the skill and taste that make the French cooks' products economical.

Different Combinations.

The fundamental ingredients for a club sandwich are a slice of tomato, a slice of the breast of chicken, a slice of crisp, broiled bacon, a crisp piece of lettuce, two slices of toast and some mayonnaise. The two slices of thin, buttered toast are essential. So is the mayonnaise and the lettuce. Bacon is cheap and is usually on hand and it lends much to the savoriness of the sandwich, so it should be included when possible in the ingredients which make up the filling.

If you have no chicken on hand—and the dark meat, by the way, is as good as the white meat for this purpose—use some other meat. Try using other vegetables beside the slice of tomato, if that is not in the larder.

Try this: a slice of toast, a piece of lettuce, a slice of tongue, and a slice of broiled bacon, a couple of slices of crisp cucumber, some mayonnaise and the topping piece of toast. Here is another: A slice of toast spread with sardines, rubbed to paste and seasoned with mayonnaise, two crisp slices of bacon, two crisp heart pieces of lettuce, a spoonful of mayonnaise and the top slice of buttered toast, a slice of veal or lamb, some shredded sweet green pepper, a sliced pickel cucumber, a piece of lettuce, some mayonnaise and another slice of buttered toast—this combination when there is no bacon. Another baconless combination calls for toast, lettuce, minced boiled ham moistened with mayonnaise, tomato and mayonnaise. A really delicious sandwich can be made with lettuce, mayonnaise, two slices of bacon, two of tomato and toast.

Some Cookery Suggestions

SUBSTITUTES FOR MEAT.

THERE are many foods whose nutritive value is equal to that of meat. They are convenient substitutes for meats when the latter are, as at present, excessively high. Recipes for some excellent foods of this kind are given here:

A Nourishing Cereal.

Spinach and Rice.—Cook a quarter of a pound of rice in milk and at the same time cook the spinach. When the vegetable is cooked strain, season and mince. Add a beaten egg to the rice, with a spoonful of thick sour cream, butter, salt and pepper. Rice and spinach are then placed alternately in a buttered pie dish, a little of the spinach water is poured in, and the top is covered with melted butter and breadcrumbs, and the dish is set in the oven for it to bake.

Cooked In the Oven.

Baked Rabbit.—Take a pound of American cheese, two tablespoonfuls of butter, a teaspoonful and a half of salt, one and a half cupfuls of milk, two and a half cupfuls of stale breadcrumbs, three eggs and paprika. Line a buttered baking dish with breadcrumbs. Cut the cheese in thin slices and lay over the crumbs, dusting with salt and paprika. Repeat twice. Beat the eggs well, add milk and pour over the mixture. Bake in moderate oven half an hour. Serve at once.

A Novel Roast.

Roast Peas.—Take a quart of split yellow peas, three-quarters of a cupful of breadcrumbs, a tablespoonful of sugar, a quarter of a cupful of chopped nuts, one egg, a quarter of a cupful of butter, three-quarters of a cupful of milk and salt and pepper to taste. Soak the peas overnight. Drain. Place in a saucepan, using fresh water to cover, and simmer until nearly all the liquor is absorbed and the peas have burst their skins. Force through a strainer and mix with breadcrumbs, milk, nuts and seasonings. Mold into a small loaf and let stand fifteen minutes. Cover with pea liquor and bake slowly one hour. Remove to a platter and serve with sliced cucumbers.

A Nut Food.

Peanut Loaf.—Take one cupful each of hot boiled rice, finely chopped peanuts, cracker crumbs and milk, one egg, a tablespoonful of melted butter and one and a half teaspoonfuls of salt. Mix rice, nuts and cracker crumbs. Add a well beaten egg and seasonings. Fill into a small oblong pan well greased and pour melted butter over it. Bake slowly. Turn on a platter and serve with white sauce to which have been added one tablespoonful of onion juice and a dash of white pepper.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Dannie Had One Reason For Being Glad.

Dannie Does Not Like to Be Washed.

SOMETIMES Jack grumbled when getting his face washed. It did seem that, no matter how he scrubbed, he could not get his neck or ears clean enough to please his mother. Evelyn seemed to have no trouble, and she would often tell Jack he ought to look into the glass to make sure before going downstairs in the morning.

Both the children came in to daddy with shining faces and lovely clean hands.

"Mother scrubs a fellow's ears so," grumbled Jack.

"A lot of dirt does seem to get into little boys' ears," daddy sympathized. "I hope, though, you do not make as much fuss about it as Dannie did.

"Dannie is just five years old. His daddy is a doctor, and so when Dannie gets hurt his father mends him, and when he is sick he has to take his daddy's medicine.

"Now, getting his ears washed has always been one of Dannie's greatest trials. Nora, the maid who takes care of the children, is always in a hurry.

"When Nora comes to Dannie's face she always looks into his ears very hard and, taking the cloth, pokes and scrubs until sometimes the little boy is afraid they will come off.

"And, of course, he squirms and squeals and sometimes cries outright. Then Nora scolds and shakes him and says it is more trouble to wash his face than to bathe all the six others.

"One day the children were out in the garden playing. I believe the game they were having was tag, a game which you know is quite lively. They darted about here and there, trying to get away from Ned, who was 'it.'

"Dannie was just in front of Ned, and his foot tripped over a stone. Down he went, and his head struck the edge of the walk. A stone cut his forehead, and when the children ran to help him up the blood was pouring from his forehead.

"Much frightened, they led the bleeding Dannie into the house. Luckily the doctor, his father, was at home and when he heard the little boy's screams came hurrying out. Picking Dannie up in his arms, he carried him into his office and wiped away the blood.

"It hurt a good deal, but Dannie only sobbed while his father took a needle and thread and stitched up the cut. After that the doctor wrapped some white gauze around and around the hurt forehead.

"Everybody noticed that Dannie stopped crying.

"'Put lots on, daddy,' he spoke up. 'Put lots and lots on so my ears will all be covered up. Nora can't wash them now.'"

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Woman Suffrage in California.

On October 10, 1911, the right of suffrage was given to the women of California.

When the recent legislature of that State adjourned last spring, the following laws had been passed: The Red Light Injunction and Abatement Statute; Equal Guardianship of Children; Restorative of Suffrage to American Women who have Married Foreigners; Pensions for Mothers; Age of Consent for Girls Raised from 16 to 18; A State Industrial School for Girls.

This list of splended laws that directly concern the welfare of women was secured because the tool of citizenship—the vote—was in the hands of women, and the male voters who endorsed the enfranchisement of women hail them as a valuable addition to the active intelligence of the community. The fear of the Antis, that the extension of the franchise to women will merely "double the trouble" does not materialize in the suffrage States.

In California last winter and spring man's dearest chattel proved that she is a thinking being. If voting, or taking an active interest in pending legislation is to her a passing fad, as is sometimes hinted, then en passant she is marking the roadway with valuable milestones for the wayfarers of this and coming generations and well may they commend her light trifling as she proceeds on her travels.

During the first ten days after the Suffrage amendment had been passed, out of a registration in Los Angeles of 175,000, there were 80,000 women registered.

Of the women who registered, 95% voted. In some precincts in San Diego 100% actually voted. Throughout the State the average was 90%.

All over the State, women have organized Study Clubs and are discussing civics and constitutional history, labor legislation, food inspection, sanitation and school management, without in the least becoming infeminine or formidable; the men are no less chivalrous than before, and the home seems to be on as permanent a basis as when indirect influence helped to guard and govern it.

One result of woman's direct influence at the polls was the recall last spring of Judge Weller, a corrupt judge of San Francisco, who was notorious for his vicious handling of cases against men arrested for criminal assault on girls. Although San Francisco is somewhat lacking in a common ethical standard and has a population of much flotsom and jetsom from all parts of the globe, nevertheless the vote of the decent men and women carried the day.

Where was the vote of the "vicious women which would double the vote of the vicious men?"

A negligible quantity. Results like this are convincing. Will those in other States

And stammer with polluted lips

The subject of the publicity of the polls being disagreeable to women is not verified by a visit to these mysterious haunts. The writer visited many polling places in California, and was pleased to note the absence of self-consciousness among women voters. It was refreshing to see an entire family of voting age file by, and to realize that the family as a unit was tangibly becoming the spirit of the community.

Husband and wife are not seeking this new phase of social evolution as the latest grounds for divorce, and when mother votes, either father or a kind neighbor holds the baby.

(The babies in California are unusually healthy.)

Why shouldn't women have a share in making laws that concern food, plumbing, houses, fire protection, public parks, upright officials and a wholesome community? Politics are fast becoming economics, and the old style politicians with so many extra graft cards up his sleeve, is playing a losing game, for the mother instinct of the women voter is extended to broader scope than her own vine and fig tree.

A point that is different for the woman voter of California to understand is the fact that the Antis' tell us that all the political mistakes in the enfranchised States are the fault of women.

Where, of where, is the male population of voting age?

Is it possible to reduce it to such a state of submission on the immediate advent of the Matriarchate? Surely it is not possible to hypnotize the masculine half of the community, march it to the polls, and force it to vote indiscreetly, especially when only a short time ago the same male individuals were guided thither by "indirect influence" and by the same unfailing power represented wisely the entire community, in spite of the fact that "male and female created He, them."

California at least, furnishes no such psychological anomoly at her polling booths, or in the result of her legislation.

Women have proved their fitness for the ballot, out in the fair Golden State, and a real democracy is found in the gracious land on the shore of the Pacific.

Union in effort is the spirit of the new age—the State and nation are simply overgrown families, and needs mother care as well as father care. It has been well said that there is too much mother in the home and church and too much father in the government.

With men and women voting together, commercialism and graft in politics stand a better chance to be eliminated.

The question is a practical one. How does woman suffrage work where it has been tried?

Dainty Frocks for Bridge Festivities.

It is fortunate for the home sewer, on the eve of a busy autumn season, that fashion has prescribed some delightfully simple dresses for early bridge parties and informal teas or dinners. They are dainty in the extreme, when designed in soft satin or crepe de chine, with delicate lace bodices, tunics, frills, sashes and even garlands of tiny flowers. Silver ribbon, pearl beads, rhinestones and jet will be among the trimmings of the more elaborate costumes for evening occasions as winter advances. Draped skirts and tunics are devised with plenty of excuse, it would seem, for a slash in the bottom of the skirt otherwise too scant to make walking easy.

Two models pictured herewith are examples of these latest style features. White crepe de chine, a very popular material at the moment, is used in the illustration at the left (7880) with satin meteor for the crush girdle and the inserted fan of plaits near the bottom. The skirt is draped as shown on a three-piece foundation, giving the fullness below the hips. The blouse is a surplice one, with three tucks on the shoulder and frills of white plaited net outlining the neck in a quaint and picturesque way. A bow of scarlet velvet with a pearl buckle adds a pleasing touch of brilliant color, to match the satin slippers and stockings worn with the dress. The pattern is cut in 5 sizes, 34 to 42. Size 36 may be made from 3-4 yards of 30-inch material.

Pale blue satin messaline is the foundation material for the second illustration (7876) cut in a three piece skirt slightly gathered at the belt and trimmed with a twenty-inch band of ecru shadow lace headed with a garland of chiffon roses. The blouse has a guimpe lining, on which is a square gathered vest with a tiny binding and bow of pink satin, matchof the blue is also edged with the of the blue is also edked with the dainty chiffon flowers, and a row of sparkling rhinestone buttons adds the finishing touch to the lace bodice. A band of light blue maline is tied around the coiffure, by way of putting on an extra dressy appearance. Size 36 may be made from 2 3-4 yards of 36-inch material; 4 3-8 yards of 20-inch lace; and 3-4 yards of 27-inch satin for the girdle. This is cut in five sizes, 34 to 42. The price of each pattern is 15 cents.

Dainty Scallops for Embroidering Underwear, Neckwear and Infants' Garments.

There are so many times when one wishes just the daintiest little scallop to finish the frills on a blouse, a set of collar and cuffs or a chemisette and any of these pretty designs are suitable for these uses.

All these scallops are shown in their exact sizes so that you can see just how big they are and they are all very easy to embroider. 12250 embroidered in blue, lavender or yellow will make a charming finish for the collar and cuffs of a blouse of crepe de chine, chiffon cloth, linen or lawn, while it is quite as pretty for embroidering jabots, handkerchiefs, underwear, babys' clothes and dresses for the children. The pretty little flowers in 12259 can be worked either solid or as eyelets and this border would make the daintiest possible finish for handkerchiefs, babys' dresses, petticoats and little sacks. 13540 is a bit more elaborate and is especially pretty for neckwear as the dots may be worked either solid or as French dots, however, this border is also very dainty for embroidering the cape of baby's coat, a little bonnet, sack or dress. The heavier border, 12255, might be used on underwear or on dresses for the little girl from 2 to 10 years old, as well as on neckwear and blouses.

Each of these borders includes 3 yards of the transfer pattern and these transfer patterns can be supplied to readers for ten cents each.

MOTHER'S DARLINGS AND NURSE MARIE

Nearly eight hundred little girls whose parents read the Plainfield Daily Press in all parts of the United States have had the attractive members of this interesting paper cut-out family. So great has been the demand in the month that the Press has been offering them that the supply is about exhausted, and no more can be secured for some time.

The set consists of six handsome dolls; with forty-three costumes; three girls, two boys, and their nurse Marie. They range in height from eight to twelve inches and are printed in several bright colors on excellent paper manufactured especially for this purpose.

Cut out the coupon below and bring it with eight cents to the Daily Press office, 105 North Avenue, or send eleven cents and the dolls will be mailed. This offer only holds good while the dolls last.

This coupon and 8 cents (11 cents if dolls are to be mailed) upon presentation at the Plainfield Daily Press Office will entitle the holder to one set of

MOTHER'S DARLINGS AND NURSE MARIE.

Sporting Editor:

Query—A bets a sailor cannot buy himself out of the navy. B says he can. Who is right? D. D.

Answer—A sailor can buy himself out of the navy if he can furnish proof that there is someone dependent upon him for support.

Sporting Editor:

Query—When can I apply for a position as justice of the peace or notary public? F. W. L.

Answer—Justices of the peace are elected by the people. Notary publics are appointed by the Governor. Other information can be secured at the County Clerk's office in Elizabeth.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Where can I take up the surveying trade? U. N. M.

Answer—Surveying is not a trade, it's a profession. Why don't you try to secure a position as rod or chain man with a local civil engineer and try to learn the profession thoroughly?

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is it true that Rube Waddell called his outfielders in and then retired the side on one occasion? D. T. O.

Answer—Yes, Rube, really dit it, at least, it is on record that he went through with the stunt.

Sporting Editor:

Query—First man up hits safely. Next man hits in the infield. Player recovers the ball and throws to second baseman before the runner who was on first reaches there. Is he forced out? E. O. L.

Answer—Runner is out. How could you figure it any other way?

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the fee to join the Y. M. C. A. boys' department? S. G.

Answer—Five dollars for full privileges.

BASEBALL NOTES

It is said that the National Commission already is on the job planning for the world's series between the Giants and the Athletics.

Baseball critics think they see in George Dauss, the Detroit pitcher, a copy in action of "Kid" Nichols, the former big league pitcher.

President James McAleer, of the Red Sox, is well pleased with the showing made by Earl Moseley. Moseley comes from the Youngstown club, the home town of Sir James.

Toronto has a bird of a backstop in young Pick. In a recent Toronto-Jersey City double-header, Pick accepted 17 chances without an error, and made seven hits.

The Boston Nationals put one over on several major league clubs when they landed Luque and Padrone, the two Cuban stars of the Long Branch (N. J.) team.

The New York Yankees are fast getting together a team of youngsters. Outside the pitching staff, Sweeney, Cree and Hartzell are the only oldtimers in the regular lineup.

Recruit Outfielder Stewart, of the Cubs, looks like a real ball player. He played with Springfield and was one of the stars of the Central League before he joined Johnny Evers' crew.

Manager Stallings, of the Braves, has a fifteen-year-old son, who, he expects, will make a star big leaguer. Young Stallings is pitching for an amateur team in Atlanta, Ga.

Pitcher Claude Williams, recently purchased by Detroit from the Nashville club, of the Southern League, is the seventh player named Williams in the American League this season.

Manager Joe Tinker believes that Cy Morgan will prove a big help to the Reds' pitching staff. Cy was a star in the big yard for several years, and this season he has pitched brilliant ball for Kansas City.

August 16 was "Home Run Day" in the big show. On that day circuit drives were made by Baker, of the Athletics, and Foster, of Washington, in the American League, and Cravath, of Philadelphia (2), Doyle and Herzog, of New York; Konetchy, of St. Louis (2), and Wagner, of Pittsburgh, in the National League.

FISHING NOTES

Small striped bass are beginning to go into the creeks and they will be biting in another ten days. The Hudson river anglers are making preparations for a busy season. The best fishing is from the rocks along the railroad tracks on the New York shore.

This is the best time of the year for deep-sea fishing. The hump-back sea bass take the place of the smaller ones and the largest of the blackfish are arriving. Sea porgies bite well and it will not surprise the writer to hear of an odd codfish or two being caught this week.

Harry Bloodgood, of Morgan, had a party out fishing yesterday and they caught fifty big weakfish. They anchored on the middle grounds just north of Keyport Harbor channel.

There is excellent eel fishing at Sewaren. Men who have fished Smith's Creek just above Acker's boathouse say that they have had no trouble in catching from twenty to thirty pounds. Fluke and some weakfish are also being caught out into the sound.

The crabs are in Cheesequake Creek again. Ryerson's boats were out yesterday and they all brought in good messes. One rowboat party caught fifty and they were all big, heavy blueclaws.

In no other branch of the fishing-tackle business are so many improvements made as in the reel. The "heart of the tackle" is the best way to refer to the reel as nothing will handicap an angler like a poor one and if the best to be had is used there is always a better chance to catch fish. Casting calls for a free-running reel and this is especially true in surf work as well as in bass and pickerel fishing and those that seek the weakfish find it is a decided advantage to cast fifty or more feet from the boat. That Newark knows how aptly applies to the manufacture of fishing reels and the latest creation of Musselbach & Bro., of Congress street, Newark, called the Neptune, is undoubtedly the best salt water reel ever turned out by skilled hands.

Two knights of the road, both of them perfect specimens of the tramp fraternity, walked out to the end of the jetties at Morgan recently and one of them took off his shirt and started to wash it in the waters of Cheesequake Creek. While sousing it up and down it was seized from his hand and as it disappeared the other fellow made a quick move and caught the tail. Giving it a quick jerk, he landed a three-pound bluefish on the rocks and before it could wiggle back into the water it was kicked on the beach. The tramps seized the fish and carried it up to John Neiderman's hotel, where it was bought for 50 cents. George Neiderman, the guide, claimed that the grease from the shirt acted as a chum and attracted the fish.

FOOTBALL SEASON IS APPROACHING

NEW RULES FOR 1913

Many Formations That Caused Injuries to the Participants Have Been Eliminated—Open Play Spectacular.

As baseball, acknowledged as the most popular American sport, is rounding the curve into the home-stretch of the season, football is about to toe the starting line. And the resuming of the gridiron battles is awaited eagerly by hosts of people, who, despite the attacks which have been made on the sport, still realize its features and know that it is a real factor in sporting life in this country.

Football dates back as far as baseball, but, of course, during the many years passed, the strenuous game has been mostly confined to the schools and institutions of learning all over the country, the few professional teams playing the game being greatly in the minority. The sport was originally derived from the English rugby, but, like so many American athletic events, has changed so from year to year, that it might now be called a representative American game.

Changes For 1913.

Numerous changes have been made in the game during the past few years—brought about because of numerous gridiron accidents when mass plays and other dangerous formations were allowed. With the recent changes, then, the game remains intact for the 1913 season and the governing issues of the contest will hinge on the newly acquired quick punt, which will allow any man behind the line to kick the ball forward without being the necessary five yards behind the line of scrimmage; the forward pass with the limitation of being five yards behind the line, but allowing the opponents to interfere with the throwing side until the pass is actually made; and the ten yards to gain in three downs.

The field remains 100 yards long with a ten-yard zone behind each goal line in which territory, if caught, a forward pass is legal, while the ball when put in play at the kick-off will be booted from the forty-yard line, instead of the middle of the field. Punt-outs after touchback or safety will be made from the twenty-yard line of the kicking team.

There will be four quarters, as usual, with a one-minute rest between the first and second and the third and fourth, to allow the teams to change goals, and an intermission between the second and third of fifteen minutes, for a rest-up. Players may be taken from the game at any time and returned once at the beginning of any period or during the last or fourth quarter. Seven men must be on the line of scrimmage when the ball is put in play and interlocked interference is entirely barred, the man carrying the ball fighting his way alone or behind his individual players. A player of a team punting the ball is put on side only after the ball has touched an opponent, while a forward pass may be made for any distance, thus doing away with the field judge of two years ago. The remainder of the game as to off sides, holding, tripping, hurdling, flying tackles, slugging, etc., remains the same, all being subject to penalties.

WITH THE BOXERS

Charlie Eyton, of Los Angeles, has been selected to referee the 20-round bout between Leach Cross and Joe Rivers.

Promotor Gibson, of New York, is trying to match Packey McFarland and Tommy Murphy for a bout next month.

Ad Wolgast's next appearance in the ring will take place Labor Day afternoon at Oakland, Cal His opponent will be Joe Azevo.

Manager Dan McKiltrick will take Joe Jeannette, Young Ahearn, Barney Williams, Frank Moran and Mike Dunn to Paris next month.

OFFICER, HE'S IN AGAIN!

Crazy Mike, who says he only is trying to put one over on Crazy Fritz, sends us the following baseball yarn. Harry Thaw couldn't have been the only one who escaped. Listen!

"Matty and Meyers walked to Moranville one Knight to watch Johnson Boehling. He did well, except for one Ball he delivered, which was hard for the pin-boy to Dodge. He threw a hook ball, made a strike and even the pin-boy went down. The spectators got excited and wanted to know who the pin-boy was that got hurt, as they looked down the alley, they saw Warhop out of the pit with a sprained ankle, which he said Benz very easily. He also had a black eye and some one sent out for a Leach, which they put on to suck out the Brief accumulation of bad Blood, which had clogged about the eye.

"They moved the injured Mann and his Strunk to a nearby hotel, and as he could not n-Ford to pay for his room, his friends bought him a peddler's wagon. They asked Williams to do the peddling, but he declined. Wagner said he Wood, and the first day he made a lot of money selling Coombs, corn Cobb pipes, Weaver implements, Cooper tools and a few Cravaths. Wagner sent Wolter to ask Chance if he would let Maisel something, for it was Hartzell for one man to do all the work.

"They had money to Byrne in no time, so they bought a House with a large farm, hired a Gardner to take care of it. He raised Snodgrass and Wheat. He also had a couple of dogs around the farm to Chase the birds away from the seeds.

"The bunch of Giants got together one evening and called on the Baker down the Street. While there a Schauer came up. The Baker made them wait until it passed over. In the meantime he made some Coffey and cut up an Oldring of cake which he had in the store.

"The following morning they went fishing and they all insisted that Tesreau them across the Lake. The big bear hunter lost his footing while pulling on one of the Orrs and they all went overboard. They all saved themselves. Big Jeff managed to Kling to a Plank until he was rescued. They carried him ashore and laid him in McCormack's Lapp.

"Red Murray happened to come along and wanted to know what they were Doin. They told Red that they just saved Jeff from drowning. Red said he had something with him that would do Jeff Good and pulled out a small bottle of Zelder, which Red drinks Daley in the Hall of his House.

"Robinson received a wire from McGraw stating that he was going to give Mitc-hell for not saving Big Jeff himself, as the Giants Needham to win the pennant.

"'There's no Harmon that,' said the Butler, as he opened the door of the Packard."

RED STARS EARN A CHANCE TO GET FLAG

By Defeating Laurels Tie Is Established In Junior League Standing.

By virtue of their win yesterday over the Laurels, the Red Stars climbed to the top of the Parker Field Junior League, tied for the championship. The Laurels and Red Stars have played consistent ball during the entire season and far outclassed the Jackson B. C. and Arrow teams. The deciding game to settle the winner of the pennant will be played the early part of next week.

RED STARS DEFEAT FAST GOING LAURELS

Victors Thereby Secure Chance to Capture Pennant—Score 11 to 6.

By assaulting the opposing pitchers for a total of eleven bingles, the Red Stars took the laurels from the Laurel A. C., yesterday afternoon, in a well played baseball game on Parker Field by the score of 11 to 6. V. Mullin, the Stars' crack twirler allowed the batters that faced him but seven hits, the majority of which were made in the first trio of rounds. Butler and Day, of the losers, accounted for two-baggers, a run resulting in each instance.

INITIAL TITLE GAME LABOR DAY

Plainfield vs. Somerville, For Central N. J. Championship at Parker Field.

SAURER TEAM ACTIVE

Shop Nine Will Play Four Games In Three Days—To Tackle the Pets On Saturday Afternoon, and Scotch Plains On Sunday.

At a conference, last night, between Ernest Dorflinger, manager of the Plainfield team, and Jack Torpey, the pilot of the Somerville nine, it was decided that these two aggregations would hook up Labor Day afternoon on Parker Field in the first of a three-game series to decide the championship of the Central New Jersey Baseball League. Preparations will be made to handle a record crowd at the local park and extra provisions will be made for the comfort of the automobilists.

Both managers will undoubtedly secure big league batteries to assist them in their efforts to land the initial contest for their respective teams. Who the men will be is a mystery and Dorflinger and Torpey will endeavor to spring a surprise.

On Saturday afternoon at Parker Field, the Pets will oppose the champion Saurer aggregation of the City League, in the first game of a series for the championship baseball title of Plainfield. Tommy Mullin, who has returned from Brunswick, Ga., where he played on the team representing that city in the Empire League, will wear a Pet uniform. He will probably play the short field position.

The Saurer aggregation was originally scheduled to perform against the West End A. C. team Saturday in a City League contest, but this game has been deferred until Labor Day when the two nines will play a double-header. On Sunday the Saurer nine will play Scotch Plains.

PETS' FIRST BASEMAN UNDERGOES OPERATION

John Garretson, Popular Idol of Local Fans, Will Be Out of Game Rest of Season.

John Garretson, the star first baseman of the Plainfield Pets, is today undergoing an operation which will keep him from the game for the balance of the season. After Saturday's game at Parker Field with the Royal Giants, the youthful ball tossers complained that he did not feel as well as usual, although he played a brilliant game throughout the nine innings. Yesterday he was taken home at his home, 202 Watchung avenue, and this morning the attending physicians ordered that an immediate operation be performed.

"Jack," as Garretson is known in baseball circles, has been taking active participation in the national game time around these parts since he was able to walk. Last year playing for the Public Service team in the Manufacturers' League, he performed notably and attracted the attention of managers of the leading semi-pro aggregations of the State. Shortly after the opening of the Central New Jersey League, Manager Dorflinger of the local nine, secured his services and Garretson has been a Pet since.

McLOUGHLIN WINS NATIONAL TITLE

CHAMP LOSES 2ND SET

Newport, R. I., Aug. 27—Maurice E. McLoughlin remains unshaken in his holding of the all-comers' national lawn tennis singles championship title. The famous American, who led the successful assault at Wimbledon, ably maintained his supremacy yesterday in the final match of the thirty-third annual tournament on the turf courts of the Casino by defeating Richard Norris Williams, 2d, of Philadelphia, in four splendidly-fought sets, which were scored at 6-4, 5-7, 6-3, 6-1.

Williams, the team-mate of his adversary in the battle across the net which decided the wearer of the crown and the purple of the courts for another year, accomplished what no other aspirant for the honors has been able to do in this tournament. He took a set from the hero of the Davis cup contests. Lifting his game to wonderful heights, Williams for a brief season outplayed his rival.

The crowd packed itself about the beautiful stretch of turf, and sat spellbound and amazed. Like a rolling billow, Williams moved with irresistible force. McLoughlin's defense was futile. It was all Williams, and, as the stroke analysis of the second set shows, he sent a total of 26 placed drives through McLoughlin's court, to a paltry dozen for the champion. But, like the billow, it reached its limitations, and once it broke on the sands of McLoughlin's steadiness there was little left of it other than the glittering spray of shots that held the interest to the end.

By his superb victory yesterday McLoughlin rounds out the complete line of triumphs in which the players from California have captured every national title. McLoughlin succeeds himself as the winner of the singles, and, with Thomas C. Bundy, he retains the doubles honors. Miss Mary Browne repeated in the women's singles, while the national clay court, the Western Longwood and New York State have fallen before the brilliancy and the wonderful playing of the young wielders of the racquet from the Pacific coast.

CENTENARY OF BATTLE.

Morrisburg, Ont., Aug. 27.—One hundred years ago this autumn occurred the battle of Chrysler's Farm, one of the notable engagements of the last war between Great Britain and the United States. Today the centenary was celebrated with a grand rally of school children of eastern Ontario and a military display furnished by troops drawn from the same section. Tomorrow the celebration will conclude with a program of addresses by men prominent in Canadian public life. The battle of Chrysler's Farm was fought Nov. 11, 1813, on the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence, below Ogdensburg. Sixteen hundred Americans under Gen. Boyd, and 1,500 British troops under Col. Morrison, were engaged in the conflict. The Americans were repulsed with a loss of 102 killed and 236 wounded.

THAW MAKES CLEVER MOVE

HABEAS CORPUS VACATED

Defying Crown to Bring Him to Bar, Thaw Laughs at Their Discomfiture. May Stay In Jail Until He Chooses to Leave It—Jerome Dumbfounded.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 27.—Harry Thaw has, through his staff of clever lawyers, temporarily checkmated his foes by withdrawing the writ of habeas corpus under which he was to appear in the superior court of St. Francis.

The withdrawal of the writ places Thaw in one of the most peculiar positions in the history of Canadian jurisprudence. It is that:

First.—He is held in jail under a charge that is legally not an offense against the law of the Dominion.

Second.—The length of his stay in jail depends entirely upon himself. So far no way has been devised by the Canadian attorneys in the service of New York state by which he can be forced into court.

Third.—The barred doors of the jail would be opened at his demand, but he will not make the demand because the moment he steps from the jail he will be arrested by the immigration authorities on the double charge that he is an undesirable alien and having entered Canada by stealth.

"Got Them in the Air."

"I guess I've got them all up in the air," laughed Thaw, who indicated that the writ had been withdrawn by his direction.

The withdrawal of the writ was a bombshell to the American and Canadian attorneys acting in the interests of New York. District Attorney Conger, of Dutchess and Hector Verret, K. C., who is acting for the Matteawan authorities, hurried into conference.

"The effect of this action may be to prolong Thaw's stay in jail here indefinitely," said Mr. Verret.

"Cannot the crown prosecutor, Jacob Nicoll, move Thaw's trial or at least bring him before a magistrate upon the present commitment?" Mr. Verret was asked.

"I do not believe so," he replied. "In my opinion, Thaw himself can elect whether he wishes to be tried upon the warrant charging him with being a fugitive from justice. He can elect trial before either a magistrate immediately or wait and go before the king's bench, criminal side, next October.

Commitment Was Faulty.

"On the other hand, as the charge upon which he is held is not a crime in Canada and as the commitment is palpably faulty in that it characterizes Thaw as a fugitive from the penitentiary of Matteawan I do not know whether any court in the Dominion would allow the prisoner to go to trial."

William T. Jerome, tried legal campaigner that he is, admitted frankly that he is completely nonplused.

GOVERNORS IN CONFERENCE.

State Executives to Air Divergent Views at Colorado Springs.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 27.—When the annual conference of governors opened here one of the questions to be considered was the arrangement of the program so that the various state executives might discuss the pet theories they have brought along with them.

Governor Ammons of Colorado, for instance, opposes national conservation, believing instead in the state control of public lands. Governor Hodges of Kansas favors commission government of states. Governor Hunt of Arizona would abolish legislatures and vest their power in the governors and their cabinets. Governor Mann of Virginia wants a national highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific and another from Canada to Mexico; also he wants prohibition in Virginia. Governor Colquitt of Texas wants intervention in Mexico.

ADRIANOPLE RUMOR SCOUTED

Report Bulgars Would Give Up City Thought Untrue.

London, Aug. 27.—There is nothing to confirm a report from Constantinople that Bulgaria has agreed to abandon Adrianople to Turkey in consideration of compensation elsewhere. The rumor is regarded here as most improbable.

Reports from Constantinople persist that direct negotiations between Turkey and Bulgaria have begun, but dispatches from Sofia just as persistently deny these stories. There seems to be a complete deadlock between the two countries.

Quick Heat

SQUARE POT BOILERS develop full heating capacity in a few moments and are rightfully called "quick heaters." The reason can be seen by a glance at the sectional view herewith. Interior surfaces in SQUARE POT BOILERS are brought low, in direct contact with the fire, and also trend sharply upward, thus providing instantaneous water heating and lively circulation. The result is a free-steaming boiler that gives quick and satisfactory house heating.

SQUARE POT BOILERS are economical of coal, require little attention and are easily regulated for either mild or severe weather. Call on the nearest dealer for a full demonstration.

Sale of Lands for Unpaid Taxes

Collector's Office, City of Plainfield, New Jersey.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber, the Collector of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, pursuant to the authority of the statute in such case made and provided, will on at two o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the said Collector's office, No. 151 North Avenue, in said city, expose for sale and sell the several tracts or parcels of land hereinafter specified, or any part or parts thereof severally sufficient for the purpose, on which taxes for the year nineteen hundred and twelve remain in arrears, to such person or persons as will purchase the same for the shortest term and pay the tax lien thereon, including interest and costs of sale, or in fee where no one will bid for a shorter term.

This sale is made under the provisions of the act of the Legislature of this State, entitled: "An Act for the assessment and collection of taxes," approved April 3, 1903, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Further particulars of the land to be sold, as shown on the City records, may be obtained at the office of the subscriber any week day prior to the day of sale, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., except holidays and Saturdays, and on Saturdays between 9 a. m. and 12 noon.

The following is a list of the several tracts and parcels of lands to be sold, which shows the names of the delinquents, the supposed owners thereof as the names of the delinquent owners appear on the books of the taxing district, together with a statement of the wards of the city wherein said lands are respectively situated, and the street in which each lot is situated, the block and lot number of each lot as they appear on the Official Assessment Maps of the City of Plainfield, on file in the office of the City Collector, and the amount due from each of the said lots respectively. To the amount due on each lot and parcel as hereinafter designated, there will be added interest at the rate of ten per centum per per annum from the twentieth day of December, 1912, to the day of sale, and the fees provided by said act of the Legislature, viz.: for preparing and publishing notices of sale twenty-five cents for each parcel of land advertised; and for selling twenty-five cents for each parcel sold; and for each certificate of sale, fifty cents, besides necessary disbursements for printing, postage, affidavits and acknowledgements, which are hereby estimated at three dollars for each item of arrearage, and the City Clerk's fee for recording report, ten cents for each parcel of land sold, and all said fees and expenses shall form part of the tax lien and be paid by the purchaser at the tax sale.

Sale Number.	Supposed owner or person to whom assessed.	Ward.	Block No. City Assessment Maps.	Lot No. City Assessment Maps.	Street or Avenue.	Year.	Amount of Tax.	Date from which interest will be added at 10 per cent. per annum to date of sale.

4% INTEREST

4% INTEREST

The Plainfield Trust Company has always stood for Safety--Conservation--Efficiency

That is why it has established itself in the public confidence and has built up a deposit line of nearly

Four and a Half Millions of Dollars

On these deposits liberal interest is paid—in the Special Department 4% on any amount, and in the Banking Department 3% on daily balances of $500 or more.

THE PLAINFIELD TRUST COMPANY

If it is not already there, we would like to add your name to our list of depositors.

SERVICE

THE FIRST OF THE MONTH

is the time to make deposits in our Special Department. The first of September is approaching. 4% interest will begin on that date, provided you do your part and make a deposit not later than September 3rd. Prove your wisdom by acting on the suggestion.

THE STATE TRUST COMPANY

Capital $100,000.00.

We Do Not Make Special Sales

but we sell goods at reduced prices this time of the year. July and August is our house-cleaning time, many dollar articles are reduced to Fifty Cents. It is one of our most stringent rules to close out all last season's stock, hence it is your chance to save money. What we want to sell may be just what you want, and you can buy it at much less than the regular price.

Do not forget us on your repairs, and special order work. Our shop is running full time and all hands are waiting for your orders. Out Watchmakers, Jewelers, Engravers, Diamond-setters, Opticians always at your service.

LEO SLONIM

THE JEWELER. 230 WEST FRONT ST.

75c—STRAW HATS—75c

Brighten up with a new Strow Hat at this exceptionally low price—these hats were selling from $1.50 to $2, also a few slightly soiled from handling, will sell at 25c in order to close them out.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

Certificate of Filing of Consent by Stockholders to Dissolution.

To all to whom these presents may come, Greeting:

WHEREAS, it appears to my satisfaction, by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary dissolution thereof deposited in my office that the Ashley Falls Marble Company, a corporation of this State, whose principal office is situated at No. 205 West Ninth Street, in the City of Plainfield, County of Union, State of New Jersey (William D. Murray being the agent therein and in charge thereof, upon whom process may be served) has complied with the requirements of "An Act concerning corporations (Revision of 1896)," preliminary to the issuing of this Certificate that such Consent has been filed.

NOW THEREFORE, I, David S. Crater, Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, Do Hereby Certify that the said corporation did, on the Twenty-first day of August, 1913, file in my office a duly executed and attested consent in writing to the dissolution of said corporation, executed by more than two-thirds in interest of the stockholders thereof which said certificate and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my said office as provided by law.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal at Trenton this thirty-first day of August, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and thirteen.

PROGRESSIVES FIX UP THEIR TICKET

ALL ARE FOR DE MEZA

Will Put Republican City Judge On Their Ticket, Too—Davis Against Wilbur For Freeholder — Other Choices.

Deciding to support four local candidates now seeking nomination on other tickets, and to place candidates in the field for other offices, local Progressives met in the Babcock building, last night, and discussed the political situation. Preliminary plans for the campaign were discussed, and it was found that so far as known among those present last night, there is apparently no local sentiment for the nomination by the party of Edmund B. Osborne, all present expressing their belief that Everett Colby would be by far the strongest campaigner. Former Mayor George W. V. Moy was chairman and A. M. Morrell, secretary.

City Judge William G. DeMeza, who is seeking renomination on the Republican ticket will also be a candidate for the Progressive nomination, the meeting unanimously deciding that no better candidate could be secured. In the Third ward it was decide to tender the Progressive nomination for Councilman to Barton B. Davis, who is running on the Democratic ticket also, and in the Fourth ward Charles C. Graves, who announced his candidacy yesterday for the Republican nomination for Council, was endorsed. The fourth man endorsed was J. Hervey Doane, who is seeking re-election as a member of the Board of Freeholders on the Republican ticket. He will also be tendered the Progressive nomination.

During the course of the evening Edgar A. Knapp, of Elizabeth, and Mayor Harwood Fish, of Roselle Park, who were present with petitions, added their urging to that of a large number of local people and persuaded Mr. Moy to become a candidate for the Progressive nomination for Assembly. Mr. Moy previously declined, but was finally prevailed upon to change his mind. On the ticket with him, representing the Colby faction of the party in the county, will be Mr. Fish and Clarence P. Morrell, of Elizabeth. On the ticket which is representing the Osborne faction are Frederick A. Taggert, of Westfield; Welcome W. Bender, of Elizabeth, and Albert P. Cain, of Springfield.

For Councilman in the First ward the meeting decided to wait on Allen E. Beals and tender him the party nomination, and in the Second ward Stanley E. Gunnison is expected to run again. It will be remembered that last year Mr. Gunnison was elected on the face of the returns, but counted out by a small number of votes on a court recount.

Theodore G. Davis, of 512 New street, will be the candidate of the party for Feeeholder to try to secure the place now held by Samuel P. T. Wilbur.

For Councilman-at-large the only candidate decided upon last night was A. M. Morrell, who made such a strong run locally for Freeholder on the Progressive ticket last year. Mr. Morrell's two associates on the ticket for Councilman-at-large will be decided upon in ample time to file petitions, which will be completed at a meeting to be held next Tuesday night.

Full city and county committees will be selected in the party. To choose candidates for the eighteen places on each committee the following were named: First ward, I. B. Hill, J. C. Allen and Clarence LaRue; Second ward, Howard Tracy, John S. Dahl and Leslie R. Fort; Third ward, A. M. Morrell, Dr. Marcus L. Clawson and C. W. Spicer; Fourth ward, George Greenleaf.

IN BUSINESS AGAIN.

W. L. Sharkey, who, two years ago, sold his blacksmithing business on Lincoln place to Horace J. Martin, and moved to Lebanon, Hunterdon county, and established a similar business at that place, has returned to the borough. He has recently formed a partnership with Mr. Martin at his old place of business.

Y. M. C. A. NOTE.

The physical department of the Y. M. C. A. will be closed on Saturday, August 30, in order that several needed repairs may be made. The department will be re-opened for the fall term on September 10.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED.

Hugh Greene, of 631 West Third street, was arraigned in the borough court this morning before Recorder Gano, on the charge of being helplessly drunk. Sentence was suspended.

MARTINE'S VIEW OF SINGER PLANT

INCREASE WAGE TALK

Hearing of Threat of Concern to Leave Country, Senator Martine Shouts, "God Speed the Day of the Open Door."

Washington, Aug. 28.—Senator Martine had another slight argument on the floor of the Senate wherein Senator Smoot, Republican, was called to account by the Jersey Senator for hinting that the pending Democrat's tariff rates might drive the Singer Sewing Machine Company out of the country.

Senator Martine arose to the bait when the Senator from Utah touched upon the subject of sewing machines. Senator Smoot hadn't said anything particularly mean about the Elizabeth company, but nevertheless Senator Martine explained to him and the rest of the Senate what sewing machines meant to Union county, expatiating on the size and number of employes in the Singer plant.

Then Senator Smoot related that the Singer concern had plants in Germany and several other European countries and added that the Singer employes might suffer a wage cut when the new tariff was imposed. As to that, Senator Martine replied, the labor unions of Elizabeth were particularly efficient—the Singer empoyes had often secured raises in the past, and could do the same in the future.

"But suppose they demand better wages and the company refuses to accede," said Senator Smoot. "The State of New Jersey cannot compel them to continue working their local factory, and they could easily say, 'We'll simply move across the water.'"

That was all right, rejoined Senator Martine, but sewing machines were a household necessity, and if the free tariff would cut the price of sewing machines and yet cause the manufacturers to take such a course, why—"God speed the day of the open door."

Other Senators then backed up Senator Martine by quoting statistics showing that sewing machines sold here for $40 were often marketed abroad for $15, just as American makes of harvesting machinery and steel shovels, etc., bring lower prices abroad than at home.

MARTINE ENGAGES IN A SHARP CLASH

Illinois Senator Gets Into a Scrap With James E. In the Senate.

Washington, D. C., August 28.—Senator Martine, of New Jersey, was the storm centre of a noisy executive session of the Senate Tuesday night, when Senator Sherman, Republican, of Illinois, charged that postoffice appointments for that State had been acted upon without his knowledge. Martine is chairman of the sub-committee which has in charge postoffice nominations for New Jersey, New York and Illinois.

Senator Bacon, of Georgia, demanded order and declared that the scene was the most disgraceful he had ever witnessed in the Senate chamber. When order was partially restored Martine explained that he had consulted J. Ham Lewis, the senior Senator from Illinois, concerning all appointments for that State before recommending them for confirmation and took it for granted that Lewis had consulted his colleague. Lewis said he had done so.

Finally Senator Sherman admitted that he had been consulted by Lewis about confirmations and exonerated Martine, declaring that what he was really angry about was that a lot of Republican postmasters had been removed to make room for Democrats.

EDWARD GARGAN.

Edward Gargan, aged 43 years, of Mountainside, died at Muhlenberg Hospital, this morning, from septicaemia. He was removed to the hospital last night, following a long illness from complications. Mr. Gargan was married and had been a resident of Mountainside for several years. The remains will be taken to the late home today.

EDWARD KONOPS.

Edward Konops, aged eleven months, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Konops, of 635 South Second street, died last night. The burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery tomorrow.

Dressed as "Dutch Peasants," Florence Andrey and John Allen Beck, children of Mrs. Esther M. Beck, of Washington avenue, North Plainfield, captured second prize in the Burlesque division of the monster baby show and parade held yesterday at Asbury Park. The prize was a large silver loving cup inscribed with the babies' names. Kathleen Hinni, daughter of Fred C. Hinni, of East Orange, dressed as Billy Burke, was awarded first place, although many of the judges favored the local entrants. The borough babes garbed in original and unique customs were known to the spectators as "Hans and Gretchen," and proved popular to the enormous crowd which witnessed the spectacle.

Rosalind Elizabeth Newell and Ferris Efpee Newell, twins, children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Newell, of 1017 West Seventh street, were also presented with a gold cup at the conclusion of the baby parade, a prize they had won in the "Better Babies Contest," conducted last week by the Women's Home Companion. The cup was donated by Moyer's Jewelry Co., of Asbury Park, to the best pair of twins in the contest. Over three hundred entrants from all parts of the country competed against the local tots, who won first place in both the physical and mental examinations. Mr. Newell is at present in Europe and does not know of his children's success in the contest.

WHELAN, HOME FROM EUROPE, TALKS BUSINESS

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Aug. 28—Sales of the United Cigar Stores Company, of America for seven months ending July 31 increased $2,100,000 over those for the corresponding period of 1912. This was stated by George J. Whelan, of Plainfield, who has the controlling interest in the company, upon his return from abroad last night, on board the Imperator. Mr. Whelan confirmed the fact that a movement was assuming definite form for the invasion of England by American tobacco capital.

F. W. Woolworth, owner of the Woolworth building, and head of the chain of five and ten cent stores, returned on the Imperator also. Mr. Woolworth said he had doubled the number of his stores in London, making a total of thirty and had arranged to establish others in Glasgow, Belfast and Dublin, and in large cities in Germany.

TAX LIST DELINQUENTS IN BOROUGH PUBLISHED

Collector George F. Brown is publishing the list of delinquent tax payers in North Plainfield borough, as required by law, in the Daily Press. The advertisement runs five days this week and is to be found in another column in today's issue. There are a number whose names are advertised who have undoubtedly let the matter escape their attention, and it is expected that when they see the advertisement the back taxes will be paid. The list is much shorter in proportion to the number of residents than is the list for the city, which is being published on Wednesdays for five weeks by Collector Townsend.

WOMAN BREAKS LEG.

The local police received a telephone call shortly after 9 o'clock last night from the home of Mrs. John Haskard, 3 McDowell street, stating that a woman was lying helpless on the sidewalk near that address. Patrolman O'Keefe was sent in the ambulance to McDowell street, where he found Mrs. George Moore, 54 years old, of 692 West Fourth street, on the sidewalk in a semi-unconscious condition. Rushed to Muhlenberg Hospital, an examination revealed that the woman's leg was broken below the knee. She said she had stumbled over a flagstone which protruded above level.

HUERTA ACCEPTS WILSON TERMS?

Washington and New York Receive Advices That He Will Heed President.

OUR POSITION NOW

Policy Adopted by United States to Gradually Drive Mexican Executive From Office Briefly Outlined.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28—On reliable authority it was learned that Provisional President Huerta has finally accepted the mediation proposals submitted by President Wilson. John Lind so cabled. The text of the note, it is reported, containing Huerta's acceptance began to arrive early today. After the preliminary part of the note had been received trouble with the cable occurred.

New York, Aug. 28 (Special)—A cable from Vera Cruz to the New York Herald, says: "Mexico of her own accord will accept the good offices of President Wilson in settling her internal troubles. That was conveyed in a message received by John Lind yesterday afternoon from the government in Mexico City. Mr. and Mrs. Lind will return to the Mexican capitol on Friday."

A despatch to the Times from Mexico City says: "It is stated authoritatively that Presidet Huerta will receive tomorrow $4,000,000 as an advance on a loan which will total $40,000,000. The further authoritative statement is made that the remainder of the loan will be forthcoming almost immediately."

Washington, Aug. 28 (Special)—For the present the administrations Mexican policy is well defined and is being swiftly put into execution. First, all Americans are to be brought out of Mexico as speedily as possible; second, rigid prohibition of exportation of munitions of war to Mexico will be enforced; third, it will be made plain in every possible way that the United States is standing sternly and disapprovingly aloof.

The expected result of this policy is the gradual weakening of Huerta's influence among his own people and his speedy deposition from power. It is found that under the Mexican constitution the Provisional President could resign and afterward become a candidate for President. It is this trick which the administration is trying to guard against.

Representative John Lind today was ordered to return to Mexico City from Vera Cruz. Before ordering him to go back, Secretary of State Bryan said that his advices from Mexico City were very encouraging.

SAVED THE DAY FOR SUFFRAGISTS

WILL BE ADVERTISED

Mrs. Feickert, Mrs. Colby and Mrs. Garrison Get Busy and Lawmakers Can Pass Bill Second Time and Vote Will Be Taken In 1914.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Aug. 28—Mrs. Everett Colby, Mrs. Philip McKim Garrison, Mrs. Edward F. Feickert and other leaders of the movement in behalf of woman suffrage in the State held a conference here this morning with Scretary of State David S. Crater and J. J. Farrell, the executive clerk, regarding the error in failing to advertise the legislative resolution as required by law.

After the conference a statement was given out to the effect that it had been agreed that the mixup was an error, but that it would be legal to advertise now as originally planned. Accordingly advertisements were sent out today to newspapers in the various counties with instructions to publish the same once in Aug. and once a week during September and October. This, it is believed, will meet all legal requirements and thus permit a vote on the question in 1914, provided the next legislature this winter passes favorably on the same.

Some of the suffragists have been inclined to put the blame for the error on Governor Fielder, but others were as strongly of the opinion that he was not to blame. It was reported here yesterday that the bill was "wilfully buried," and that some who voted for it never intended that it should come before the next legislature.

Mrs. Abraham VanWinkle, president of the Woman's Political Union of New Jersey, quoted a telephone conversation with Mrs. Colby, yesterday in which the latter is said to have been informed that it would not be

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT AT SOCIAL GATHERING

Miss Cora B. Gano, daughter of Borough Recorder and Mrs. M. F. Gano, of Duer street, entertained a number of friends at her home, yesterday afternoon. Being invited to the dining-room, the guests found on the table a little cupid eagerly presenting a message, which proved to be the announcement of the engagement of Miss Gano to Leslie M. Crane.

The serving of refreshments was accompanied with best wishes to the bride-to-be, together with much pleasantry, as all of the guests were either recent or expectant brides. The decorations were simply carried out in green and white, including the flowers which were principally white hydrangeas and August lillies. The favors were corsage bouquets of natural flowers and tiny green and white baskets filled with green and white bon-bons.

Miss Gano has been a resident of the borough for the past eleven years, prior to which time she lived with her parents at Annandale, Hunterdon county. Mr. Crane is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Crane, formerly of Orange, but whose home now is on Westervelt avenue, this city. No date has been set for the wedding.

TOBACCO KING'S STEPSON REPRIMANDED FOR SPEEDING

FUNERAL OF A. G. BEEKMAN.

The funeral of Arthur G. Beekman will be held at the late home, 39 Somerset street, the borough, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, of which Mr. Beekman was a member, will officiate. The burial will be in the M. E. cemetery.

DESPONDENT, HE TRIES SUICIDE?

Edmund Stephenson Slashed Wrist With Razor But Will Recover.

HIS SISTER GETS HELP

Police Say Victim Attempted to End His Life and Physician Corroborates—Rushed to Muhlenberg Hospital, Where His Wife Is Also.

Inflicting a cut a half inch deep in his left wrist with a razor at 1 o'clock this morning, Edmund Stephenson 40 years old, of 247 West Front street, then called to his sister, Miss Minnie E. Stephenson, with whom he lives and said, Kiss me good-bye; I'm going to die."

With these words on his lips the man reeled and fell to the floor. His sister, after snatching the razor from his grasp, rushed downstairs and hurriedly ran to a telephone in the jewelry store of Penn & Bernstein, and summoned Dr. C. A. Gesswein, whose quick medical attention will save him.

According to the police and judging by the circumstances of the case, Stephenson attempted to commit suicide because of financial troubles and worriment over the condition of his sick wife, who is confined in the Soho Hospital, Essex county. This theory is denied by his sister, however, in a statement to a Daily Press reporter. She claims that he could not sleep, so got up at 1 o'clock in the morning to shave himself and while removing the hair from his face, accidentally cut himself when the sharp instrument slipped. According to Dr. Gesswein, the cut was a much more severe one than could have been inflicted accidentally.

According to Miss Stephenson's own statement, her brother throughout yesterday talked continually of his troubles and of his sick wife. "I was awakened," she said, "when my brother called to me and showed me the cut on his wrist. He was bleeding profusely and I telephoned for Dr. Gesswein, who in turn summoned the ambulance and had him removed to Muhlenberg Hospital. I asked him how he cut himself, and he told me that, being unable to sleep because of the noise in the street, he had arisen from his bed and started to shave, and that the razor had slipped."

"I hope you will put the story in the paper as I tell it to you," the sister added, "instead of according to the rumors that have been circulated regarding his attempting to commit suicide."

Chief Kiely said he questioned Miss Stephenson who told an entirely different story to the police head. No lather was found on Stephenson's face, nor could any evidence be found that would tend to show that he had been shaving or that he contemplated doing so

The hospital authorities say the man will recover.

HUBBY GONE, GETS STRANGE MESSAGE

Unknown Man Tells Mrs. Ives Husband Was Killed In New York—Not Believed.

Mrs. William B. Ives, of 15 Grove street, whose husband disappeared last Tuesday, when he was last seen boarding a trolley car, was visited last night about 8 o'clock by a man who asked for a description of her husband. After obtaining it he said that it tallied exactly with that of a man who was killed in New York on Wednesday in an automobile accident and that his body was in the morgue in New York city.

Mrs. Ives, being too excited, forgot to ask the man his name, or get any further particulars. After he left she called up Police Chief Kiely, and at her request he made inquiries in New York concerning the dead man. He could get no information as to such an accident as described by the stranger. Mr. Ives formerly worked at Truell Inn. Besides a wife he has a daughter who is nine years old. Mrs. Ives before her marriage was Miss Helen N. Hand.

Mr. Ives is described as weighing 170 pounds, five feet, eight inches in height, smooth face, dark hair and wore dark clothes and a straw hat when he went away from the city.

BIKE RIDER HURT.

While riding a bicycle this morning on East Front street, John F. Brosbent, of Westervelt avenue, was struck by an automobile owned and driven by Herman Busz, of Newark. The accident occurred as the cyclist neared Watchung avenue riding east. Brosbent was attended by Dr. Albert J. Pittis, who said the lad suffered from bruises about the left leg and head.

IMPERATOR AFIRE: TWO LIVES LOST

Struggle For Hours to Put Out Flames Which Start In Food Compartment.

PANIC ABOARD SHIP

Many of the Steerage Passengers Injured—Captain Says Loss Is Heavy—Three Departments Fight Fire.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Hoboken, Aug. 28.—Damage which cannot be estimated as yet, two dead and several injured, are the results of a serious fire which broke out shortly after 5 o'clock this morning in the giant new steamship, Imperator, which docked late last night. The fire started in the provision room, and tons of water were poured into the holds before it was under control.

Fed by oils and fats, the flames spread rapidly. Panic broke out among the 2,000 men and women steerage passengers and many of them were injured. The steerage passengers were held on board the liner over night because it was too late to transfer them to Ellis Island when the ship docked. While half of the crew of 1,180 men fought the spreading blaze the remainder got the steerage passengers to safety on the pier.

The New York Fire Department sent two fireboats to assist the Jersey City and Hoboken fire departments. The captain of the vessel said that the loss would be heavy.

The chief of the Hoboken fire department announced shortly before 9 o'clock that the fire was under control but that there had been considerable damage done.

Second Officer Gobrecht was one of the victims. With a fire helmet he entered the provision compartment on "F" dock, where the fire was confined and was suffocated, it being explained later that probably not sufficient air was pumped into the helmet. A sailor named Stumpf has not been accounted for and is believed also to have been suffocated.

Julius P. Meyer, vice director of the Hamburg-American line, stated at 10 o'clock that it was absolutely impossible then to estimate the damage caused by the fire. Mr. Meyer conferred with Commodore Russer, commander of the ship, and decided that nothing definite as to the extent of the damage could then be determined. At that time he was sure that the fire had been confined entirely to that part of the ship where dry provisions are stored. This is aft on the starboard side. This compartment was flooded by water to a depth of thirty-five feet, causing the ship to list considerably.

At noon Mr. Meyer issued a statement in which he said that the fire was confined to the provision rooms compartment and no damage was done to the passenger accommodations, except some of the third class, through which the hose lines were laid, but this damage was of no consequence. The vessel is expected to sail on time on Saturday and in the event of unforeseen difficulties arising she will certainly be despatched not later than Sunday morning, and will keep her schedules for her future dates between Europe and New York.

TWO LITTLE GIRLS HOLD A FAIR FOR NURSERY

Two little misses, Anne Holstein, of Watchung avenue, and Katherine Woodburn, of Hillside avenue, added their mite to the fund being contributed to the Day Nursery through the columns of the Daily Press, when they left $1.50 at the office this morning. Yesterday afternoon they had a little fair at which they sold candy and lemonade for the benefit of the nursery, and early this morning they brought the money for the Press to be forwarded to the authorities at the home.

As has been frequently stated in the Daily Press the Nursery is more in need of funds this year than ever before. The contributions which have been made have been several hundred dollars less than in past years, and at the same time the work at the nursery has been more extensive and more expensive. The example set by the two little girls in holding a fair for this charity is a splendid one, and it might well be followed by others.

IN DISTRICT COURT.

The suit instituted by Morris Abrams against Harry Cowen and his wife, Rose Cowen, on contract to recover money alleged to have been loaned to defendants, was heard this morning in the District Court. In the absence of Judge W. L. Hetfield, who is ill, District Judge I. P. Runyon, of Somerville, presided. A judgment for $173.25 was given.

TUBERCULOSIS DAY SET FOR SUNDAY, DECEMBER 7

Churches, schools, labor unions, fraternal orders and other organizations to the number of 200,000 at least will be asked to join the anti-tuberculosis workers of the country in the observance of the Fourth National Tuberculosis Day, which has been designated for December 7, according to an announcement issued today by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

The movement will be furthered throughout the country by more than 1,000 anti-tuberculosis societies working through various State organizations an the national association. Personal appeals will be made to clergymen, school principals and leaders of various organizations urging them to set aside a definite time during the week preceding or the week following December 7, for a lecture on tuberculosis

Last year over 60,000 churches gave attention to this subject on Tuberculosis Day. It is hoped this year to swell the number of churches to 100,000 and to urge similar action besides in a large number of the schools and other societies. The Tuberculosis Day Campaign will come this year during the Red Cross Christmas Seal sale. It is planned to urge the churches of the county to take a definite part in this movement.

The observance of Tuberculosis Day was endorsed last year by President Taft, Cardinal Farley, Col. Roosevelt and many other prominent churchmen and public officials. Proclamations calling upon the people to observe this day were issued by governors of more than a dozen States and by the mayors of a considerable number of cities.

MOTHER OF BALL PLAYER DIES.

Jersey City, Aug. 28—After an illness of three weeks, Mrs. Helena Verbout, mother of John Verbout, pitcher of the Jersey City International League team, is dead at her home, 341 Pavonia avenue. Her son was with the Jersey City team in Toronto, but reached home before his mother's death in response to a telegram. Mrs. Verbout was fifty-eight years old and lived nearly all her life in Jersey City. Frank Verbout, another son, was a leader of the Wittpenn forces, and is now a truant officer. Mrs. Verbout is survived by her husband, Peter Verbout, and seven children. The funeral will be held Saturday.

GYPSIES PUT CURSE ON TOWN.

Westfield, Aug. 28—Because they were not allowed to camp in town and tell fortunes, a party of gypsies became angry at the local police authorities Tuesday and marked signs in the road which they declared would bring disaster to the people of the town. The police were not greatly affected by either the threats or the hieroglyphics and compelled the band to move on toward Scotch Plains.

THAW GETS OVATION IN CANADIAN COURT

Prisoner Also Is Declared His Own Master.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 28.—Judge Globensky granted the writ of discontinuance of the habeas corpus proceedings applied for by Harry K. Thaw. The result of this is to throw the proceedings back where they started from, with Thaw in jail on an imperfect commitment and entitled to a jury trial next October.

Only the minister of justice's interference can force action in Thaw's case. It was reported that Thaw's attorneys had decided to ask for his release on bail. He will be arraigned to elect whether he will be tried by jury or summarily before a magistrate. He will demand a jury trial and therefore cannot be tried until the second week in October.

If bailed, Thaw can easily go to Montreal and take a steamship for either Europe or South America.

The scene in court eclipsed that of the morning, as far as the crowd and the enthusiasm were concerned, but Judge Globensky bitterly rebuked the crowd and declared that "if there was any repetition of the morning's disgraceful scenes" he would jail all responsible. As a result there was no cheering.

Judge Globensky refused to hear the New York state lawyers in opposition to Thaw's application for discontinuance of his application for a writ of habeas corpus.

The jammed courtroom cheered the decision to the echo, and for five minutes the air was filled with cries of "Hurrah for the judge!" "Fair play for Thaw!" "We will show the Americans!"

It was the most sensational demonstration ever witnessed in a Canadian court, and the judge made no effort to rebuke it.

NEW CRISIS IN CHINA.

Yuan Arrests Nine More Members of Parliament.

Peking, Aug. 28.—A crisis was caused here by the arrest of nine more members of the Chinese parliament. Since proclamation of martial law in the capital arrests and summary executions have been frequent, several victims being members of parliament. Many deputies have departed for the south in fear for their lives, and a quorum of the assembly has been prevented many times by rumors that the police intended to make further arrests.

The senate delegated the speaker and deputy speaker to visit Provisional President Yuan Shikai and ask him for an explanation of the arrests, and also to inquire whether he still desired to govern China with the help of the parliament or not.

OVER GATUN LAKE.

First Large Vessel Passes Over Section of Panama Canal.

Panama, Aug. 28.—The first large vessel to navigate the Gatun lake section of the Panama canal, twenty-four miles in length, a suction dredge, sailed from its moorings near the Gatun locks to a point north of Gamboa dike.

The dredge had been tied up in Gatun several months waiting for the lake to rise to a sufficient height to enable it to make the trip.

Speaking of silks, dress goods, and fabrics of a kind that are fashionable for Fall wear, that are familiar by name, and stranger weaves that are as yet unknown to fame but with a popular future in prospect, we have the real leaders.

A list of names of fashionable silks, woolens and fancy cotton means nothing, description of styles gets nowhere but back to the actual and trite fact that they must be seen to be appreciated.

If there is a fabric worth while which is not represented in our assortment it cannot be missed because this showing of Fall fabrics is absolutely complete.

Oblige us with a call of curiosity, leave buying and selling out of it, come in an open frame of mine, receptive to impressions without prejudice. Give the Tepper store credit for its progressiveness because it is bound to either lead or drive Plainfield's business to the top of possibility.

We will discontinue our Picture Department Wednesday. Cards now out should be presented not later than Wednesday, August 27.

In closing out this department we are making a sacrifice reduction in our 24-karat gold plated metal frames. Those having oval portraits size 11x14 will find great bargains in our frame department.

HONOR THE MEMORY OF DANIEL WEBSTER

Franklin, N. H., Aug. 28—Several thousand citizens of this State and hundreds of prominent visitors from other States attended the patriotic exercises held here today to celebrate the completion and dedication of the Webster Memorial House, which is really the restored birthplace of Daniel Webster. The exercises were held at the old Webster house and consisted mainly in the delivery of a number of historical and patriotic speeches by distinguished orators from this and other States, honoring the memory of Daniel Webster and expressing satisfaction over the preservation and restoration of the great statesman's birthplace.

When Daniel Webster was born on January 18, 1782, the humble house in which he first saw the light of day, was in Salisbury, now a part of Franklin. When Franklin became a town, in 1828, it took parts of Salisbury, Northfield, Andover and Sanbornton into its territory. Tradition says that when Daniel Webster was born the clearing around his father's cabin was the furthest north in New Hampshire. There was only a bridle path to the place, and the house was located so as to face an old mill in the hollow. Trees that have stood for centuries are still there, but nothing remains of the old mill but the dam. When Daniel Webster was three years of age, his father, Capt. Ezekiel Webster, moved to what is known as the Elm Farm at Webster Place. This is now a part of the New Hampshire Orphans' Home, the exterion and interior having been preserved intact. Abigail Chapter, D. A. R., has had installed in front of the house a bowlder with a bronze marker. The birthplace and the elms are the only two places now standing in Franklin in which Daniel Webster lived. The old Webster tavern, across the street from the Elms, which was once his home, has been removed, to give way to a more modern farmhouse.

After Webster's father had moved to the Elms, the old house which the family had formerly occupied, was moved across the road and attached to a big two-story farmhouse as an L. The cellar of the old house was filled in and the location was forgotten. In October, 1910, at a meeting in the office of Chief Justice Frank N. Parsons, of the New Hampshire Supreme Court, in this city, the Webster Birthplace Association was organized. The organization obtained an appropriation of $1,500 from the legislature and this, with other voluntary contributions, enabled the association to purchase the site of Webster's birthplace and to restore the house nearly to its original appearance. The house was moved back and placed upon its original foundation which was fortunately found. The old fireplace in the kitchen or livihg-room, with its big iron crane, was rebuilt and the house itself restored to its original state inside and outside as much as possible. Even the old well in the yard was restored, together with its old-fashioned sweep and oaken bucket. Funds will be collected to make it possible to install a caretaken and to keep the house in good condition.

PALACE OF PEACE DEDICATION BEGINS

The Hague, Aug. 28—The ceremonies connected with the official transfer of the Palace of Peace from the Carnegie Foundation to the Council of the Permanent Arbitration Court and its official dedication began today in the presence of four hundred invited guests, including the 140 judges of the Arbitration Court, members of the diplomatic corps, representatives of foreign governments and Dutch officials. The ceremonies of the transfer were quite simple. M. von Marnebeck, the president of the Carnegie Foundation, delivered an address in French, transferring the completed structure to the Court, and the Minister of Foreign Affairs made a brief speech of acceptance. There was some music and singing by a choir and then the invited guests inspected the palace and the grounds. The dedication proper will take place tomorrow, when, to commemorate the occasion, the University of Leyden will bestow honorary degrees upon Senator Elihu Root, who will be represented by Dr. James Brown Scott, secretary of the Carnegie Endowment; on Lewis Renault, permanent French delegate of the Hague Tribunal; on Alfred Fried, the Viennese pacificist; and posthumously on the late T. M. C. Asser, the former French Minister and Councillor of State.

The Palace of Peace stands in a sixteen-acre plot, once the garden of a royal castle, facing a shady avenue halfway between The Hague and Scheveningen, the famous Dutch seaside resort. The purchase price was nearly $300,000. The building is designed in Dutch style, occupies a space 260 feet square, enclosing a large court. In front is a wide terrace and back of it a fine park. Each prominent nation has furnished some decoration, ornament or material for the building.

Anniversary of the Removal Sale

Reductions in All Departments

The anniversary of the removal sale is, as the name implies, an effort on our part to offset the tremendous figures of last year when we were getting ready to move into our new store. Notwithstanding our very cramped quarters across the street, we transacted a business during our removal sale which would have done credit to an establishment of four times the size. These figures have to be beaten and they are being beaten. This sale means a great deal to us, and we are bending every effort to maintain interest in it. New lots are being added all the while and stirring reductions are being made throughout the store. Up to a week ago the removal sale of 1912 held the record for August retailing. Last week, and thus far this week we have steadily broken last year's records.

PROGRESSIVES — REPUBLICANS

It is astonishing how little the leaders of the Republican party understand, or at least pretend to understand, the Progressive party. It is a common practice to speak of the two wings of the Republican party, and write and talk as if this statement represented a fact. It is this, more than anything else, which prevents conference upon candidates. Such a statement is exceedingly offensive to the Progressives. They resent it with great bitterness of feeling. It is not difficult to see why they do. They polled the second largest vote in the country last year and established their identity as a party in every State in the Union. Political history shows no parallel in this Republic.

Another thing which is offensive to them is the constant statement that the party is a personal party; that it was Roosevelt, and he only, that gave the party strength. Everyone concedes that Roosevelt is strong, but the Progressives declare that the party would have been formed if Roosevelt had never been born. Does it not look so now? Is it not a fact, in everyone's experience, that the Progressives are more determined now, (right at this moment) than they were last year? They do not seem to care, and it looks as if they did not care, whether they win or lose. In fact, they say that results they leave with the people. Their declared purpose is to better conditions, to make politics purer, cleaner; more in touch with the interests of the average citizen and less in touch with special privilege. They are against legislation, and other things that work for the enrichment and comfort of the few, which they claim has been the chief object of legislation for many years in this country. More than that, the Progressives stand squarely among other things, for three especial things, namely: the initiative, the referendum, and the recall of administrative officials. There is no doubt but that every man of them believes in these. Does anyone doubt that the present leadership, at least, of the Republican party is against them, quite as strongly as the Progressives are for them?

Then, why do the Republicans longer fool themselves, and offend the Progressives, by pretending that the party is only a wing of the Republican party? No harmony can come by keeping up that foolish suggestion. The special election in the Sixth Congressional District of this State, held this year, showed that the Progressives polled a greater percentage of the vote they cast last year, than did the Republicans. The best way to test whether the Progressives are less earnest this year than last is to ask anyone, whom you know voted Progressive last year, and see what his reply is. We confess we do not know a single voter who voted the Progressive ticket last year who will not vote it this. Why do the Republicans not face the situation, and recognize facts? What is the sense of running a ticket simply to be defeated? The vast majority of those still in the Republican party want to be, and are in fact, progressive and would willingly approve all the reforms for which the Progressive party stands if their leaders would leave it to them. It would be so easy to make the Republican party strong if its leaders only would.

The New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement is desirous of holding its annual exhibition in Plainfield but it seems impossible to do so. The fact is that strange as it may seem there is not a hall large enough in this otherwise progressive community to answer the purpose. In times past, the Plainfield Kennel Club sought for a suitable building for its bench show and met with the same difficulty, the consequence being that it was compelled to hold open-air shows far removed from the centre of the city.

Last fall and winter the sessions at the Somerset School were interrupted because a heating apparatus was being installed. Now when the school is about to be opened again an elaborate lavatory system is to be installed. If money is to be wasted in that structure why not have the work done during the summer months?

Plainfield is an exceptionally intelligent community and before its people will turn a man out of office there has to be some good reason. When an official is conscientiously and efficiently discharging the duties of his office, most right thinking people want to know why there should be any attempt to get him out.

Oh, say, by the way, have you heard any more talk in the Common Council about the inauguration of a sanitary system for the collection and disposal of garage and ashes?

We are patiently waiting to hear of any sensible reason why William G. DeMeza should not be renominated and re-elected as city judge. All we ask is facts.

And it was Sulzer who cried out against Wall street. But then it is not strange that a politician is a hypocrite.

Here's our one best bet—Pierce will wallop Fowler at the Republican primaries in their home county.

Well, you're satisfied at least that there is nothing of the "jingo" in Woodrow Wilson's make-up.

A. C. ROGERS' FUNERAL TOMORROW AFTERNOON

The funeral of Albert C. Rogers will be held at the late home on West Fifth street at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and will be in charge of Rev. Edwin Shaw pastor of the Seventh-day Baptist church, of which Mr. Rogers was a member. The hour for the service was fixed to allow Mrs. E. R. Gavitt, of Omaha, time to reach Plainfield. Mrs. Rogers, who had been visiting at Friendship, N. Y., arrived home late yesterday afternoon and she is prostrated over the death of her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were to have started yesterday for Omaha to visit their daughter. They had disposed of their household furniture with the intention of making an indefinite stay in the West. Prior to the time of departure, Mrs. Rogers went to Friendship for a short visit, intending to meet her husband in New York yesterday morning.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT.

The engagement of Miss Gertrude L. Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hunter, of West Fourth street, who is associated with the institutional work of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, of New York, to Rev. James Howard, of New York, has been announced. Miss Hunter was the valedictorian of the Plainfield High School Class of 1906 and held the same honor at Barnard College Class of 1910. For a number of years previous to Miss Hunter's taking up the work in Dr. Coffin's New York church, she was identified with the work of Hope Chapel.

H. A. TODD RESIGNS.

The Fort Pierce Citrus Fruit and Produce Company at a meeting yesterday elected William L. Smalley a director and vice president and John D. Kirch treasurer and secretary. A. I. Smalley is the president. The company has removed its offices from 116 North avenue to 128 Duer street. H. A. Todd, who was formerly connected with the company, has no further interests, having retired. A. I. Smalley leaves today for Fort Pierce to take charge of the company's affairs.

BOARD CANNOT PAY SCHOOL DEBT OF NEW PROVIDENCE

New Providence, Aug. 28—Because it must await the payment of the 1913 taxes and because its bank had decided not to advance a loan, the New Providence Township Board of Education has directed the finance committee to find a way to settle the outstanding obligations on the new Columbia school.

Final settlements have not been made with the builder and architect and the later, Jacob Wind, of Elizabeth, has sued the board for $255 he claims is due him. The bank, questioning the right of the board to borrow, has refused a loan to stay the suit.

Miss Camilla MacDonald, of Syracuse, has been appointed to teach the Diamond Hill School, which will be re-opened this year as a primary school. The Misses Edna Lower and Grace Shimer, of Pennsylvania, have been added to the faculty of the Columbia School.

LAYS PASSAIC LAKE SCHEME TO MORRISTOWN DEVELOPERS

New Providence, Aug. 28.—Dr. Willis Fletcher Johnson, of Berkeley Heights, declares there is no substantial basis for rumors of concerted action by property owners along the Passaic River to erect a dam and create a lake near Chatham Borough. The project, he says, would be ruinous to the valley. More than fifty houses in Stirling alone would be submerged. He ascribed present talk to realty developers of Morristown.

The rumors, which have gained attention in this vicinity, were to the effect that property owners in New Providence Borough and Township, Chatham, Passaic and Bernards Township proposed the creation of a lake, with a parkway along its border, to beautify the valley.

At one time a dam stood at Stanley. In flood season Stirling residents and others along the river frequently were forced to use rowboats. Since its removal the river has been shallow. It is full of stumps, dead trees and mud bars, which, Dr. Johnson thinks, ought to be removed at the expense of the property owners, if necessary.

Somerville

Leonard C. Davis, of East High street, has entered the race for member of the Borough Council. Mr. Davis is a painting contractor and has a host of friends who wish him to assume the position, even against his personal wishes.

The Rev. and Mrs. Frederick M. Leonard are entertaining the latter's niece, Miss Gladys DeGroff, of Newark, and also Mrs. R. Kessler and daughter, sister of Mrs. Leonard.

The public schools of the borough will re-open next Tuesday. Some of the teachers are not to return and new ones have been secured. Miss Ida H. Fleming is to have the progressive class in place of Miss Coyle. Miss Helen L. Brokaw will take Miss Fleming's place. Howard D. Evans has been secured as principal of the high school. Miss E. Kathleen Brophy will be supervisor's clerk and commercial teacher. Other new teachers are Whitfield L. Bell, Miss M. Ella Bender, Miss Ruth Weldon and Miss Anna E. Miller. Mrs. Charles Hopkins has been appointed attendance officer. The time for closing the school in the grades has been extended a half hour, making it 3.30 p. m.

Nottingham Castle, No. 510, Order Sons of St. George, will have a masquerade dance in Germania Hall on Hallowe'en.

Raritan

John H. Perlee, an aged resident of this place, fell at his home yesterday, and broke one of his hips. Some few years ago he fell from the hay mow in his barn and broke his right leg, since which time he has had to use a crutch and cane in getting about. This last injury will lay him up for sometime.

The annual meeting of the citizens of the town will be held at Fireman's Hall this evening at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of hearing the report of the treasurer for the past year, and also for the purpose of nominating seven commissioners to serve for the ensuing year. The annual election will take place on Saturday, from 4 to 7 p. m.

MITCHELL AT CAPITOL.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, August 28.—John P. Mitchell, collector of the port of New York, this morning, paid his respects to Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and is now in conference with Assistant Secretary Hamlin on port reforms. Mitchell is the Fusion candidate for Mayor in New York.

necessary for the women to attend to the advertising that it would come up in the regular routine of the State's work.

Speaker Leon R. Taylor, of the assembly, said that he would do all in his power to bring the amendment before the next legislature by advertising it now.

Mrs. Feickert got in communication with Mrs. George LaMonte and Mrs. Colby, last night, when it was arranged to come to Trenton this morning. The Woman's Political Union threatened a suit against Governor Fielder, yesterday, provided it could be shown that he was responsible for the failure to have the resolution advertised according to law. The decision in the matter today seems to have overcome the error which has stirred the women suffragists of the State during the past few days.

TO PRESENT TOSCA.

The Plainfield Italian Dramatic Club, which successfully produced "Civil Death," at Saengerbund Hall a short time ago, will present the four-act drama, "Tosca," at the same place on Sept. 8. Local talent, assisted by New York artists, will constitute the cast.

HOME FROM GERMANY.

Gerald Linke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Linke, returned last night on the Imperator from Germany where he spent the summer with relatives. He was met on the New York pier by an automobile party in which were his parents and Mrs. Henry Windham.

HANDSOME SOUVENIR FOR CIVIL WAR VETS

Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 28—The average age of enlistment during the Civil War having been twenty-five, and the war having continued through four weary years, it stands to reason that most of the living veterans are now nearly eighty years old.

This indicates that for every veteran who is physically able to make the trip to the forty-seventh National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, at Chattanooga in September, there must be at least twenty-five who can be present in spirit only.

Out of consideration for the tens of thousand who cannot be present, the program committee, of the Chattanooga G. A. R. Encampment Association, have arranged for advance publication of an edition de luxe of the official program. Commercialism is strictly barred—no advertising whatever appears in this volume. It contains photographs of the commander-in-chief, past commenders, officers of the many organizations allied with the G. A. R., department commanders, famous generals of the war, scenes on the battlefields and a variety of other items of great historical interest. The book is a gem of the engraver's and printer's art, costing nearly a dollar apiece. One copy will be furnished free of cost by the Chattanooga Chamber of Commerce to every bonafide visiting veteran to the encampment. Additional copies will be sold, including postage, at the nominal rate of twenty-five cents each. In its exquisite color scheme, wealth of historical interest and value as a guide to the encampment proceedings, the Chattanooga book eclipses every effort made by other cities. It will be ready for distribution about September 1, and copies will be mailed in the order that requests are received. No acccunts can be opened for the programs. Each and every request, or order should be accompanied by postal order or postage stamps to the amount of 25 cents, and all orders addressed to J. E. Ennis, Esq'r, president of the Chattanooga Roofiing and Foundry Company, who is chairman of the program committee. No replies will be made to those who seek to purchase advertising space.

GREAT MOVIE SPECTACLE IS COMING NEXT WEEK

"Victory," considered one of the greatest spectacular war drama photo-plays yet produced, will be shown at the Plainfield theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 4, 5 and 6. The picture has been produced with a notable cast including Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy; Captain Benson, of the U. S. S. Utah, and Rear Admiral Badger, of the Atlantic Fleet. It is in five reels.

A synopsis of "Victory" gives one an idea of this thrilling story. The secretary of the navy orders the Utah to the Republic of Antilles to protect American interests during an impending revolution. On their arrival at the principal seaport, Commander Benson orders Lieut. Ward to go to Valdiva, the capitol, and report to the American Embassy to keep him advised of the situation.

Lieut. Ward meets Minister Gordon and his daughter, Helen, with whom he falls in love, but finds he has a rival in Gen. de la Monte. He also meets a young inventor who has finished building a hydroplane. While attending a government ball, Helen overhears Gen. de la Monte conspiring to assassinate President Martinez and blow up the Utah.

Helen tells Lieut. Ward, but before he can upset the plans he is wrongfully arrested for the murder of the President. He finally obtains his freedom, but his only hope to prevent the blowing up of the ship lies in a fifty mile flight in the hydroplane. He reaches the ship just in time and just as the ship moves the mine explodes. Lieut. Ward then returns in the hydroplane and drops a bomb blowing up the fort of the enemy and the marines rout the enemy.

—Every day is "Election Day" with the shoppers of this city. Every day some store receives a vote of confidence, presaging continued support, from the housewives. The store whose ads present the widest variety of opportunity news is "elected," always. For such a store brings ACTUAL RELIEF to the people from the oppression of high prices—not, as is often true in politics, mere promises of relief!

RAPID VACUUM CLOTHES WASHER

THE NEW WAY.

READ WHAT WE HAVE TO SAY

You can save many dollars in a year on your clothes and add a day of pleasure to your life each week with this wonderful Rapid Vacuum Clothes Washer, but cutting your laundry work in two. Most clothes are RUBBED OUT and not WORN OUT. When you send your clothes to the laundry what happens to them? They are soaped and beaten, and rubbed so that the hot soap-suds (sometimes a little acid added) is forced through and through the goods. This cleans the goods, but they do not last long. When your clothes are washed in your own home what happens? The hot soap suds are pushed in and out of the garments, as they are rubbed on the board. This cleans them, but wears them out. In every process of washing, soap and water are the only elements having any cleaning properties. When your clothes are washed with the Rapid Vacuum Washer what happens? Gallons of soapy water at boiling temperature (which sterilizes the clothes) is forced through the goods every 60 seconds. This cleans your clothes snowy white without straining a thread. You can now wash woolens, blankets, sheets, shirts, collars, bed quilts, etc., at home, and after washing the articles will be whiter, softer, cleaner, fluffier and more beautiful in appearance than before. Compressed air, hot water and soap does the work.

You can wash a tubful of dirty clothes in five minutes without rubbing, without bending, and with very little work.

A tubful of clothes can be rinsed and blued in the same way in one minute.

You can clean anything that can be cleaned with soap and water or gasoline in a few minutes, without straining a thread.

No more rough hands and tired backs for the person who does the washing.

The Vacuum Washer has no moveable parts, cannot get out of order, and with proper care will last for years.

DIRECTIONS FOR OPERATION

Have your water hot, the hotter the better. Add sufficient soap and see that it is thoroughly dissolved before putting in the clothes, as hot water without soap will set the dirt. Use enough hot water to float the clothes, then operate the plunger up and down, each time a gallon or more of hot suds is forced through the fabrics, and the same amount is drawn back on the upward stroke. This suction force is produced by an automatic suction valve, which is a distinct and original feature of our invention. During five or ten minutes, which is required to do a washing, many hundred gallons of hot, soapy water are forced through the clothes, which cleans them in a more perfect manner than any other process and with absolutely no wear or tear. This is the secret of the success of this Rapid Vacuum Clothes Washer.

If you do your own washing, it will save you time, strength and temper. If you send your washing out, we know that you are not satisfied, as your clothes are worn and eaten with the strong washing compounds used by laundries. If you employ a maid, her time is worth money.

THE OLD WAY.

Baby yesterday and paid him royal homage as he passed in review before 100,000 applauding spectators. It was Asbury Park's twenty-third annual baby parade, the closing event of the carnival season, and formed an incomparable spectacle of infantile beauty and charm set in decorative art and genius of design. For two hours the baby reigned supreme, the idol of the thousands who gathered in the amphitheatre at the foot of Sunset Lake and stretched along Ocean avenue the half mile between the Casino and the Arcade, while the business of the town was practically suspended.

It was the greatest baby parade ever. More than 600 precious darlings—648, to be exact—some garbed in fancy costumes, others riding in gaily bedecked coaches or go-carts or forming the central figures in some imposing design, passed review before Queen Titania XIII.—Miss Hazel Florence Reuman, of Brooklyn—and the ladies of the royal court. The royal party occupied a canopied pavilion of white and gold on the east side of the amphitheatre.

One of the distinguished spectators was Acting Governor James F. Fielder. He occupied a box opposite the royal pavilion with his staff and was accorded much attention.

About 2.30 o'clock the royal party proceeded from the Coleman House and swung into the carpeted stretch of Ocean avenue. The queen rode in a golden seashell chariot, with brightly caparisoned outriders, pages and heralds. Her maids rode in automobiles, while Princess Cinderella—Miss Virginia Hope Kelsey—sat resplendent in a pony cart.

Pryor's band enlivened the march with appropriate selections. A float on which all eyes were centered contained the awards, about eighty in number, valued at over $5,000 and consisting of gold and silver cups, vases, statues, silverware, paintings, etc.

The awards were distributed to the following:

Grand Award—Erla Genevieve Calama, daughter of Charles Calama, Orange, "Our First Valentine."

Queen's Award—Allis Kirch, daughter of William Kirch, Asbury Park, "September Morn."

Princess Cinderella's Award—Malinne W. Harmby, daughter of William W. Harmby, Asbury Park, "The Hand That Rocks the Cradle Rules the World."

Historical Award—Nelson Wells, son of George H. Wells, and Henry H. Guyer, son of Charles H. Guyer, Asbury Park, "Prisoners in a Pillory and Stock."

Long-Distance Award—Uzilla G. Dean and Elsie J. Dean, of Mount Cloud, Cal.

Baby Coach Division—First, Raymond Earling Murphy, son of Thomas J. Murphy, Belmar, "Our American Beauty"; second, Edward Smith, Jr., New York, "The Heart of Cupid"; third, Anna Elizabeth Boyle, daughter of John Boyle, of Newark, "A Butterfly."

Doll Coach Division—First, Edith Harson, daughter of Harry Harson, Asbury Park, "An 18-Karat Wedding Ring for the September Bride"; second, Irma Gilsinger, daughter of John Gilsinger, Newark "Poppies Queen"; third, Charlotte Coles, daughter of Conover Coles, of Long Branch, "Floral Automobile."

Express Wagons—First, Edward Orestes Forbes, Jr., Newark, "Motorboat Purity"; second, Ruth Mildred Thomas, daughter of Allen Thomas, Ocean Grove; third, Edna Mannigan, daughter of Frank Mannigan, Harrison, "Our Pearl."

Fancy Dress and College Colors—First, Charles B. and William Mason, children of Charles M. Mason, Newark, "For God, for Country and for Yale"; second, Dorothy M. Hetzel, Newark; third, Charles W. Wyrich, Jersey City.

Burlesque—First, Kathleen Hinni, daughter of Fred C. Hinni, East Orange, "Billy Burke"; second, Florence and John Beck, children of Mrs. Esther M. Beck, Plainfield, "Dutch Peasants"; third, Edward and Rowland Brandt, children of Edward Brant, Asbury Park, "Robinson Crusoe and His Man, Friday."

Floats—First, Burnadetta Barrett, son of William H. Barrett, Arlington, "September Morn"; second, Eleanor and Albert Lowenstein, children of Albert Lowenstein, New York, "The Temptation;" third, Mary Alberta Nichols, daughter of Alonzo Nichols, Asbury Park.

Pony Turnouts—First, Vivian Frances Hunt, daughter of Elmer P. Hunt, Asbury Park; second, Margaret and Lawrence Carroll, children of Daniel J. Carroll, Brooklyn; third, Frank E. Lorson, Jr., New York.

Eighth Award, Sixth Division—Norwood Lipstein, 11 years old, son of Abe Lipstein, 5 Hillside avenue, Newark "September Morn" (boy lying in bed and awakening on the first day of school with a teacher standing over him).

INQUEST AS TO KIELY'S DEATH.

Long Branch, Aug. 28.—After being out less than ten minutes, the jury impaneled to determine how William E. Kiely met his death returned a verdict "that his death was due to his own negligence." Kiely, who was formerly of Plainfield, was killed by being struck by a drill engine last Thursday morning. He was foreman for the telephone company for several years. Seven witnesses were sworn, all testifying that Mr. Kiely walked in front of the train. The foreman of the jury was former Councilman Arthur L. Holtson.

NEW DEVELOPMENT IN GIRL'S MYSTERIOUS SLEEP

Elizabeth, August 28.—The mysterious malady which afflicts Miss Fannie Green, the 18-years-old girl who has been asleep at the Elizabeth Hospital for over sixty hours, seems to have new development. Early yesterday Miss Green showed signs of being awake, her eyes opened and followed the doctors and nurses in their movements, but she did not move or speak. Once she appeared to make an effort to talk, but, though her lips moved, there was no sound. For hours her eyes were opened and then they closed and have remained so ever since. There was no motion of her body, but she lay as though paralyzed.

The doctors have abandoned the theory that the "sleepiness" was brought on by hysteria and now express the opinion that it is something much more serious than that. Last night she slept soundly.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

E. P. T. Smith, of Allen place, has filed his petition with Borough Clerk C. M. Dolliver as a candidate for the Republican County Committee from the fourth election district.

The only political office to be filled in Fanwood Township (Scotch Plains) this year is that of township committeeman, which has been held by Henry C. Meyer for six years. Mr. Meyer said this morning that he would not be a candidate for re-election, as he found that because he was so easily available to the people a great deal of work fell upon him. "Whenever a dead cat is found, a road gets washed out, or anything of that kind happens I can easily be found at my store in the center of the town, and work frequently falls upon me that I hardly have time to attend to. So you can say that I will not be a candidate this year."

A story to the effect that Robert S. Hudspeth, prosecutor of Hudson county and Democratic national committeeman from New Jersey, is soon to succeed Albert S. Burleson as postmaster-general in President Wilson's cabinet, was emphatically denied at the White House last night.

That the Democratic assembly ticket in Union county will afford a lively fight at the coming primaries is evidenced by the fact that to date there are seven men in the field. In addition to the petitions of the present assemblymen, Messrs Leonard, Griffin and McLaughlin, four other aspirants have shown themselves. Francis V. Dobbins, of Rahway; T. R. Beardsley, of Fanwood; J. E. Lowden, of Elizabeth, and Charles E. Dooley, of Cranford, have placed their petitions in circulation. Although there are seven men in the field at the present time it is expected that this number will simmer down to four before primary day.

Twenty voters representing all districts of the Fourth ward met last night at 320 West Front street and affected a temporary organization of a Republican Club for that ward, C. L. Kling acting as temporary chairman and A. L. Seals as temporary secretary. A committee of five was appointed to arrange for a meeting to be held at Republican headquarters in the Frost building, Tuesday, September 2, to which all Republican voters of the Fourth ward are invited. The permanent organization of the club will take place at that time. The committee appointed is composed of J. J. Carty, C. L. Kling, A. L. Seals, John Kriney and Andrew Cowley. It is expected that several candidates will be endorsed at the next meeting. Representatives of the First and Third ward clubs were present an extended the greetings of their organization to the new club.

SHERIFF SELLS PACTORY.

Washington, N. J., Aug. 28.—The half completed factory of the Washington Manufacturing Company, in which former Mayor R. M. Petty was interested at the time of the failure of the Washington National Bank in 1911, has been sold at Belvidere by Sheriff William A. Henderson. It was sold on complaint of Mrs. Howard Fritts, of Washington, who held a claim of $2,100. The total judgments amounted to $2,800. A. M. Paff, of Bangor, Pa., who had also been interested in the company with Messrs. Petty and Fritts, held the first claim on a preferred judgment. The factory was sold to Mrs. Fritts and Mr. Paff for $500 more than the two claims. The building is in Taylor street, near the Morris Canal and Lackawanna Railroad. It is 156 by 40 feet and built of brick and steel. It is the purchasers' intention to begin work next week to complete the building. The second story will be finished and an asbestors fire-proof room will top the structure. It will probably be occupied by two manufacturing concerns when completed.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

Neighborhood Ownership.

Neighborhood ownership could be made to prove an economic element of value in the housewife's daily life and struggle to make both ends meet. It is well enough to borrow from your neighbors, when you are in need. But, no matter how many reassurances you may have received, you always feel that you are incurring a real indebtedness when you borrow. There are many things that are too expensive for the poor housewife to possess—many labor-saving devices that would prolong her life and give her much greater happiness. There are many other little devices—conveniences—that she could afford excepting that their field of use is too small to make them worth while.

Something that belongs in the first class—in the class of things too expensive to possess—is a vacuum cleaner. One cleaner would do service for six families—each could have it on a stated day—and the cost of the machine divided among six, would be small. An electric washing machine, an electric mangle, an electric incinerator—all these are in the same class.

There should be a definite arrangement about the time the various persons who own shares in these conveniences may use them. The vacuum cleaner could be given one day a week to six persons—half as long to a dozen. Some small boy of the neighborhood could be given charge of the transportation of the cleaner. His weekly remembrance would be a slight addition to the original cost of the cleaner. Each shareholder should consider the time assigned to her as her own and should not ask for the cleaner on some one else's day.

The washing machine and the mangle could be used in the same way. The incinerator could be placed in one house and should be free to all its joint owners at all times.

Little Things.

Community ownership of canning conveniences is practicable. There is now on the market a big steam canner which would prove a boon to all housewives. Then such small conveniences as pitters for cherries, fruit parers, special devices for holding hot cans and other canning conveniences could be bought in common.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

Third article on "What Children Should Eat" facts as stated are from many sources regarded as scientifically trustworthy.

How to Prepare Food for Children.

Food must be of good quality, fresh and clean. It must be kept cool and protected from dust, flies and other disease sources. It must be handled only by those who are themselves well. Raw foods, as vegetables and fruits should immediately before they are used, be quickly washed in hot water, then plunged into cold, crispness is thus preserved and freedom from germs secured.

Cooked foods should be freshly prepared; decomposition occurs when they stand even at low temperature.

Foods near the temperature of the body with occasional colder or hotter foods promote digestion.

Cooking for children must be without fat. (Broiled, roasted, boiled—never fried).

Cooked fat they cannot digest. Cooking should be very simple but with flavor—salt only should be added.

Starch in vegetables and cereals requires high temperature at first (boiling water) to burst the starch granules, cereals then need prolonged low temperature.

Broths from meats require the reverse—prolonged low temperature at first to extract juices then high for a short time to obtain gelatin.

Meats need high temperature at first when juices are to be retained in the meat.

How to Prepare Whole and Digestive Foods.

No food is a whole food in a sense that it would be an entirely satisfactory diet for a person. Milk and eggs are so-called and are of exceptional use in the body. They serve as foods to be eaten with others, also as ingredients of composite foods, such as flour mixtures and made foods as light desserts and soups. Milk and eggs always increase nutrition. Those to whom they are indigestible when served alone can and should eat them in other foods.

Both milk and eggs must be fresh and not over-heated. Milk must be pure. It should be used as a drink throughout childhood, also as a food dressing and freely as a food ingredient.

Green vegetables and fruits are aids to digestion. Both are more available to the system when cooked. Both are refreshing and useful raw when properly washed.

Fruit at meals should follow rather than precede other foods as the acid may retard the digestion of starch. Fruit sauces made with sugar alone or with water and sugar are wholesome for older children. Fruit juices with gelatin are palatable. Fruits over or under ripe must be avoided. Skins and seeds must be removed.

Green vegetables must be fresh, clean and quickly cooked in boiling salted water. For small children, they must be given as purees or in broths or be dressed with hot milk. Until children are six, at least, they should not eat raw vegetables. Celery, spinach, asparagus, cauliflower, onions, beets and corn may be eaten by children but the result must be noted and foods be delayed until the child is older, which seem not to be digested.

How to Prepare Building Foods for Children.

Tender cuts of meats are essential for children. They must be only slightly cooked to be digestible. Fat must be removed.

Beefsteak, tender and broiled or heated and scraped.

Roast beef, tender, rare, pan gravy skimmed.

Chicken and Turkey—White meat cut fine. (Squab and sweetbreads are suitable for children if carefully prepared).

Fish for children must be without fat and fresh, boil or broil.

Broths and soups are stimulating rather than nourishing. They are used when liquid food is necessary and for variety and palatability.

To Make Broths.

Cut meat fine, soak from one to three hours in cold water, slightly salted, cook from two to six hours, according to quantity, first at low temperature (simmering), then at high temperature (boiling). Cool, skim fat, reheat and serve.

One pound of meat makes one quart of broth, add one tablespoonful of barley, rice, arrowroot or sago.

Two pounds of chicken makes one quart of broth, add one tablespoonful of gluten or mocaroni or rice.

Veal may be used for broths with mutton or chicken.

Milk thickened with flour may be used with equal quantity of broth.

Bread dried, toasted or unsweetened or plain crackers may be used with broths.

Broths may themselves be used as dressing for other foods, as chopped meats, eggs, rice and hominy, used as vegetables may be cooked in broth.

Beef juice—Round steak, slightly heated, cut and pressed (no butter).

Beef Tea—Meat cut small, bottled with slightly salted water and bottle containing beef heated in water four to six hours.

Oyster Broth—Heat oysters and milk separately, combine, strain, season and serve. This must not boil after putting together.

WHEN COOKING BEETS.

DINNER MENU.
Cream of Cauliflower Soup.
Roast Beef.
Cucumber and Lettuce Salad.
Minced Beets.
Caramel Custard.
Coffee.

BEETS may be served with meat. They should never be cut before they are cooked, as this will deprive them of much of their color and sweetness. After boiling they may be put into a pan of cold water and the skins then be rubbed off.

With Cream Sauce.

Minced Beets.—Take off the green heads, wash and boil until tender. Then plunge into cold water and remove the skins. Slice and mince the beets. Serve with a dressing made by combining two tablespoonfuls each of butter, sugar and vinegar with salt and pepper to taste and a cupful of thin sweet cream. The beets should be served hot.

Pickled beets are nice served with cold meat. They may be prepared as needed or pickled in quantity and put up in jars for use later.

A Spicy Appetizer.

Pickled Beets.—Boil the beets until tender, then drain and put in cold water. Rub off the skins and slice very thin. To one cupful of vinegar add a tablespoonful of brown sugar, an allspice, a clove, a saltspoonful of salt and a slice of onion. Put on the stove to heat. Place the slices of beet in a glass dish, alternating them with slices of green pepper, from which the seeds have been removed. Pour the hot liquid over and set aside to get cold.

Wholesome Dishes.

Creamed Beets.—Boil the beets until tender in boiling water. Rub the skins off and slice thin. Have ready in a double boiler a cupful of cream or one of milk, to which you have added a tablespoonful of butter and put the beets in this. Rub together a tablespoonful each of flour and butter, stir it into the cream, add pepper, salt and a teaspoonful of sugar. Simmer until the sauce thickens and serve.

Baked Beets.—Select beets of same size. Remove the greens and roots, wash and place on a baking pan in the oven. Bake until tender, then peel, slice and serve hot with butter.

Anna Thompson.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Where the First Boat Came From.

He Learned to Paddle About.

DADDY was putting the finishing touches to a little boat he had been whittling for Jack.

"Who made the first boat?" Evelyn wondered, and daddy, who was doing his best to think up a story, replied:

"We don't exactly know that, but I'll tell you a story about it.

"Long ago, when the world was young and people began to live on it, they didn't know so much about things as they do now.

"Their homes were caves which they found in the rocks or which they dug out for themselves. Once in those faroff times there was a lively small boy whose name I don't just know. I'm afraid he was not a very good boy, for instead of staying at home and scraping the skin of the deer which his father had killed so that they should have warm winter clothes he one day slipped off to the river in which he liked to go swimming.

"Now it happened there had been a big storm the night before and a tree had been rooted up by the wind and fallen into the stream. It came floating down the river, and the boy saw it. At first he amused himself by throwing stones at the log. Then he ran a race with it in the water. After awhile he swam up to it and climbed up and sat astride of the floating log.

"He had such fun with the tree that day that the next day he hunted up a hollow log in the woods and rolled it down to the river. In doing so he broke out a piece from the side of the log.

"When he shoved the log into the water the broken place was just big enough for him to sit in.

"One day his mother caught him paddling about in his hollow log. She ran and brought his father to see. They understood now why their son liked to spend so much time at the river instead of at work.

"The father called the boy to come to shore, but instead of doing so the lad hurriedly paddled to the other side of the river. He was afraid he would be punished. But his father wanted to try riding about in the hollow log, too, and he at last coaxed the boy to come back. The boy taught his father to paddle, and the other people of their tribe soon hunted up hollow logs, too, for they found that they would be useful in traveling about on the river.

"By and by, instead of hunting hollow logs, people burned out the inside of good ones, which they found was a much better way, as the hollow logs were apt to be rotten and go to pieces in the river just when they should not.

"And from these they went on improving until the boats in thousands of years have become the handsome painted launches and gayly painted craft that we now see on rivers and lakes and at the seashore."

Ladies' Home Journal Patterns

Charming Style for Big and Little Sister.

Unusually attractive are the frocks now being made up for the younger set. They embody all the necessary style points of the season's fashions, and yet are distinctive and original in many of the minor details. Because of the smart vests that are now worn in both costumes and tailored suits, they gain an added attention.

This is particularly true of the dress portrayed in figure No. 7877. It shows a young girl's costume that is adapted for the lovely new duvetyn or bengaline in Burgundy red or Bakst green. The vest could be of contrasting colored silk showing a lot in soft colors or perhaps Roman-striped satin. The closing is at the side-front, the vest fastening with small fancy buttons, pearl, or the new triangular shaped crystal buttons. The collar and cuffs are of contrasting fabric, as in the girdle. Full-length sleeves are in harmony with the prevailing tendency in dress. The two-piece skirt gives the effect of the tier model that is so much favored this season. Three sizes, 16, 17 and 18. For size 16, use 4½ yards 36-inch material. 15 cents.

The artist has taken off his hat and laid it on the altar of feminine fashion this year, and these velvet tams are worn with every sort of dress. The model worn on figure 7870, is developed in black velvet.

You can have this pattern in two styles, but the one illustrated is very pretty and up-to-date. 10 cents.

For the little tot there is a wide range of styles and materials to choose from. For the coat, figure No. 7865, serge or light weight worsted would be quite correct. There is a round collar, with revers, large armhole, and one-piece sleeve lengthened by a deep cuff. The wide belt is a picturesque note in juvenile fashions. It can be carried out in contrasting fabric if desired, or one of the very broad suede or patent leather belts may be worn. Four sizes, 6 to 12 years. For size 8, 2½ yards, 36-inch material will be required. 15 cents.

A Beautiful Luncheon Set To Be Embroidered in Grapes.

A really beautiful luncheon set is a possession worth having and you could not find a more appropriate or effective design than this, of grape sprays, for working a set on heavy round-thread linen. The centerpiece, 14317, should be stamped on very firm, heavy linen and do not be so foolish as to try to economize on the quality of the material you embroider for it is a sad waste of time to spend your leisure hours in embroidering cheap, starched filled fabrics that will wear out when they have been laundered a few times. A beautiful piece of embroidery is a possession of a lifetime and a valuable heirloom.

The grapes should be worked in well-padded solid embroidery and the leaves may be developed in outline-stitch and seeding or in long-and-short buttonhole stitch, with the stems and tenderils in over-and-over stitch.

The doilies to go with this centerpiece are included in pattern 14485. These plate doilies are 10½ inches in diameter and the pattern includes four transfers so that if you wish to have a dozen plate doilies you will need three transfer patterns.

MOTHER'S DARLINGS AND NURSE MARIE

Nearly eight hundred little girls whose parents read the Plainfield Daily Press in all parts of the United States have had the attractive members of this interesting paper cut-out family. So great has been the demand in the month that the Press has been offering them that the supply is about exhausted, and no more can be secured for some time.

The set consists of six handsome dolls; with forty-three costumes; three girls, two boys, and their nurse Marie. They range in height from eight to twelve inches and are printed in several bright colors on excellent paper manufactured especially for this purpose.

Cut out the coupon below and bring it with eight cents to the Daily Press office, 105 North Avenue, or send eleven cents and the dolls will be mailed. This offer only holds good while the dolls last.

This coupon and 8 cents (11 cents if dolls are to be mailed) upon presentation at the Plainfield Daily Press Office will entitle the holder to one set of

Queries, Comment and Answers

Query—When can one visit Duke's Park in Somerville? A. W. N.
Answer—You may visit the park Tuesdays and Fridays.

Sporting Editor:
Query—What course should one take in the High school to become an electrical engineer? H. T.
Answer—You would have to take more than a High school course to gain an electrical engineer's degree. However, you may take the technical and industrial course which will prepare you for college.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Who is the local health officer and where can I reach him? S. E.
Answer—Randolph Chandler is the man you are after but I don't know whether or not you can reach him—he is pretty long. His office is on the third floor of the City National Bank building on Front street.

Sporting Editor:
Query—How can I find out if I was born in this country C. F.
Answer—The bureau of vital statistics ought to furnish you with the necessary information. Apply at the Board of Health office in the City National Bank building. Be sure and find out because you might want to become President some day.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Can a player meld two pair of the same suit at one time, or in one meld in a two-handed game of pinochle? T. W.
Answer—No.

Sporting Editor:
Query—What is the postage on a letter addressed to Edinburgh, Scotland? K. L.
Answer—Two cents. Count 'em, one-two.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

Maurice E. McLoughlin, of California, won the national tennis title because of his customary steadiness and consistency. His fast playing during the tournament caused his weight to decrease sixteen pounds.

Frederick Harrison, an English author, suggests that England be unrepresented at the Olympiad in 1916 at Berlin, Germany. My word! What a catastrophe that would be, old chap.

Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion pugilist, is coaching Arthur Pelky, a promising "White Hope," in the art of the fistic game.

The coroner's jury of Los Angeles, Cal., has exonerated Jess Willard for the death of John (Bull) Young in a bout at Vernon, Cal., last week, their verdict being that Young met his fate by an accidental blow delivered by Willard, which caused concussion of the brain.

McGraw will soon give Bunny Hearne, the Toronto recruit, who recently pitched a twenty-inning 0 to 0 tie against Jersey City when performing in the International League, a chance to show his worth in higher society.

The Yankees closed their western season by losing three games to the Naps.

When the Plainfield Pets oppose the Somerville nine at Parker Field Labor Day afternoon, they will greatly miss the services of Jack Garretson, their star first baseman, who is ill and will be out of the game for the rest of the season

Manager Doyle made a good move when he secured Martin to coach the Holy Cross football players for the coming season. Martin will also prepare the Stevens college warriors this year.

The one-mile running race to be staged Labor Day morning at Parker Field under the auspices of the Playground Commission, should attract many entries. The medals are valuable ones and well worth the efforts of the winner—whoever he proves to be.

The Saurer-Plainfield struggle Saturday afternoon at Parker Field will be well worth seeing. The winner of the series can claim the baseball championship of Plainfield.

Many followers of sports will welcome the basketball season. The indoor game has many adherents in Plainfield. A basketball league among factory teams should be formed. Such a move would be sure to find favor.

CHINESE TO PLAY THE BRUNSWICKS SUNDAY

New Brunswick, August 28.—The Chinese team which comes here Sunday to play the Brunswicks at Amusement Park will make the locals work hard to win. The Chinese team has been playing fast ball since they invaded this country in the spring, and they come here with a fine record. Foster Robinson is their star pitcher, and from the present indications he will do the mound duty against Driscoll's bunch.

Driscoll has not yet decided who he will use on the mound against the Orientals. The local manager, however, will have a first class mound artist to oppose them. Fans from all parts of Central New Jersey will be in attendance.

WHITE PALACE TOURNEY.

New York, Aug. 28.—Application blanks are now ready for the White Palace three-man bowling tournament to be rolled on the White Palace bowling alleys, at 282 Sixth avenue. Last season this three-man tourney proved to be successful. First prize will be $50. Teams desiring to roll in this competition must have their application blanks in on or before September 15. The competition will be started on Monday, October 6. Communicate with Clark E. Read, proprietor of the White Palace bowling alleys, 282 Sixth avenue. Telephone Branch Brook 164. Limited to twenty-one teams.

MANAGER TINKER'S BAT DEFEATS N. Y. GIANTS

New York, Aug. 28.—The Cincinnati Reds ended their series with the Giants at the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon, defeating the league leaders 5 to 1. Manager Tinker's batting was a feature, his hitting being responsible for all of Cincinnati's runs. Tinker scored Marsans, who had singled, with a long drive in the second frame and sent the Cuban home again in the fourth with a sacrifice fly. In the sixth Tinker made a home run, scoring Hoblitzel ahead of him. The Giants' only tally came in the seventh on Merkle's single, Murray's sacrifice and Snodgrass' liner to left.

ALL-SCHOLASTIC BACK WILL ENTER RUTGERS

Elmer Braeher, Former Rahway High School Star, Will Prove Valuable Asset.

Rahway, Aug. 28—In preparation for the coming football season, candidates for the Rutgers College eleven will return to New Brunswick two weeks earlier than usual this year, and among them will be William MacCullum, Elimer Bracher and Earl Macclary, of Rahway, and Raymond Austin, of Caldwell, formerly of Rahway.

Bracher was picked by a board of experts for a Newark paper last November as right halfback on the All-Scholastic team of New Jersey. He was captain of Rahway High School at that time, and played four years there. Although light, his speed offsets his lack of weight, and he is regarded as one of the most promising aspirants for right halfback on the Rutgers eleven.

Macclary graduated from Rahway High School in 1911, and was a member of the scrub and freshman teams at New Brunswick last year. He accompanied the Varsity on several trips. The experience he gained then is expected to be invaluable to him, and with his weight, he is viewed as a strong possibility for fullback. He played fullback and tackle while with Rahway High School.

MacCullum has played with Rutgers for three years, holding down the position of left guard, despite the number of other candidates for the place He was a candidate for captain of this year's team. Austin like Bracher and Macclary, is a former high school star He played quarterback in brilliant fashion for Rahway during 1910 and 1911. He was regarded as a likely man at Rutgers last season, but early in the fall suffered a broken collarbone. He will again try for quarterback.

The coaching at Rutgers this year will be an innovation. Besides Coach Howard Gargan, of Yonkers, who has coached the team for the last four years, there will be Foster Sanford, the famous Yale captain, and Bob Loreen, also a former favorite.—Elizabeth Journal.

LIPTON'S SHAMROCK IV WILL RACE FOR CUP

It Is Reported that New York Yacht Club and Sir Thomas Have Come to Agreement.

New York, Aug. 28—It became known yesterday that all agreements between the New York Yacht Club and the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, for next year's race for America's Cup, have been signed, sealed and delivered, and now nothing stands in the way of the race, despite many former reports to the contrary. While no official statement has been made as yet, it is expected that one will be forthcoming Monday, and probably will be issued by the New York Yacht Club.

Already the New York Yacht Club has begun plans for the defense of the cup, and shortly the announcement will be made as to the size of the boat which will meet Sir Thomas Lipton's seventy-five footer, Shamrock IV. Also at the same time the names of the owners of the boat or boats to be built to meet her will be made public.

It is believed a certainty that Sir Thomas will be met with a yacht of the same size as his own, and that there will be at least three yachts striving in trial races for the honor of defending the cup

There have been those in yachting circles who have persisted in believing that the New York Yacht Club would not accept Sir Thomas's challenge, but when he submitted his last challenge it was so fair and almost without conditions of any sort attached thereto that it became apparent that the New York organization could not very well get away from an acceptance. The signing of the agreements now make the race a certainty.

PETS TO OPPOSE THE 'PLAINS NINE MONDAY

Locals to Play Alberts' Team Labor Day Morning on Thorpe's Field.

Manager Dorflinger, of the Plainfield Pets, who are to oppose the Saurer nine at Parker Field, Saturday afternoon and the Somerville team Labor Day afternoon on the same diamond, has arranged a morning game on Monday with Joe Alberts' Scotch Plains aggregation. The contest will be played on Thorpe's Field, the 'Plains, and is scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock. Scotch Plains will be a scene of unusual activity on Monday and the Italian band which is to furnish music at a pyrotechnic display in the evening will also render popular selections during the baseball battle.

Alberts will endeavor to secure Warry MacLoughlin to oppose the Pets, and if unsuccessful in getting the services of the former big leaguer, will sign Farrel up for the fray.

Tommy Mullin, the local lad who returned several days ago from the south, where he was playing on the Brunswick, Ga., team of the Empire League, was expected to be in the line-up of the locals for the balance of the season, but according to the Pet manager, the minor leaguer will be absent from participation in the national pastime the rest of the summer, because of ill health. Earl Moran, the all-around man of the Plainfield team, will play first base for the locals because of the enforced absence of Jack Garretson, who yesterday underwent an operation, and will also be out of the game for the rest of the season. Louis Hartman has been signed to play shortstop.

W. L. GLENNEY TO PLAY FOR NATIONAL TITLE

W. L. Glenney, the local golf champion, is among the army of Jerseyites who will compete in the national championships to be played next week, starting Monday, on the Garden City links. A field of 145 golfers will play for the title, including Jerome D. Travers, of Upper Montclair, the present champion, and several foreigners.

FRATERNAL VISIT.

A large number of Summit Odd Fellows, members of Crystal Lodge, No. 230, of that place, paid a fraternal visit to Queen City Lodge, No. 226, of this city, last night, at the rooms of the local lodge in the Babcock building. Addresses of a fraternal nature occupied the major portion of the evening. A social time followed when refreshments and cigars were served by the good and welfare committee. The visitors made the trip by automobile.

"HEN-PECKS" vs. BACHELORS.

At the conclusion of a track and field meet between the members of the Scotch Plains Parish House, two baseball nines composed of married men of Fanwood borough and township, will engage in a struggle for supremacy on Thorpe's Field. Joe Alberts will captain the "hen-pecks."

QUIT CAMP PERRY TOMORROW EVENING

Major Martin to Return With Jersey Crack Shots From Ohio to Sea Girt.

Camp Perry, Ohio, Aug. 28.—Major William B. Martin, team captain of the New Jersey delegates, has made arrangements for the Jerseymen to leave Camp Perry tomorrow night and go to Buffalo, where they will visit until Saturday and have an opportunity of seeing Niagara Falls. They will resume their trip Saturday night, going direct to Sea Girt, where those who will take part in the matches to be held September 12-20 will go into camp. They will begin practice Monday morning.

The Plainfield members of the New Jersey Rifle Team taking part in the national matches at Camp Perry this week are making a good showing. Lieut. A. R. Phillips and Quartermaster-Sergeant J. A. Thompson, both of Co. K, were well up at the head of those having the highest score of the Jersey team members in the national individual match on Monday.

The weather was ideal for the shoot, but the conditions of the atmosphere were such that it kept the shooters on the alert all the time. The greatest trouble was in keeping tabs on the heat waves which rise from the ground so that the marksmen could tell how to set their windguage. Out of a possible 250 score the Jerseyites rolled up these scores:

1.	Col. W. Tewes.	83	48	40	47	218

17.	Ser. Workman.	62	46	38	23	169

The Plainfield trio on the team in company with two other team members spent Sunday at Put-in-Bay, where they visited many places of interest, made especially so by the fact that Commodore Perry stopped on the island in Lake Erie before he attacked the British ships in 1813 and it was from the bay which gives the island its name that Perry's battleship came upon the British frigates in that memorable battle. They also witnessed the flights of three hydro-aeroplanes, part of the Perry Centennial celebration.

The members returned to camp early so that they could get a good night's rest before going to the matches.

Yesterday and today the events included national team match practice. The twelve men having the highest aggregate score will be chosen to represent New Jersey in the national team matches to be shot tomorrow Friday and concluded on Saturday.

MILE RUN FEATURE OF PARKER FIELD MEET

Athletic Exhibition Labor Day Morning at Local Playground—Other Events.

Arthur Donnelly, the star mile runner of Newark and champion of the Prudential A. A., at that distance, in a letter to this paper says he may come to Plainfield Labor Day morning and compete in the mile race to be conducted at Parker Field in connection with the playground exhibition. Mann, the local high school cinder path artist, is another likely aspirant for the handsome gold medal which has been offered to the winner of this event. Other entries are being received by Supervisor Charles W. Wriston, who is in charge of the arrangements for the athletic exhibition.

Over 500 children, representing the Bryant, Irving, Franklin and St. Mary's school playgrounds will take part in the spectacle, which will be held under the auspices of the Playground Commission. Folk dances in concert by children will be a feature of the occasion. Besides the mile run, potato and obstacle races and jumping contests will be held.

NEWLANDS 65 YEARS OLD.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—Senator Francis G. Newlands, one of the veterans of Congress in point of service, attained his sixty-fifth birthday anniversary today. He is now in his tenth year as a member of the Senate, to which body he was elected after a service of ten years in the house. When Nevada first sent him to the Senate there was but one other Democrat from the West in the upper house. Senator Newlands has established a reputation as being one of the broadest-minded men in public life and one of the most versatile. He has been identified with a wide variety of measures for the public good, ranging from the establishment of an art commission to supervise monuments and public buildings to the reclamation law which bears his name.

KRAUT FOR THE MULTITUDE.

Ackley, Ia., Aug. 28.—Ten thousand visitors came to Ackley today to join in the annual celebration of "Sauerkraut Day." This is the banner sauerkraut-making section of the entire country and the annual festival is held to attract public attention to the produce. The feature of today's celebration was a great dinner served free to the visitors. Fifteen barrels of sauerkraut and more than 1,000 pounds of wienerwursts were consumed by the multitude.

COLORADO-TO-THE-GULF.

Clayton, N. M., Aug. 28.—A meeting in the interest of the movement for the building of a model highway from Colorado to the Gulf of Mexico was held here to day. Delegates from several States were in attendance.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Wm. Collier, one of the foremost comedians on the American stage, comes to the Plainfield theatre, tomorrow night, in "Who's Who?" a brand new farce written especially for him by Richard Harding Davis. Mr. Collier made one of the biggest hits of his career several years ago in "The Dictator," by Mr. Davis. That was when Mr. Collier was one of Charles Frohman's stars and he has just returned to Mr. Frohman's management. The play opens with a scene in the White Hope Saloon at Last Chance, Arizona. Sarah Cooper is the proprietress of the place and she has her brother, a champion prize fighter, and all the cowboys of the district under her thumb. "Soapy Sam," one of the cowboys, is her favorite. She suggests matrimony to him and he tells her his story. His real name is Lester Ford and he's from Massachusetts. He hates being a cowboy and he longs to go back home, but he doesn't dare. Seven years before when he first came west and had bought himself a full cowboy outfit, everything neatly marked with his name, he was set upon by a highwayman and robbed. A little later the same highwayman held up an express train and killed a Wells-Fargo agent. The sheriff found his gun bearing Lester Ford's name and so when he was shot to pieces by the pursuing posse and kicked beyond recognition by his own pony he was supposed to have been Lester Ford and was buried under that name. The real Lester Ford, now called "Soapy Sam" on account of his liking for soap and water, had seen the grave and read on the tombstone an inscription—"The Wells-Fargo Never Forgets." Consequently as it was Lester Ford who was supposed to have robbed the express train he has never dared to claim that cognomen. Just then along comes a lawyer from Massachusetts hunting Lester Ford, whose father has died leaving him a fortune. He recognizes "Soapy Sam" as the man he is seeking. "Soapy" sticks to it that he is not Lester Ford—only looks like him. The lawyer then confesses that he is the executor of the elder Ford's will and that he has embezzled the funds of the estate. Will "Soapy," for a consideration, go back to Massachusetts, pass himself off as Lester Ford whom he so much resembles, claim the legacy and help the lawyer out of his scrape. "Soapy," for reasons of his own, consents and the rest of the play is taken up with his subsequent adventures at his old home in Massachusetts. Mr. Collier, of course, plays "Soapy," and according to all accounts it is a part after his own heart. Grace Griswold is the susceptible saloon keeper of Arizona and her prize fighter brother is impersonated by William Frederic. Bert B. Melville, Nicholas Judels and George White appear as cowboys. Grant Stewart has the role of the rascally lawyer. Characters of various kinds in the hero's Massachusetts home are played by Paula Marr, William Collier, Jr., Edward Lester, C. D. Clarke, John Adam, Nicholas Burnham, Frederick Conklin, Kate Wingfield and Leigh Wyant.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, of New York, takes a keen interest in the question of minimum wage for women, and in fact in many other phases of present day economics where women are concerned. Mrs. Belmont has founded many clubs for working women, conducts a lunch-room where decent food is served cheaply for the benefit of women who work, and interests herself in a thousand ways, wherever she can lend a hand toward helping those of her own sex who are less fortunate than she. It was principally because of her interest in department store conditions that she recently visited the play "Within the Law" when that striking melodrama of up-to-date happenings in New York life was having its unprecedented successful run at the Elting theatre. Mrs. Belmont occupied a box and watched the vicissitudes of fortune that attend "Mary Turner," the shop-girl heroine of the drama, with keenest interest. Afterward the great social leader and mother of the Duchess of Marlborough, wrote of it as follows to the author: "I was among the first to see your wonderful play and ever since I have been urging all my friends to go to see it." This play will be seen at the Plainfield theatre, Labor Day.

REMEMBERS TOLSTOI.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 28.—Notwithstanding the frowns of the government officials and the protests of the reactionary bureaucratic element, all Russians belonging to the educated and progressive class joined today in some form of observance of the eighty-fifth anniversary of the birth of Count Leo Tolstoi. In some localities the celebrations were reluctantly abandoned, but in nearly all the principal cities of the empire and at all the universities the programs were carried out with every evidence of enthusiasm and admiration for the memory of the great "Apostle of Liberty." During the week hundreds of pilgrims have visited Tolstoi's old home and burial place in Tula.

FIRE CHIEFS TO ORGANIZE.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 28—Fire chiefs from the leading cities of Ontario gathered here today for the annual convention of their provincial association. The convention will be in session three days. Before adjournment it is expected that preliminary steps will be taken for the organization of a Dominion association of fire chiefs.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS CONVENTION SOON

ANNOUNCE THE PROGAM

"Meeting the Needs" Convention Theme—List of Speakers and Their Topics—Edward W. Cooper Chairman.

The fifty-fifth anniversary of the New Jersey Sunday-school Association will be held in Asbury Park, November 11, 12 and 13 beginning Tuesday afternoon, and ending Thursday. The program committee, of which President Edward W. Cooper is chairman, has prepared the finest program in the history of Sunday-school conventions. The officers in charge of the coming event are trying to outdo the Trenton convention, which was the biggest event in the history of Sunday-school work in the State. Many noted speakers are scheduled to make addresses, among them being several local church workers.

The convention theme has been chosen as "Meeting the Needs." The program for the three days follows.

Tuesday afternoon—President, Edward W. Cooper presiding.

2 o'clock, Tali Esen Morgan and chorus. 2:15 o'clock, preparation service, the Rev. Dr. Floyd Tomkins, of Philadelphia. 2:45 o'clock, words of greeting, Harry S. Jackson, president of Asbury Park Sunday-school Superintendents' Union. 2:55 o'clock response Edward W. Cooper, president of New Jersey Sunday-school Association. 3 o'clock address, Miss Alice B. Hamlin, grade superintendent. 3:30 o'clock, announcements and offering. 3:45 o'clock, address, "The Supreme Need of the Sunday-school," the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Cronin, pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian church, Jersey City. 4:30 o'clock, hymn and benediction. 5 o'clock, meeting of State Executive Committee at Hotel Metropolitan.

Tuesday evening — Vice-president, the Rev. Dr. William Tatlock, presiding; 7:30 o'clock, concert by Tali Esen Morgan and chorus. 8:30 o'clock Scriptures and prayer. 9:55 o'clock, announcements and offering. 8:45 o'clock, convention sermon, "Christ's Charge to His Workers," the Rev. Dr. Franklin Ream, pastor of the M. E. church at Westfield, prayer and benediction. Home Department Institute and Council meeting in the church, Walter M. Irving, presiding. 9 o'clock, devotional, the Rev. Dr. Arthur McKay. 9:15 o'clock, statistical report, Walter M. Irving. 9:25 o'clock, the Visitors' Council Mrs. B. M. Sutphin, of Trenton. 9:35 o'clock, the family altar the Rev. Dr. Hilliard Gage. 9:55 appointment of committees. 10 o'clock, "How the Home Department Is Meeting a Vital Need," Rev. Dr. John Y. Dobbins. 10:20, roll call. 10:40 o'clock, "A Stimulant," the Rev. Dr. Walter B. Greenway. 11 o'clock, conference, Mrs. Almer W. Karnell, State Home Department superintendent.

Wednesday morning—The entire morning will be spent in institute work.

Wednesday afternoon—Vice President Joseph H. Wright, presiding; 2:15 o'clock, song service; 2:25, devotional service, Dr. Floyd Tomkins; 2:45 election of officers and other business; 3:15, address, "What We Have Done and Hope To Do," Isaac B. Burgess, general secretary; 3:45 o'clock, "The Needs of the Future;" 4:45, address by the Rev. Dr. W. A. Brown, of International Sunday-school Association.

Wednesday evening—Edward W. Dunham, president of the New Jersey Superintendents' Union, presiding; Metropolitan Hotel, 6:30, superintendents' banquet in dining room; 8:00 o'clock, "The Business Side of the Sunday-school," E. S. McClelland of Pittsburgh; 8:30, address, "The Evangelistic Aim of the Sunday-school," the Rev. Dr Charles L. Head, of Baltimore.

Wednesday evening, in convention church, Vice President Dr. Ralph B. Ursay presiding; 7:30 o'clock, song service; 7:50, devotional service, Dr. Floyd Tomkins; 8:19, address, "The Bible a Book for Men," Bishop Joseph F. Berry, of Philadelphia; 9:50, address, "Men and the Home Department," Mrs. Almer W. Karnell.

Wednesday evening—Supper and rally and social of young people.

Thursday morning—Meeting in convention church, Vice President Dr. Henry C. Cronin presiding; 9 o'clock, quiet hour, Dr. Floyd Tomkins; 9:30, address, "Music for the Sunday-school," Tali Esen Morgan. In Reformed church, Dr. Perry H. Murdick, president Essex County, presiding; 10 to 12 o'clock, county officers' conference led by General Secretary Burgess and President Cooper; 12 o'clock, new executive committee luncheon, Metropolitan Hotel.

Thursday afternoon, in convention church, Vice President, T. W. Synott.

FARMERS AS GUESTS OF THE HUNT CLUB

Watchung Riders Will Entertain Nearby Agriculturists On September 13.

"Farmers' Day" will be celebrated at the Watchung Hunt Club grounds, Plainfield avenue and Chamberlain road, near South Plainfield and New Brooklyn pond, on Saturday, September 13, when the club will entertain the farmers who allowed the members to hunt over their farms during the hunting season. This will in a measure take the place of the annual steeplechase event.

There will be a farmers' race for horses owned by farmers, distance about a half-mile, with a purse of $50 for the first prize: $25, $15 and $10 for the remaining prizes, while every horse that starts in the race will receive a good warm horse blanket. Another interesting event will be a jumping contest for farmers' and club members' horses, with first, second and third prizes, and running races for horses owned by club members.

Another event will be three foot races, half-mile, quarter of a mile and 100 yards for boys under 24 years of age. The first prize will be a gold watch, the second, nickel watch, and third, a penknife for each foot race. Dinner will be served at 12.30 and the races will start promptly at 2.30 o'clock. There will be music by a band from 1 o'clock on.

The circular which has been sent to the farmers says, among things: "There will be plenty of cigars for you to smoke and a good day's sport. Please let us know how many will come, as no one will be admitted to the grounds without a badge. Let us know how many of your sons will start in one or all of the races and if you will race your horse. Bring all the children, plenty of lemonade, ice cream and cake for them. If stormy the affair will be held the following Saturday."

The affair will be under the direction of the club's officers, of which Rufus C. Finch is master of the hounds.

KINKEAD TO SPEAK AT FIELDER RALLY

Mayor Stewart to Peside at Big Democratic Mass Meeting In Elizabeth.

Congressman Eugene Kinkead, of the Ninth Congressional District, will be among the speakers to address a public meeting of the Union County Fielder League on Wednesday night, at 8 o'clock, at Elks Hall, Elizabeth. Other speakers will be announced later. Mayor Percy H. Stewart, of this city, president of the organization, will preside.

The affair will be the first of a series of similar mass meetings to be held in Union county in the campaign to secure the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination for Acting Governor James F. Fielder. According to reports sent out by the league members, their chief is gaining in popular favor each day, and they predict that he will "win in a walk" from Katzenbach, his opponent for the nomination.

"T. B." CLINIC POPULAR.

The need of a tuberculosis clinic in this city is shown in the number of applications that have been made for treatment. On Wednesday, the opening day, there were nine applications. The plan is to have the clinic open every Wednesday and Saturday from 4 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and 8 to 9 o'clock in the evening. Several local physicians, who have volunteered their services, are in charge of the clinic.

LIBRARY ON HOLIDAY.

The circulating department of the Plainfield Public Library will be closed on Labor Day Sept. 1. The reading room will be open in the afternoon from 2 until 6 o'clock, with an assistant in charge.

MISS MARCH TO SPEAK.

Miss March, the evangelist, will preach in the Grace M. E. church, Park place, Sunday morning and evening.

UNION CO.'S W. C. T. U. WILL MEET SEPT. 16

To Hold Annual Convention in Elizabeth, With Mrs. Tomlinson Presiding.

The twenty-ninth annual convention of the Union County Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held on Tusday, September 16, in the East Baptist church, Third and Franklin streets, Elizabeth. An interesting program has been arranged. The county president, Mrs. Mary Davis Tomlinson, of this city, will preside. The morning session will open at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Mary V. Littell will welcome the visiting members for Union No. 1, of Elizabeth, which will entertain the county delegation while there. Rev. J. W. Ellson, pastor of the East Baptist church, will extend a welcome to the Union from the church and Mrs. S. Stagman, of Cranford, will respond for the visiting county delegation.

The officers will read their annual reports and officers for the ensuing year will be chosen. The afternoon session will begin at 2 o'clock, at which time reports of the year's work will be given by superintendents of the various departments. There will be also three-minute speeches by the nine presidents of the local Unions in the county.

The evening session will convene at 8 o'clock, and there will be an address on "New Jersey's Needs for Woman Suffrage," by Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of this city, president of the New Jersey State Suffrage League. All sessions of the convention will be open to the public and visitors are cordially invited to attend. A number of women from this city will take part in the program.

FIELDER NAMES COMMITTEES ON AGRICULTURAL NEEDS

Trenton, Aug. 29—The following persons have been appointed by Governor Fielder as a committee to prepare a statement on the agricultural needs of New Jersey, to be presented to the Permanent American Commission on Agricultural Finance, Production, Distribution and Rural Life; Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of Raritan, president of the State Board of Agriculture; Dr. Jacob G. Lipman, of the New Brunswick Agricultural Experiment Station, and A. J. Rider, Hammonton, treasurer of the State Board of Agriculture.

The commissioners of this State and thirty-six other commonwealths will meet in Washington on or about November 18 to adopt the report that is to be submitted to Congress. The national commission has completed its investigation of agricultural conditions in European countries.

HOUSEKEEPING CENTRE OPENING IS ANNOUNCED

The opening of the New Housekeeping Center for Junior Girls will take place at the Y. W. C. A., on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 11, from 1 until 6. Mothers having daughters between the ages of 9 and 16 are invited by Mrs. Percy H. Stewart to be present between these hours on that day to inspect the model flat.

The girls are taught one lesson a week in groups of eight, both afternoons and evenings, except on Saturdays. Already forty are enrolled for serious work besides twenty-three who come every Friday evening and combine a cooking lesson and a social hour. This work will be ably carried on by Miss Beatrice Gardner, a graduate of Mechanics' Institute, Rochester, New York.

Mrs. Stewart's committee follows: Mrs. James R. Joy, Mrs. John Tennant, Mrs. Samuel B. Morrison, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead and Miss Lucy Talmadge.

CLOSING SERVICE.

The closing services of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home will be held at the Home, Sunday afternoon, at 3.45 o'clock. The speakers will be Rev. E. R. Brown, of Dunellen, and Rev. W. S. Richardson of New York, who is prominently connected with the charities of John D. Rockefellow. Music will be furnished by the children's choir, under the direction of Clifford A. Braider. Following this service, Miss Sara Curry and her charges will return to New York.

NO TIDINGS TODAY FROM ENVOY LIND

President Hesitates to Leave Capitol Without Assurance Word From Mexico.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Aug. 29.—No advices were received from Envoy Lind over night and this morning President Wilson was without information as to Lind's movements. In this uncertainty the President has not yet decided whether he will leave for his New Hampshire home this afternoon or not. Despatches from Mexico are momentarily expected. So far as can be judged from the Mexico City despatches situation is not set [illegible] by a long way. Apparently the m[illegible] can be said at the moment is that the outlook is more hopeful.

Vera Cruz, Aug. 29.—It is understood that Envoy Lind will not proceed to Mexico City today, as had been expected, but that he will remain here for several days. Only unexpected happenings or a special request from the Mexican Government will cause him to return to Mexico City immediately.

New York, Aug. 29.—The local office of the National Railways of Mexico received a telegram from the Mexico City office this morning stating that the entire Laredo line from Mexico City to Laredo has been repaired and reopened for daylight service. The line from Juarez to Chihuahua is open. This clearly indicates that the Government forces have regained control of the situation along the Laredo line.

LECLAIR AT PROCTOR'S.

Harry LeClair, famous for his impersonations of noted women, is making a hit at Proctor's Theatre, this week. So great is his popularity that when Tony Pastor was alive he always played for him twice a year. His impersonations are clever. The Webb and Hope minstrels offer a fine act. The members of the company have fine voices and their selections are popular. Leander and Mack are a good team of comedy acrobats. The Langweed Sisters, are eccentric comediennes, presenting "The Meal Bag and the Straw." Janet Loudon & Co., offer a comedy sketch, "A Fourth Ward Romance," that is well received. The photo-plays are varied and the subjects are the best.

DISTRICT ELECTION BOARDS COMPLETED

County Board Selects Men to Fill Vacancies For Judge's Confirmation.

Completing its list of recommendations for appointment to vacancies in the list of Union county election officers, the County Election Board yesterday prepared to submit the names chosen to Judge Connolly for confirmation. Judge Connolly was expected to reach Elizabeth yesterday morning, but up to 12 o'clock had not yet arrived.

The recommendations of local interest, as prepared by the board, are as follows:

Republican.

Plainfield—First ward, Second district, Walter Firstbrook; Second ward, Second district, Frederick Kling; Third ward, First district, George W. Edwards; Second district, Alfred P. White and Harry Stewart, Fourth district, John Osborn; Fourth ward, Second district, Clarence W. Mundy; Fifth district, James D. Brown.

McCarthy; Second district, John Caufield; Third district Thomas McGrath; Fourth district, Charles Thorp.

Fanwood Township—Geo. Keuhn.

WILLIAM COLLIER IN "WHO'S WHO?" AT THEATRE

William Collier is one of the busiest actors in New York these days. He is hard at work in "Who's Who?" the farce that Richard Harding Davis has written for him and in which he is to be seen at the Plainfield theatre tonight. Mr. Davis is helping Mr. Collier all he can in preparing the play for production, but Mr. Collier has his own way of going about work of this kind and he must do the most of it himself. For this reason he likes to have in his company actors who are thoroughly accustomed to his methods. In "Who's Who" his supporting cast includes besides Paula Marr (Mrs. William Collier off the stage) and William Collier, Jr., William Frederic, Bert B. Melville, Nicholas Judels, George White, Grant Stewart, Edward Lester, C. D. Clarke, John Adam, Nicholas Griswold, Kate Wingfield. Leigh Wyant and Dorothy Unger, most of whom have been associated with Mr. Collier in one or more of his former successes.

DISTRICT DEPUTY ENEAR VISITS PLAINFIELD COUNCIL

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, conducted its initiatory work last night and introduced three candidates into the mysteries of the order. At the close of the meeting, District Deputy Enear, of Jersey City, addressed the fraternity.

Plans are rapidly being made for the fall work, arrangements having been completed to have the Supreme Representative present on September 25. On October 23, a district meeting will be held in the rooms of the local lodge.

A RUNAWAY.

A team of horses attached to an Independent Ice Company wagon being driven by William B. Ackor, got beyond the control of the driver this morning, while Ackor was delivering ice on Grove street. At the corner of Grove street and Linden avenue, the runaway came to a sudden halt when the wagon hit the curb. Aside from the breaking of the tongue of the wagon, no damage was done.

OPPOSE SANITORIUM AT "HILL TOP FARM"

Owners Protesting Against Purchase of Their Land For Tuberculosis Institution.

The possibility of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders securing "Hill Top Farm," above Watchung, as a place to locate the county sanitorium, is being met with a storm of protest on the part of people who live in the vicinity, who are opposed to the location of such an institution in that part of the county. This particular farm is owned by a family by the named of Wilson and for several years it has been an attractive place for city boarders during the summer time.

It is not known whether the owners would be willing to sell the farm to the county, but other property-owners in the vicinity are opposed to the land being used for a sanitorium.

"Hill Top Farm," it is said, is located at the highest point in Somerset county and owing to its natural advantages is particularly desirable for a sanitorium and besides a considerable sum could be saved because no grading would be necessary. The freeholders have other sites under consideration and it is expected that one will be chosen soon as the law requires that the county establish such an institution as soon as possible.

MISSING MAN HOME; WIFE IS OVERJOYED

William B. Ives Reappears As Suddenly As He Disappeared.

William B. Ives, of 15 Grove street, who, it was reported yesterday, had disappeared from home Tuesday, returned last night, the explanation for his absence being that he had been searching for a position. Mrs. Ives reported to the police yesterday that a stranger had called at her home, and after obtaining a description of her husband, informed her that he had been killed in an automobile accident in New York on Wednesday.

Inquiry on the part of Police Chief Kiely failed to furnish any information concerning such a fatality. Mrs. Ives says that she was so excited that she forgot to ask the name of her caller or learn any further particulars concerning the supposed accident. The return of Mr. Ives, last night, dispelled any fears as to such an accident as reported to Mrs. Ives.

PEDDLER FINED $5.

Robert Wade, of Brooklyn, who was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Martin Flatley, charged with peddling without a license, was fined $5 by Judge DeMeza, when arraigned this morning in the City Court. In passing sentence, the magistrate said, "Our local merchants who pay taxes and license fees, must be protected against the invasions of non-resident business men or canvassers who pay nothing for the privilege of selling their wares on our streets."

A SMALL BLAZE.

In response to an alarm sent in from box 143 the borough fire department found a slight blaze at George Egel's butcher shop, Somerset street and Grandview avenue, at 9:30 last night. The fire was quickly put out by the use of chemicals. It is thought that the blaze was started by sparks escaping from the stove pipes which had been used during the course of the day. The damage amounted to little.

YOUTHFUL OFFENDER.

Patrick Soraleni, eight years old, of South Second street, started on the downward path last night, when he stole into the home of Ellis Johnson, colored, of 663 South Second street, and took the latter's gold watch. BATTLE TO SAVE EUGENE BRITTON

AN UNIQUE ARGUMENT

Colored Fugitive Returned to Jail, It Is Contended, Can't Be Tried Again For Same Offense—History of His Case.

An interesting legal battle is promised at the trial of Eugene Britton, colored, of this city, who was extradicted from New York State this week on an indictment for assault with intent to kill upon Samuel Smelson, a local restaurant keeper, in April, 1912. Britton's escape from the county jail yard at Elizabeth on May 22, ten days after his commitment on a disorderly charge, is only one of the incidents that have featured the case to date.

Former Prosecutor W. R.. Wilson, who has been retained to defend Britton, said yesterday that he is investigating the case thoroughly and it is possible that he will make an attempt to have the indictment nolle prossed on the ground that it is based on the same offense for which Britton was convicted. The principle of the law is that a man shall not be tried twice for the same offense, unless a greater crime than that for which he is first tried results from the offense. For instance, a man may be tried for assault, and if the victim dies later as a result of that assault, the assailant may be indicted and tried for manslaughter or murder. But counsel for Britton contends that the circumstances of this case are not analogoes to the instance cited.

Only once before, and that many years ago, has a similar question been raised in this county. That was during Mr. Wilson's term of office as prosecutor, more than twenty years ago.

Briefly, the history of the Britton case to date is as follows:

April, 1912—He is alleged to have assaulted Smelson with a razor.

May 12, 1912—Convicted by Plainfield police magistrate of assault and disorderly conduct; sentenced to fifty-nine days in the county jail.

May 22, 1912—Escaped from the county jail yard, where he was permitted to work as a "trusty."

August, 1913—Police of Yonkers, N. Y., arrested Britton as a fugitive from justice, on a description sent out by the local county authorities.

August 23, 1913—Requisition for Britton's extradition honored by Acting Governor Glynn, of New York.

August 26, 1913—Britton brought back to jail in Elizabeth from White Plains, N. Y., by Chief of Police Kiely, of this city.

Britton will probably be arraigned before Judge Connolly in the Court of Common Pleas on September 5, to plead to the indictment.

If his counsel succeeds in having the indictment set aside, Britton will then have to serve out the fifty-nine-day sentence originally imposed upon him by the City Judge. He may also face trial for breaking jail, if an indictment is found against him for that. It is a misdemeanor under the State laws for a prisoner to take "leg bail," but even the learned exponents of the law are not agreed on whether Britton could be indicted as the circumstances in this case are peculiar.

Britton on Wednesday afternoon confided to Chief Kiely the story of his escape. As stated, he was working in the yard of the jail, and "just walked away," according to his story. He walked out to Rahway avenue without being molested in any way, and then to Rahway, where he met a friend known to him only by the name of "Gimp." He asked "Gimp" for financial assistance, but "Gimp" said he had just got "cleaned out" in a game of craps and couldn't aid the fugitive's escape. An auto moving van came along, and Britton got on the rear end and rode into New Brunswick, where he met a woman friend, who provided him with some money. After that he went to New York city, and from there to Albany, where he secured employment. Later he removed to Yonkers, and it was there that the police picked him up.

County Detective John A. Galatian and Joseph Buckley went to New York yesterday morning to bring back Guiseppe Corrento, now held in the Tombs. Corrento will stand trial for atrociously assaulting his sweetheart at Springfield a few weeks ago.

POLITICAL GOSSIP INTERESTING TO YOU

Newark, N. J., Aug. 29.—Five candidates for the gubernatorial nomination have accepted invitations to speak at a public meeting to be held under the auspices of the Clinton Hill Improvement association in Cleveland School auditorium, Bergen street, next Thursday night. Governor James F. Fielder, Everett Colby, Charles N. Fowler, Edmund B. Osborne and Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr., will speak. Former Governor Edward C. Stokes may also be present.

Each candidate will be given a half hour to present his views. Tickets for the meeting are being distributed to the members of the association. These tickets will be honored only until 8 o'clock, after which the doors will be thrown open to the public.

There are about five hundred signers on the petition filed by Walter Linbarger, yesterday, in the Somerset county clerk's office, Linbarger being a candidate for the Democratic primary nomination for county clerk.

Petitions filed yesterday with the Somerset county clerk were as follows: For county clerk, James V. Smith, of Somerville, Progressive (Roosevelt); Walter N. Linbarger, of North Plainfield, Democrat. For sheriff, Charles P. Sebring, of North Plainfield, and John E. DeHart, of Montgomery, Republicans; James Todd, Jr., Hillsborough, Democrat.

August 29—Petitions endorsing candidates for county nominations filed with county clerks.

September 2—Boards of registry and elections organize.

September 3—Congressman Kinkhead to speak at Fielder League rally in Elks' Club, Elizabeth.

September 3—Petitions endorsing candidates for municipal nominations filed with municipal clerks.

September 9—First registration day.

September 10—Special meeting Elizabeth Democratic Club to discuss board of works bill.

September 23—Primary and second registration day.

September 30—State conventions of all recognized political parties to be held in Trenton.

Petitions have been prepared for Theodore G. Lowden, of Elizabeth, as a Republican candidate for a freeholder nomination in that city. Mr. Lowden is a wholesale cigar dealer, and is regarded by his friends as a most capable man to help run the county government.

Mr. Fowler, who visited here yesterday trying to get someone to look after his "boom" in Middlesex, is what we would call a political unfortunate. He is a man of a single idea—the righting of the country's currency wrongs. He tried honestly and enthusiastically to shape his views into legislation when he was in Congress, but failed. And his failure is one of the best arguments against his being elected Governor of New Jersey.—New Brunswick Home News.

Congressman Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, was here yesterday endeavoring to get someone to take charge of his campaign in this section for the Republican nomination for Governor.—New Brunswick Home News.

MRS. CONGER THE BRIDE OF EDWARD ESKESEN

With only a few intimate friends in attendance, Mrs. Margaret Conger, of West Second street, became the bride of Edward Eskeson, of New street, Wednesday night at St. Mary's church. The ceremony was performed by Dev. Daniel Hogan. The bridal couple were attended by Miss Bella Conger and John McCann. This is the second matrimonial venture for both bride and groom. Mr. Eskeson is a machinist by trade, and is an employe of the Potter Printing Press Company. They will continue to reside in this city.

The feature photo-play at the Plainfield theatre, tomorrow afternoon and evening, will be "Hiawatha," a picture masque in four parts. This magnificent spectacle is enacted by Indians to whom the performance is as solemn as the Passion Play is to the peasant actor of Oberammergau. The characters are all Indians. The pictures were taken on the Indian reservation. The costumes and customs are absolutely correct and the production is endorsed by the American Museum of Natural History.

'CHANGES CLOSE TO TUESDAY.

New York, Aug. 29.—The New York Stock Exchange, the Cotton Exchange and virtually all the other big exchanges in this city closed today for the Labor Day holiday and will not resume operations until Tuesday.

There will be two interesting speakers at the services of the Temple Baptist church Sunday, Rev. Mr. Fletcher will speak in the morning and Miss Lucie Rising, who is the missionary of the First Baptist church, will speak at the evening service. This meeting will be in charge of the Christian Endeavor Society.

THAW LAWYER TRIES TO HEAD OFF JEROME

Case of Matteawan Fugitive Is Still Up in the Air.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 29.—Louis St. Laurent, the lawyer retained by the Thaw family to defend "Educated Roger" Thompson, left Sherbrooke suddenly for Quebec in an attempt to head off William Travers Jerome and Deputy Attorney General Franklin Kennedy of New York, who went to Quebec in an endeavor to enlist the aid of Sir Lorimer Gouin, premier of the province of Quebec, in their efforts to deport Thaw.

While Mr. St. Laurent is not the most prominent of the Thaw defenders, his home is in Quebec and he is the only one of the Thaw legal contingent who is a Liberal in politics. Sir Lorimer Gouin is a Liberal.

It is said that Mr. St. Laurent bore messages from prominent Liberal politicians here urging Sir Lorimer Gouin not to interfere in the case.

In the absence of all his counsel except Charles D. White, Thaw devoted his day to letter writing. He also sent a number of long telegrams. Unless some high official interferes, Thaw is likely to remain in jail until the king's bench is in session in October, although there is one method by which New York might expedite matters. This would be by bringing about the special meeting of the grand jury, which is authorized to meet before the regular sessions of the court to deal with extraordinary cases.

L. K. Mareschal of Montreal, a prominent lawyer, heralded here as the personal representative of Prime Minister Borden, arrived to investigate the status of the Thaw case. He had nothing to say except that he represented the immigration department.

AUTO STATUTES TO BE CODIFIED

Will Hold Public Meetings In State Senate.

SEPT. 8 AND 15 THE DATES

To Confer With Similar Commissions Appointed by Other States in Order to Establish Uniform Motor Vehicle Laws—Will Notify Automobile Clubs Throughout State.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 29.—As chairman of the commission on uniform motor vehicle legislation, appointed by former Governor Wilson under the provisions of joint resolution No. 2 of the last session, Commissioner Job H. Lippincott of the motor vehicle department has prepared a notice calling for public meetings to be given in the senate chamber at the statehouse Sept. 8 and also on the following Monday. The remaining members of the commission are Assemblyman George L. Burton of New Brunswick, secretary, and Commissioner Edwin A. Stevens of the road department, treasurer.

The purpose of the commission is to confer with similar commissions appointed by other states named in the resolution to draft recommendations to be adopted in order to establish uniform motor vehicle laws on all essential matters.

In his letter Mr. Lippincott instructed Secretary Burton to have the notices printed and forward copies of them to the various automobile clubs throughout the state, members of the state grange and boards of trade.

The subjects to be considered are. Reciprocity, with a view to possible improvements in the system; car license fees and distribution of revenues derived therefrom, both as regards the state itself and possible adjustment of revenues between states; drivers' or operators' licenses and revocation or suspension of same; speed laws and road laws; power of state departments and comity between states in the matter both of privilege and regulation; illumination of tags and uniformity of the same; penalties and supervision of justices' courts and proceedings therein and, finally, grade crossings on main roads.

STABBING VICTIM HELD.

Newark Youth Charged With Atrocious Assault on Sister.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 29.—Charged with atrocious assault on his sister Lillian, twenty-one years old, John Whitestone, nineteen years old, of 287 South Orange avenue, was committed to jail in default of $2,000 bail by Judge Herr in the Fourth precinct police court.

Early in the morning of July 14 the parents of the two were awakened by the sounds of a struggle, and when they rushed to the room they found John on the floor with seven stab wounds in the abdomen and the sister in the bed with a stab wound in the body.

Both were taken to the City hospital, where for a time their condition was considered serious. The girl was discharged from the hospital a short time ago and was released by the police on her own recognizance.

WINS WITH WOODEN LEG.

Unhooks Limb In Battle; Foes Goes to Hospital.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Don't fight a man with a wooden leg. That's the advice of Michael Brophy on South Broadway and who now lies in the Tarrytown hospital with three ribs broken and a punctured lung. Brophy had a fight with James McStay, who arrived here from Ireland, bringing a wooden leg with him.

When hostilities started McStay unhooked his wooden leg and used it with as good effect as if he had a shillelah and Brophy was carried from the field. McStay put up the plea of self defense. The police admitted that when it came to a question of self defense he was "there with both legs."

STYLISH—RELIABLE

A Little Sermon In Passing

The things we have done have made friends fast; but the things we have sold have made fast friends!

A business is not a success on account of the money it makes, but on account of the friends it makes!

You have, no doubt, observed that sentiment plays its part in the conduct of our business—it always will.

And we give it as our belief that a store, like a man, without sentiment is brutal.

To be brutal is to descend, whereas we are striving to ascend in commercial ethics.

—Every day is "Election Day" with the shoppers of this city. Every day some store receives a vote of confidence, pressging continued support, from the housewives. The store whose ads present the widest variety of opportunity news is "elected" always. For such a store brings ACTUAL RELIEF to the people from the oppression of high prices—not, as is often true in politics, mere promises of relief!

Speaking of silks, dress goods, and fabrics of a kind that are fashionable for Fall wear, that are familiar by name, and stranger weaves that are as yet unknown to fame but with a popular future in prospect, we have the real leaders.

A list of names of fashionable silks, woolens and fancy cotton means nothing, description of styles gets nowhere but back to the actual and trite fact that they must be seen to be appreciated.

If there is a fabric worth while which is not represented in our assortment it cannot be missed because this showing of Fall fabrics is absolutely complete.

Oblige us with a call of curiosity, leave buying and selling out of it, come in an open frame of mine, receptive to impressions without prejudice. Give the Tepper store credit for its progressiveness because it is bound to either lead or drive Plainfield's business to the top of possibility.

We will discontinue our Picture Department Wednesday. Cards now out should be presented not later than Wednesday, August 27.

In closing out this department we are making a sacrifice reduction in our 24-karat gold plated metal frames. Those having oval portraits size 11x14 will find great bargains in our frame department.

WORLD FIRE CHIEFS TO MEET IN GOTHAM

New York, Aug. 29—The forty-first annual convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers, which is to be held in this city the coming week and for which the final preparations have now been completed, will bring together the greatest gathering of fire fighters the world has ever seen. Heads of the fire departments of nearly all the leading cities of the United States and Canada will be present. In addition, the attendance will include representatives of many foreign cities.

Among the fire chiefs from abroad will be A. R. Dyer, of London; Capt. Hivert and Lieut. La Point, of Edinburgh; F. A. F. Schaenker, of Frankfort-on-the-Main; Felix Mitchell, of Cape Town; C. E. Bennington, of Pretoria; D. J. Stein, of Melbourne; August Deering, of Honolulu, and C. E. Weidman, of Panama.

The convention will have its formal opening at the Grand Central Palace on Monday. Mayor Gaynor will welcome the visitors. At this and the subsequent business sessions a number of papers will be presented. Fire Commissioner Johnson and Chief Kenlon, of the New York fire department, will discuss "Fire Insuurance and Its Relation to Incendiarism." Chief Henry C. Bunker and William Clark, Director of Public Safety, of Cincinnati, will talk on "The Inspection of Buildings and Contents by Members of a Uniformed Force." Other papers will be read by Chief A. V. Brunnett, of Birmingham, Ala., on "Motor Fire Apparatus," and by Charles S. Demorest, of the New York fire department, on "The Gasoline Motor Pumping Engine."

Wednesday there will be scientific tests of various kinds of apparatus at the pier at the foot of West Fifty-fourth street. Here a grandstand has been erected, from which the visiting firemen can watch operations. A motor engine and a steam pump will be placed side by side on the pier. In the first test the motor will be run for six successive hours with 100 pounds pressure at the pump, the test requiring a certain number of gallons to be delivered at the nozzle each minute. For six hours more 150 pounds pressure will be carried, and the engine will be run steadily with an increasing pressure of fifty pounds every six hours until a maximum pressure of 300 pounds has been reached. Comparison will be made with the time consumed by the steam pump in delivering the same amount of water at the nozzle.

Friday will be the day of the big parade. More than 1,500 members of the New York department will take part. There will be apparatus representing 150 companies and 3,500 uniformed volunteers and members of paid departments outside of this city. The parade will, in a way, portray the history of orzganized fire-fighting, for every sort of fire-fighting apparatus will be shown. There will be examples of the old hand apparatus. Horse drawn engines will be in line, and as a climax will be seen the modern motor driven engines and carts.

At the conclusion of the parade the firemen will make their way to Riverside Drive for the dedication of the firemen's monument erected there. The late Bishop Potter suggested the construction of the monument following the death of Deputy Chief Kruger of the New York department in 1907.

The week will see some thrilling scenes on Riverside Drive during the speed tests. The great motor driven engines of the local department will be sent down the avenue at their highest speed. Another exhibition which will be unusual will be a hill-climbing contest on the steep hill on Washington Heights.

A fund of $25,000 has been subscribed for the entertainment of the visiting firemen during the week that they will be the guests of the city. Theatre parties, luncheons and a banquet at the Hotel Astor will be given for the visiting chiefs and automobile rides for the ladies who accompany them. During the week there will be a baseball contest between teams representing the New York, Philadelphia and Chicago fire departments.

The convention will conclude its work Saturday with the election of officers for the ensuing year. The present officers of the association, who will have charge of the convention, are: President, H. F. Magee, Dallas, Texas; first vice-president, Thomas W. Haney, Jacksonville, Fla.; second vice-president, Hugo R. Delfs, Lansing, Mich.; secretary, James McFall, Roanoke, Va.; treasurer, George Knofflock, Mansfield, O.; trustees, A. B. TenEyck, Hamilton; Ont.; W. B. Cummins, Atlanta, Ga., and F. J. Wagner, Washington, D. C.

CHANCELLOR ON WAY HOME.

Trenton, Aug. 29—Chancellor Edwin Robert Walker will return from a trip abroad next Monday, when he will resume his court duties. The chancellor and his wife, in letters to friends in this city, have said that their trip has been very pleasant. They spent most of the time in England and Ireland.

GREAT BRITAIN'S LARGEST LANDLORD, DUKE OF SUTHERLAND, 25 YRS OLD TODAY

George Sutherland Leveson-Gower, fifth Duke of Sutherland, was born August 29, 1888, and succeeded to the title upon the death of his father several months ago. After completing his education at Eton he joined the Scots Greys, and later became a captain in the Fifth Battalion Stafforth Highlanders. About a year ago he was married to Lady Eileen Butler, daughter of the Earl of Lanesborough. His vast estate in Sutherlandshire—he can walk in a straight line for fifty miles without leaving his own property—was obtained by Hugh De Freskyn from William the Lion in the twelfth century. The first Earl of Sutherland was created in 1228. The history of the Earls and Dukes of Sutherland is bound up in the history of Scotland. They were mixed up in all the great changes of the centuries from the thirteenth to the nineteenth. The principal seat of the Duke of Sutherland is the great Dunrobin castle, in the heart of the Scottish Highlands. He possesses half a dozen other magnificent residences in the United Kingdom and a large estate in Canada, purchased by the late Duke.

MORE PAY FOR RAILROAD MEN.

Jamesburg, Aug. 29—An increase in wages that will affect the agents and assistants of the Trenton division of the Pennsylvania Railroad has just been announced by that company. The raise was voluntary and the men did not know of the increase until their pay envelopes arrived. This increase was given following a re-adjustment of the wages where some employes were not rated as high as the others on the same division, and in the same line of work. On an average the increase equaled fourteen per cent. The increase was effective from August 1.

Plainfield, N. J., August 29, 1913.

A NOTABLE EVENT.

Men who make, interpret and expound laws, men who have served their country in the highest executive, judicial, legislative and diplomatic positions; men who bear on noble foreheads and furrowed faces the indelible marks of intellectuality, and whose thoughtful glances and positive speech betoken the trained mind and judicial temperament—these are the component parts of the distinguished company now assembling in Montreal for the annual meeting of the American Bar Association and the conferences of the several affiliated organizations.

This will be the first occasion on which the convention of the American Bar Association has been held outside the United States. Great importance is attached to this fact, in calling attention to which the announcement of the executive committee says: "The meeting undoubtedly will tend to cement more firmly the already warm relations between the members of the bar of the United States and Canada, and will be a fitting forerunner of the celebration in February, 1914, of the centenary of peace between the two great English-speaking nations of the world."

The association has been fortunate in securing as speakers and guests of the convention three men who are eminent as representatives of the bench and bar of three of the leading nations. These men are the Rt. Hon. Viscount Haldane, Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain; William H. Taft, former President of the United States, and Maitre Labori, Batonnier of the bar of Paris, famed for his defence of Major Dreyfus and Emile Zola.

The convention will hold its opening session Monday morning in the assembly hall of the Royal Victoria College. Monday afternoon Lord Haldane will deliver the annual address before the association, being introduced by Chief Justice White, of the Supreme Court of the United States. The feature of the Wednesday morning session will be a paper by former President William H. Taft. The convention will be brought to a close Wednesday evening with a grand banquet at the Windsor Hotel. Senator Elihu Root, of New York, will preside, and former President Taft and Maitre Labori will respond to toasts.

A GOOD SIGN.

There are at least nine candidates running foor the nomination for Governor in the Progressive, Republican and Democratic parties. This is a most hopeful sign. This fact alone is evidence of the triumph of the direct primary. There is a contest in each of the parties. And it is a real contest. In the Progressive party, Colby and Osborne are active in the primary and it is a real and not a sham activity.

In the Democratic party, Fielder and Katzenbach are the participants and no one will pretend that it is not a genuine battle for supremacy. Both are good men. In the Republican party, former Governor Stokes, former Congressman Fowler, former Judge Carey and Senator Pierce are having a strenuous fight. Is not that simply fine? Stokes represents the stand-pat element,—the anti-progressive spirit of the times; but even he is pretending to be progressive. Senator Pierce is progressive within the Republican party and always has been. Carey is also progressive, a very pronounced one, in the same party. But Carey, much to his credit, is not acceptable ot the Republican machine. The machine is for Stokes with Pierce as a second choice. As for Fowler and Carey the old guard wants nothing of either of them. In fact, Fowler, unlike Carey, is not popular in any party.

It is only because there is a direct primary that all these men are in the fight. But it is a hopeful sign for the future of the State that they are in. It demonstrates what a blessing the direct primary really is. It gives the people a chance to have the kind of candidate they want. Will the people show their appreciation of the direct primary by going out and voting? The primary is the source of all political power in our country. It is the place where our representatives are really selected. No man should fail to register his preference at the primary this year. He has a wide field of choice.

SANE CHICAGO.

Every day is to resemble Sunday in Chicago, if some of the new ordinances of the Windy City which went into effect today serve the purpose for which they are intended. Of most general interest and importance is the anti-noise law. This is expected to throw the hurdy-gurdy players, organ grinders and mud-gutter musicians into the discard, and absolutely prohibits the yells and cries of the rag pickers, knife grinders and all street peddlers.

Another of the new ordinances is the anti-cabaret law. This forbids the form of restaurant-dance hall entertainment which of late has skept like a great wave from New York to San Francisco and has probably reached the zenith of its popularity in Chicago. The law prohibiting the cabaret shows makes no discrimination between the cheap music hall and the fashionable and high-priced restaurants and hotel cafes.

Former Mayor G. W. V. Moy has finally consented to become a candidate for the Progressive nomination for the Assembly in Union county. Mr. Moy is not hungry for office. The fact is that only after Everett Colby and others insisted that it was his duty to accept the call and make the sacrifice would he allow a petition to be circulated in his behalf for the primary nomination. We do not pretend to say what his chances will be, but should he be sent to Trenton there is sure to be a man in the Lower House upon whom the people may depend, for his reputation for honesty, fearlessness and efficiency is firmly established.

The contributing editor for tomorrow's issue will be George T. Hughes of Watchung, city editor of the New York Globe. Mr. Hughes is a candidate for the Progressive nomination for the Assembly in Somerset county, and the enactment of pure food laws will be his chief effort should he be nominated and elected to the Legislature.

It looks as if New Jersey would have plenty of politics to engage the attention of the people in the next thirty days.

MORE RULINGS IN AUTO CASES.

Trenton, Aug. 29.—Commissioner Lippincott, of the motor vehicle department, disposed of several cases of violations of the law Wednesday afternoon: The reciprocity privilege was suspended against the New York license of Harry Grove. Complaint was entered against him for driving at the rate of forty-five miles an hour at South Amboy. The license of John Corsey, of Woodbury, was revoked. He was charged with driving at a speed of from fifty to sixty miles an hour, and driving while in an intoxicated condition. A fine of $5 and costs was imposed upon John Christensen for driving an automobile without a license. He was summoned under the provisions of the law enabling the commission to sit as a committing magistrate. Charles S. Wilmot, of Barrington, charged with running at an excessive rate of speed and resisting arrest, was reprimanded by the commission. He had been fined $100 by a justice of the peace.

IMPERATOR AFTER FIRE.

© 1913, by American Press Association.

The Imperator, largest ship afloat, was found to be on fire below decks as she lay at her wharf in Hoboken, N. J. More than five hours the fire blazed between decks. Second Officer Gobrecht was asphyxiated while trying to arouse the 2,500 steerage passengers. His was the only fatality.

B. AND O. MACHINISTS GET 9 HR. DAY, BETTER WAGES

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Aug. 29.—Secretary of Labor Wilson today announced that the Baltimore and Ohio machinists in shops throughout its system between Baltimore, Philadelphia, Chicago and St. Louis have entered into an agreement for one year. It provides for a nine-hour work day, regulation of apprentices, minimum wage scale, an increase in wages from 35 to 36 cents an hour and better sanitary and safety conditions for the men.

BEATEN FIGHTING ROBBERS.

Salesman Refuses to Give Up Money. Now In Hospital.

Jersey City, N. J., Aug. 29.—Two unidentified men held up Philip Smith, managing clerk of a tea store in this city, and after striking him over the head with a revolver butt robbed the cash register in the store of about $2[illegible] and fled. The men escaped, but scores of policemen are searching for them.

Smith received two severe scalp wounds and was taken to the Jersey City hospital. He refused to give up the money in the store. The men sprang at him from behind several boxes and there was a short fight before Smith was felled by blows. He gave the alarm after the men had fled with the money.

MAY CROSS TRACKS.

Phillipsburg, August 29.—W. H. Walters, attorney for the Phillipsburg Horsecar Railroad Company, has obtained a final decree from Chancellor Walker, at Trenton, permitting that company to extend its North Main street tracks across the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing in Union Square. For six years the company has been trying to obtain this permission, and it is now finally settled. The work will begin as soon as the Supreme Court hands down its decision pertaining to the change of grade in the company's tracks.

SLOGANS FOR PERTH AMBOY.

Perth Amboy, Aug. 29—Among the suggestions for a slogan for this city, which have been received in the $25 contest that is to end November 1, are the following: "New Jersey's Front Door," "The Gateway of Commerce," "The Hustler's Hub," "The Sound Port of Industry," "The Bayside, Riverside, Soundside, Railside City," "Harbor of Industries," "Manhattan's Busy Rival," "The World Decides, Perth Amboy Provides," "Where Your Ship Comes In."

WOMAN BURNED AT BONFIRE.

New Brunswick, Aug. 29.—Her clothes catching fire from a bonfire in the rear of her home at 69 Bishop street, Mrs. John Ferron was badly burned on the body and face yesterday and is in St. Peter's Hospital in a serious condition.

UNCLE SCOUTS REPORT OF FINDING OF CHARLEY ROSS

Ocean Grove, Aug. 29—Reports of the finding of Charley Ross, who was kidnapped nearly forty years ago, are denied by James M. Ross, uncle of the missing one, who is a visitor at this resort.

"Having known the boy from babyhood," says Mr. Ross, "I am prepared to say that he had no birthmark. The only mark upon his body was that of a vaccination.

"This latest reads like many other stories that have appeared from time to time. Each one has been ferreted out, as the family now, after nearly forty years, investigates the slightest clue, hoping that there be something in it. Always, like the proverbial drowning man, it has been grasping at a straw, and thus far its searches have resulted only in heartaches."

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Ina Claire is to appear in London in "The Eleventh Muse."

Ellen Beach Yaw will appear in vaudeville the coming season.

Klaw & Erlanger have acquired the rights of production to "The Poor Little Rich Girl."

Mary Pickford is to be seen in a moving picture production of "In the Bishop's Carriage."

Olga Nethersole may visit this country again. She has not been seen on this side for several seasons.

William Hodge is to star this season under the management of the Shuberts in "The Road to Happiness."

Mary Feener has just been engaged by Charles Frohman for the leading feminine part in "The Conspiracy."

Martha Hedman will be John Mason's leading woman in the new play by August Thomas, entitled "Indian Summer."

W. A. Brady is to produce a playlet entitled "A Beauty Parlor," by Elizabeth Jordan, author of "The Lady From Oklahoma."

Klaw & Erlanger will produce, later in the season, a drama called "Marie Clafre," by A. E. Thomas, author of "The Rainbow."

Dore Davidson, who was with "The Blue Bird" last season, has written a play on an unusual theme, called "A Tragedy of the Fog."

Billie Burke will appear in fifty performances of "The Amazon" before her new play, by Somerset Maughan, "The Land of Promise," is produced.

A musical comedy, entitled "Oh, I Say," is to be produced soon in New York, the book being taken from a farce which has proved very successful in London.

Emma Carus has been engaged by Joe Howard for his new musical play, "A Broadway Honeymoon," which will open its season in Chicago within a week or so.

WORLD CONGRESS OF STUDENTS.

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 29.—With an attendance of delegates representing the student bodies of universities and colleges in many parts of the world, the eighth bienniel congress of the International Federation of Students assembled at Cornell University today and will continue in session until the latter part of next week. The congress is the first gathering of its kind ever held in America. The internationl federation was organized in Italy, in 1898, and now has affiliated societies in many countries of Europe and in both North and South America. The principal object of the organization is to create a closer unity among students of all nations and to consider the problems common to students in every country. At the conclusion of the sessions here the foreign delegates will be conducted on a two weeks' tour of the principal cities and educational centres of the Eastern States.

Abolish Blue Monday

THE NEW WAY.

READ WHAT WE HAVE TO SAY

You can save many dollars in a year on your clothes and add a day of pleasure to your life each week with this wonderful Rapid Vacuum Clothes Washer, but cutting your laundry work in two. Most clothes are RUBBED OUT and not WORN OUT. When you send your clothes to the laundry what happens to them? They are soaped and beaten, and rubbed so that the hot soap-suds (sometimes a little acid added) is forced through and through the goods. This cleans the goods, but they do not last long. When your clothes are washed in your own home what happens? The hot soap suds are pushed in and out of the garments, as they are rubbed on the board. This cleans them, but wears them out. In every process of washing, soap and water are the only elements having any cleaning properties. When your clothes are washed with the Rapid Vacuum Washer what happens? Gallons of soapy water at boiling temperature (which sterilizes the clothes) is forced through the goods every 60 seconds. This cleans your clothes snowy white without straining a thread. You can now wash woolens, blankets, sheets, shirts, collars, bed quilts, etc., at home, and after washing the articles will be whiter, softer, cleaner, fluffier and more beautiful in appearance than before. Compressed air, hot water and soap does the work.

You can wash a tubful of dirty clothes in five minutes without rubbing, without bending, and with very little work.

A tubful of clothes can be rinsed and blued in the same way in one minute.

You can clean anything that can be cleaned with soap and water or gasoline in a few minutes, without straining a thread.

No more rough hands and tired backs for the person who does the washing.

The Vacuum Washer has no moveable parts, cannot get out of order, and with proper care will last for years.

DIRECTIONS FOR OPERATION

Have your water hot, the hotter the better. Add sufficient soap and see that it is thoroughly dissolved before putting in the clothes, as hot water without soap will set the dirt. Use enough hot water to float the clothes, then operate the plunger up and down, each time a gallon or more of hot suds is forced through the fabrics, and the same amount is drawn back on the upward stroke. This suction force is produced by an automatic suction valve, which is a distinct and original feature of our invention. During five or ten minutes, which is required to do a washing, many hundred gallons of hot, soapy water are forced through the clothes, which cleans them in a more perfect manner than any other process and with absolutely no wear or tear. This is the secret of the success of this Rapid Vacuum Clothes Washer.

If you do your own washing, it will save you time, strength and temper. If you send your washing out, we know that you are not satisfied, as your clothes are worn and eaten with the strong washing compounds used by laundries. If you employ a maid, her time is worth money.

THE OLD WAY.

Hours of back breaking. Rough hands a Certainty.
Clothes worn out by hard rubbing.

Which Way Do You Prefer ?

HOW MANY COUNTERFEIT $20 BILLS HAVE YOU?

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Aug. 29.—A special warning was issued by the Treasury Department today against a dangerous counterfeit twenty dollar gold certificate.

BILL FLYNN'S CONDITION IS IMPROVING NOW

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Pittsburgh, Aug. 29.—At the West Penn Hospital today it was stated that the condition of William Flinn, the Pennsylvania Bull Moose leader, is a little better. Mr. Flinn has been a patient for the last three days. He is being treated for an old throat trouble.

ALL POSTAGE WILL BE PRE-CANCELLED NOW

Washington, August 29.—Postmaster General Burleson yesterday signed an order which provides that pre-canceled postage stamps may be sold to the public, on and after September 16.

Pre-canceled stamps have printed on them the name of the postoffice before they are sold. Such stamps will be valid for postage on second, third and fourth class mail—newspapers and magazines mailed by the public, books and other printed articles and merchandise or parcel post.

The stamps will be recognized only in the office named on them.

By the use of pre-canceled stamps not only will the transportation and delivery of mail bearing them be expediated greatly, but it is estimated that the Government will save on expense of labor in cancellation $250,000 a year.

Pre-canceled stamps may not be used on letters or other sealed mail, which, under the law, must bear the date of mailing.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. Dr. Frank J. Goodwin, of Ridgewood, will be the preacher at the Crescent Avenue church Sunday morning.

Trinity Reformed church will be closed Sunday to permit the annual cleaning and repairs. Rev. John Y. Broek, the pastor, is expected to be in his pulpit the following Sunday, September 7.

Beginning Sunday, September 7, the First Baptist church will meet at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, until the repairs at the former edifice are completed.

THIRD ANNUAL RECEPTION.

The Young Men's Christian Armor Bearer Society of the Shiloh Baptist church, of West Fourth street, gave its third annual reception last night. There were present visitors from Westfield, Roselle, New York and other nearby towns. Charles Howell, of Roselle, delivered an address. Richard E. Randolph sang a solo, Elmer Wilson, former president of the society, made an address, Masters Venable gave piano and violin solos, and Rev. E. W. Roberts, pastor, installed the officers-elect. A. S. Venable read the annual report for the society.

BOROUGH MEETING.

A special meeting of the voters of the North Plainfield borough school district will be held at the Somerset school house on September 15, when they will act on the resolutions of the Board of Education calling for the purchase and installation of a toilet system in the Somerset school house, the costs of which will not exceed $9,000. The voters will also be called upon to authorize the board to borrow the money ordered to be raised by issuing short term notes.

SUIT AGAINST LEHIGH VALLEY.

The Lehigh Railroad Company, which it is charged, controls eighty-five per cent. of the coal produced along its lines, will soon be a defendant in an action brought agaist it by the Government to dissolve the alleged anthracite combine. Attorney-General McReynolds is about ready to file the papers in the suit which will be brought under the Sherman anti-trust law.

AUTO HIT BIKE.

Oscar F. Pierson, of East Fifth street, while driving his automobile around the corner of Park and North avenues, yesterday afternoon, ran into Frederick Disborough, of 119 Crescent avenue, who was riding a bicycle. The cyclist escaped uninjured but his wheel was badly damaged. Pearson consented to pay for the smashed bike.

GIRL MISSING.

The Hoboken police have asked the local authorities to be on the lookout for Vrell Glasheen, 15 years old, of that city, who has been missing from her home for several days. When last seen she wore a white hat and a plaid dress.

SUNDAY MARKS CLOSE OF FRESH AIR HOME

Two Clergymen to Speak at Final Service For Season at Charity Camp.

The closing services of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home will be held Sunday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock. An attractive program has been arranged. The speakers will be Rev. Ernest R. Brown, of the Presbyterian church, Dunellen, and Rev. W. S. Richardson, of New York, former assistant to the Rev. Dr. Charles Aked, until recently pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, New York. The children's choir will sing and all who have enjoyed their singing during the season will no doubt be glad to hear the children at this last service.

The season just closing has been most successful every way. Little people who came to the Home sickly have been returned to their homes well and strong. Miss Sara Curry, the matron, has proved herself to be a friend indeed to the hundreds who have been intrusted to her care during the summer.

The great aim of the work is to build up these girls and boys into strong men and women, not only in character, but in body and mind, and in this particular has the season been successful. Helpful speakers have given a simple message at the many religious services held at the Home young women from the many churches have lent their best endeavors in entertaining the children, entertainers have given their services on Wednesday evenings to make fun for all and to all these and others who have in any way helped to make this a successful season, Miss Curry is grateful.

MISS GLADYS STEARNS SURPRISED BY FRIENDS

Miss Gladys Stearns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lambert, of 722 St. Mary's avenue, was given a surprise party at her home, last night, following her return from a vacation at Hillburn, N. Y., where she visited her cousin, Miss Anna Farmer. Music, dancing and refreshments were enjoyed. William Jeter was at the piano.

There were about twenty-five guests including the Misses Pearl Cox, Alice Francis, Bessie Tildon, Edith Battey, Margaret Carey, Margaret Daniels, Elizabeth Dandridge, Mary Crudup, Ruth Irby and Aubrey and Cyril Lambert, Daniel Hassell, Edward Dandridge, Elmer and Leonard Cox, Julius and Jesse Smith, William Jeter and Vernon Williams. The affair was arranged by the Misses Ruth Irby and Lucy Johnson.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

The Habit of Punctuality.

In a few days the schools of the land will begin to open. And countless children will begin to listen for the school bell in the morning—where there is a school bell—and wait for prompting on the part of their elders where there is no bell. A tremendous amount of time is lost and a tremendous amount of strength is wasted every year simply in the effort to get children to school on time. So it would be an economical idea to plan now to establish a habit of punctuality in your household.

When the father and mother must nag and scold to get their children to breakfast and, later, to school on time, the whole day is begun wrong. The father, fretted with the scolding he has been forced to do, finds that business goes wrong all day long. The mother, tired and worried before the day is begun, has, perhaps, a headache, or at any rate wonders what makes life a continual succession of petty worries. The children, hurried in eating their breakfast, perhaps develop, in the course of the winter, real digestive or other ills.

Make It a Habit.

The simplest way to avoid all this worrying is to establish a punctual routine in your household. Waken the children at a certain hour, giving them long enough to dress comfortably and easily before breakfast. Then have breakfast served early enough to enable them to get to to school in leisurely fashion after it is over. Insist that they be at the table on time. Attach some penalty to lateness. The penalty might take the form of a much simpler meal; the denial of any breakfast for lateness would be a real hardship. But bread and milk might constitute the late comer's breakfast. The relinquishment and milk might constitute the late comer's breakfast. The relinquishment of fruit, egg or cereal would doubtless prove an inducement to promptness.

Even more than penalties a little lecturing serves to make children prompt. Talk to them about the value of being on time, about the inconvenience to others and the harm to themselves they do by dallying about getting up, dressing or eating their breakfast. Promptness is only a habit. Once it is established it is hard to give up. So go to as much trouble as necessary to get it established.

Some Cookery Suggestions

SUMMER SQUASH.

Fish Souffle.
Stuffed Squash.
Toasted Rolls.
Cake.
Lemon Jelly.
Tea.

SUMMER squash, although usually boiled, may be served in a variety of ways.

The best summer squashes are light yellow. They should be so tender that the shell can be broken with the finger.

An excellent way to prepare is to steam them. They may be cooked in a steamer or in a strainer placed over the boiling water.

Two Ways of Baking.

Stuffed Squash.—Take out the center of the squash and fill with a stuffing of one cupful of cracker crumbs, one-third teaspoonful of salt, a little pepper and onion juice, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, with celery salt. Lay in buttered pan and bake thirty minutes.

Squash Custards.—Take two and a half cupfuls of stewed squash which has been passed through a sieve and mix with one pint of sweet milk. Add a teaspoonful each of cinnamon, ginger and salt, a tablespoonful each of molasses and melted butter and three-fourths of a cupful of sugar. Beat two eggs to a froth, stir in and then pour the mixture into cups. Place in a pan of hot water and bake until firm

Served In Cups.

Creamed Squash.—Boil and mash the squash in the usual way, having it drained dry. While hot beat in two tablespoonfuls of butter, two of good cream, salt and pepper to taste: then stir and beat in beaten egg to make a batter and pour into individual baking cups and set in a pan of hot water. Place in the oven and bake until set like custard.

Casserole Squash.—Cut the squash into two inch pieces and pare off the rind. Cook slowly in boiling water for twenty minutes; then drain. Arrange in a casserole dish, sprinkling each layer with sugar and spreading with butter. When the dish is full add half a cupful of water. Cover closely and bake slowly for an hour or longer.

Cousin Dick Picked Up Carlo.

Naughty Puppy Dog Carlo Runs Away.

THERE was a merry laugh in the hall, a rush into daddy's room, and that patient person knew that it was again time for Jack and Evelyn's bedtime story.

"And what shall it be?" he asked as he laid his book aside, for Jack and Evelyn had ideas about stories.

"Anything you will think up for us tonight," the children answered.

"Very well," he replied. "I think I'll tell you about Carlo. He was a lovely fat puppy, and his mother, Mrs. Beauty, was very proud of him.

"'You must never, never go outside the yard alone,' Mrs. Beauty told him.

"One morning Carlo was playing in the yard with an old slipper which his mistress had given him. Carlo shook and bit the slipper just as he had seen his mother shake a rat. It was lots of fun.

"Just then Tom, the butcher's boy, came in with the package of meat for the cook. He seemed in a great hurry, and he did not look at Carlo. The puppy ran after him to the gate, expecting to be noticed, but I suppose something had happened to Tom that morning, for he went out without so much as looking at his little dog friend.

"'Wow, wow, wow!' yapped Carlo indignantly.

"As he stood peering after Tom, Carlo noticed that the gate stood ajar. In his hurry to go the butcher's boy had slammed it and gone off without waiting to see whether the latch was caught.

"'I'll run after him,' Carlo thought. Out he darted and trotted in the direction he had seen Tom go. But Tom was not in sight.

"'Dear, dear,' yapped Carlo; 'that boy might wait for me!'

"And he ran as fast as he could until he caught up with a boy walking along and whistling in front of him.

"'Wow, wow!' said Carlo, and the boy looked around.

"'Hello!' exclaimed the boy, and he looked at Carlo. 'That looks like Nellie's puppy!'

"'Oh, wow, wow!' yelped Carlo as he started to run away. He wasn't ready to go home yet.

"But Cousin Dick just picked him up and tucked him under his arm. And that is the way Carlo went home.

"At the gate Mrs. Beauty was waiting for her son. When she saw him coming under Dick's arm she began barking her scoldings. Nellie came running to see what was the matter.

"Sorry? Oh, yes! Carlo said he was sorry and he would never do it again, but Mrs. Nellie made up her mind not to take her eyes off him in a hurry, so it was some time before he got into trouble again.

ROD IN PICKLE FOR L. J. ARNOLD

Two Will Sue and One Will Otherwise Punish Him.

HOT TIME IN ASSEMBLY

Legislators Vote to Bring Sarecky and Colwell, Sulzer's Friends, For Contempt—Garrison Refuses to Answer Question, and Judiciary Committee Session Ends in a Fizzle.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Assemblyman Aaron J. Levy, the Democratic floor leader in the state assembly, declared that he would sue Judge Lynn J. Arnold for criminal libel and malicious prosecution for the attacks made upon him in the Albany newpsapers controlled by Mr. Arnold.

Senator Robert F. Wagner, who is the Democratic leader of the upper branch of the legislature and is acting lieutenant governor, declared on the floor of the state senate he also would institute at once an action for criminal libel against Judge Arnold and his newspaper.

State Senator James J. Frawley, who is chairman of the Frawley investigating committee which is probing Governor Sulzer's campaign funds, also publicly denied on the senate floor the Arnold charges and indignantly declared he would not bring Judge Arnold before a magistrate, but would "apply to him the remedy that should be applied to all men of his type."

After Sarecky and Colwell.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 29.—The assembly passed a resolution to punish Sarecky and Colwell for contempt; also the resolution introduced by Cuvilier to investigate by special committee the charges made by James C. Garrison regarding the bribery of four members of the assembly on the impeachment of Governor Sulzer. Both resolutions were passed viva voce.

After a conference with Majority Leader Wagner, of the senate Chief Judge Cullen of the court of appeals announced that all the judges of his court, including the three who are not elected, but designated, had been notified to appear on Sept. 18, the opening day of the trial of impeachment of Governor Sulzer. Until that time, said Judge Cullen, there will be no decision as to whether, under the terms of the constitution, the three designated judges shall be a part of the high court of impeachment.

To Adjourn Until Sept. 17.

The leaders announced they had abandoned their idea to pass financial legislation and that the legislature would adjourn until Sept. 17.

"Did bribery enter into the methods used to get the votes to impeach Governor Sulzer?" was the important question before the assembly judiciary committee at the capitol.

At first the committee asserted that it would hold no executive session to examine James C. Garrison, who was subpoenaed by the sergeant at arms at 1 a. m., but Assemblymen Gibbs and Schaap insisted that the matter was of too great importance to be heard secretly and demanded that the hearing be open to the public.

After a long conference the committee decided to have the preliminary hearing at least open.

Garrison appeared and questioned the right of the committee to examine him. Majority Leader Levy read the law which empowers the committee to examine the witness in secret. Garrison asked, "Is that all the authority?" Assembly Cuvilier stated that there was further authority in the criminal code

Garrison Asks More Time.

"Well," said Garrison, "I would like a chance to consult with counsel and to be represented by counsel when I am examined."

"You want the committee to give you more time to prepare yourself?" asked Levy.

"That is it," replied Garrison. "I have grave doubts myself as to the right of the committee to examine me. I have had no official notice as to what you wanted. I have had no chance to prepare or get advice."

Chairman Goldberg asserted that the public print had been full of the matter for several days and Garrison ought to be informed.

Smart Models for the Clever Girl Who Makes Her Own Frocks.

Rich dark colors of autumn foliage appear in woollen and silk fabrics for combination garments that will be among the smartest designed for street wear in the coming season. The illustration on the right (7907) is a type of the latest two-piece suits having the coat of a contrasted material. It is a brocaded wool poplin with a ground matching the skirt of plain olive-taupe poplin. Old blue, brow and dark Indian red are the colors in the brocade. The coat is a Russian blouse with the lower, or skirt portion attached, beneath the wide smart belt of old blue suede. The novel use of leather as trimming is further carried out in cuffs and a turnover collar of the suede. The coat also emphasizes the continued vogue of the drop shoulder, and absence of fitting, in the sense that garments were formerly made to fit the form. The skirt has five gores, and three plaits in the middle back running in the same direction. The pattern is cut in four sizes for Misses—14, 16, 17 and 18. Size 18 requires 2½ yards each of plain and fancy materials, 42 inches wide.

One-piece gowns, for early fall wear before wraps are worn, are being featured for town needs, or the week-end house party. While the simple straight silhouette prevails, each new gown of this character is made original through the use of novel accessories, as instanced in the attractive Roman silk sash and girdle on the figure at the left (7850). This dress is wonderfully easy to make, for it has a plain drop shoulder, three-piece blouse, lapping to the left for fastening, and a two-piece skirt slashed at the side front. The material is a silk and wool striped ratine in a rich wine shade, with threads of color in the stripe that are repeated in the sash. Loops and discs of braid matching the material are the effective decoration supplemented by one of the newest styles in net frills with a colored scallop. Long sleeves with frills about the hand will be correct for practical day-time gowns. Frocks may be varied and freshened repeatedly nowadays by adding and changing their collar and sleeve decorations. 3¼ yards of 42-inch material will make the gown illustrated in size 16. The pattern is cut in three sizes—16, 17 and 18. Each pattern, 15 cents.

Notice the chic little black plush Tam O'Shanter hat which is worn with the suit. It is Dame Fashion's latest word for early fall wear.

A Cross-Stitch Design For a Runner or Table-Cover.

Cross-stitch is so easy to do that any child can embroider pretty things in this stitch, and yet it is one of the most effective ways of decorating linens for household use. The rose design, 14453, illustrated on this runner is 5 3-4 inches by 5 3-4 inches and the pattern includes four transfers so that you can stamp the design on a sofa-pillow of linen, canvas, poplin or denim; on a table-cover or runner of Russian crash, linen or any heavy, plain cotton fabric. The design may be developed entirely in [illegible] predominates, or it may be embroidered by using three shades of pink or yellow for the roses and three shades of green for the leaves. Number five mercerized cotton will be found more satisfactory than silk for developing these cross-stitch designs on cotton and linen materials.

There are many pretty Christmas novelties which can be worked attractively with these rose corners, for instance a pretty hand or sewing bag, a bureau-cover with pin-cushion to match, a handkerchief case, glove case, or sewing apron.

Transfer patterns for stamping the [illegible] can be supplied to read-

..BOOMING PLAINFIELD..

THE DAILY PRESS WILL HELP THE BOARD OF TRADE AND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE EXPLOIT THE ADVANTAGES OF PLAINFIELD AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE AND PLACE OF RESIDENCE.

Meets With Flattering Reception from Our Public-Spirited Citizens

The movement of the Daily Press to issue a splendid Historical and Industrial Edition has met with a gratifying reception from the various interests of our town. Plainfield's progressive merchants, manufacturers and professional men, keenly realizing the far-reaching and lasting benefit which will accrue from a complete and graphic exposition of the growth of this community, are according their hearty support to the plan, and the success of the undertaking is more than assured.

Our special staff of reporters, artists and solicitors, to whom this important work has been intrusted, is being most courteously received by the men of business whom they are daily interviewing, and from all sides comes assurance of unqualified aid and co-operation.

SUPERB EDITION

Do not let your neighbor out-do you. Remember this when our representative calls to see you. The compiling of data concerning Plainfield activities and the reduction of this data to well and accurately written articles, descriptive of individual commercial enterprise, our schools of learning, churches, progressive life, etc., is progressing rapidly and most satisfactorily, and will be pushed with unabated vigor until the day of publication.

This Boom Edition

will embrace an exhaustive resume of every manner of Plainfield and Union county life. It will review the town and county history from its foundation to the present time. Every branch of industry will be thoroughly described. The bench and bar and municipal government will receive adequate attention, as befits the relatively important niches which they occupy in the life of this hustling town. In short, THE PRESS will set forth in glowing terms, in orderly and comprehensive detail and with resolute accuracy, the growth of grand old Plainfield, and the enterprise and high character of her representative and progressive sons who have made it the splendid town that it is today.

Thus for the FIRST TIME—in proper form—Plainfield and all that goes to constitute its healthy and active life, will be portrayed so that the outside world may know just what this town looks like and what our people are doing. You will be called upon in a day or so. Do your part then. Do not hide your light under a bushel. One and all pull together and the success will be ours and yours. If you have never done anything for the welfare and advancement of your home town you have a good chance to do it now.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who was the fattest man in the world? W. Q.

Answer—Daniel Lambert, born in Leicester, 1770, and died in Stamford, England, 1809. He weighed 739 pounds. He was nine feet four inches around the waist. The calf of his leg measured thirty-seven inches in circumference. Eleven men once stood within a buttoned vest of Lambert's. He was some fat boy, believe me.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Which is the worst word in the English language? D. P. L.

Answer—Why, Devil, because mutilate as you will, you can't make good out of it. Take off the D and you have evil; take off the e and you have vil(e); take off the v and you will have il(l); take off the l and you will have L(beli); spell it backwards and you have lived or livid.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What was the earliest known chess game? V. F. T.

Answer—Under the Sanscrit name, "Chaturanga," a game essentially the same as modern chess was played in Hindustan nearly 5,000 years ago.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Kindly state in your columns the rule concerning caught fly balls at the Polo Grounds, whether they can be retained by the person catching the ball or not. On Monday, a man was put out of the stands for keeping a sphere he got on the bounce in the early part of the game, but later on several balls were kept by the fans. H. V. M.

Answer—New York newspapers have advocated the custom of allowing the fans who catch balls while sitting in the bleachers, to keep the sphere for souvenirs, but the "specials" always re-capture the horsehide from a bleacherite if they catch the fan "with the goods."

Sporting Editor:

Query—Where did the phrase, "Coming to the scratch," originate? P. M.

Answer—This was originally a phrase used by the boxers. In the prize ring it was usually to make the distinct mark or scratch in the turf, dividing the ring into two equal parts. "To come to the scratch" meant to walk to the boundary to meet an antagonist.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the meaning of the term "court cards?" D. O.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Kindly state the value of a U. S. half dollar of the year 1825. B. R.

Answer—Just fifty copper pennies.

THIRD ANNUAL FIELD DAY OF COUNTY CLUB

Society Will Race, Put the Shot and Dance Tomorrow at Union Village.

New Providence, Aug. 29.—The third annual field day of the Tri-County Club will be held tomorrow, beginning at two o'clock. The meeting will be held on the spacious grounds of the club at Mountain and Plainfield avenues, Union Village. Carl Sollmann, the chairman of the Field Committee, has arranged an interesting program of events, seventeen in number, as follows:

DIFFICULT SWIMMING FEAT ACCOMPLISHED

New York, Aug. 29.—Capt. Alfred Brown, Commodore of the Flushing Bay division of the American Life Saving Society, yesterday, swam from the Battery to Sandy Hook.

The first successful effort to make this twenty-two mile journey in the water crowned Capt. Brown's fifth attempt. The feat had been regarded by water men as practically impossible.

The swim was begun at 5.15 a. m. and finished at 6.53 p. m., Brown having been in the water thirteen hours and thirty-eight minutes. He landed in excellent condition amid the plaudits and congratulations of the attaches of the United States Life Saving Station, the Telegraph Marine Observatory and many officers and soldiers of Fort Hancock.

Although three previous attempts to make the long journey from the Battery to the Hook and one to make it from the Hook to the Battery had all failed after hours of battling against wind, wave and tide, Capt. Brown was declared to have faced yesterday the most unfavorable conditions he had known. The water at the start was smooth but there was a strong flood tide and the successful finish of the exhausting trip seemed almost hopeless when a fresh southerly wind had to be met in the final stages.

The swimmer used an English over-hand stroke and seemed not to be bothered by wind, tide or the choppy waves that he met toward the end of his trip. His arms lifted slower and slower toward the last, and it was evident that every ounce of his strength and endurance was going into the strokes.

It was dusk when he finally touched shore. He slumped for a moment and tottered in the sand but the first warm hand clasp, the first hearty "Well done" put life into him and beyond some stimulant and a rub down he needed no special attention.

Brown has made championship swims to Coney Island from Brooklyn Bridge, has made several water journeys from Hell Gate to College Point and was figured as first across the line in many swimming races against both amateurs and professionals.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

Cliff Randolph, the local star flinger, has been selected by Manager Dorflinger to humble the Somerville nine in the first fight for the Central New Jersey League championship game Labor Day afternoon.

The Saurer team will play four games in three days. A strenuous time, as our friend Roosevelt would say.

The winner of the Saurer-Pet struggle tomorrow afternoon on Parker Field, will claim the baseball championship of Plainfield.

Dixon or Miller will be the box artists against the Pets. They will have to be at their best to mow down the hard hitting Central Leaguers.

Local golfers will be busy on nearby links tomorrow and Labor Day.

locals for the balance of the season. He will make his initial appearance tomorrow.

Nap Rucker, the veteran pitcher of the Brooklyn Nationals, showed his old time form yesterday by defeating Boston 5 to 1.

Jack Barry, the Athletics star short stop was responsible for five runs scored yesterday by his team. Sherwood Nottingham Magee performed a similar feat for the Philadelphia Nationals. He bumped the Giant pitchers for a homer and two doubles.

Cy Seymour and his semi-pro baseball team will perform against the Lincoln Giants on Olympic Field, New York, Sunday afternoon.

Raleigh Aitchison, the sensational pitcher sold by the Newark International Leaguers to Brooklyn, has refused to sign for the salary offered him. He wants a raise but Charlie Ebbets says he can't see it and has suspended the ambitious player.

Seeing—or Just Talking?

THE next time you say, "I've got to run out of town to see Smith," think it over and consider if you really want to see him or just talk to him.

Most of those tiresome and expensive business trips can be avoided and you can accomplish your purpose much more quickly and in nearly every case with as satisfactory results, if you travel the "Telephone Way"—just talk to him by telephone.

And the difference in cost between "seeing" and "talking" makes the "telephone way" desirable.

AN UNIQUE DISPLAY IN A STORE WINDOW

Fashion Show After Labor Day at R. H. Macy & Co.'s Big Shop.

An event which will be looked forward to with keen anticipation by everyone,—and especially by the woman who is interested in the fashions of the hour,—will be the display of fashion which will be exhibited in the R. H. Macy & Co.'s show windows immediately after Labor Day. Instead of using their windows to show merchandise only they will be arranged in a series of scenes from fashionable life. The chief note of interest will be centered on the garments which will be used in costuming the figures in the display.

The figures and setting of this unique exhibition were made in France in the studios of M. Pierre Imans, whose personal representative, Paul Robin, will superintend the work of making the display the best that has ever appeared in America. It is not only interesting, but also enlightening as to the artistic achievements of this master of the window dressing art, to know that Mr. Robin applies himself to this profession not in the way of work, but solely as a matter of pleasure in obtaining a wholly perfect result. Mr. Robin has given his close personal attention to every detail of the Macy exhibit. He is in the city for two weeks only, and all of this time will be devoted to the preparation of this display. Not the least interesting of all the interesting things about this event and its creator is the fact that Mr. Robin has brought with him from the Imans' studios paints, brushes, palettes and all the other necessary implements of the artist.

The exhibits made by M. Imans in the Galleries Lafayette, La Printemps, etc., in Paris, made a profound impression not only through France but throughout the continent. So dense were the crowds gathered about the Galleries Lafayette during the last exhibition that it was necessary to call on the police to clear the streets. There is not the slightest doubt that the display in the windows of R. H. Macy & Co. after Labor Day will create a sensation, and in anticipation of this arrangements are being made for a police patrol to keep a traffic way clear on Broadway during the continuance of the exhibit.

Outside of the highly artistic effects which will be produced as a result of Mr Robin's etensive eperience in exhibitions of this kind, this exhibit as a fashion display pure and simple bids fair to outrank everything which has hitherto been attempted in New York city. It will express the last word in fashion, and will be well worth a visit for this reason alone.

GROSSCUP PREPARING TO DISTRIBUTE RAILROAD TAXES

Trenton, Aug. 29—State Treasurer Edward E. Grosscup began preparations yesterday for the distribution of the money apportioned from the railroad tax to the public schools to the various counties of the State.

The total amount of the railroad tax for this purpose this year is $2,953,847.64, which is an increase over last year. All the banks having State money have been notified by the State treasurer that they would be drawn on to the extent of $3,000,000. Essex county will receive $753,203.12 of this money.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Miss Jane Gordon's wrap which she will wear in the third act of "Within the Law," Bayard Veiller's play which comes to the Plainfield theatre on Labor Day, is an interesting example of the new fad for temperamental garments, which is being stimulated by the Parisian couturiers. This charming evening coat has a drapery which suggests also the Poiret hip-girdle. This wrap has a most interesting scarf attachment which may be dropped at the front to form a graceful rever, or tossed over the shoulder, the tassel hanging below the waistline at the back. The wrap is made of brown velvet and is lined with olive gren satin veiled with brown chiffon. The garment, as well as being beautiful in line and richly harmonious in color, is full of dramatic suggestion and lends itself well to the part played by the actress in this stirring drama.

WAS MC GRAW WRONG?

Hank Groh, the diminutive second baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, has been playing a sensational fielding game since he obtained a regular berth with that team as a result of the deal that shunted himself, Josh Devore and Leon Ames from New York to Cincinnati in exchange for Arthur Fromme, who has not been performing so well for the Giants. Groh covers a vast amount of ground and is an admirable teammate for his more experienced side partner and boss, Manager-Shortstop Joe Tinker.

CLOSING DAY FOR THE PLAYGROUNDS

PROGRAM IN DETAIL

President Mellick to Present the Claybrook Cup—Band to Enliven Occasion—Big Crowd Is Expected.

Over five hundred children who have frequented the school recreation centres during the summer months will take part in an exhibit of playground work which will be held Labor Day morning at Parker Field, under the auspices of the Board of Playground Commissioners. Preceded by a band, the children and two troops of Boy Scouts will march on the field at 9:30 o'clock, which will be the initial event of the day. A one-mile run which is open to anyone regardless of their age, will be one of the features. Entries will be accepted at the tape.

The children will meet at the Bryant, Franklin, Irving and St. Mary's playgrounds at 9 o'clock, in charge of Supervisor George W. Wriston and his assistants, will board the special trolley cars for the field. The band will meet the delegations at Park avenue and Randolph road.

Although the events will not be run on a competitive basis there is considerable rivalry among the representatives of each playground, over who shall make the best showing.

The Boy Scouts will take a prominent part in the exercises. They will go to Parker Field in company with the playground children. At the field they will report to Deputy Scout Master A. V. Searing, Jr.

The program follows:

1, Hungarian march; 2, Hungarian folk dance by children of the four school playgrounds; 3, interplayground relay race; 4, selection by the band; 5, ring games—Drop the handkerchief, Farmer in the Dell, the Squirrel; 6, Virginia reel by Bryant, Franklin and St. Mary's playground; 7, obstacle race, Parker Field boys; 8, selection by the band; 9, drill, Patrol No. 7, Boy Scouts of America (boys of Bethel chapel); 10, Parker Field junior relay race; 11, kinder polka, St. Mary's, Irving and Franklin playgrounds; 12, girls' potato race; 13, selection by the band; 14, one mile run (open); 15, active games—dodge ball, cat and mouse; 16, presentation of the Claybrook Cup, George P. Mellick, president of the Board of Playground Commissioners, to be given to the boy showing the greatest per cent. gain in strength and speed during the season at Parker Field; 17, Franklin, St. Mary's and Bryant playgrounds.

COLLIER HOLDS RECORD AS APPLAUSE-GETTER

Never in the history of the Plainfield theatre has applause so genuine, so hearty and so prolonged been heard than rang through the house last night when William Collier, as he prefers to be known, or "Willie" Collier, as he is best known, was seen in the three-act farce, "Who's Who?" "Who's Who?" is by Richard Harding Davis and the production is presented by Charles Frohman. It's a corker of the cowboy and detective kind, most popular these days. As for the plot, it is original, not stereotyped nor pilfered, and the performance, with its splendidly balanced cast, made that huge audience on that hugely hot night laugh hugely.

Mr. Collier was just his same self, which is saying the most that may be said. Unfortunately, his wife, Paula Marr, was not suited to her part or did not like it; at least, she was not at her best. Their son, William Collier, Jr., made his usual hit. As for the others, they were all good. Frederick Conklin, who took the part of the detective and took it well, is a brother of Mrs. Alson M. Abbott, of North Plainfield.

It was evident that many changes will be made in the play before its appearance in New York.

The playwright, Mr. Davis, was in the audience with his brother, but despite calls for a speech, followed the star's example and did not respond.

BARRY FOUND DEAD OF HEART TROUBLE

Lying in the yard of his home at 519 West Third street, and passed by several neighbors who thought he was asleep, William Barry was found to be dead when efforts were made to arouse him. It is said he had been drinking considerably during the early part of the day.

When the discovery was made shortly before 5 o'clock, the police and City Physician Norman W Currie were immediately summoned. An examination revealed that the man had been dead several hours. Heart trouble was the cause of his end. The body was removed to Cole's undertaking establishment.

HOLIDAY PROGRAMS AT COUNTRY CLUBS

Attractive Golf and Tennis Tournaments Have Been Arranged for Two Days.

The next three days will be busy ones in the athletic and social lines at the local country clubs. Tennis and golf tournaments will be held today, tomorrow and Labor Day, and on the evening of the holiday, the members and their friends will dance.

Formal golf competitions will begin today at the Plainfield Country Club, when the qualifying round, 18 holes, medal play handicap for the fall tournament will be held, sixteen to qualify in classes A and B. An 18-hole match play is also carded. On Labor Day, morning and afternoon, the fall tournament will be continued and in addition an all-day 36-hole medal play handicap event for classes A and B has been place on the program. The first of a series of dinner-dances will be held in the evening.

The usual variety of Saturday competitions in golf is scheduled for today as usual at the Park Golf Club. Medal play handicap, 18 holes, for points on the President's Cup, offered by Charles W. McCutchen, and a challenge match for the club goats, scratch best ball match play, 18 holes, are on the schedule. The present club goats holders, who are subject to challenge for a match, are W. P. Taylor and W. B. Morse. There will also be play for the Oakmount Cup, an 18-hole medal play handicap match competition which may take place between any two players at any time the course is open.

Monday's holiday program in golf at the club includes the qualifying round for the fall championship, an 18-hole scratch medal play event. Succeeding rounds will be played on ensuing Saturdays. The competition is open to all active and associate members. The winner of the fall tournament will meet Peter C. Sweeney, the winner of the spring tournament, on September 27, in an 18-hole scratch medal play match for the club championship and Hydewood Park Cup offered by Louis K. Hyde. Mr. Sweeney, having won the spring tourney, will not be eligible to compete in the fall tournament. The runner-up in the spring was R. V. Carpenter.

Special holiday golf events are the 18-hole medal play, a. m. and p. m., for the Holiday Cup, and the approaching and putting contest in mixed doubles, open to members and their guests.

Formal competitions will be held at Westfield, Cranford and Baltusrol Golf Clubs and at the Somerville Country Club, today and Labor Day. Tennis will also be played informally at all the clubs, but on the Westfield courts the men's singles for the club championship which began this morning, will be continued until the afternoon of the holiday.

TO BUILD NEW HOME.

Joseph W. Gavett has sold his house at 811 Third place to Mrs. F. O. Herring, of Park avenue. Mr. Gavett has had plans prepared for a handsome new residence, but as yet has not decided definitely on the lot where he will place it. At present Mr. Gavett and his family are living at his farm in Watchung.

DANCE AT DUNELLEN.

While no special attraction of athletic nature will occupy the attention of Dunellen on Labor Day, a special dance will be held at Walter Sisty's Wayside Park on Monday night. The regular Saturday night dances will be continued for some time. Beginning with September 6, souvenirs will be given away at the dances.

EDWIN H. BENNETT'S MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

The announcement today of the marriage of Miss Alice M. Coffin, of Montreal, Can., and Edwin H. Bennett, of Plainfield, occasioned considerable surprise among the friends of the couple. The ceremony was performed on June 19, at the Church of the Transfiguration, New York city, Rev. Dr. Houghton officiating. Owing to the fact that Mrs. Bennett was unable to come to Plainfield following the ceremony, the couple decided not to announce the marriage until this time. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett left today for Northern New Jersey, where they will enjoy their honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside at 85 Westervelt avenue, North Plainfield.

The bride has visited in this city at various times and for awhile lived here. Mr. Bennett is a registered pharmacist and has been employed by Peter B. Hodge, the druggist, for the past ten years. Prior to coming to Plainfield his home was in Rahway. He was a student at the Newark College of Pharmacy. Mr. Bennett is a member of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., and was prominent in the minstrel shows given by the lodge. He is also a member of Court Watchung, Independent Order of Foresters.

HOLIDAY'S PROGRAM FOR CITY AND BORO

Events Scheduled For Labor Day to Attract the People of Plainfield.

Labor Day, as usual, will be generally observed in Plainfield and vicinity and provided the weather conditions are favorable there will be many events to interest and attract people. The merchants will be closed for the day to allow their clerks to participate in various movements. The postoffice will close at 10 o'clock in the morning, with one delivery of mail accordin to the holiday rules. The holiday rules will be observed at the Plainfield Public Library and Reading Room. The list of general sports for the day will be found on the sporting page of the Daily Press.

The Plainfield theatre offers a strong attraction in "Within the Law," one of the season's biggest successes, which will be seen here in the afternoon and evening. Proctor's theatre on West Front street will present an unusually fine vaudeville bill with the latest photoplays. The show will be continuous from 12:45 o'clock in the afternoon until 10:45 o'clock at night.

There will be special events in golf and tennis at the Plainfield Country Club and the Park Golf Club, including a dinner-dance at the former club in the evening which will mark the opening of the fall season. The Daily Press will not be published Monday.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR ALBERT C. ROGERS HELD

The funeral of Albert C. Rogers was held at his late home, 431 West Fifth street, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, including representatives of the Ancient Order United Workmen and the Carpenters' Union. There were many beautiful floral tributes, there being a wreath and pillow from the two organizations and other tributes from relatives and friends.

Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-day Baptist church, of which Mr. Rogers was a member, officiated. The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the pall-bearers were Lorenze Spicer, D. Valois St. John, William Lunger, Charles H. Randolph and A. H. Burdick.

FUNERAL OF A. G. BEEKMAN.

The funeral of Arthur G. Beekman was held at the late home, 39 Somerset street, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, of which Mr. Beekman was a member, conducted the service, reading the Scriptures, offering prayer and making a short address. The burial was in the Methodist cemetery.

PLANS OF 'ANTIS' NOT MADE KNOWN

Will They Contest Legality of Adv. of Legislature Suffrage Resolution?

NO ACTION IS TAKEN

Mrs. E. Yarde Breese, Formerly of This City, Head of Antis, Away On Her Vacation—Next Meeting in September.

Trenton, August 30.—Whether the New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage will attack in the courts the legality of the advertisements inserted in the newspapers of the State giving notice that the Legislature has passed a concurrent resolution for an amendment to the State Constitution providing for woman suffrage has not at this time been determined upon.

Assistant Attorney-General Gaskill in an opinion to the Secretary of State this week said the time for printing the notice of the passage of the woman suffrage amendment had passed and the action of the last Legislature was thereby nullified. Notwithstanding this legal opinion, the suffragettes came to the Secretary of State's office yesterday and secured assurances that the advertisements would be inserted in August, September and October in an effort to get within the requirements of the law.

Mrs. Orville D. Oliphant, of Trenton, general secretary of the New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, when interviewed yesterday could not say what action would be taken with respect to court proceedings to set the advertising of the amendment aside as illegal. Mrs. Edward Yarde Breese, of Trenton, president of the association, is still summering, as are a majority of the members of the anti-suffrage executive board.

The anti-association's governing board will meet within a few weeks, at which time the whole subject will be taken up and thoroughly reviewed before any steps are taken toward attacking the validity of the notice of the amendment to the constitution. Mrs. Oliphant said.

Mrs. Oliphant took occasion to point out that the suffragette advocates, who allege to champion the cause of good government, should at the very outset grasp an opportunity to evade the requirements of the law by publishing an advertisement, in face of the opinion of the Assistant Attorney General, that such a course should not be allowed.

Mrs. Oliphant declared there was absolutely no knavery upon the part of any official in delaying the advertising of the woman suffrage amendment. "We have too much confidence in our officials to even think of anything like that," she added.

Exception was taken at the headquarters to a statement made at the Capitol Thursday by one of the suffrage leaders that even though the legality of the woman suffrage amendment was attacked in the courts by the anti-suffragettes that the antis were only a handful. Mrs. Oliphant says that such a statement is untrue. According to her there are more than 800 women enlisted as members of the various anti-associations and new members are enrolling so fast that it is almost impossible to keep track of them "Ninety per cent of these women, too," Mrs. Oliphant says, "are wage earners."

At the September meeting of the executive board the campaign of the anti-suffragettes will be mapped out, in order to effectively combat the passage by the next Legislature of the woman suffrage constitutional amendment.

NO SUNDAY SERVICES.

There will be no services in Trinity Reformed church, tomorrow, the edifice being closed for the annual cleaning, etc. The prayer-meeting will be held as usual Wednesday night, September 3, and Rev. J. Y. Broek, the pastor, is expected to return to his pulpit Sunday, September 7.

MISS HELEN NEWLAND GOES TO HER REWARD

Miss Helen Newland, aged sixty-six years, well-known to many of the older residents, especially in North Plainfield, where she lived for twenty-five years, died yesterday afternoon at the home of her niece, Mrs. E. A. Sprowl, 1275 Marion avenue. Although she had been in rather poor health for the past five years, her condition was not serious until this past week. Death was due to complications, which necessitated an operation.

Miss Newland was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luke F. Newland, of Albany, N. Y., where she was born. About forty years ago she lived with her sister, Mrs. Margaret Hasbrouck, at that time being a resident of the borough for about twenty-five years. She was a communicant of Holy Cross church. Later she removed to Brooklyn, where she remained until about eight years ago, when she came here to make her home with her niece, Mrs. Sprowl.

There survives three nieces, Miss Elizabeth N. Hasbrouck, Mrs. E. A. Sprowl and Mrs. Martin F. Werner, the latter of Evanston, Ill. The funeral, which will be private, will be held at the late home at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Harris C. Rush, of Grace church, will officiate and the burial will be in Albany Rural cemetery, Albany, N. Y.

"FLYING HORSE" AT PROCTOR'S.

"The Flyig Horse," a big spectacular production will be the headline attraction at Proctor's theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, that is sure to attract more than usual notice through the lavish scenery and mechanical effects. There is a cast of eight. Katherine Scott & Co. will present a comedy skit, "Freddie;" Bobbie Leonard & Co. will appear in a farcial comedy sketch, "Nearly a Manager," each member of the cast being near successes; Frank Howard, a clever monologuist, together with Al. Bailey and the Terrey sisters, a nifty colored singing and musical act, completes the bill. There will be four shows on Labor Day. The doors will open at 12:45 in the afternoon and will be continuous until 10:45 o'clock in the evening.

T. W. HEFFERIN'S FUNERAL.

FACTS AND COMMENT ON NEW YORK NEWS

New York, Aug. 30—The latest escapade of Harry K Thaw, his sensational flight from Matteawan and his arrest upon Canadian soil, has been the cause of a perfect flood of Thaw literature in the daily papers and once more the public is regaled with all the nauseating details of this notorious case which reflects little credit upon the justice and impartiality of the laws and courts of the State of New York. A great deal of fuss is made over the fact that his wealth enabled Thaw to make his escape from the Matteawan institution. The persons and newspapers so indignant in their censure of the prison authorities and the prevailing system which made it possible for Thaw to escape, evidently have forgotten that it was Thaw's money which enabled him to make a farce of his trial for murder and to escape the just punishment for his crime.

The history of Elizabeth Heath, a California girl, who tried to commit suicide by poisoning the other day in Stuyvesant Park, in this city, should be a warning to other girls who may be filled with the desire to come to New York to find work. The girl had lost both her parents and being without friends or relatives, decided to go to New York where she expected to find work. She reached the city about a month ago and rented a small furnished room in West Twelfth street. Day after day she wandered through the city in search of work. Her funds were soon exhausted, her shoes worn out and her feet so sore that she could barely walk. Yet, notwithstanding her efforts she was unable to find work. For several weeks she subsisted upon scraps of food which she picked out of garbage cans and, being no longer able to pay for a room, she spent the nights in the parks. The situation seemed to her so hopeless that, when she was lucky enough the other day to find a silver quarter, she invested part of the money in a few bichloride of mercury tablets, using the rest to pay her fare to Jersey City to answer an advertisement for help. Failing to obtain the position advertised, because she came too late, the girl returned to New York, made her way to Stuyvesant Park and there took two of the bichloride of mercury tablets. Some visitor to the park who had noticed the dejected look upon the girl's features and who observed her actions, called a policeman, who sent in a call for an ambulance. While waiting for the conveyance, the policeman forced the girl to swallow the whites of two eggs and it was due to his prompt action that the life of the girl was saved. The girl will be held at Bellevue until she has completely recovered and then an effort will be made to obtain work for her.

The Bayonne, N. J., correspondent of one of the leading New York dailies, has supplied a little story of considerable cleverness which should entitle him to honorary membership in at least two of the leading clubs of this city, the Ananias Club and the Naturefakir Club. Oyster Bay papers please copy. According to this story, Lieut. James Sheehan, of Fire Truck 1, in Bayonne, was the owner of a big gray cat. The cat was old and could boast neither of great beauty nor of an aristocratic pedigree. Lieut. Sheehan, not being given to sentimentality, considered the animal a nuisance and, with promptness and dispatch laid his plans to rid himself of this "nuisance." He placed Pussy in a big, stout paper bag, weighted it with a brick and, having the mouth of the bag well tied with a string, cast the bag with its contents into the bay. An hour later, so the story goes, Lieut. Sheehan was greatly surprised by the return of the cat, carrying a two-pound striped bass in its mouth. So pleased was Sheehan with the ransom offered by his cat, that he decided to let her continue to live upon his premises.

A few days ago a girl of twelve years died at one of the hospitals of this city under circumstances which make her case of considerable interest to science. About two months ago the little girl was bitten in the thumb by her pet dog while playing with the animal. The family doctor was callen and, as a matter of precaution, thoroughly cauterized the trivial wound. He examined the dog but the animal seemed perfectly healthy and normal and the doctor did not fear for a moment that the injury would lead to serious consequences. But the mother of the girl had heard a great deal about hydrophobia and her neighbors told her so many stories about mad dogs, that she became filled with the fear that the dog which had bitten her daughter was mad and her child would become a victim of the dreaded rabies. To pacify her mother the doctor called in a veterinary who examined the pet dog and asserted that the animal was perfectly healthy and showed absolutely no sign of the rabies. Under the strain of the suggestive fear the mother became hysterical, and by her suggestion her child also became possessed with the hysterical fear of hydrophobia. The family doctor called in other doctors, but their efforts to relieve the hysterical condition of the mother and daughter proved ineffective. Finally the girl began to manifest symptoms of hydrophobia and after considerable suffering she died. The physicians still adhere to the belief that the girl did not have hydrophobia but died of hysteria, superinduced by the excessive fear suggested by the hysterical mother of the child.

For several years the authorities of the city have continued their warfare against unsafe theatres until now Fire Commissioner Johnson, who has been leading the campaign, is satisfied that the theatres of New York city are about as safe from fire as it is possible to make them. Commissioner Johnson is of the opinion that the danger, if there is any, is not from the possibility of the fire, but from panic, which may be caused by any trivial incident, even when there is no fire. Commissioner Johnson recently held a conference with the managers of the principal theatres of the city with a view of devising means to prevent the outbreak of panics in theatres and, if that should be impossible, to reduce the danger from such panics. Commissioner Johnson who has made a study of fire panics has come to the conclusion that the confusion at panics is due to the fact that the persons in the audience insist upon leaving the house through the same door which they entered. Many plans were suggested at the conference to teach the audience to leave quietly through the nearest emergency exit instead of rushing wildly toward the main entrance, but so far no feasible plan has been suggested that promises to be effective.

New York, Aug. 30.—Ultra fashionable women, who can afford to spend a small fortune for clothes every season, do not wait with ordering their outfit until the season for which they are intended is at the door. As a rule they make their selections many months ahead of time. But, the women with unlimited funds at their disposal are greatly in the minority. The average woman, with but moderate or, perhaps, exceedingly limited means, cannot afford to take chances. She wishes to be in style and, knowing from experience that styles are constantly changing, she is wise enough to wait almost to the last moment before ordering or purchasing her clothes for the coming season. It is a matter of policy with them to watch out for every indication of a pending change and to consider every point carefully, as she cannot afford to cast her gown or coat aside after a week or so, should it fail to be in harmony with the prevailing style of the day. It is to the woman of moderate and limited means that timely hints concerning the most probable styles of the coming season are most valuable.

It will be well for her to remember that, according to the opinion of fashion experts coats will be longer this fall, especially at the back. The cutaway line with a three-quarter length is the model that has been accorded particular favor. In front there is great opportunity for decoration, and the most noticeable feature is the waistcoat. This is either separate or incorporated in the suit. It gives a note of color to a jacket and allows for so many novel touches that it virtually makes the coat. The waistcoats are of satin, all corded silks, suede cloth, chamois, moire and washable pique. Bindings of braid and trimmings of buttons are the decorative features and a smoothness of fit is essential for the effect.

The waistcoats of these fall suits have square, pointed and crossed tops, with inset crossed revers of lace and satin moire collars. Pockets are also used for the comfort and convenience of the wearers.

On the fall suits there will be used sleeves of the long, fitted type and the kimono sleeve with the dropped armhole. The Eton effect, especially at the front, is particularly striking. From the front a sweeping line over the hips and a long tail at the back finish the coat.

A Russian model of velvet will bid for applause. The peplum of the skirt have considerable fullness, and rich fur trims the collar line and the cuffs. Braid and buttons give a dashing effect to the line of fastening.

In the skirts of the fall suits there will be many innovations. The long line from waist to hem is rarely left unbroken. Seams are modified by tabs, extensions and flaps. Side seams are slashed. There is drapery at all sides, the folds around the top of the skirt being the newest, and giving the peplop effect, which is a characteristic feature of the present fashion. Fullness at the back of the skirt is held down flat under a short strap belt or a group of tucks.

Buttons are used extensively and profusely this fall. They are both useful and ornamental. The slashes on the skirt have frequently regular button holes and buttons which work. This keeps the length of the sash—and some of them come quite high—under the control of the wearer. A military trimming of braid and buttons in horizontal lines on a coat is sure to appeal to the woman who prefers a jaunty style. A straight military collar is used with this type of coat.

The fichu has returned with added popularity, a fact which will be welcomed by dainty women. The fichu has always been numbered among the artistic trimmings, and the woman who admires a picturesque gown should always choose this type of adornment. Paris designers have extensively employed the fichu as a garniture on the lingerie frocks this season, and it appears in many phases.

Almost every sheer material has been successfully utilized to fashion the fichu, and it is made in all widths and lengths, from the broad Marie Antoinette fichu to the narrow strip of folded maline outlining the neck line of the bodice.

The more expensive fichus are of rare laces or embroideries, while simple designs of white net bordered with a narrow pleated frill of the same material are surprisingly inexpensive. Unusually dainty is a fichu of Bohemian lace with inset medallions of embroidered net. The edges are bound with a bias fold of black mousseline de soie, and buttons covered with the same material adorn the front. A fichu of this type will make even the plainest frock elaborate.

For grace and softness of line the fichu of folded maline. It is draped artistically over the shoulders, one end passing beneath the bodice front and the other forming a pointed end. White maline is folded and arranged to fill in the place at the V-haped neck line. This fichu is particularly becoming, and appears to the greatest advantage when used to trim a gown of soft silk.

The fichu of tucked net is charming and can be easily duplicated. Plain white net is finely tucked for the foundation, and this is bordered with bands of maline lace. To the edge of this is joined a scant frill of the lace. When worn, the ends of the fichu are crossed over in front. It is particularly appropriate for the tub frock of linen, voile or crepe.

Other fichus are fashioned of chiffon, mousseline de soie, sheer linen or batiste. Solid or eyelet embroidery is extensively employed as a decoration and the edges are button-hole-stitched or bordered with lace. Filet, Cluny, Irish crochet, Valenciennes and Arabian are the varieties favored for this purpose.

An attractive hat for a young girl is made of white straw, with a simple, rounded crown, and an even, rolling brim. The hat is encircled with a wide box-pleated fringed ruching made of white taffet silk. On the right side of the hat a small bunch of roses is half hidden in the wide, full ruching.

Fruit is much used to trim early autumn hats. It is usually made of silk, sometimes of velvet, and it can be made at home by the woman with imagination and clever fingers. It is sometimes made of beads. The beads, in a clear, bright color, are strung on fine wire and wound around little forms made of cotton batting.

The sugar-scoop hat of black velvet will be a typical fall style. It has no clearly defined crown and the greatest height is at the back. The tilt is down toward the nose, and a bandeau is frequently the means to obtain that effect.

Topcoats are characterized by beauty of form, material and coloring, the oriental type predominating. They are cut with kimono sleeves, and have their greatest width at the hips, being drawn in graceful folds about the knees and ankles. Brocaded silks, velvets, silk poplins, fur or moire are used for the majority of models.

FLORENCE FAIRBANKS.

A Matter of Gender.

The bell of a Scottish church was giving out a very poor tone, and a committee was appointed to inquire as to what was wrong and to report on the best means of putting it right. After an examination the members were divided in their opinion, and the kirk officer, who was in attendance with the keys, was asked his view. "Fipe. A ken what's wrang wi' the bell," he remarked. "It's a she-yin," meaning that it was of the feminine gender. Pressed to explain, he added, "Its tongue's owre lang—it's needin' to be chippit!" And this turned out to be really the fault. The tongue had become loosened to the extent of an inch or so and was overlapping the curve at the rim and therefore not striking truly.

Dogs of Belgium.

Belgian dogs that are harnessed to carts often work themselves to death. They may enjoy their work for a time, when they hurl themselves into the collar to drag the milk cart (and often the lazy milkman as well as his cans), but they do not enjoy the ensuing paralysis. The sight of a dog dying of starvation in the streets because his paralysis jerked him away from food every time he attempted to take it is not conducive to happy memories of Belgium.

He Didn't Put It Off.

"Gracious!" exclaimed Mr. Staylate. "It's nearly midnight. I should be going pretty soon, I suppose."

"Yes," replied Miss Patience Gonne, "you know the old saying, 'Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today.'"—Philadelphia Press.

Much Worse.

"Oh dear," pouted the pretty girl in irritation, as the trolley car came to a standstill, "what is worse than waiting on a switch?"

"Trying to pass on the same rail madam," responded a gentleman beside her.—Judge.

To be weak is miserable, doing or suffering.—Milton.

Nebraska Senator's Attitude on Tariff Bill Causes Uneasiness.

© 1913, by American Press Association.

After bitter debate the senate rejected an amendment by Senator Hitchcock proposing a tax on corporations graduated according to each corporation's control of the market for the commodities it manufactures. The vote was 30 to 41. Senator Hitchcock complained that he had been forced to walk out of the Democratic caucus when that body voted down the amendment. He attacked "caucus control" of the tariff bill.

SAYS HIS WIFE IS IN HANDS OF VICE TRUST

New Orleans Woman Said to Have Been Kidnaped.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 30.—James Soler, a photographer of this city, whose beautiful young wife has been missing for two weeks, declared that she had been kidnaped by an Italian newspaper man, who acted, the husband alleges, for a New York city "vice trust."

Soler declares that his wife is now being held in a New York house of bondage, and he has asked the local police and federal authorities to help him rescue her.

The newspaper man, who disappeared about the same time that Mrs. Soler left her husband and baby girl, posed here as correspondent of an Italian evening newspaper in New York. He is young, good looking and brilliant and was received in the best Italian society here.

Soler has turned over to the police a large number of love letters written by the journalist to Mrs. Soler, in which the whole plot of the elopement was bared.

"It was no romance, though," Soler declares. "It was vice. The New York trust has many agents in the south."

Here's a Plainfield fact.

You can test it.

Mrs. O. C. Moore, 57 Manning avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered much misery from backache which was caused by my kidneys. Many nights I was unable to rest at all and when I got up in the morning, my limbs were so stiff and sore that I could hardly get out of bed. Whenever I caught the least cold it settled on my kidneys and any strain on my back always made the aches and pains worse. I was treated by physicians but their medicine did not help me and it was not until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's drug store, that I had any hope of getting rid of the trouble. They made me feel like a different person and I have never had any serious trouble since."

A Little Sermon In Passing

The things we have done have made friends fast; but the things we have sold have made fast friends!

A business is not a success on account of the money it makes, but on account of the friends it makes!

You have, no doubt, observed that sentiment plays its part in the conduct of our business—it always will.

And we give it as our belief that a store, like a man, without sentiment is brutal.

To be brutal is to descend, whereas we are striving to ascend in commercial ethics.

Speaking of silks, dress goods, and fabrics of a kind that are fashionable for Fall wear, that are familiar by name, and stranger weaves that are as yet unknown to fame but with a popular future in prospect, we have the real leaders.

A list of names of fashionable silks, woolens and fancy cotton means nothing, description of styles gets nowhere but back to the actual and trite fact that they must be seen to be appreciated.

If there is a fabric worth while which is not represented in our assortment it cannot be missed because this showing of Fall fabrics is absolutely complete.

Oblige us with a call of curiosity, leave buying and selling out of it, come in an open frame of mine, receptive to inspiration without prejudice. Give the Tepper store credit for its progressiveness because it is bound to either lead or drive Plainfield's business to the top of possibility.

We will discontinue our Picture Department Wednesday. Cards now out should be presented not later than Wednesday, August 27.

In closing out this department we are making a sacrifice reduction in our 24-karat gold plated metal frames. Those having oval portraits size 11x14 will find great bargains in our frame department.

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30—Numerous events of more or less interest and importance are on the calendar for the coming week, and will share the public attention with the Thaw case, the developments in the Mexican situation and the proceedings of Congress.

The annual meeting of the American Bar Association, which will begin a three days' session Monday in Montreal, will attract more than ordinary attention because of the unusual prominence of some of the participants. Among those who will take part are Viscount Haldane, Lord Chancellor of Great Britian, former President William H. Taft; Chief Justice White, of the Supreme Court of the United States, Senator Elihu Root, of New York, and Maitre Labori, one of the eminent leaders of the French bar.

A centennial of interest will be the one hundredth anniversary of the victory of the United States ship Enterprise over the British cruiser Boxer. The engagement was fought off the Maine coast September 5, 1813, and attained a mournful celebrity by reason of the fact that both the American and British commanders were slain. The victory came but five days before Perry's triumph on Lake Erie, and was peculiarly welcome to the Americans since it relieved the popular depression caused by the capture of the Chesapeake by the Shannon three months before.

If his other engagements permit, Secretary of State Bryan will go to Maine during the week and spend two days stumping the Third Congressional district of that State, where a special election is to be held soon to choose a successor to the late Congressman Goodwin. William R. Pattangall, the Democratic candidate, is conducting his campaign largely on national issues, and in consequence the national Administration is taking a lively interest in the contest.

Harmony between the great families of Germany will be further shown at the marriage of Princess Augusta-Victoria, of Hohenzollern-Sigmarigen to ex-King Manuel, of Portugal, which will take place Thursday at Sigmaringen, with the civil ceremony the day previous. Eighty princes and four princesses will attend, including the Prince of Wales, representing King George, and four princesses as bridesmaids.

Other events of the week abroad will include the meeting of the Interparliamentary Union at The Hague, the international convention of Zionists at Vienna, and the meeting of the International Statistical Institute also in Vienna.

Important gatherings of the week will include the annual convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers in New York city; the national convention of the Farmers' Co-operative and Educational Union, of Salina, Kans.; the national encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans, at Buffalo, and the annual meeting of the Dominion Association of Chartered Accountants, at Winnipeg.

The week of Labor Day will see the assembling of numerous labor organizations in national convention. The letter-carriers will meet in San Francisco, the postoffice clerks in Indianapolis, the painters, decorators and paperhangers in Rochester, the street and electric railway employes in Salt Lake City.

Of interest to the followers of sport and athletics will be the international rifle matches at Camp Perry, the German-American sonder boat races off Marblehead, Mass., the Middle States rowing regatta at New York, the national amateur golf championship tournament at Garden City, L. I., the annual horse show at Newport, R. I., the Grand Circuit races at Hartford, Conn., the Great Western Circuit races at the Minnesota State Fair and the opening of the fall meeting of the Montreal Jockey Club.

EQUAL RIGHTS IN NEW YORK.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 30—An important amendment to the civil rights law, enacted by the New York legislature last winter with a view to abolishing all race discriminations goes into effect Monday. The new law applies to inns, taverns, hotels, restaurants, barber shops, theatres and music halls. It provides that any person violating its provisions shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, to be recovered by the person aggrieved. In addition, imprisonment of not less than thirty nor more than ninety days may be imposed.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, AUGUST 30, 1913.

On Saturdays the editorial columns of the Daily Press are conducted by citizens who are free to express their own views. The contributing editor for today is Herbert E. Parker, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who is secretary of the Plainfield Playground Commission.

THE PLAYGROUND WORK.

The idea and scope of municipal government are very different today than they were in our fathers' times. They mean more than police, health and fire protection, good streets and the like. There is something more to be done as a civic duty. For instance, we realize that public entertainment, recreation and instruction for the young and the old are among the real purposes of government. And this is why, all over the country, the playground and the social centre are given so much prominence.

Here in Plainfield, the playground is but a very recent acquisition. Because of its newness possibly the benefit to be derived from such an institution is not so clearly understood and so thoroughly appreciated as it should be. I do not mean to infer that our people have been slow to learn what inestimable good is being accomplished in this way, but the fact is that they have so many good works in which they are interested that they have not had the time to see for themselves what is being accomplished.

Many people have an idea that the playground is meant simply as a place where the boys and girls can "kill time" as it were during the summer months. Such is far from the case—the playground has a mission. It is systematic play from which the children derive both a physical and mental training. The youngsters are taught how to play and how to get the most out of play. They are strengthened in both mind and body and under the watchful eye of the supervisors they lay a foundation for themselves that will tend to make them better citizens, more useful to the community, when they reach mature years.

I do not propose to weary anyone by statistics as to what is being done at our playgrounds. The story is easily learned by a visit to the various playgrounds, and best of all probably by attending the closing exercises at Parker Field on Monday. As Monday will be a holiday, undoubtedly it will be a convenient time for a great many of our people to attend the exhibition to be given under the direction of the Board of Playground Commissioners. The performance will be started promptly at 9:30 o'clock, when the hundreds of children will march on the field headed by a band. A Hungarian folk dance, one suggesting unity and good citizenship, will be combined in the demonstration. Following an inter-playground relay race and some interesting ring games, the Bryant, Franklin and St. Mary playground children will do the Virginia reel and then the Parker Field boys will be seen in an obstacle race. Among the other events on the program will be a drill by Boy Scouts, a kinder polka by the St Mary, Irving and Franklin playgrounds, a girls' potato race, a one-mile run and a relay race for members of the Parker Field Junior League, together with active games and the Tarantella, an Italian dance suggesting the musical nature of the Italian people by the Franklin, St. Mary and Bryant playgrounds. During the exercises, Mr. George P. Mellick, the president of the Board, will present the Claybrook cup.

I simply mention the make-up of this program in order that the people may be assured that they will be well repaid by witnessing the exhibition. We members of the Board all hope that there will be a large attendance.

HERBERT E. PARKER.

SULZER ORDERS FOR JERSEY PRISONERS DISREGARDED

Trenton, Aug. 30—The requisitions made last Friday upon the governor of New York for the return to this State of James VanDoran, wanted for assault, with intet to kill, and Harry Hill, charged with concealing a criminal, have been returned without approval.

The requisitions were forwarded to the governor of New York and the prison officials refused to honor the warrant signed by Sulzer. VanDoran is in the city prison of Brooklyn, and Hill is in the Tombs. New applications will be made out immediately.

Governor Tener, of Pennsylvania, has made application to Governor Fielder for the return of Abe Ruffman, charged with larceny and now in Atlantic City, and also Harry C. Bowen, charged with embezzlement, and now in custody in New Brunswick.

ROUGH-HOUSE CULPRIT.

Clarence Candeurson, of 968 West Third street, lifted the cup that cheers so many times yesterday that when he went home shortly after 7 o'clock, he started to "break up housekeeping." Neighbors say he tore the banister from the hall stairway and broke every dish in the house. The police were summoned and when Patrolman Baeder arrived, he found the front and back doors blockaded with furniture. He forced his way in, however, and placed the man under arrest after a hard fight. This morning when arraigned before City Judge DeMeza, Candeurson promised to mend his ways, and was released on a suspended sentence.

UNION COUNTY PRIMARY PETITIONS ALL FILED

Elizabeth, Aug. 30—The last of the petitions of candidates on the county ticket were filed yesterday afternoon.

Among these were Harry Jacobson, for coroner on the Republican ticket; Harry L. Evans, of Westfield, Republican candidate for the Assembly, and the candidates of the Colby and Osborne wings of the Progressive party, which have already been announced.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY.

Herman J. Frowery, the Scotch Plains hotel keeper, was arraigned before Judge Collins, of Westfield, yesterday afternoon, on the charge of cutting the harness from the horse owned by one of the hotel guests about a month ago after the visitor's horse and wagon had been placed in the hotel sheds. Mr. Frowery was held for the Grand Jury.

LATEST FROM THAW.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Sherbrook, Aug. 30—Harry K. Thaw will be produced in court here again on Tuesday morning on a writ of habeas corpus obtained today in behalf of Chief of Police Boudreau, of Coaticook, who arrested him after his flight from Matteawan.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 73 degrees; 11 a. m., 82 degrees; 12:30 p. m., 85 degrees.

NO SANITY TEST FOR THAW NOW

Matteawan Fugitive Dodges the Issue Again.

JEROME ADMITS FAILURE

Roger Thompson, Thaw's Chauffeur, Released on Small Bail and His Case Postponed—Escaped Lunatic Expects to Remain In Quebec Till October. Continuous Battle For Delay.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 30.—There is a decided change in the aspect of the Thaw situation since Roger Thompson, the chauffeur in the madman's flight from Matteawan, was released on a $500 cash bail bond, which was promptly furnished by some of Thaw's relatives or retainers. The charge against him was bringing a lunatic into Canada. Now it is up to Canada to prove Thaw insane. Thompson's case is postponed until next Wednesday. In the meantime he is out on bail, and no one here thinks he will appear when his case is called.

It is believed that this ends Thompson's case. The penalty for the offense charged is only $500. Thompson may remain here for trial, but it is generally acepted by both sides that, with the penalty on deposit as bail, no serious attempt will be made to try the case until after the entire matter is disposed of.

The prosecution suppressed the attorneys by refusing to proceed with the charge that Thompson brought a lunatic into Canada. Instead they moved trial on the second allegation that Thompson himself entered Canda by stealth. This would prevent the question of Thaw's sanity being made an issue. The Thaw attorneys quickly demanded and were granted an adjournment.

Jerome Admits Failure.

October probably will see Harry K. Thaw still confined in jail in Sherbrooke. This was the general opinion expressed here, following the return of William Travers Jerome from Quebec. Jerome admitted that his mission there was a failure, but publicly declared that he still had hope of the department of justice applying to some other judge and forcing Thaw to immediate trial on the faulty indictment on which he is held.

The last attempt of the New York state authorities to obtain possession of Thaw was expected to be made. L. E Marchari, representing the Ottawa department of justice, conferred with Jerome on the situation, and the New York attorney made his final plea.

The Thaw lawyers were more confident of their position than ever. They insisted that the battle for delay was won, that Thaw would stay in jail until they got ready to get him out and that eventually he would go wherever he pleased.

MOVIES THEATRE BUILDING NOW UNDER INSPECTION

John Abbott, William C. Smith, Walter Apgar and Albert Pangborn, representing the Master Builders' Association, together with representatives of the Building Trades Council and Councilmen Fred Endress and P. J. Reville, of the Councilmanic fire and building committee, held a conference yesterday afternoon and made further inspection of the new moving picture theatre on West Second street, being erected by Benjamin Nieberg, giving especial attention to the store part which is under alteration. Two hours were spent without any definite result.

The committees adjourned to meet again this afternoon when a further examination will be made to ascertain whether the building operations are in strict accord with the building code. The masters and trade council representatives feel sure that there are violations and there is also a dispute as to whether the store, adjoining the theatre is to be considered under "repair" or a new building.

PERSONAL.

When Dead Men Ate.

In the medical press is a story of a man who believed that he was dead and who for that reason refused to take nourishment. "How can the dead eat and drink?" he asked when food was pressed upon him. It was obvious that unless something were done to bring him to his senses the delusion must soon become actuality—he would die of starvation. The strangest ruse was tried. Half a dozen attendants, draped in ghostly white, crept silently in single file into the room adjoining his and with the door open sat down where he could see them at a hearty meal. "Here, who are these people?" inquired the patient. "Dead men," answered the doctor. "What!" said the other. "Do dead men eat?" "To be sure they do, as you see for yourself," was the answer. "Well," said the corpse, "if that is so I'll join them, for I'm starving." The spell was broken, and he sat down and ate like forty famished men.

ELIZABETH MAN ROBBED BY TWO MEN IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 30.—Julius G. Fischer, an inventor employed by the Singer Sewing Machine Company, arrived here last night from Elizabethport, with the models of four inventions which he will take to Washington, and started to find his sister's home, in East Seventy-seventh street. He made the mistake of boarding a Broadway subway train, which he left at West Seventy-ninth street and walked toward the Hudson river. When he reached Riverside Drive he discovered his error and asked two men to direct him.

They did so, but not until they had backed him against a lamp post with two revolvers and took from him $135 in cash, a gold watch valued at $80 and valuable papers. Then they gave him ten cents for car fare and instructed him how to get to the east side of the city. They did not disturb his satchel, in which were the models of his invention.

Abolish Blue Monday

Money Saving Time Saving Labor Saving

THE NEW WAY.

READ WHAT WE HAVE TO SAY

You can save many dollars in a year on your clothes and add a day of pleasure to your life each week with this wonderful Rapid Vacuum Clothes Washer, but cutting your laundry work in two. Most clothes are RUBBED OUT and not WORN OUT. When you send your clothes to the laundry what happens to them? They are soaped and beaten, and rubbed so that the hot soapsuds (sometimes a little acid added) is forced through and through the goods. This cleans the goods, but they do not last long. When your clothes are washed in your own home what happens? The hot soap suds are pushed in and out of the garments, as they are rubbed on the board. This cleans them, but wears them out. In every process of washing, soap and water are the only elements having any cleaning properties. When your clothes are washed with the Rapid Vacuum Washer what happens? Gallons of soapy water at boiling temperature (which sterilizes the clothes) is forced through the goods every 60 seconds. This cleans your clothes snowy white without straining a thread. You can now wash woolens, blankets, sheets, shirts, collars, bed quilts, etc., at home, and after washing the articles will be whiter, softer, cleaner, fluffier and more beautiful in appearance than before. Compressed air, hot water and soap does the work.

You can wash a tubful of dirty clothes in five minutes without rubbing, without bending, and with very little work.

A tubful of clothes can be rinsed and blued in the same way in one minute.

You can clean anything that can be cleaned with soap and water or gasoline in a few minutes, without straining a thread.

No more rough hands and tired backs for the person who does the washing.

The Vacuum Washer has no moveable parts, cannot get out of order, and with proper care will last for years.

DIRECTIONS FOR OPERATION

Have your water hot, the hotter the better. Add sufficient soap and see that it is thoroughly dissolved before putting in the clothes, as hot water without soap will set the dirt. Use enough hot water to float the clothes, then operate the plunger up and down, each time a gallon or more of hot suds is forced through the fabrics, and the same amount is drawn back on the upward stroke. This suction force is produced by an automatic suction valve, which is a distinct and original feature of our invention. During five or ten minutes, which is required to do a washing, many hundred gallons of hot, soapy water are forced through the clothes, which cleans them in a more perfect manner than any other process and with absolutely no wear or tear. This is the secret of the success of this Rapid Vacuum Clothes Washer.

If you do your own washing, it will save you time, strength and temper. If you send your washing out, we know that you are not satisfied, as your clothes are worn and eaten with the strong washing compounds used by laundries. If you employ a maid, her time is worth money.

THE OLD WAY.

WOMEN IN FLIGHT FROM MEXICO

Chaotic Conditions Bring Exodus of Americans.

REFUGEES IN VERA CRUZ

Huerta Seems to Be Gaining Strength Because of His Attitude—Americans In Mexico Blame Hale For Misinforming President Wilson—Washington Administration Will Not Yield.

City of Mexico, Aug. 30.—In desperation and fear over conditions existing here, over 100 women and children of the American colony have joined in the flight to the United States and safety. The rumor of the return of Special Envoy Lind brought a return of confidence to many women who had prepared to flee, and they changed their minds. Their decision to remain has greatly pleased the Mexican authorities.

Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American charge d'affaires here, said:

This embassy certainly cannot confirm the report that Mr. Lind will return.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy admitted, however, that he had no information about Lind's movements. Several Americans received telegrams from Vera Cruz saying that President Wilson's confidential representative was about to start back to the capital, but most of them doubted the truth of the report as they did not believe the Huerta government would yield an inch in the stand it had taken.

Huerta Gains Strength.

Huerta continues to gain strength among the Mexicans through the attitude he has assumed. The Americans here generally believe that President Wilson was misled in taking such a pessimistic view of the military situation in Mexico. They all believe that the government is daily gaining territory from the rebels.

One proof of this is that direct railroad communication has been established with Laredo; another is the almost total annihilation of the Zapatista bands in Morelos, including those who recently surrounded this city.

Americans Blame Hale.

The Americans here think that President Wilson has been misinformed throughout by William Bayard Hale, who came to Mexico completely prejudiced, they say, and unwilling to see things as they see them. He disagreed with almost every American from start to finish, and they blame him for the present difficult situation.

About 150 more American women and children were ready to leave for Vera Cruz if the rumor of Lind's return exploded.

Foreign Minister Gamboa said:

Very many prominent Americans telephoned to me or called on me to ask if there really was any reason for their leaving the country. I assured them that this government would give them the same protection and cordial treatment as hitherto and that they and their properties would be protected and respected even in the unhappy event of war between the two countries. They generally expressed themselves as satisfied and said they intended to remain.

There was no doubt that Mr. Wilson's plan to take the Americans out of Mexico created much disquietude among the colony here. Most of the Americans were unable to understand the situation and feared that there was some plan back of the president's request which might endanger their lives if they remained.

Don't Want to Go.

It was noted, however, that practically all the Americans who wished to leave were women and children. The men continued to laugh at the order and refused to leave their business interests here. The American Smelting and Refining company, the National railways and other big concerns which employ many Americans said that so far not one of their American employees expressed a desire to leave. Americans generally seemed to believe that there was no danger to foreigners and were at a loss to account for the excitement in Washington.

The Waters-Pierce Oil company has provided special trains for its employees who wish to leave, but so far has had no request for places. The real exodus of Americans was expected from the interior, where the authorities have less control and the emigrants would have to take long railroad journeys to the nearest port.

It was thought that many of the interior districts in which there were Americans have not as yet been informed of the plan of President Wilson. Consul General Shanklin was instructed by Washington to communicate Mr. Wilson's warning to consuls in the interior, but on account of the state of transportation and telegraph fees it was figured that the news would take some time to reach all parts of the republic.

Refugees Reach Vera Cruz.

Vera Cruz, Mexico (via Galveston, Tex.), Aug. 30.—Several hundred Americans arrived here from Mexico City and elsewhere in the interior, some of them seeking passage to the United States and others expecting to remain here, thinking this port safe enough in the event of trouble.

Excited throngs in all the streets discussed the situation and apparently agreed that Huerta should remain firm. It is believed by some persons here that should Huerta yield to the United States there would be rioting throughout the republic as a protest.

Wilson Will Yield Nothing.

Washington, Aug. 30.—It was stated that the question of Huerta giving assurances that he will not be a candidate at the October elections was practically the only obstacle remaining in the way of acceptance of the mediation plan by Mexico.

President Wilson will yield nothing on this question, as it involves the very principle of the contentions of the United States government that Huerta is not the constitutional president of Mexico. If Huerta was acknowledged provisional president by Washington he would be prevented under the Mexican constitution from being a candidate for president at the elections.

SENATOR HITCHCOCK IN CAUCUS ATTACK

He Denounces Party Action on Tariff Bill.

Washington, Aug. 30.—Denunciation of the Democratic senate caucus as a "political machine" by Senator Hitchcock, one of the Democrats who refused to be bound by the caucus on all features of the tariff bill, marked reopening of the fight over the income tax.

"Why should senators be expected to be bound by the hasty decisions of a secret caucus on details of the income tax?" demanded Hitchcock. "Why should they be expected to vote down every amendment, however good, simply because it comes from the other side of the chamber? Why should the income tax section not be amended here upon the floor of the senate if debate convinces senators that it should be?"

The insurgent Democrats who demanded that the bill be changed to increase the income tax on large fortunes apparently had gained strength and insisted they would force the party conference to make substantial increases. Senate leaders were prepared to grant concessions, but the insurgents were not satisfied that the proposals would fully meet their views. Hitchcock's attack was delivered in connection with his amendment for a heavy penalty tax on trusts or monopolies controlling more than one-fourth of the country's production of trade in any given line.

LIGHTNING HITS POWDER.

Mill Blows Up and Folks Fear an Earthquake.

Acton, Mass., Aug. 30.—Many Middlesex county cities and towns were jarred severely when an American powder company mill blew up after being struck by lightning. So far as known there were no casualties.

The explosion shattered windows and smashed crockery in houses, scattered over a wide area and caused rumors of an earthquake.

The Home-made Gymnasium.

In a few weeks we may expect occasional storms that will keep children in the house. Rainy Saturdays and rainy afternoons or cold, damp and stormy days will surely come, in spite of the flowers that still flourish.

No children ought to be expected to be contented and happy if no arrangements are made for their indoor entertainment. No children ought to be excused for unhappiness if their indoor play is looked after.

A home-made gymnasium proves the most delightful place for spending rainy days. In it both boys and girls can exercise and amuse themselves—both requisites to childhood happiness.

While the Saturdays are still pleasant the small boys of the neighborhood or a family or a couple of families might rig up a home-made gymnasium and so have it ready for winter occupancy.

An attic, a barn loft, a woodshed, a part of a dry and light cellar partitioned off by the boys, an empty room—all these can be turned into a useful gymnasium.

The Equipment.

The equipment of a home-made gymnasium depends almost entirely on the amount of money there is to spend. Such equipment as parallel bars and flying rings should only be put in place by a professional and shold be of approved and tested makes.

But the boys themselves can rig up ropes and swings from hooks fastened—and this should be done by a carpenter—in the ceiling or roof or rafters. Then there should be various sorts of balls and bats and rackets provided for many games that can be played indoors. Indian clubs and dumbbells are also excellent means to indoor exercise. Ring toss and shuffle board can be provided if the space is small. A visit to a sporting goods store or the perusal of the catalog of such a store will suggest many other pieces of equipment for the home-made gymnasium.

You yourself can repair to this haven to correct any wrongs of your figure with Indian club exercise. Your husband will like to relax and join in with the children's fun occasionally. Moreover, you need never say, "Oh, children, don't make such a noise." You can simply say, "Children, please go to the gymnasium."

A word about the safety of the place—provide it with several old mattresses or make some hair cushions and cover them with ticking. There are sure to be some tumbles from swings and ropes and bars, but the children can be taught always to work with a mattress under them and then their tumbles will be of little harm. And protect whatever lights there are. If there is gas, cover it with the sort of wire screens that are used in theatre dressing-rooms. Protect electric light bulbs, too, from flying balls and swinging bodies. If kerosene lamps are used, have them safely out of the way of danger. If you are afraid of fire, of course you can forbid play in the gymnasium after dark; but if you put some safety device about the lights, the gymnasium will prove a good place for some of the coming lone evenings.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

The Milk Bottle and the Vote.

We hear a great deal now-a-days of the necessity of woman suffrage to insure pure milk for the baby. One would almost think (remembering the often repeated remark, "Voting takes but a few minutes and can be done on the way to market") that a ballot box was a kind of slot machine in which one deposits a vote and receives the desired articles—pure milk, higher wages, shorter hours or any other desired good. A very interesting article in last Sunday's New York Times (August 24) by Dr. Charles E North, giving an account of the work of the New York Milk Committee, shows a rather different side of the question.

This committee, headed, by the way, by Mrs. Borden Harriman (you seldom find a committee investigating economic conditions that does not have one or more women in it) has just gone out of existence, "satisfied that the work for which it was organized has been accomplished." This work was the solution of the city's milk problem.

Now the interesting thing about this investigation is to see how slight a part legislation played in its solution and how much inevitable economic laws had to do with it. I am not attempting to give a full account of the work of the committee for that would take too long. Just one or two facts will prove how little the vote had to do with it. Dr. North's attention was drawn to the subject when studying medicine, by a visit to a fancy dairy where certified milk was produced at fancy prices, prices which absolutely prohibited its use by the babies of the poor and when he left the medical college he went into the milk business.

"For five years," he said, "I ran a certified milk plant, and nowhere in the country was ever any better milk produced. But the enterprise was a financial failure."

Then he gave up his dairy and became a member of the Milk Committee. This committee did not wish to go into the dairy business, but it interested a number of outsiders. These public-spirited men began a series of experiments in the farming district about Horner, New York. They had found that legislation on the subject could not be had, for the simple reason that if the farmers were compelled by law to furnish milk up to the required standard, they must either charge prohibitive prices or go out of business, which would have produced a very dangerous shortage of milk in New York city. So, instead of legislating against conditions they went to work to change those conditions and succeeded in proving that good milk at fair prices could be produced on a purely commercial basis. To quote Dr. North's words:

"Our little experiment continued for two years. It supplied the milk used by the New York Milk Committee in its milk stations during the season of 1911, when the value of milk stations as a means of saving babies' lives was effectually demonstrated, and the death rate per thousand babies under one year was reduced from 125 to 111."

"Our little demonstration kept on with its work. It competed in the open market and won."

After telling how, from November until this last month, the enterprise has been entirely commercial, he adds: "Despite the fact that 80 per cent. of its milk has been sold to the Board of Health at very low figures for use in the city's baby work, the company has made $10,000."

"Further proof of the success of the test is the fact that one of the biggest milk concerns in New York city is adopting the plan. A company in Buffalo, one in Boston and a third in Baltimore are following suit."

I have given no details of the work. It cost $65,000 to bring it to a successful issue. Now the future remains in the control of the consuming public.

You see, the vote has had nothing whatever to do with this important question of milk supply. If a sufficient number of people had overwhelmed the legislature with the cry of "pure milk, or we will not return you to office," the result might have been most disastrous—farmers compelled to change their modes of farming, involving much loss thereby, and a consequent shortage in the milk supply and no relief for the poor babies. Now, legislation can go on wisely, having a foundation of experience on which to rule.

And this is only a single instance of how foolish the argument is, that the vote for women is necessary to procure pure food.

ELIZABETH B. SYKES.

—Every day is "Election Day" with the shoppers of this city. Every day some store receives a vote of confidence, presaging continued support, from the housewives. The store whose ads present the widest variety of opportunity news is "elected," always. For such a store brings ACTUAL RELIEF to the people from the oppression of high prices—not, as is often true in politics, mere promises of relief!

Some Cookery Suggestions

FRESH BLACKBERRIES.

WHETHER there is any difference in the flavor of the various varieties of blackberries, as some people would have us think, the juicy dewberry or low blackberry is generally larger and sweeter and therefore better for serving fresh with sugar and cream.

A Batter Pudding.

Baked Blackberry Pudding.—Take a deep pudding dish, butter it and place in the bottom a thick layer of berries sprinkled with sugar. Make a batter with an egg, a cupful of milk, a cupful of sugar, two cupfuls of flour and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Pour the batter over the berries. Place the dish in the oven and bake. When done turn out on a dish with the fruit on top and serve with sweetened cream or sauce.

Blackberry Fool With Apples.—Peel, core and slice apples enough to make a pint of the fruit. Add the grated rind of a lemon and the juice. Put into a granite saucepan with a pint of blackberries, a cupful of sugar and a quarter of a cupful of water. Cook gently until the fruit is soft, then rub it through a sieve. Try the pulp to see if it is sweet enough. If not add a little more sugar. Then add a pint of thick boiled custard. Whip a half pint of cream to a stiff froth, sweeten and flavor with vanilla. Heap this over the fool and serve very cold.

Steamed Berries.

Blackberry Slump.—Take a pint of flour and sift it with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a half teaspoonful of salt. Add a tablespoonful of butter and when it has been rubbed into the flour mix with it two-thirds of a cupful of milk and one beaten egg. Then stir in two cupfuls of floured blackberries. Butter a pail or mold that can be tightly covered. Steam for two hours. Serve hot with milk or sauce.

Blackberry Froth.—For this a cupful of blackberry juice is required. Soak a quarter of a box of gelatin in a cupful of cold water, then pour over it two cupfuls of boiling water and stir one cupful of sugar into it. When the sugar and gelatin are dissolved stir the blackberry juice into it. Strain and set on the ice until almost firm. Beat the whites of four eggs stiff and whip into the jelly gradually. Wet a fancy mold with cold water, pour the mixture into it and let it stand until firm. Serve with sweetened cream.

Mr. Bluefish Was Hungry Too.

The Starfish Doesn't Mind Losing a Limb.

JACK and Evelyn had picked up a starfish at the beach and were showing it to daddy.

"That," said he, "is only Mr. Starfish's skeleton. He was probably washed high and dry in some storm.

"Mr. Starfish lives in water. He crawls about on the bed of the ocean. On the underside of the body are sucker-like feet. However, when he is in a hurry the rays of the star are used to help him along.

"I think I must tell you a story about Mr. Starfish. Once upon a time a little starfish had a moving day. There wasn't much to eat where he lived, and he really had to get up and hustle. Starfishes are a bit lazy.

"He said goodby to the sea cucumber and the sea urchins and the crabs and lobsters and the anemones. They told him if he found a neighborhood where the food was plentiful to let them know.

"The starfish was quite hungry, for, food being scarce in the place where he had lived, he hadn't any breakfast or dinner or tea. Now and then he would find a little sea snail, and he would stop to lunch off that.

"The starfish was most tired to death when he passed a cave where an old hermit crab lived.

"'Do you know where I could get something to eat?' he asked the crab.

"'There's a fine bed of oysters on the other side of that rock,' the crab replied. The starfish's mouth stretched so wide in a pleased smile that the hermit crab thought he meant to eat him and ducked back into his shell.

"Now, just as the starfish was climbing up on the rock where he saw what looked like a fine fat oyster along came Mr. Bluefish. And he was hungry too. So he grabbed at Mr. Starfish and, catching him by one of his rays, swam off with him.

"But he didn't carry him far, for when he got over his first fright Mr. Starfish broke off the ray and dropped down on the rock again. Then he scuttled into a dark hole so that Mr. Bluefish couldn't find him if he came back again.

"No, it didn't hurt the starfish a bit to break off the ray. That's a way they have of fooling their enemies. In a few weeks the little starfish grew another ray quite as good as the one he had lost.

"Yes; there were lots of oysters on that rock. How do you suppose Mr. Starfish got them out of their shells? He took hold of the oyster with his rays and pulled and pulled at the shell till the oyster had no more strength to keep it closed. When the oyster opened it a tiny bit the starfish would suck the oyster out of the shell.

"And no wonder the starfish grew fat and lazy in its new home!"

Ladies' Home Journal Patterns

A Tunic of Some Sort is Shown on Most of the Early Fall Models.

Long or short, real or simulated, a tunic you must have on your new dress, or the skirt of your suit. Sometimes it takes the form of a deep band in tunic effect as in skirt 7855 and this especially good style for the new fall woolens, the velours, duvetyns, Gabardines and the boucle weaves as these are all rather heavy to make a tunic of. The skirt is a three-piece model with the slightly raised waistline that is still very smart. The tunic band is shaped, and if very heavy material is used, a facing of self-colored silk cut exactly the shape of the lower part of the band, may be used as a facing. If the material is not heavy, the band may be cut double, seamed together, turned inside out and pressed very carefully. Five sizes, 22 to 30, and size 24 requires 2¾ yards 54-inch material.

Madame LaMode says cutaway coats, and there are all degrees and styles among the early autumn models. This one 7623 is designed for the practical woman, who doesn't want anything too extreme. In blue ratine or boucle, it would combine effectively with a skirt of blue serge or broadcloth. Make the collar of velvet. Five sizes, 34 to 42, and for size 36 2 yards 54-inch material is required. A real tunic, one that drapes prettily at the sides is a very attractive part of dress 7662. It is arranged over a pleated skirt which is attached to a yoke. The collar is quite novl in shaping and the sleeves may be elbow or full-length. Voile, crepe charmeuse or crepe meteor would work out nicely in this style. Five sizes, 34 to 42, and size 36 calls for 8 yards 42-inch material. Each pattern fifteen cents.

Script Alphabet for Marking Your Household Linens.

These fancy script initials are appropriate for marking entire sets of household linens. The letters of this style come in 1, 1 3-4, 3 and 4-inch sizes; twelve each of the two smaller sizes and six each of the two larger sizes. The four-inch letters are appropriate for embroidering table cloths and should be placed, either in one corner, or to fall just over the edge of the table when the cloth is in use. These may also be used for marking bed-spreads, blankets and laundry bags. The three-inch letters are suitable for embroidering sheets, pillow-cases, 36-inch dinner napkins, luncheon and tea cloths, while the 1 3-4 inch letters may be used on small napkins, towels, centerpieces, carving cloths, bureau scarfs and many small cases and novelties. The one-inch initials are appropriate for embroidering guest towels, plate doilies and any other small linens on which an initial may be used to give a personal note.

The transfer pattern, 14528, includes three hundred and seventy-five transfers of any one initial in several different sizes and styles so that you can embroider several sets of linens, using a different style of initial for the linens in each bedroom. These letters are so arranged that they can be formed into monograms.

Transfer patterns for stamping these initials can be supplied to readers at fifteen cents.

..BOOMING PLAINFIELD..

THE DAILY PRESS WILL HELP THE BOARD OF TRADE AND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE EXPLOIT THE ADVANTAGES OF PLAINFIELD AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE AND PLACE OF RESIDENCE.

Meets With Flattering Reception from Our Public-Spirited Citizens

The movement of the Daily Press to issue a splendid Historical and Industrial Edition has met with a gratifying reception from the various interests of our town. Plainfield's progressive merchants, manufacturers and professional men, keenly realizing the far-reaching and lasting benefit which will accrue from a complete and graphic exposition of the growth of this community, are according their hearty support to the plan, and the success of the undertaking is more than assured.

Our special staff of reporters, artists and solicitors, to whom this important work has been intrusted, is being most courteously received by the men of business whom they are daily interviewing, and from all sides comes assurance of unqualified aid and co-operation.

Let every public spirited man see to it that he is properly represented in this

SUPERB EDITION

Do not let your neighbor out do you. Remember this when our representative calls to see you. The compiling of data concerning Plainfield activities and the reduction of this data to well and accurately written articles, descriptive of individual commercial enterprise, our schools of learning, churches, progressive life, etc., is progressing rapidly and most satisfactorily, and will be pushed with unabated vigor until the day of publication.

This Boom Edition

will embrace an exhaustive resume of every manner of Plainfield and Union county life. It will review the town and county history from its foundation to the present time. Every branch of industry will be thoroughly described. The bench and bar and municipal government will receive adequate attention, as befits the relatively important niches which they occupy in the life of this hustling town. In short, THE PRESS will set forth in glowing terms, in orderly and comprehensive detail and with resolute accuracy, the growth of grand old Plainfield, and the enterprise and high character of her representative and progressive sons who have made it the splendid town that it is today.

Thus for the FIRST TIME—in proper form—Plainfield and all that goes to constitute its healthy and active life, will be portrayed so that the outside world may know just what this town looks like and what our people are doing. You will be called upon in a day or so. Do your part then. Do not hide your light under a bushel. One and all pull together and the success will be ours and yours. If you have never done anything for the welfare and advancement of your home town you have a good chance to do it now.

ARMY-NAVY GAME FOR 1913 IS OFF

CADETS VS. CARLISLE

Classic Gridiron Struggle Will Not Take Place This Fall—West Pointers Make Statement—Controversy Regretted.

West Point, N. Y., Aug. 30.—There will be no Army and Navy football game this year. The rival athletic committees can come to no agreement upon the matter of a site for staging this big contest and the Army has therefore arranged a big game to take its place, which will be played at West Point on the Saturday following Thanksgiving, which is November 29.

The following authoritative statement was given out Wednesday by the Army Athletic Council, which governs all sports in which the cadets participate:

"The Army Athletic Council regrets to state that, after making every effort, it has been unable to agree with the Naval Athletic Council upon the location for this year's football game between the Military and Naval academies. While the Army Council gratefully appreciates the fact that the University of Pennsylvania has extended itself to the limit in providing accommodations, the demands made upon the Army Athletic Council have been growing at such a rate until at the presnet time they have assumed such proportions that make the playing of the game upon Franklin Field impossible from an Army point of view.

"In the search for location where the accommodations would be ample from every standpoint, and where the game would assume the aspect of a truly national event, the Army suggested the Polo Grounds in New York. This proposition did not meet with the approval of the naval authorities, however. The army authorities feeling that since the game could not be given this national aspect anywhere else except on the Polo Grounds, preferred that it be returned to where it was originally played, upon home grounds. It was only after the naval authorities failed to agree to play upon the Polo Grounds, at West Point or at Annapolis, that the Army Council found itself compelled to turn to the only other government institution for a game that would prove a fitting climax to the army's football schedule.

"Such a game has been arranged and the army's opponents in this year's championship game will be the team from the Carlisle Indian School. The game will be played at West Point on November 29."

The breaking off the negotiations with the cadets' nearest foes, the middies, marks the end of a controversy which has lasted all summer over where the next army and navy game should be played.

Of the seventeen contests on the gridiron which were inaugurated back in 1890, the middies have won nine and the cadets seven. One game played at Princeton in 1905 was a tie.

Secretary Daniels, of the navy, yesterday conferred with Assistant Secretary of War Breckinbridge in Washington in an endeavor to find some means of getting the athletic associations of the United States Naval Academy and the United States Military Academy to reconsider their determination of calling off the Army-Navy football game this year.

It was finally decided to call representatives of the athletic associations of the two government schools into conference in Washington next Wednesday to talk over the muddled football situation.

AMATEUR GOLF TITLE.

New York, August 30.—The national amateur championship tournament, one of the biggest events of the year in the golfing world, is to be staged next week on the links at Garden City, L. I. The program will open Monday with a medal play qualifying round at thirty-six holes. Tuesday the first round of match play at thirty-six holes will be run off, with subsequent rounds for a similar distance being carded for each day following until the decisive test on Saturday. The East, the middle West and the Pacific coast sections have sent their best amateur players to compete for the honors. Chief interest, of course, centres largely in the performances of those rated among the leaders on the list, with the climax at the top, where for the first time, Jerome D. Travers, three times the national title holder, stands alone.

HORSE SHOW AT NEWPORT.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 30—Society regards the annual horse show, which will open at the Casino on Monday, as the event of the summer. The golf links, the tennis courts, and the yachts are expected to be deserted during the three days that the show will hold forth. In the number and quality of the entries the show this year has never been eclipsed.

The premier was attacked by two militants while playing golf with his daughter. Chivalry prevented him from defending himself, but with Miss Violet it was another story. She ran to her father's defense and after a lively tussle put the suffragette warriors to flight, much the worse for the encounter.

YANKEES AND GERMAN YACHTSMEN IN CONTEST

Marblehead, Mass., Aug. 29—The most important international contest this season in the yachting world, the German-American sonder class races, will begin off Marblehead Monday. By Friday, perhaps, it may be told if the Germans are the superiors of the Americans in small yacht desiging, construction and rigging or the reverse.

The first of these sonder class international matches in 1906, sailed off Marblehead, resulted in a victory for the American yachtsmen. The return match at Kiel the next year was a bad failure on the part of the Americans, as they were whipped from start to finish. But in 1909 the Americans scored another victory at Marblehead and in 1911 they crossed over to Kiel again and had things all their own way.

As usual, each of the two countries is represented this year by a team of three yachts, the German trio being the Angela, Seurm and Wittelsbach, while the American boats are the Ellen, Spring and Cima.

President Wilson will probably present the cup which bears his name to the boat which wins. The Governor Foss Cup is in the nature of a second prize and will be awarded on a system of points.

The sonder, or special type of boat, is a small yacht of about 35 feet over all, with cost, displacement and sail area limited. Sonder yacht sailing is exciting sport, for the boats are very delicately balanced and work very quickly both on and off the wind.

CHARTER OAK MEETING.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 30—The New England end of the Grand Circuit will wind up with the meeting to be opened here Monday under the auspices of the Connecticut Fair Association. During the past two days the stables at Charter Oak Park have filled rapidly with the summer campaigners from the Empire City track and elsewhere, and the association management is looking forward to a successful meeting. The big feature of the program will be the classic Charter Oak, $10,000, for 2:14 class trotters. The other stake events of the week will include the Capitol City, 2:08 class trotters, $3,000; the Corinthian, 2:20 class trotters, $2,000; the Acorn, 3-year-old trotters eligible to the 2:20 class, $3,000; the Juvenile, for 2-year-olds eligible to 2:30 class trotting, $2,000; a free-for-all pace, $2,500, and the Nutmeg, for 2:12 pacers, $2,000.

LABOR DAY GAME FOR LEAGUE RAG

PETS VS. SOMERVILLE

Manager Jack Torpey Promises to Furnish a Surprise When His Team Trots on the Diamond.

The first game of the series that has been arranged to decide the Central New Jersey Baseball League championship between Somerville and the Plainfield Pets, will be played Labor Day afternoon at Parker Field. As the hour for the struggle draws near, Manager Jack Torpey, of the county seat nine, is undecided as to the make-up of his team. He stated last night that he was going to Newark tomorrow and secure the services of several players. Whether these men will be semi-pros or minor league stars, is not known. At any rate, Torpey promises a surprise and says his team will surely "cop" the first slice of the championship pie.

"They have me fighting now," said Torpey, "and the only thing that will make me sign articles of peace is to be returned the winner of the series."

And judging from past performances and present circumstances, Torpey has good ground upon which to base his boast. Although the Pets will have the advantage of placing a team on the field that has played together in many recent contests and have perfected a fair baseball machine, and they are sure to feel the result of the game the day play Labor Day morning at Scotch Plains, and then, the Somerville nine will probably have the advantage of the services of a minor league pitcher. Whoever he may be—Torpey says a surprise is in store for the locals.

The Plainfield nine will line-up with practically the same players as oppose Saurers today, with the exception of the twirler. Randolph has been selected to baffle the Somerville players from the pitchers' box.

SAURER TEAM TO PLAY SCOTCH PLAINS NINE

Other Games Carded For Tomorrow In This Vicinity—Royals Go to Newark.

The Saurer team of the City league which plays the Pets today will journey to Scotch Plains tomorrow afternoon and attempt to take the measure of Joe Albert's hirelings. The game will be played on Thorne's Field. Dixon, who pitches today for the shop nine, will again be called to do the box work against the Plains aggregation.

The teams will probably line up as follows: Saurer—T. Jaeger, ss.; Harriman, rf.; Martin 1b.; Coyle, 2b.; Giddes, 3b.; Bergen, c.; Miller, cf.; Wilson, lf.; Dixon, p. Scotch Plains—DeMitzeo, 2b.; Walton, 2b.; Joe Alberts, lf.; Frentz, 1b.; H. Alberts, c.; Lambertson, cf.; Moran, rf.; Grimes, ss; Ortlieb, p.

1100 Car Loads of School Supplies are Required for the School Year Opening September 8th

Many months of preparation by the Boards of Education are represented by this vast quantity of supplies for the schools.

The schools are now ready for the hundreds of thousands of young New-York-and-Suburbs who will enter their respective classrooms in little more than a week from now.

Are your children as ready for school as the schools are for them?

Do they need serviceable, good-looking clothes, stout comfortable shoes, stockings that will last, cosy, "comfy" underwear, natty hats, and all the other what-nots of wear to make school days pleasant and complete?

The Wanamaker Store is ready to supply all the needs of boys and girls, little and big, of New York.

There is just enough time between now and school opening to have the young folk ready for the opening day.

GREATEST RIFLE TOURNEY WILL START MONDAY

Camp Perry, O., Aug. 30—The opening volleys in the international shooting tournament will be fired Monday on the great rifle range at Camp Perry, on the southern shore of Lage Erie, near Port Clinton. Military officials declare that the tournament will prove the greatest of its kind in the history of the world. In addition to scores of contestants from the United States and Canada, the participants include rifle ad revolver shooting teams from France, Germany, Switzerland, Sweden, Argentine Republic, Peru, Mexico and Cuba.

The organization of international rifle shooting societies of the world voted in France last year to bring their matches to Camp Perry this year and the newly organized Pan-American Shooting Union did likewise, insuring a concentration of all the great international shooting competitions of the world here. The tournament will be brought to a close on the night of September 9 with a banquet when all of the prizes will be presented.

BATTLES IN THE BLOOD.

Antitoxins Fight the Germs of Their Particular Disease.

When any animal has a certain disease its body produces large quantities of the particular antitoxin that will fight that disease. If the blood of this animal be introduced into another animal the latter will get the disease, but in a milder form, and will at the same time be stimulated to secrete large quantities of the antitoxin. It is now capable of resisting an attack by an army of powerful germs and becomes "immune" to the real disease.

If its blood be drawn and filtered to free it from red and white corpuscles the serum that is left is merely the watery part of the blood heavily charged with the antitoxins of that disease. This, injected into the blood of a person suffering from it, re-enforces the antitoxins already there and speedily routs the enemy by neutralizing the poisons that the toxic germs are liberating.

Serum is prepared in two ways—one by taking it from the blood of another animal, the other by a culture from the blood of the patient himself.

There are only one or two diseases that can be cured by medicine. In all others the medicine is given merely to stimulate the natural production of antitoxins. If we knew how to make an antitoxin for every disease we should have no more use for medicine. The number of diseases for which antitoxins are being discovered is multiplying year by year. — New York World.

FRISKY SENATE PAGES.

They Are Great Mimics and Discuss Burlesque Legislation.

They are the greatest mimics in the world. They can take off the idiosyncrasies and humorous peculiarities of the senators to a "T."

Sometimes when the senate is not sitting and too many visitors and page bosses are not around to observe the proceedings the pages themselves go into a solemn senatorial session. One will impersonate the vice president, another the chief clerk, and so on. Various other boys will pretend to be either their favorite senators or the senators of home states. Each boy occupies the seat to which the real senator is entitled.

Bang! goes the vice president's gavel, and the extraordinary session of pages has convened. There is always an argument as to which senator shall be recognized when the regular order of business is reached. Every conceivable current subject is discussed, with a goodly sprinkling of "baseball legislation," which always carries with it a rider by which each page senator shall be entitled to an annual self renewing pass for all the season's games.

A bill which is almost sure to be introduced is one which proposes to increase the salaries of the pages and shorten their hours of duty.—Robert D. Heine in Leslie's Weekly.

THIRTY MOTHERS SEEK PENSIONS

Initial Proceedings In Essex Under New Law.

BRING CHILDREN TO COURT

Two Hundred and Nine Petitions Have Been Filed With Court, but Hearings Were Confined to First Thirty on List—Various Creeds and Nationalities Represented.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 30.—"Mothers' day" was instituted at the courthouse when thirty dependent mothers presented themselves before Judge Martin and Judge Osborne to tell why they were entitled to pensions from the county under the provisions of an act recently passed by the legislature entitled, "An act to promote home life for dependent children." In all 209 petitions have been filed with the court. Hearings were confined to the first thirty on the list.

When court was opened the room was crowded with women, in many cases accompanied by their children, who sought financial assistance in the maintenance of their homes under the provisions of the new law. They came from all parts of the county and represented various nationalities and creeds. Social and charitable workers were also present.

The law is similar in its application to those the legislature of several other states have made for the care and support, in the home, of children under the age of sixteen years whose only source of maintenance is that which the labor of their mothers may afford. It provides, in such instances, that a monthly pension of $9 be paid toward the support of a single child, $14 for two children and $4 for each additional child.

Should the court conclude, upon the completion of the petitioner's examination, that the mother will be unable properly to support and educate her children without aid, it shall make an order committing the family to the care of the state board of children's guardians and directing that the county, through the board, pay the stipulated pensions.

SCOUT "WHITE SLAVE" YARN.

Hoboken Girl Writes Saying She's Safe at West Rutland, Vt.

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 30.—Local police scout the theory that Ardele Glasheen, fifteen years old, who was missed from her home, 261 Twelfth street, was the victim of "white slavers," as contended by her mother after having received a letter from her daughter saying that she had been decoyed away. This view was strengthened when her mother received from her daughter from West Rutland, Vt., a telegram saying she was there and safe and asking what to do.

The girl has two aunts in West Rutland, where she had frequently been. The "dashing young man," of whom it is said that the girl pretended to be enamored, turns out to be a respectable resident who was endeavoring to persuade her mother to send her to a business college instead of to high school. It is also said that Ardele had an ambition to become a moving picture actress.

CAMDEN GETS NEW CAR LINE

Council Provides For Turnouts Necessary For Connections.

Camden, N. J., Aug. 30.—Steps to make possible the new crosstown street car line, which has been demanded by the city board of trade, were taken when the Camden council granted permission to the Public Service Railway company to lay curves and a turnout at Fifth and Federal streets and a turnout on Broadway, between Mechanic and Liberty streets.

The line will be operated from Tenth and State streets, along State street to Fifth, to Federal, to Broadway, to Mechanic, returning on Broadway to Federal, to Arch, to Fifth, to State, to Tenth streets.

An ordinance to pave Haddon avenue, from Euclid avenue, Parkside, to city line, with Belgian block on a six inch concrete foundation, also was passed, notwithstanding opposition by property owners, who wished a different kind of paving.

TWO HURT BY WILD AUTO.

Angry Citizens Seize Chauffeur, Who Is Rescued by Police.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 30.—Morris Rothman, forty years old, of 139 Prince street and a seven-year-old girl, whose identity has not been established, were run down in front of the Rothman home by an auto truck, the steering gear of which broke and made the truck unmanageable. The two victims were taken to the City hospital. They are badly injured.

Some of the excitable residents in the vicinity of the accident got hold of the chauffeur, John McGreevy, and were giving him a mauling when he was rescued by the police.

Easily Explained.

Elder—If you believe that everything that takes place is foreordained why did you wallop the man you caught stealing your wood? Deacon—Because I couldn't help it. I felt that it was foreordained that I should wallop him —Boston Transcript.

MAKE MONEY WITH POULTRY

AMERICAN POULTRY is a magazine devoted entirely to helping earnest men and women make a financial success of poultry raising. Its staff of writers is composed entirely of those who have made a practical, instead of theoretical, success of poultry farming, and who are glad to pass on the results of their hard earned experience to AMERICAN POULTRY readers.

There are many pit-falls in the path of the novice which may be entirely avoided by those who will follow the teaching set forth in this magazine. It fully explains how to make a start, how to construct houses, coops, and other devices, how to get a large egg yield, how to cure and prevent disease, how to exhibit, how to get the top price for eggs, how to use incubators and hundreds of other points which everyone wishes to know. It explains the famous secret system through which poultrymen have become rich and afterwards sold for hundreds of dollars.

AMERICAN POULTRY is a large handsomely illustrated, monthly journal, well printed on fine paper, and should be found on file in the home of every poultry lover. No beginner in the poultry business should think of being without it. It will save him many times the small subscription price. The advanced poultryman will also find it of great value; the articles being varied in their scope.

SPECIAL OFFER. The regular price of AMERICAN POULTRY is 50c per year, but in order to introduce it to several thousand new readers, we will, for a short time, give a large 200 page poultry book, which is a complete guide in the poultry business, absolutely free to everyone sending 50c for a yearly subscription or $1.00 for a three year subscription to AMERICAN POULTRY. A trial six months' subscription (without book) will be sent for 25c. Never has so much been offered for so small a sum. Advantage of this offer should be taken at once.
